

ASSME
ES.

IN THIS ISSUE: 'THE LIVING SECTION,' A NEW WEDNESDAY WEEKLY

The New York Times

No. 43,390 NEW YORK, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1976 20 CENTS

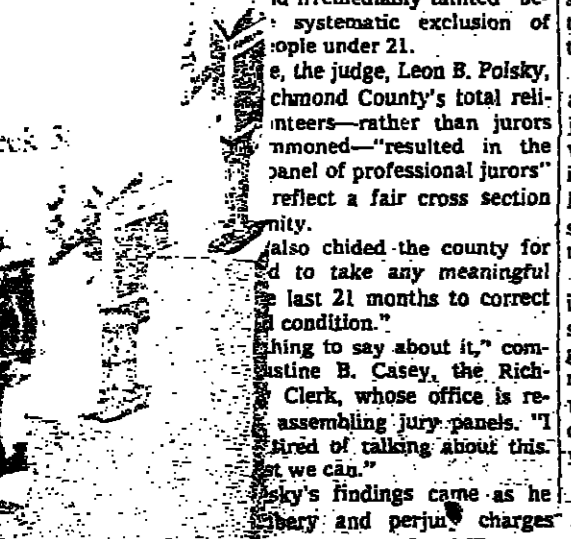

Business Week 45%

one is easiest to

one is least accu

ch one is the me authoritative

LEADERS LEGISLATION ST NEW YORK

CARTER ARE CITED

Committees Plan Welfare Guarantee of Loans Programs for Jobs

MARTIN TOLCHIN
Special to The New York Times

Nov. 9—Three key members of the House and Senate committees on the budget and appropriations pledged today to introduce legislation to solve the city's fiscal problems.

In interviews, they saw good things in welfare, Federal aid and programs for jobs, as well as transit, all of which benefit New York City. Mr. Tolchin warned that Congress must make the city adhere to a financial plan, and was given a stretchout of bond issues some regarded as an event in the financial plan. The three chairmen tentatively made their introduction in legislation without taking into account the dynamic between the State and Capitol Hill that has thrust legislation.

Believed Better

City is generally believed to be in a better position, not merely provided Mr. Carter with a margin needed to win the election. Mr. Tolchin's phone call to Mayor Beane tonight, but also because of the expected election of Representative J. Delany, Democrat of the House Rules Committee. Mr. Tolchin interviewed were Representative Ullman, an expert on the Senate, and Senator William Roth, a Republican. Representative Henry S. Reubin, a member of the Congressional committee on banking and housing. Legislators who spoke in a general vein, agreed in their assessment of the Carter plan. Mr. Tolchin said that the Carter plan was the city's lobbyist.

Continued on Page A30, Col. 1

School Job Bias In New York City Charged by U.S.

Rights Unit Says System Faces $200 Million Cut

By LENA WILLIAMS
Special to The New York Times

A Federal civil-rights agency charged yesterday that New York City's public-school system was discriminating against women teachers and teachers from racial minorities in hiring, promotions and assignments.

It said that unless the school system acted within 90 days to develop an interim plan for compliance with Federal regulations, it faced sanctions including the loss of $200 million in Federal funds for education.

Martin H. Gerry, director of the Health, Education and Welfare Department's Office for Civil Rights, said at a news conference yesterday that the system's examinations for the hiring of teachers were discriminatory and that minority applicants who passed were too frequently assigned to minority schools.

The Office for Civil Rights is charged with enforcing rights in all federally-assisted health and social services programs.

Meets With Chancellor

"We have also found the system denied women access to positions as principals and assistant principals, and paid women athletic coaches less than men," said Mr. Gerry, who met yesterday morning with Chancellor Irving Anker to tell him of the conclusions of the two-and-a-half year study. Mr. Gerry added that the system "also denied women teachers seniority rights because of past maternity-leave policies."

In a statement issued in the evening, Chancellor Anker said: "The Board of Education is in compliance with state law, which mandates a competitive examination system for teachers."

Mr. Anker complained that the Office of Civil Rights did not indicate in its findings that the 1969 state decentralization law identified certain schools that were eligible to employ a higher percentage of minority teachers. This has led, he said, to more minority-group teachers in certain school districts.

Mr. Anker also said the Board of Education had actively sought changes in the law to correct some of the problems that still exist.

"I am particularly distressed by the failure of the Office of Civil Rights and

Continued on Page A30, Col. 1

PEACEKEEPING FORCES APPROACH BEIRUT: In the outskirts of Lebanon's capital, Lebanese Army officers welcome Sudanese armored unit of advance force for Arab peacekeeping troops moving toward city. Right-wing Christian leaders agreed yesterday on stationing of Syrian troops in Christian-held areas. Page A11.

31 MEAT INSPECTORS INDICTED IN PAYOFFS

Charged With Taking Regular Sums From New York City Packers

By SELWYN RAAB
Special to The New York Times

Thirty-one Federal food inspectors were indicted in Manhattan and Brooklyn yesterday on Federal felony charges of accepting yearly payoffs of $125,000 from meatpackers and processors in the metropolitan area.

Robert B. Fiske Jr. and David G. Trager, the United States Attorneys who announced the indictments, said that more than 50 companies that made the systematic payments would soon be brought up on misdemeanor counts.

The officials said that the companies, including some of the city's largest, gave out weekly payments of $20 to $75 to avoid harassment from the inspectors, who have broad powers to close down plants for alleged sanitary violations.

Both emphasized that there was no evidence that the corruption had led to the approval of tainted or substandard meat.

Sidney Roth, president of the union local representing the accused inspectors, charged that the failure to bring felony charges against company officials indicated "a lack of evenhanded justice. A man can't be bribed without the other party having some degree of guilt," Mr. Roth said.

Continued on Page A13, Col. 1

Laird Says He Warned State Dept. About South Korea Lobby in 1970

He Recalls Asking for Inquiry Link to Tongsun Park Described

By RICHARD HALLORAN
Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—Former Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said today that he had warned the State Department in 1970 to be careful of a covert South Korean lobby and had suggested to the department that the Justice Department should be asked to investigate the legality of the operation.

Mr. Laird also asserted that the wide-ranging Korean lobby had improperly tried to undermine the decision by the Nixon Administration to withdraw 20,000 of the 60,000 American soldiers then posted in South Korea.

In a telephone interview, Mr. Laird said that he had warned the South Koreans that their lobby was acting improperly and was jeopardizing an American plan to spend $1.5 billion to modernize South Korea's armed forces.

Other Comment Unattributed

Mr. Laird's comments, made in response to questions, were the first from a senior American political leader acknowledging the existence of the covert Korean lobby and criticizing it publicly. Other officials have commented on the lobby, but without allowing attribution.

Mr. Laird also confirmed reports from Korean and American sources that the lobbying effort began in 1970 in an attempt to counter the decision to withdraw.

Continued on Page A15, Col. 1

MAJORITY AT THE U.N. VOTE FOR CAMPAIGN AGAINST APARTHEID

MANY ABSTAIN ON KEY ISSUES

Resolutions Calling Western Lands and Israel 'Collaborators' of South Africa Backed by Third World

By PETER GROSE
Special to The New York Times

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 9—The African and third-world majority of the General Assembly opened a major new campaign against apartheid today, calling the United States, other Western powers and Israel leading "collaborators" of the South African Government.

With as many as two dozen nations abstaining from votes on key resolutions, including Britain, France, West Germany and the United States—trading partners that South Africa accuses most about—many diplomats felt that the impact of many Assembly's action would be dulled by the time it reached its target.

Included in more concrete detail than in previous years' resolutions were recommendations for economic and financial boycotts of South Africa, a ban on sports competition with South African athletes and a call on the Security Council to enforce an arms embargo, a step that in the past has always been vetoed by Britain, France and the United States.

Votes on 10 Resolutions

Votes on 10 resolutions came at the end of two weeks of debate on apartheid, a debate that African delegations have heralded as the centerpiece of this year's General Assembly.

The resolution condemning Israel for maintaining military and economic links with South Africa was the most controversial, producing 20 negative votes and 28 abstentions alongside 91 votes in favor. The United States and other Western governments fear that the Arab countries will attempt to use this Assembly action in their propaganda campaign against Israel, much as they did last year's condemnation of Zionism as a form of racism.

The resolution "strongly condemns the continuing and increasing collaboration by Israel with the South African racist regime as a flagrant violation of the resolutions of the United Nations and as an encouragement to the South African racist regime to persist in its criminal policies."

The Opposition Grows

The United States and its traditional allies opposed the resolution. They were joined by a scattering of third-world governments from all continents, including Mexico, Iran, Malawi, Swaziland, Singapore and Fiji, in opposition or abstention.

Israel refused to participate in any of today's votes. South Africa has withdrawn from all the work of this Assembly.

Typical of the scattered third-world opposition to linking Israel and South Africa was the explanation from a Mexican delegate, Carlos Gutierrez Macias, who said his Government could not accept the strategy of singling out any one country for alleged economic collaboration.

Even more outspoken was a delegate from the African state of Malawi, J. T. X. Muzumba, who accused his colleagues of "double-faced hypocrisy" and "political gimmickry" in confining the list of South Africa's arms suppliers to Israel and the Western allies. "All types of military hardware, from both the East and West, can be found in South Africa," he said.

Also controversial beyond anti-apartheid.

Continued on Page A4, Col. 3

Court Says Jury Selection S.I. Is 'Irremediably Tainted'

By TOM GOLDSTEIN

The State Supreme Court yesterday said that the pool of jurors on Staten Island was "irremediably tainted" because of the systematic exclusion of people under 21.

The case was set to go to trial in February 1975, but at that time it was adjourned so that the county could conform with a United States Supreme Court ruling a month earlier that held that state laws allowing women to exempt themselves from jury duty were unconstitutional.

In dismissing the indictment "in the interest of justice" and for lack of a speedy trial, Justice Polsky said that granting "a further opportunity to the responsible county officials to comply with clear and unambiguous requirements of law would be to sanction almost two years of inaction."

A spokesman for John Keenan, who

Continued on Page A13, Col. 1

Hearst Wins Prison Transfer; ates Tell of Temper Tantrums

By TOM GOLDSTEIN
Special to The New York Times

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 9—Patricia Hearst transferred suddenly this morning to the campus-like surroundings of the Federal Correctional Institution, 60 miles southeast of 12-story Metropolitan Center in San Diego.

It was taken from Pleasanton and driven to the San Diego Federal Penitentiary, where most of the 500 inmates are sentenced to long terms of imprisonment for bank robbery or other crimes.

The authorities had no comment, other than saying that she had requested a transfer, in a letter that had a number of these sources, in interviews,

ANNIVERSARY PHILIP SILLMAN
...
ADVT.

AUTUMN PLAYTHINGS: Children in Central Park playing with the fallen leaves seemed unaware this morning of the record low temperature for this date of 27 degrees. Previous low of 30 degrees was set in 1923. Page B5.

Customs Barred From Interfering With Japanese Film

By ARNOLD H. LUBASCH
Special to The New York Times

A Federal judge yesterday barred the Customs Service from interfering with the distribution and exhibition of the Japanese film "In the Realm of the Senses," which was removed last month from the New York Film Festival at Lincoln Center.

The order was issued by Judge Marvin E. Frankel in Federal District Court in Manhattan. The film was removed from the festival after Customs officials had threatened to confiscate it because of obscenity.

INSIDE

Explanations on Campaign

Aides of both candidates have begun offering explanations for President Ford's near miss and Jimmy Carter's close call. Page A22.

Harvard Program Reform

Harvard has taken a step toward the first major overhaul of its undergraduate liberal arts program since reforms introduced in 1945. Page B4.

Smokey Bear Is Dead

Smokey, the bear that forest rangers turned into a symbol of fire prevention after rescuing him as a cub in 1950, is dead at 26. Page A16.

Books	C27	Movies	C26
Bridge	C27	Music	C18
Business	D1-16	Notes on People	C2
Chess	C27	Obituaries	D17
Crossword	C27	Op-Ed	A28
Editorials	A28	Real Estate	D16
Education	B4	Sports	A23-27
Finance	D1-16	Theaters	C29
Going Out Guide	C12	Transportation	B5
Living Section	C1-30	TV/Radio	C26-28
Letters	A28	U.N. Events	A4
Man in the News	A2	Weather	B8

News Summary and Index, Page B1

CALL THIS FREE NUMBER TO ORDER HOME DELIVERY OF THE NEW YORK TIMES FOR 12 MONTHS.

A Lively Irish Leader

Patrick John Hillery

DUBLIN, Nov. 9—Dr. Patrick J. Hillery, a brisk and popular opposition politician who appeared destined to be Prime Minister someday, was declared President-elect of Ireland today. At the age of 53, he is the youngest man to be awarded the Irish Presidency under a political system that makes an election to the largely figurehead office unnecessary if there is no other candidate. Although the post is traditionally reserved for an elder statesman in retirement, Dr. Hillery said it is an honor he could not refuse.

This unexpected turn in his career came about because of the sudden resignation of Cearbhall Ó Dálaigh from the Presidency on Oct. 22. Mr. Ó Dálaigh, who is 65, said he felt it necessary to quit to preserve the dignity and independence of the office after a Cabinet minister had denounced him as a "underlying disorganizer" for questioning the constitutionality of emergency legislation designed to stop the activities of Irish Republican Army guerrillas.

Dr. Hillery would have preferred to continue as Ireland's first representative in Brussels on the Commission of the European Economic Community. He has served there since Ireland became a member in January 1973, when his party, the Fianna Fail, was in power. But with the four-year term ending the current Prime Minister, Liam Cosgrave, indicated some weeks ago that he would be sending one of the ministers of his Fine Gael-Labor Party coalition to Brussels instead.

Deadline Allowed to Pass

Mr. Cosgrave was forced either to accept Dr. Hillery as President or to oppose him in a turbulent election that the Government, by its own estimate, would probably have lost. The Government parties chose to let the noon deadline for nominations pass, and so it was announced that Dr. Hillery, who is a doctor who has sworn in as the sixth President of Ireland on Dec. 3.

Patrick John Hillery has fashioned an immensely successful career without benefit of the oratorical power, the flamboyant personality or the family connections that often bring rewards in Irish politics. A lightly built man with a mobile face and a gentle mien, he is known as a careful decisionmaker, a listener who likes to absorb all the complexities of a problem before setting his course.

He says that he is a worrier with a thin skin. The exuberant rough-and-tumble of Irish politics was not always to his taste. But on occasion he can flare with memorable anger.

His temper served him well at his party's convention six years ago when the Fianna Fail leader, Jack Lynch, then the Prime Minister, came under fierce minority attack over Northern Ireland. A violent shouting match erupted with the otherwise quiet doctor leading a loud defense of the Lynch policies, which dropped old demands for unification of Ireland and stressed that it was Britain's responsibility to impose reform in Northern Ireland.

In Dublin, Dr. Patrick J. Hillery holds a copy of the official document appointing him to his new post.

However, he was very far from being a friend of British policy there. As Foreign Minister he voiced the Irish Government's sense of grievance about Northern inequalities between Catholics and Protestants, citing what he described as decades of British neglect as the main reason for the violence that began in 1969.

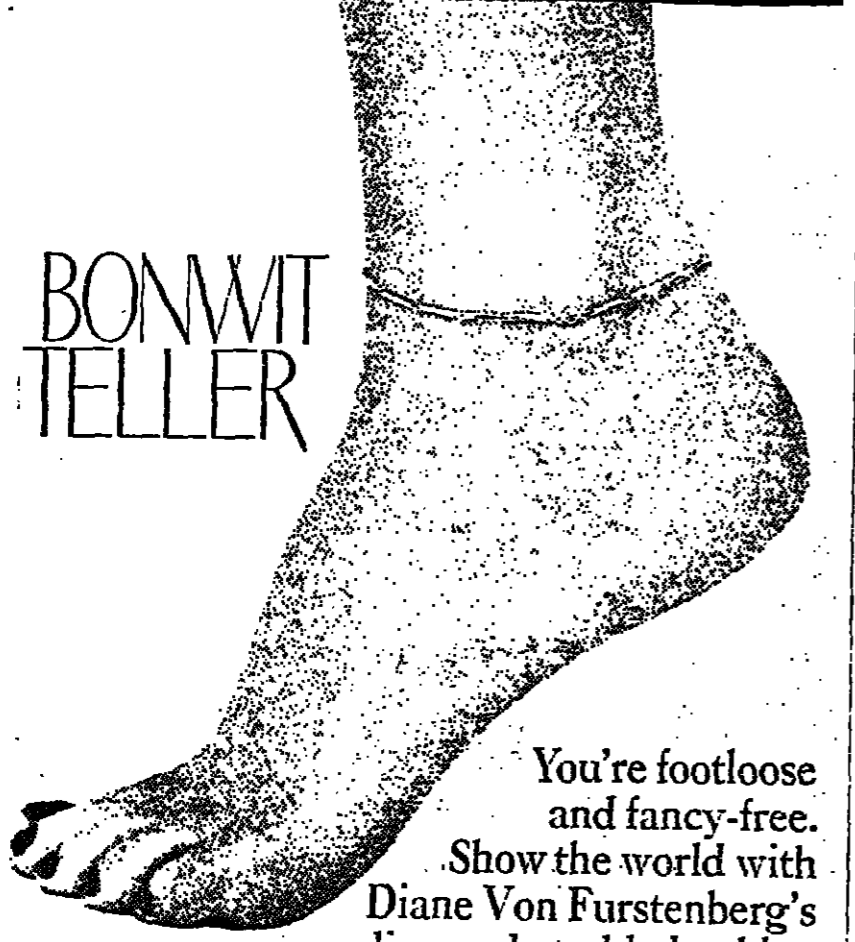

Dr. Hillery, who was born on May 2, 1923, comes from the small west-coast town of Milltown Malway in County Clare. He qualified as a medical doctor and returned to local practice. The townspeople say: "He delivered half the people around here, and his father before him delivered the other half."

His wife, Maevie, was also a physician, but she gave up her career at marriage. Their son, John, is studying to be a surgeon, and they also have a 7-year-old daughter, Vivian.

Patrick Hillery's medical career began to yield to politics when he first won election to Parliament in 1951. In the years that followed, he headed four Government ministries—Education, Industry and Commerce, Labor and Foreign Affairs. Until this month it seemed that, with Brussels behind him, he could soon make a bid for the leadership of his party.

Now he is to live in a great house hedged by protocol, is to be nervously regarded by the Government and is to have too much time for the golf that is his favorite hobby.

I'M HOLDING 4 HEART'S LADY LUCK ...
DEAL ME ANOTHER!
 Especially when they're part of CollegeGold's exquisite collection of 14 kt. gold heart jewelry. I was so lucky to find each pretty piece: Suck pin $50. Ring $50. Pendant $90. Fine Fashion Jewelry (142) At the A&S nearest you

BONWIT
TELLER

You're footloose and fancy-free. Show the world with Diane Von Furstenberg's diamond-studded anklet.

The leg is back and the skirt's showing it. You set it twinkling with a diamond on a golden chain. 5 point diamond centering a 14 kt. gold link chain. 140.00. Ours first from DVF Designs by Diane Von Furstenberg, Inc. Fine Jewelry, First Floor. Mail and phone. Call (212) EL 5-2600 any hour. Add 1.35 outside delivery area and sales tax where applicable. Fifth Avenue at 56th Street, New York. Manhasset Scarsdale Short Hills

"I Love Christmas" designed by Ralph Parano exclusively for our great 1976 Collection of Holiday Greeting cards. Silver-faced stock with silver screen message. Box of 25, with matching envelope $12.50.

Our entire line of specially designed Christmas cards is now available. For all who value the Georg Jensen tradition this distinctive group offers colorful, charming and discreet designs. priced per box $8, $10, $12 and $12.50. (Imprinted if you wish, $6.00 additional)

On our Lower Level in Stationery Dept.

Add sales tax where applicable and $1.50 per order for handling and shipping outside our delivery area.

GEORG JENSEN INC.
 601 Madison Ave. at 57th St., New York 10022 • (212) 935-2800
 Scarsdale • Manhasset • Philadelphia • Paramus
 We accept all major credit cards.

GUCCI

The Gucci Spectator... deftly detailed, wing tipped, stacked leather heel, soft supple leather.

GUCCI 699 Fifth Avenue, New York - Chicago, Palm Beach, Beverly Hills
 Please use our toll free line 800-221-2590 or 212-826-2640.

the art of Cuisinart®

The art of great cooking starts with even heat. Cuisinart's exclusive thermo-radiant bottom, (aluminum sandwiched between two layers of stainless steel) assures consistent, even heat. Mirror polish Starter Set: 5 quart stockpot with lid, 2 quart saucepan with lid, 9 1/2" skillet (5 qt. lid fits skillet). If purchased separately $124, sale $85.

Macy's Cookery in the Cellar (D. 131), Herald Square, and the Macy's near you. Mail and phone orders accepted any hour, any day; in NYC: 971-6000; NJ: toll-free 800-221-6822; New Haven: 203-624-9211; elsewhere in Conn. toll-free 1-800-922-1350. Add sales tax and 50¢ handling tax. We regret, no COD's.

Macy's

BLUE

GLEN GUARD knows that a man looks just great in an impeccably tailored blue suit. This one is 100% wool worsted with center vent. From our copious collection of suits made here and abroad. And remember... we won't let you wear it unless it fits.

KOLMER-MARCUS
 TODAY'S STYLE - YESTERDAY'S PERFECTION
 BROADWAY & 37TH MON-SAT 9AM-6PM (HOURS IN THE MAJOR CREDIT CARDS ACCEPTED)

Proudly bucking the trend by decreasing our Title Insurance rates by 7.2%

Lowest rates in the industry

CITY TITLE INSURANCE COMPANY
 175 W. 42nd Street, New York, N.Y. 10018
 (212) 425-2700

Hold Your Private Luncheon Meetings from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Residence 1568 First Avenue (81st and 82nd Sts.) 628-4100. Closed Sundays. Regular Hours 9-11 p.m.

Old & New Prints SIGNED GRAPHICS. American, Currier & Ives, Views Legal, College Golf, Medical, Maps, Audubon, McGraw & Ray Harm Birds. Publishers Dali Graphics. PHILAS LUCAS GALLERY 800 PRINT CENTER 301 2nd Ave (52 St) NEW YORK CITY 10022 PLAZA 5-1516 GALLERIES INC. 11.50 PER HOUR '76. Closed Mondays

Ordiam On the Promenade. Superb Service On Jewelry & Watch Repairs. 48-hour Watch Repairs. 620 Fifth Avenue at Rockefeller Center, N.Y., N.Y. 212-489-5620

THE NEW YORK TIMES. Published daily except on Sundays and public holidays. Second-class postage paid at New York, N.Y., and at additional mailing offices. Mail Subscription: U.S. Territories: 1 year $12.00; 6 months $7.00; 3 months $4.00. Outside U.S. and possessions: 1 year $18.00; 6 months $10.00; 3 months $5.50. Single copies 15¢. Payment in advance. Please allow 4-6 weeks for delivery of new subscriptions. The Associated Press is entitled to use for reproduction all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and local news of special interest published herein. Rights of reproduction of all other matter herein are also reserved.

one for all... and we're all for Morris Moskowitz' slender leather belt... touched with glint... that adjusts to any waist with the slightest of hand. A brilliant design for giving... or keeping. Black, brown, wine, camel, navy, red, or grey. 18.00. Belts, Street Floor, New York and all fashion branches. Mail and phone orders filled.

bloomingdales
 1000 Third Avenue, New York, 355-5900. Open late Monday and Thursday evenings.

مكتبة الامم المتحدة

Gucci

ians Say Recent Incursions Mozambique Buoyed Morale

Attacked Guerrilla Camp and Returned Eight Tons of Weapons and Documents

By MICHAEL T. KAUFMAN
Special to The New York Times

Rhodesia, Nov. 9—Ten thousand guerrillas, mostly young men, attacked at least seven guerrilla camps and returned eight tons of weapons, food and documents that were shown to the guerrillas.

The strategists believed that a few thousand guerrillas, mostly young men, would be infiltrated into Rhodesia once the rains began, turning the dense foliage of the border area into a lush canopy shielding movements.

The raid of 10 days ago was the second in recent months. The first, on Aug. 8, involved an attack on what is described here as a training camp at Nyadzona, 25 miles inside Mozambique. According to unconfirmed reports, 85 Rhodesian soldiers—blacks and whites with blackened faces from a crack counterinsurgency unit—rode into the camp, dressed in Mozambican uniforms, and began firing as guerrilla recruits stood at attention in apparent welcome. At the time 350 recruits were reported killed.

Attack Was Widely Condemned

The attack was condemned at the United Nations, and Mozambique said that the number of killed was much higher and that the victims were not guerrillas but refugees. There was a report, again unconfirmed, that Prime Minister John Vorster of South Africa communicated his indignation to Rhodesia, saying such attacks could provoke intervention by outside forces, presumably Cubans and Russians.

Then came Mr. Smith's acceptance of Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's proposals calling for black majority rule in Rhodesia within two years. The impact of what some Rhodesians saw as capitulation had a severe effect on military morale. Rhodesian officers, in displaying captured weapons from the latest incursion across the border, alluded in general terms to heightened troop morale resulting from the raid.

In that incursion, staged Oct. 31, about 200 men crossed the border in northeast Rhodesia and apparently struck at six camps in Tete Province, several miles within Mozambique. These were described as holding camps where young men were assembled for forays into Rhodesia. Such camps are said to hold up to 40 persons each. The number killed has not been reported officially.

"We did not go in to roll them back," said Mike Edden, a Rhodesian officer, said in a briefing for reporters on Thursday. Two Rhodesian soldiers were reportedly killed, and two others seriously wounded.

From the holding camps at Nura, Genta, Chikombizi and Jokuze, the Rhodesians apparently continued to a larger base some 50 miles into Mozambique. According to unconfirmed accounts, the Rhodesians met with light resistance in all the attacks as guerrillas scattered in retreat. Fifty tons of armaments were destroyed in the Sunday raids. According to Mr. Edden, it took two days to bring back the eight tons of captured equipment and documents.

There is a widely held belief that the raids have been learned. The white deleterious blow to the guerrillas.

Geneva Conference Seen

There is a widely held belief that the raids have been learned. The white deleterious blow to the guerrillas.

Geneva Conference Seen

There is a widely held belief that the raids have been learned. The white deleterious blow to the guerrillas.

Geneva Conference Seen

There is a widely held belief that the raids have been learned. The white deleterious blow to the guerrillas.

Geneva Conference Seen

There is a widely held belief that the raids have been learned. The white deleterious blow to the guerrillas.

A Rhodesian policeman in Mount Darwin inspects weapons seized from guerrillas during a recent raid into Mozambique.

Black Rhodesian Leader Hints at Overture to Moscow

GENEVA, Nov. 9 (AP)—Joshua Nkomo, the black Rhodesian leader, has indicated that Rhodesia under black rule will look to the Soviet Union for friendship, support and aid rather than to the United States.

The relationship between Rhodesia and any other country, he said in an interview yesterday, would be governed by its attitude "during our period of armed struggle."

"We get out assistance, especially military assistance, from the Soviet Union," he pointed out. "It's no secret. We have gone to them. They haven't come to us. We are working with them."

Rhodesia's relations with the United States, he said, would be "the relations between two independent countries."

Spokesman Gives Details

Later his official spokesman, Saul Ndlovu, spelled out Mr. Nkomo's position toward the United States in greater detail.

Although the Soviet Union had given military aid to the guerrillas of Mr. Nkomo's Zimbabwe African People's Union, Mr. Ndlovu said, it "does not ask us to be Soviets."

"We shall have friendly relations with them with this background in mind," he declared.

Despite Mr. Nkomo's pointed hint that his forces with weapons might give Moscow an edge in a contest for the friendship of his strategically important country, Mr. Ndlovu said that Mr. Nkomo "did not say we should choose one against the other."

The 50-year-old Mr. Nkomo said he thought that neither Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger nor his successor had any role to play at the deadlocked Geneva conference on the transfer of power in Rhodesia from the white minority to the black majority.

Britain's Primary Role Noted

He explained that as far as the black leaders were concerned, the Geneva negotiations were "basically" between them and the British, since the blacks refused to recognize Prime Minister Ian D. Smith's declaration of independence from Britain 11 years ago and demand that Britain as the colonial power arrange the transfer of power to them.

Mr. Nkomo said that the African shuttle by Mr. Kissinger that produced the Geneva conference "has not involved the people of Zimbabwe as such but involved Smith and his helpers, the South Africans." Zimbabwe is the name given Rhodesia by blacks.

"If the Americans could through pressuring the South Africans put pressure on Smith, that would not have a bearing on the affairs [here] but on the individuals on whom the Americans could bring pressure to bear," he said. "So when it comes to discussing the actual affairs of Zimbabwe, the United States has no more role."

Mr. Nkomo also showed no interest in the $2 billion foreign aid fund that Mr. Kissinger has proposed to compensate whites who leave Rhodesia and to finance development of the country under black rule.

"I don't know what that fund is," he said. "But if it is to buy property from those who want to leave and that property will be owned by the trust fund, then I don't thank you. Our country being bought over by some fund, that we cannot have."

"A Chance of Civil War II . . ."

Discussing the rivalries among the factions represented by the four black leaders at the Geneva conference, Mr. Nkomo said, "There is a chance of civil war if people with military forces go separate ways."

Although he and Robert Mugabe are allied in the talks in a "Patriotic Front" coalition, he conceded that the guerrillas of his Zimbabwe African People's Union were greatly outnumbered by those of Mr. Mugabe's Zimbabwe African National Union and that they fought each other earlier this year for control of bases in Mozambique, one of Rhodesia's black-ruled neighbors.

The two other black leaders at Geneva are Bishop Abel Muzorewa, who headed a short-lived coalition of the National Union and the People's Union called the African National Council, and the Rev. Ndabaningi Sithole, a National Union leader.

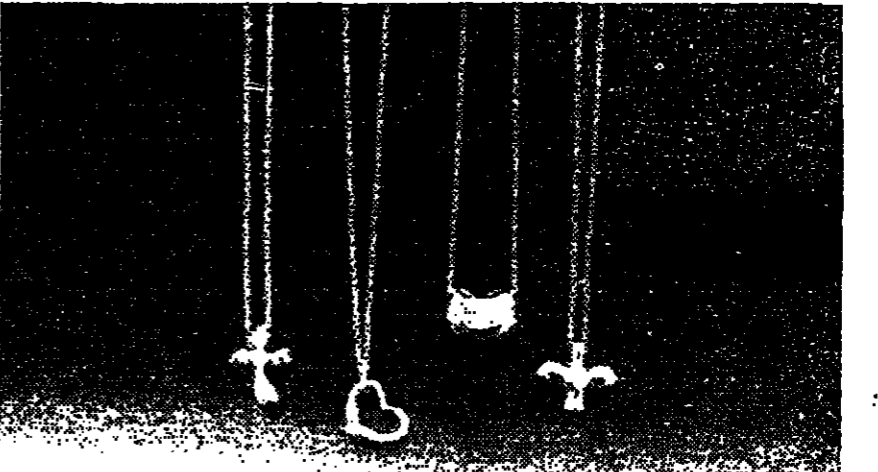

Mr. Nkomo criticized Bishop Muzorewa for suggesting in an interview last week that grudges held by the National Union and the People's Union might split the Patriotic Front once the Geneva talks were over and plunge Rhodesia into civil war.

"I think there must be something wrong with his head," Mr. Nkomo said. "A man who believes in God like him should pray that [the Patriotic Front] succeeds and not be talking of a civil war."

He also criticized Bishop Muzorewa's proposal for an election to set up an interim government and accused the Methodist bishop of trying to get elected prime minister while his rivals were "engaged in a struggle to try and get something for the country."

Asked whether he was afraid Bishop Muzorewa would win an election now because 100,000 turned out in Salisbury, the Rhodesian capital, for his return from exile in September, he replied: "Who, me? Scared of tiny little Muzorewa? I have support throughout the country."

ELSA'S MINI-PENDANTS

Elsa Peretti's mini-pendants with 15" chains. Come in sterling silver or eighteen karat gold.

Cross: Sterling, $15. Eighteen karat, $22.

Heart: Sterling, $19. Eighteen karat, $29.

Bean: Sterling, $19. Eighteen karat, $110.

Bird: Sterling, $15. Eighteen karat, $59.

TIFFANY & CO.

NEW YORK FIFTH AVE. & 57th ST. • ZIP: 10022 • TEL: 212-759-9110
ATLANTA • CHICAGO • HOUSTON • SAN FRANCISCO • BEVERLY HILLS
Add $1 for shipping plus or sales tax • American Express • Best American • Diners Club • Design & T. & Co.

The New York Times, Nov. 10, 1976. Rhodesian raids were against jumps in Tete Province.

Among the half ton of documents were notebooks in which the guerrillas recorded real or imagined missions. One entry credited a young comrade with having destroyed 10 enemy aircraft on a single day. This would represent about a tenth of the Rhodesian Air Force.

Now in the aftermath, military strategists believe the guerrillas have taken a major psychological blow and that no camp can feel safe from raids. But there is also a belief that the success of the raid may in the long run be overshadowed by the condemnation of world opinion and a few observers voice fears that raids into Mozambique could spur the kind of direct Cuban intervention that occurred in Angola.

Guerrillas Said to Kill 5 Persons

SALISBURY, Nov. 9 (Reuters)—Five members of a Rhodesian road gang working in the Honde valley near the eastern border were bound together and shot to death by guerrillas, a communiqué said today. A sixth worker also was shot but survived. The communiqué also said Lance Corp. Matthew Charles Lamb, 28, a native of Canada, had been killed, but gave no details.

Guerrillas Said to Kill 5 Persons

SALISBURY, Nov. 9 (Reuters)—Five members of a Rhodesian road gang working in the Honde valley near the eastern border were bound together and shot to death by guerrillas, a communiqué said today. A sixth worker also was shot but survived. The communiqué also said Lance Corp. Matthew Charles Lamb, 28, a native of Canada, had been killed, but gave no details.

celebrating our 150 years in fashion with hand-batiked scarves. Peacock in blues, cinnamon-hat pink, 36" square, $25.00—from Wilma Tobler's silk collection designed by Jane Blake.

Meet the designer today, noon 'til 2 p.m., Lord & Taylor, New York. Tomorrow in Westchester, noon 'til 2 p.m. Street Floor, Lord & Taylor, Call W1 7-3300, Fifth Avenue, Manhasset, Westchester, Garden City, Millburn, Ridgewood-Paramus, Stamford.

South African Forces Said to Halt Flight of Refugees

South-West Africa, Nov. 9—A flood of refugees fleeing from Angola dwindled today as South African forces drove from the border at gunpoint. Refugees as saying that seeking to escape had been tried to climb the border into South-West Africa that bodies were being thrown into a grave about a mile inside.

African officials said that the South African Government soldiers and guerrillas of the South African People's Organization of the rebel Union for the Liberation of Angola.

Yet, the South African Commander for the indigenous people of South-West Africa, told reporters that a radio broadcast from Luanda, the Angolan capital, had said that Angola's pro-Communist Government would help the guerrillas "liberate" South-West Africa once the Angolan rebel movement had been crushed. Guerrilla action in South-West Africa has virtually halted in recent weeks.

Refugees from Angola were quoted as saying that civilians were being massacred, young girls were being raped and young children were being shot by soldiers.

About 3,000 refugees have crossed into this South African-ruled territory in the last week, most of them old women and children.

A South African Government official here said that the refugees had reported that fighting was going on in the towns and in the bush in Angola. He said that casualties were thought to be high.

The South African Defense Minister,

Pieter Willem Botha, today denied Angolan Government statements that South African forces had shelled southern Angola in the last few days.

"There is no aggression from our side," he said.

Angola Acknowledges Fighting

LONDON, Nov. 9 (Reuters)—The Angolan Government acknowledged over the Luanda radio today that rival independence forces it had defeated in a bloody civil war were still opposing it militarily but said they were doing so with the help of "international imperialism."

The radio report of a declaration by the governing People's Movement for the Liberation of Angola accused the Government's foreign opponents of infiltrating guerrillas into groups of returning refugees. It said they had mined roads and destroyed equipment.

Angola Acknowledges Fighting

LONDON, Nov. 9 (Reuters)—The Angolan Government acknowledged over the Luanda radio today that rival independence forces it had defeated in a bloody civil war were still opposing it militarily but said they were doing so with the help of "international imperialism."

The radio report of a declaration by the governing People's Movement for the Liberation of Angola accused the Government's foreign opponents of infiltrating guerrillas into groups of returning refugees. It said they had mined roads and destroyed equipment.

WRAPPING UP DINNER is a simple matter in this elegant little jersey dress that wraps to a V in the front or back with a graceful sash.

By Maurice Originals of Antron® nylon jersey for sizes 8 to 16 in jet black or jade green, $68.00 Country & Casual, Third Floor

Mail to 754 Fifth Ave., New York 10019 (212) PL3-7300 Please add 1.55 beyond our delivery area.

On the Plaza in New York and White Plains

BERGDORF GOODMAN

HOW DO I TAKE MY ICE? CRACKLING OVER CHIFFON.

Cheryl Baron always has had a cool head, and this must be her coolest idea yet. Shivers of ice on a long chiffon tunic sliding over a strapless jumpsuit. Tank tunic in black or white rayon chiffon, small or medium sizes, $250. Strapless rayon matte jersey jumpsuit, small, medium or large sizes, $150. Fantasy World of Park Avenue Room, Fifth Floor.

I'm spinning in to meet Cheryl Baron. She'll be here Thursday and Friday, November 11 and 12, and there'll be informal modeling from 12 to 4.

We understand you at

Saks Fifth Avenue

Saks Fifth Avenue at Rockefeller Center

TOTAL DIOR

Multi-stripe cotton. French cuffs. White, with blues, browns/beige or burgundy/pink. $25.00.

Woven silk tie in navy, brown or burgundy. $17.50.

On both, the Christian Dior® logo. Men's Store, main floor, Fifth Avenue, (212) MU9-7000, branches.

Shirt sizes: 14½ (33), 15.15½ (33-35), 16½ (35)

BAltman & Co

I'M A SPRUCED-UP COWGIRL IN SPLIT BUCKSKIN—A VERY SPECIAL COAT AT A SPECIAL PRICE: $99.

Whether one is from the plains, or just plain city folk, it's easy to appreciate the warmth of this wrap-about wonder. Chocolate brown or rust split buckskin coat with a round of belly, slit pockets, dyed lamb collar and sherpa pile lining of polyester and acrylic, sizes 5 to 13, $99. Young Circle® Coats and Suits, Second Floor. Sorry, no mail or phone orders.

We understand you at

Saks Fifth Avenue

NEW YORK • WHITE PLAINS • SPRINGFIELD • GARDEN CITY

For you, the layered look has nothing to do with warmth. And everything to do with luxe.

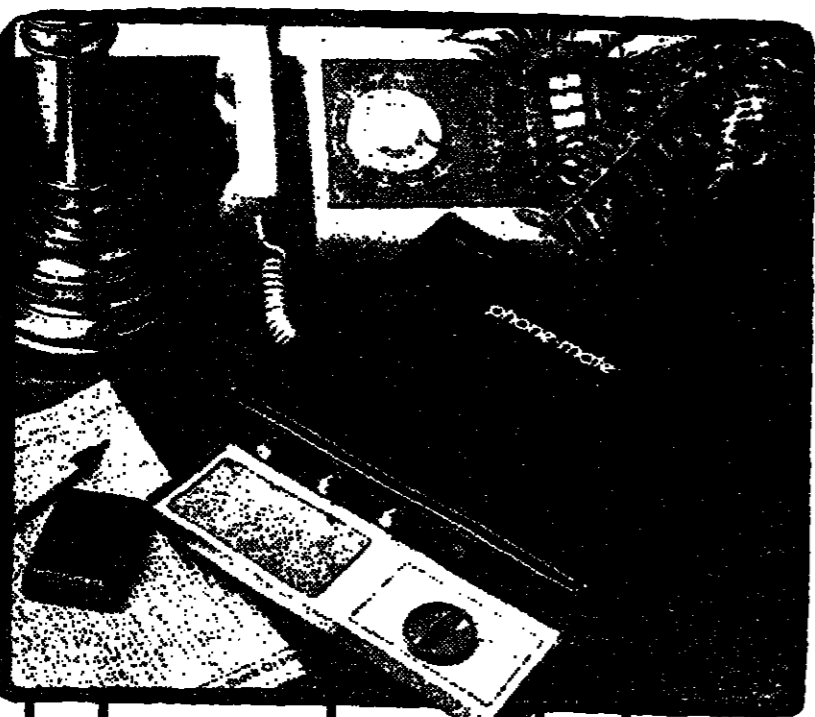

Soft, gentle layers of crepe de chine. Designed by Shannon Rodgers to flow. In a slim strapped sheath panel front and back. Then topped by a beautifully fluid jacket. For Jerry Silverman in black or white rayon crepe de chine for 4 to 14 sizes, 200.00. Better Dresses Sixth Floor

BONWIT TELLER

Mail and phone. Call (212) EL 5-2600 any hour. Add 1.35 outside delivery area and sales tax where applicable. Fifth Avenue at 56th Street, New York. Manhasset. Scarsdale. Short Hills.

phone-mate 9000 the total personal answering system

Phone-mate 9000. Answers your phone with your announcements; records, stores incoming messages. Exclusive C-VOX records only as long as caller talks. Monitor switch allows you to hear who's phoning so you may answer...or not. Built-in remote system lets you call in from any phone in the world and have your messages played back in total privacy. Plugs into your telephone company extension jack. In deluxe walnut grained cabinet. 299.00. Radio, Television, 6th Floor, New York. Mail and phone orders filled. We regret, no C.O.D.'s.

bloomingdale's

1000 Third Avenue, New York, 355-5900. Open late Monday and Thursday evenings. Also available in Bergen County, Chestnut Hill, Fresh Meadows, Garden City, Jenkintown, Manhasset, New Rochelle, Short Hills, Stamford, Tysons Corner and White Plains.

U.N. Approves Drive on Apartheid

Continued From Page A1

their statements of previous sessions was one resolution's portrayal of the South African Government as "illegitimate," having "no right to represent the people of South Africa." In traditional anticolonialist language, this resolution went on to reaffirm "the legitimacy of the struggle of the oppressed people of South Africa and their liberation movements, by all possible means, for the seizure of power by the people."

To one United States delegate, Rev. Robert P. Hupp, this language was "tantamount to a call for an uprising in South Africa which would in effect be a racial bloodbath." West European and Commonwealth governments protested the characterization of the South African situation as a "colonial" one, arguing that the white minority was as native to the land as the black majority.

Ten countries joined the United States in opposing this resolution, 22 abstained, while 108 voted in favor.

General Assembly condemnation of apartheid has become a fixture on the agenda. Not a single delegate has risen to defend South African racial policies. But this year's broadened campaign to implicate the Western powers and Israel has generated serious misgivings, even among third-world governments, with an overall consensus being whittled away by abstention and opposition.

Last year's milder resolution condemning apartheid in sports, for instance, was passed without objection. Others produced only a handful of negative votes. This year only two resolutions were passed by consensus, one calling for contributions to a trust fund for victims of apartheid and another expressing solidarity with South African political prisoners.

The U.N. Today

Nov. 10, 1976
GENERAL ASSEMBLY
Meets at 10:30 A.M. and 3 P.M. on the question of Cyprus.
Political and Security Committee — 10:30 A.M. and 3 P.M.
Special Political Committee — 3 P.M.
Economic and Financial Committee 10:30 A.M.
Social, Humanitarian and Cultural Committee — 10:30 A.M. and 3 P.M.
Dependent Territories Committee — 3 P.M.
Administrative and Budgetary Committee — 10 A.M.
Legal Committee — 9:30 A.M. and 3 P.M.

Tickets are available at the public desk, in the main lobby, United Nations Headquarters. Tours: 9 A.M. to 4:45 P.M.

Behold The Figa. Universal symbol of good luck, passion and other wondrous things!

One of the oldest amulets against "the evil eye." Reputed to ward off jealousy and envy... bring joy and good fortune. Whatever your own belief, the sheer grace and beauty of this ancient talisman cannot be denied. We show you but a list of our precious Figas from the heart of South America.

- A. Aventurine, 18Kt. gold, 1 3/4" — $55.
- B. 18Kt. gold, 1 1/2" — $65.
- C. Tourmaline, 18Kt. gold, 1" — $38.
- D. 18Kt. gold, 1" — $25.
- E. Amethyst, 18Kt. gold, 1 1/4" — $42.
- F. 18Kt. gold, 1 1/4" — $47.

Chains: 14Kt. gold, your choice of 16" or 18" — $20.

SOUTH AMERICA'S LEADING JEWELERS
The Olympic Tower
645 Fifth Ave. (51st St.), N.Y., N.Y. 10022
(212) 688-0300

Mail, phone orders cheerfully filled. We honor the American Express and all major credit cards. Please include name of card, number and expiration date.

Paul Stuart

A remarkable talent for standing up to the most exhausting day without looking it, characterizes our granite worsted suit. We think "granite" is apt, because the suiting itself combines remarkable wearing properties with crisp good looks and comfort. In a selection of handsome shades of navy, grey or brown, all tailored with the attention to detail one expects of SOUTH-WICK. $210.

MADISON AVENUE AT 45TH STREET, NEW YORK, N.Y. 10017, MU 2-3370, OPEN 9-6.

success '76

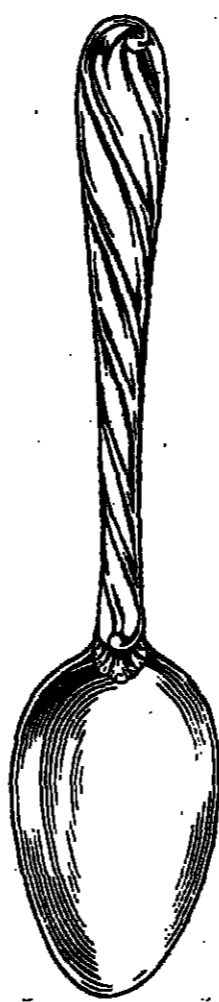

with winter impact... lush shearing in a smart 3/4 double-breasted coat... cozy warmth in great style. Flattering shaping and stitch detailing. Dark brown in sizes 6-18, $225

Antelope

Leather & Sportswear
384 FIFTH AVENUE at 36th STREET 563 5587

BUCCELLATI

This is TORCHON sterling silver. Its are handcrafted in the Buccellati workshops. One of several, no parallels, available in open stock. Prices range from $114 to $300 a four-piece place setting. All major credit cards accepted. 703 FIFTH AVENUE / 755-3253

IT'S THE REAL THING! BOB LEE'S ORIGINAL SAFARI HAT FOR TOWN & COUNTRY IS HERE... OUR MINISAFARI

Handcrafted for us alone... in Africa, by one of the world's great hatlers. Perhaps the world's most copied hat. But the copies never come close to the authentic original. If you like hats, you'll love this one. And if you don't wear hats, look at yourself in this one... you'll never be without it! Perfect with all of your sportswear, casual suits, rainwear. This is the hat that will make you a fashion standout anywhere. With pleated silk puggaree band. Impala Brown.

$40 State Size. Add $1.50 on Mail Orders. N.Y. Res. Add Tax. Send $2 to Dept. T For Color-filled 116 Page Catalog. Open Mon. thru Sat. 10-6
HUNTING WORLD
16 EAST 53RD STREET, NEW YORK, N.Y. 10022

WARM UP TO WINTER

in a genuine, handcrafted Sheepskin coat.

For warmth, comfort and durability, nothing beats a light-weight Sheepskin coat by THE SHEARLING FACTORY. Why pay high prices for the finest quality sheepskin coats when you can save by buying direct from THE SHEARLING FACTORY.

* LARGEST SELECTION IN N.Y.C.
* COATS FROM ONLY $125 (for limited time only)
SHEARLING FACTORY
130 West 30th Street
New York, NY 10001
15th Floor — (212) 564-2370
Just 2 Blocks From Penn Station

Remember the luxury of All-Cotton Chinos? We haven't forgotten.

Brushed Tan $17.50
Mail Orders add $2. plus NYS tax.
BURTON Ltd.
475 Fifth Ave. (212) 635 3760

Mervin S. Levine

Custom Tailors
London's finest fabrics, New York's finest tailored suits. $275 to $325.

MERVIN S. LEVINE CO.
Since 1924
85 FIFTH AVENUE (FIFTH STREET)
255-7474

THE GERMAN JEWISH COMMUNITY
a lecture by
DR. MAX GRUENEWALD
Sun. Nov. 14, 1976 at 3 p.m.
Park Avenue Synagogue
50 East 87 St., N.Y.C.
FREE ADMISSION
Sponsored by Jewish Theological Seminary

Looking for more Health Care, Hospital or Medical job opportunities to choose from?

Look in The Week in Review (Section 4) every Sunday.
Look in the "About Education" feature every Wednesday.
Look in the Classified Pages every day of the week.
The New York Times

67 wine & spirits merchants

Diagonally Across From Lincoln Center
179 Columbus Ave. at 68th St., New York, N.Y. 10022
ESTABLISHED 1941 LIC. L-1368

SEE OUR FULL PAGE of WINE VALUES IN THE LIVING SECTION

RED / A CHARMING SAMPLE		212-724-6767
CHATEAU GISCOURS-1971	579 BOT.	6948 CASE
CHATEAU LEVILLE POYFERRE-1970	579 BOT.	6948 CASE
CHATEAU HAUT-BRION-1966	1998 BOT.	22500 CASE
CHABLIS "LES CLOS"—1973	DAUVISSAT	399 BOT.	4788 CASE
MEURSAULT "GENEVRIERES"	1974 BALLOT MILLOT	659 BOT.	7700 CASE
MACON VILLAGES—1973	LOUIS LATOUR	289 BOT.	3295 CASE

Handwritten Arabic text at the bottom of the page.

World News Briefs

Experts Insist Mummy Is in Paris for Repairs

PARIS, Nov. 9 (UPI)—Experts at the Paris Museum of Man denied today that the 3,000-year-old Egyptian mummy of Pharaoh Ramses II was suffering from a "diplomatic illness."

The museum administrator, Lionel Balout, said press reports that the mummy was in no need of restoration and had been brought to Paris late in September in a diplomatic move to improve relations between Egypt and France, were false.

"The mummy shows physical deformities," Mr. Balout said. "It is infected with a proliferation of fungi and shows traces of insects and bacteria." He added that the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization issued a report on the alarming state of Egyptian mummies long before Ramses was brought to Paris.

To convince reporters that restoration is needed, the Ministry of Education, which has jurisdiction over the museum, is to organize visits to show that the mummy is in an advanced state of decay.

Corsican Militants Blow Up French Television Trucks

BASTIA, Corsica, Nov. 8 (AP)—Extremists blew up two French television trucks today, and many businesses closed for a 24-hour protest against the detention of five militants seeking Corsican autonomy.

The five have been in jail in Lyons for two months for burning a French Boeing 707 jetliner on Sept. 7 at Ajaccio, Corsica. They went on a hunger strike Oct. 21 and were hospitalized last Thursday in serious condition.

Corsican nationalists have been agitating for autonomy from mainland France for two centuries. Last month a Foreign Legion unit was withdrawn from the Mediterranean island after island-wide protests against the killing of two shepherds whose deaths were attributed to deserters from the Legion.

Brezhnev Foresees Gains In U.S.-Soviet Relations

MOSCOW, Nov. 9 (UPI)—Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet Communist Party leader, said today that the Kremlin expected "more effective interaction" in Soviet-United States relations following the Presidential election.

Mr. Brezhnev, speaking at a dinner honoring the Polish Communist leader, Edward Gierk, warned however that the Soviet Union would continue to support national liberation movements.

He charged that "powerful and well-organized" forces in the West oppose relaxation of tensions, forcing the Communist countries to enhance their vigilance and to step up still more their struggle for a lasting peace.

According to a text circulated by Tass, the official press agency, Mr. Brezhnev made no direct reference to President-elect Jimmy Carter. His remarks appeared to reflect Soviet impatience over slow progress in Soviet-American relations during the election campaign.

Viewers watching a television broadcast of the speech noted that Mr. Brezhnev appeared to be wearing a hearing aid.

Japan and Soviet Reach Accord on Return of MIG

TOKYO, Nov. 9 (AP)—Japan and the Soviet Union reached agreement today on the return of a supersonic MIG-25 fighter plane flown to northern Japan on Sept. 6 by a Soviet Air Force officer seeking to defect to the United States.

The Soviet freighter Taigonos is to enter the port of Hitachi, 60 miles northeast of Tokyo, on Friday to pick up the dismantled Soviet jet plane, the most advanced in the Soviet Air Force and a closely guarded secret until its appearance in Japan.

After it landed at a small civilian airfield in Hakodate, the MIG, reportedly the world's fastest plane, was seized by Japanese authorities. Its pilot, Lieut. Viktor Belenko, was granted political asylum and flew to the United States on Sept. 9.

The Japanese later dismantled the plane and removed it to Hyakuri, a Japanese Self-Defense Force base near Hitachi, where Japanese experts, with assistance from Americans, made a thorough study of it.

Four in Cuban Plane Crash Said to Voice Fears

CARACAS, Venezuela, Nov. 9 (AP)—Orlando Bosch, a Cuban exile leader, and three Venezuelans, all charged in the suspected bombing of a Cuban jetliner that crashed off Barbados, have expressed fear for their lives.

Judge Delia Estaba formally served the four men yesterday with an indictment charging them with murder in the Oct. 6 crash. All 73 persons on board the plane were killed.

"They said they fear for their lives," said the judge, who was appointed several weeks ago to investigate the case involving Mr. Bosch and the three others—Luis Posada, Freddy Lugo and Hernan Ricardo Lozano. They are being held at the headquarters of the Venezuelan intelligence agency.

Argentine Police Arrest A Spanish Reporter

Special to The New York Times
BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 9—The Argentine police have arrested Jose Antonio Rodriguez Couzeiro, manager of the Spanish press agency bureau here, for alleged possession of subversive written material.

A spokesman for the Ministry of Interior said he was seized Sunday at Ezeiza International Airport as he was to depart on a flight to Madrid. Subsequently, the police searched his home and office, removing some documentary material from the agency's files. The material was said to have been left by Fernando Mas, a former correspondent of the Cuban press agency Prensa Latina, who now lives in Madrid.

GIMBELS SALUTES VETERAN'S DAY

With storewide excitement Thursday, Friday and Saturday!
Three big days with savings on every floor... it's for the family, it's for the home.
it's for you! This is just a sample. Hurry in for hundreds more.

Cashmere coats for misses and petites Tailored shapings. Boulevard Coats.
Regularly $160...$128

Soft holiday dresses in one and two piece styles. Sizes 12 to 20. Boulevard Dresses.
Special purchase...$19.99

Misses' bulky acrylic knit outerwear sweaters. Solids, patterns. Boulevard Sportswear. Orig. $15.99-$22.99 & 12.99

Misses print blouses of polyester. Assorted stripes, paisleys, geometrics. Sizes 8-18. Ms. G Blouses. Orig. $20...$12.99

Misses' separates in acrylic and polyester. Nylon blouses in group. Sizes 10 to 18. Ms. G. Sportswear. Orig. $14-$32...$8.99-20.99

Women's famous maker shoes in current styles for sport, dress. Women's Shoes. Originally $15 to $36...$11.99 to 24.99

Knit lined Italian leather gloves
Luxurious lambskin in three lengths. Gloves. Reg. $9 to $15...$7.50 to $12

Girls' 4-6x and 7-14 ski jackets with hoods. Nylon shells, warm linings. Young World. Orig. $19 & $22...$13.99 & 16.99

Misses' zip-front Arnel® and nylon fleece robes. Solids with white piping. P-S-M-L. Loungewear. Orig. $25...$19.99

Men's famous maker slacks in solids and fancies in easy care polyester. Men's Slacks. Orig. $17 to $20...$11.99

Men's blend suburban coat with warm pile lining, pile collar. In camel or brown. Tweed. 36-46. Men's Outerwear. Reg. $75...$49.99

Young men's fashion sweaters in solids and prints with wing collar styling. Today's Place. Originally $20 to $26...$13.99

Over 20 broadlooms by Lees, World, Cabin Crafts, others. Installation included. Regularly $13 to $20...$8.99-15.99

Save 50% on Oriental design rugs in three Persian patterns, 100% nylon pile. 9x12', regularly $150...$75

Every Selig sofa, loveseat and chair in stock reduced. Most wanted contemporary styles...Save 20% to 40%

Save $301 on queen size sofa bed in plush velvet, with loose pillow back innerspring bed. Regularly $700...$399

RCA 100% solid state XL100 color portable 15" picture measured diagonally. Add 3.50 for delivery. Reg. $348...$299

Frigidaire 17 cu. ft. frost-free refrigerator-freezer with twin crispers. Add $6 for delivery. Reg. $529...$399

Eureka upright vacuum with powerful motor, headlight, easy directing handle, tool set. Add $2 for delivery. Reg. $100...$64.99

U.S. Canvas softside zippered luggage, lightweight luggage in a choice of sizes, 3 colors. 9.90 and 19.90

Save 35% on solid color bath sheets. 100% cotton; large 30x66" size; in 8 colors; regularly $11 ea...$2/13.98

Save 15% to 30% on vinyl covered hassocks and benches; 4 styles; regularly $16-$27...$10.99 to 20.99

Save 40% on corduroy; machine washable cotton in exciting colors; 45" wide; regularly 3.50 yd...$1.99 yd.

Save 15% to 50% (from reg. and orig. prices) on holiday dinnerware... fine china, ironstone, stoneware

GIMBELS

Veteran's Day Sale

The price immediately preceding the sale price. There have been intermediate price reductions prior to this sale. Sorry, no mail or phone orders.

Gimbels Broadway at 33rd Street, Gimbels East at 86th Street. Also Westchester, Paramus, Valley Stream, Roosevelt Field, Bridgeport, Fashion, towel and china at Bay Shore, Commack, Stamford. Limited quantities

Handwritten signature or mark in a box.

S D

مكتبة المجلات

MACY'S VETERANS' DAY SALE THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY

10% OFF EVERY MISSES' FUR-TRIMMED AND UNTRIMMED WOOL AND WOOL BLEND SHORT AND STREET LENGTH COAT, REG. $60-$144, SALE $48-115.20 ★ 20% OFF ALL LONG AND SHORT STYLE MISSES' STORM-WEAR, REG. $58-$79, SALE $46-59.90 ★ 20% OFF MISSES' LEATHER COATS WITH ZIP-OUT ACRYLIC PILE LINING, 8-18, ORIG. $149, SALE $119 ★ MEN'S FAMOUS NAME WOOL BLEND SUBURBAN COATS, 36-46, REG. $75, SALE $60 ★ MEN'S EMBROIDERED ACRYLIC RING AND CREW NECK SWEATERS, S-M-L-XL, SPECIAL PURCHASE, $11 ★ STEARNS & FOSTER SUPER FIRM 10% HORSE HAIR MATTRESS, TWIN, SALE 79.95
 ★ SESAME STREET FIRST QUALITY PERCALE SHEETS, 50/50 KODEL® POLYESTER AND COTTON, SALE TWIN 2/$8; PILLOW CASES, SALE 2/$5 ★ RANDOM SHEAR KODEL® POLYESTER BROADLOOM IN 16 COLORS, REG. 14.99 SQ. YD. SALE 9.88 SQ. YD. INSTALLED OVER PAD ★ QUILT TOP RUFFLED BEDSPREAD IN WHITE OR CHAMPAGNE, TWIN SALE $20 ★ QUASAR 23" SOLID STATE COLOR CONSOLE TV. ORIG. $699, SALE $490
 ★ SANYO MICROWAVE OVEN, ORIG. $250, SALE $200 ★ KINGSPOINT 2450 AM/FM/FM-STEREO MPX RECEIVER WITH BUILT-IN STEREO 8-TRACK PLAYER, SALE $100 ★ JUST A FEW OF THE VALUES WE HAVE FOR YOU.

day!
for the ore.

are XL100cc
 reg. $345 $285
 reg. $329 $339
 color both sides
 2 13.98
 in vinyl covered ches; reg. $199
 $99 to 20.99
 tray; making 79 yd.
 com reg. and dinnerware
 dinnerware

Sorry, no mail or phone orders. Delivery charges on mattresses, TV sets, ovens, stereo receivers; sent within delivery area only. Come to Macy's Herald Square or the Macy's near you.

SAVE 30.00

off regular prices of versatile black leather accent pieces from Italy. Spool leg bench 18x18x20" or Louis XV style bench 18x14x16" Reg. ea. 129.00, now ea. 99.00.

Seventh floor, Fifth Avenue, (212) MU9-7000 and branches.

BAltman & Co

OR SAVE 50.00

on this classic Louis XV style dining chair crafted for us in Italy. Black leather trimmed with antique-style nail heads. Save 30.00, reg. 199.00 now 169.00.

Matching armchair, save 50.00, reg. 249.00 now 199.00.

Seventh floor, Fifth Avenue and branches.

BAltman & Co

LEATHER SEATING

Save 30.00 on modern patchwork-design leather chairs. Frame is chromium plate. Forest green, was 199.00 now 169.00.

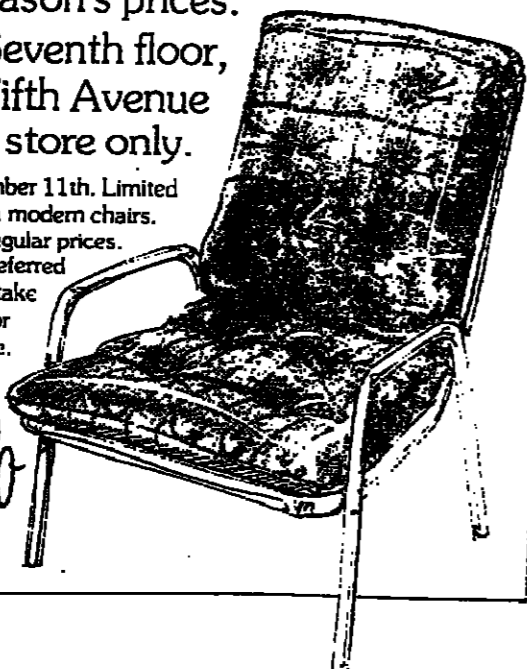

Low-back in brown, was 179.00 now 149.00. Off this season's prices.

Seventh floor, Fifth Avenue store only.

*Reg. sales end December 11th. Limited quantities on modern chairs. Black leather items off regular prices.

Use our Deferred Payment Plan and take months to pay for purchases of $100 or more.

BAltman & Co

China Expands Praise of Hua in Apparent Effort to Enhance His Image

By FOX BUTTERFIELD
Special to The New York Times
HONG KONG, Nov. 9—In what seemed to be a major effort to bolster the legitimacy of Hua Kuo-feng among the Chinese people, the Peking Government eulogized the new Chairman of the Communist Party today in stronger terms than ever.

An editorial in the army newspaper, Chiehfang Chun Pao, described Mr. Hua as "loyal, selfless, open and straightforward, modest and prudent." It also said that Mr. Hua, who was appointed Chairman last month, succeeding Mao Tse-tung, was "democratic in his style of work, unassuming and approachable, and good at uniting with comrades to work together."

The editorial asserted that Mao himself had "trained, selected and arranged for Comrade Hua Kuo-feng to be the successor." It said Mao "spoke highly of Comrade Hua Kuo-feng as being experienced in giving overall leadership to the work of a county, a prefecture and a province and in working at the central level." Mr. Hua has reportedly served at all those levels.

According to Chinese Communist sources, several of the terms used to describe Mr. Hua were those Mao used to explain his choice in a conversation last winter with one of his most trusted aides, Wang Tung-hsing, a party Politburo member who long headed Mao's personal bodyguard and has been in charge of the General Office of the Central Committee, a sensitive post.

The language appeared designed both to make it seem that Mr. Hua had a popular mandate and to increase the people's familiarity with him. Only a year ago Mr. Hua, a career party administrator, was virtually unknown to most of the 850 million Chinese. China still has not disclosed any official information on his personal or political background.

The editorial also maintained that before Mao died he warned Mr. Hua about the ambition of Mao's wife, Chiang Ching, to succeed him. Miss Chiang and three leftist associates were arrested last month at the time Mr. Hua was named Chairman.

Attempt on the Premiership
According to the army paper, Mao told Mr. Hua the story of Liu Pang, founder of the Han Dynasty in 206 B.C., who perceived just before his death that his Empress, Lu, and others of her clan were "conspiring to betray the nation and usurp power." The reference to Empress Lu was the first public mention that Mao had harbored fears that his wife would try to become Chairman after his death.

In addition, the editorial charged that after the death of Prime Minister Chou En-lai last January the four leftists "did their utmost to push their own person into the post of Prime Minister." That seemed to be an allusion to Chang Chun-chiao, the senior Deputy Prime Minister, who has been accused in widely reported of trying to make himself Mr. Hua's successor.

Analysts here considered the editorial a significant step in the process of fashioning an independent image for the new leader. Some suggested that it might be a tentative beginning of a Hua era. The editorial's contention that Mr. Hua is modest, unassuming and open is believed to grow out of his refusal at first to accept the post of Prime Minister. According to some, he declined the job several times, Mao that he did not have the qualifications and that his level of understanding of Marxist-Leninist theory was not high.

In this version, which is circulating among party members, Mao responded: "I chose you just because you know your level is insufficient, who knows his own weakness, and put on airs and will progress."

adventure 150

celebrating our first 150 years in fashion with a little swing of a braided leather belt. Watch jobs bob from a single braid, one size, 22.00. A ball dangles from the double braid, S, M, 17.00. Camel, ginger or black with gold-color ornaments. By Morris Moskowitz, Street Floor, Lord & Taylor, call WI 7-3300. And at Manhasset, Westchester, Garden City, Millburn, Pidgeon-Paramus and Stamford.

Veteran's Day Shoe Sale

Tomorrow only:
Selby sling now 24.90 reg. 34.00.
 Navy or brown calfskin or black suede; Shoes on Two.
Girls' waterproof boots now 14.90 reg. 22.00. Side zipped Keds® Eskiloo®, black or cordovan vinyl. Young Ladies, sizes 5-10. Childrens' Shoes, second floor.
And more savings:
Women's calf moccasin now 12.90 was 19.00. Black, navy or brown. By Viner. Young Colony® Shoes, sixth floor.
Men's leather ankle boot now 29.90 was 40.00. Acrylic lining, eyelet ties, crepe rubber sole. By Johnston & Murphy. Dark brown. Men's Shoes, main floor.
 Not every size in every color. No mail and phone. All at Fifth Avenue and a selection at branches.

BAltman & Co

adventure 150

celebrating our first 150 years in fashion with personalized terries you'll give and hope to get. Long kimono of white cotton terry velours with dark blue or brown two-initial monogram of your choice, by Avanti, S (8 to 12), M (14 to 16), 45.00. Plush monogrammed towels of sheared cotton-polyester by Martex. Two initials embroidered in white or color on your choice of 20 colors (white or vanilla towels embroidered in gold). 6-piece set (2 each: bath, hand, wash), 50.00. Bath sheet, 22.00. Tub mat, 16.00. Fingertip set of 2, 10.00. Do order by December 1st for Christmas. Bath Shop, Ninth Floor, Lord & Taylor, WI 7-3300. And all Lord & Taylor stores

BUY DIRECT AT THE FACTORY
 Saturday, Sunday & Daily 11:00-4:00

Nest of Tables $79.00
 Pedestal 10x10x36 - $20

Only Available at Factory
 Clip Boards — $3.00 each — 2 for $5.50
 Many other specials up to 50% off on selected samples and close-outs

PLEXIGLAS & LUCITE SEND $1.00 FOR ILLUSTRATED CATALOG
 Also chairs, tables, lamps, gifts and many other items—we also make up special orders.

also Formica® Parsons tables.
 PLEXI-CRAFT, 195 Christie Street - N.Y.C. 10002
 (Continuation of 2nd Ave. below Houston St.)
 Telephone 673-4550

Altman's Christmas Book
 in your Times, Sunday, Nov. 14 (distributed in the N.Y. metropolitan area). See hundreds of the 10,010 gifts we have to share with you and everyone on your shopping list. If our gift-packed 116 page Christmas Book isn't in your Times, we'll send you a copy. Write Mr. J. De Ruvo, B. Altman & Co., P.O. Box 16, New York, N.Y. 10016

DICTATOR & TRANSCRIBER SPECIALS

Norelcos
 Discounted up to 25%
 Model 95...$140.00
 Model 98... 280.00
 Model 99... 259.00
 Model 96... 320.00
 Model 98... 410.00

S A N Y
 8000A COMBINATION DICTATOR TRANSCRIBER
 • Telephone Record
 • Standard Cassette
 • Quick Erase
 • Index Counter
 • Reg. $299.00
$159.00

WOLFF Office Equipment
 Showroom: 15 W. 60th St., N.Y.C. • 581-9080

LEGAL
NOTICE OF PROPOSED CHANGES IN TELEPHONE RATE SCHEDULES

Notice is hereby given that the following rates and charges have been filed with the Public Service Commission, to be effective December 22, 1976.

Line Status Indicator, furnished as separate unit, with capacity of:	Monthly Rate	Installation Charge
8 lines	$18.00	$ 50.00
16 lines	25.00	75.00
32 lines	40.00	100.00

Not furnished for use with lines associated with a No. 101 Electronic Switching System.

NEW YORK TELEPHONE COMPANY

APY 11/10/76

S. Says Inquiry Found No Illegal Activities by Shah's Agents Against Iranian Students

By BERNARD GWERTZMAN
Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—The State Department said today that an inquiry had to turn up evidence confirming "illegal or improper activity" by the Government in the United States. Officials said that despite these findings, Alfred L. Atherton Jr., Assistant Secretary for Near Eastern and South Affairs, met yesterday with Ambassador Ardeshir Zahedi to stress that the United States would not countenance any "wing, harassment or other police activity" by Iranians.

The issue arose last month when the State Department said in a television interview that Iranian agents were checking on subversive activities by Iranians in the United States and this was known to the American Government.

Appearing on the CBS program "60 Minutes," the Shah said that Iranian agents in the United States were checking on the activities of Iranian students. Under accepted diplomatic practice, representatives of foreign countries are not supposed to carry out any activity against their own nationals living in the host country.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger, when asked about the Shah's statement last month, said, "It is not correct that the United States is aware of the fact that Iranian intelligence personnel are checking on individuals living in the United States or keeping them under surveillance." He said an inquiry had been started.

Today, in answer to a question on how the inquiry had gone, a State Department official said no evidence had been found to confirm "allegations of any illegal or improper activity and the Iranian Embassy has assured us that none of its officials are committing any such activities."

125 Iranians Held in Houston

HOUSTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Some 125 persons were arrested today in a demonstration by members of the Iranian Students Association near the French consulate in downtown Houston to protest the arrest of two students in Paris on charges of shooting an Iranian diplomat.

The police said that at least 40 persons had been injured, none seriously, before demonstrators finally dispersed.

Those arrested were charged with disorderly conduct and disturbing the peace, the police said. The injured included at least 35 demonstrators and five police officers.

The students gathered in the heart of Houston during the lunch hour, when sidewalks were crowded with shoppers and office workers. They began a march toward the consulate, shouting "Down with the Shah" and carrying placards accusing the Shah of terrorism and fascism.

Sgt. C. G. Munro of the Houston police said three demonstrators had been arrested, and then others began pushing and shoving some of the 150 police officers at the scene. The officers pulled out their billy clubs and "it all hit the fan," he said.

Officers did not draw their guns but several demonstrators were knocked to the ground, according to Sergeant Munro. Hospital spokesmen said 35 to 50 demonstrators were treated for cuts, bumps and bruises and five policemen suffered minor injuries. One of the officers was stabbed with a screwdriver, the authorities said.

France Says It Will Stop Selling Nuclear Plants to South Africa

PARIS, Nov. 9 (Reuters)—A French Government official said today that France would not sell any more nuclear power stations to South Africa after the two reactors already ordered have been delivered.

The Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, Pierre Christian Taittinger, told the French Senate in reply to questions that the two 922-megawatt stations ordered in August could be used only for peaceful purposes.

"In any case we are not going to arrange any new contract or make any new sales to that country," he said.

to Enhance

er's D oe Sale

only:
now 24.90

proof boots now 14

half moccasin now 12

er ankle boot now 7

BUY DIRECT AT THE

Altman's Chris

INDICTAN
& TRANSCRIBED
Norelcos

WOLFF Office

NOTICE OF PROPOS

TELEPHONE

I'M TAKING WINTER
BY STORM
IN PURSE-WARMING,
OPPOSSUM-COLLARED COATS
MY SPECIAL PURCHASES.

Warmth. That's my top winter priority. (Isn't it everyone's?) But warmth doesn't exclude wonderful in pile-lined coats that muffle me in opossum. To take the town, the country, the world by storm.

Left: Double-breasted coat in bone or rust rayon and polyester with polyester and acrylic pile lining, and natural opossum collar, 6 to 16 sizes, 149.90.

Center: Single-breasted coat in walnut brown cotton and polyester with acrylic faced, olefin-backed pile lining, and dyed opossum collar, 4 to 14 sizes, 139.90.

Right: Double-breasted coat in beige with natural opossum, or black with dyed black opossum collar, polyester and cotton with pile lining of polyester and acrylic, 6 to 16 sizes, 149.90. Sport Coat & Suit Collections, Third Floor.

Sorry, no mail or phone orders.

All garments made in country of origin.

We understand you at

Saks
Fifth Avenue

Meet Bill Blass, Mary McFadden and the fashion editor of Harper's Bazaar

Audemars Piguet
FASHION AWARD WEEK
For one week only, Audemars Piguet honors Bill Blass, Mary McFadden and Elsa Klensch, senior fashion editor of Harper's Bazaar with the Audemars Piguet Fashion Award.
Come meet the winners and see the first American showing of the fabulous Audemars Piguet Collection of hand-made Skeleton Watches, during Fashion Week at Gubelin, Nov. 10-Nov. 17.
GUBELIN
Jewelers
Audemars Piguet Skeleton Watches $3,500-$15,000.

745 Fifth Avenue, New York City 10022 (212) 755-0054

National classified runs Monday through Friday in The New York Times. Look for a place to live or work or do business. The New York Times

22 Soviet Jews Tell of Ordeal in Jail

By DAVID K. SHIFLER
Special to The New York Times

MOSCOW, Nov. 9—Twenty-two Jewish activists, denied permission to emigrate to Israel, were released last night and today after having served 15-day sentences for protest demonstrations in central Moscow last month. In interviews, a few of the dissidents offered unusual glimpses of life in Soviet jails.

"The only positive thing was that I lost three kilos [about 6.5 pounds]," quipped Anatoly Shcharansky, a 28-year-old mathematician who is watching his weight. He said he had been kept in a detention center for drunkards and hoodlums in a village just north of Moscow. The inmates nicknamed the place "the nursery" because it was allegedly designed to teach men to lead upstanding lives.

Instead, Mr. Shcharansky contended, the prisoners were forced to live "like cattle." By his account, he was crowded with 30 to 35 other men into a cell 18 by 37 feet, with iron bunk frames for only 24 persons. There were no mattresses, pillows, sheets or blankets, he said, and those without bunk frames had to sleep on the floor.

Vladimir Slepak, a 49-year-old electronics engineer, said he had been treated relatively well. He is known in the West, having been waiting seven years for permission to emigrate, and during the protests last month Jimmy Carter, then in the heat of the Presidential campaign, sent Mr. Slepak a cablegram expressing concern at the reports that Soviet plainclothesmen had beaten a dozen protesting Jews.

Mr. Slepak, who said this was the sixth time he had been jailed, was put with two other Jewish dissidents, Leonid Shabashov, a chemical engineer, and Dmitri Shchiglik, a marine engineer, into a cell, 6 feet by 12 feet, designed for four persons.

Two Jewish dissidents remain imprisoned, Boris Chernobylsky, a radio engineer, and Josif Ass, a physician, both charged with "malicious hooliganism" under a section of the Criminal Code that could bring them one to five years in jail.

U.S. AND VIETNAM TO MEET ON DIPLOMATIC RELATIONS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9 (AP) — The United States and Vietnam will open preliminary talks in Paris on Friday to discuss the possibility of establishing normal relations, American officials said today.

The talks will be the first between the two countries since the Paris peace agreement was signed almost four years ago.

In a related development, Vietnamese officials said an application by Hanoi for admission to the United Nations would come up in the Security Council on Friday and that a vote was expected on Monday.

The Ford Administration has said it will veto the Vietnamese application if there is no substantial progress toward obtaining an accounting of 800 Americans listed as missing in action in Vietnam. President-elect Jimmy Carter has expressed support for this position, but he said that the Ford Administration's inability to obtain an accounting on the missing Americans was one of its most embarrassing failures.

How can a cigarette be de-tarred, but not de-tasted?

It seems hard to believe.

Most low-tar cigarettes are low-taste cigarettes. So who's kidding who? If Pall Mall Extra Mild has only 7 mg. tar, how can it be an exception? The reason Pall Mall Extra Mild is de-tarred, but not de-tasted is because it has the Air-Stream filter that reduces tar—but not taste.

What's more Pall Mall Extra Mild starts with the finest tobacco money can buy. Tobaccos specifically selected for extra mild taste. And when you got great taste to begin with, you got great taste to end with. Try a carton. You'll find it hard to believe you're smoking a cigarette with less tar than 95% of all cigarettes sold!

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health.

7 mg. "tar", 0.5 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC method.

REWARD! The Strongite 'IMPOSTER' DIAMOND

At Only $8.00 Per Carat Unmounted

Free Gift With Every Purchase

THE STRONGITE CO.

2 West 47th Street (7th Floor) • New York, N.Y. 10036 (212) 582-4168

HONGKON

Shanghai Worested Adm. 250
Double 2nd Class 120
Hong Kong Worested Adm. 120
Shanghai Worested Adm. 120
Canton/West 2nd Class 120
Shanghai Worested Adm. 120
London/County Coast 120
London/County Coast 120
London/County Coast 120
Special 120
Recommended by British Foreign Office, US News, Sunday Times, 25,000 copies per week, 10 years. Lowest & most convenient rates.
Passage Conditions
Maid Lounge
Lax. Area, 4th Fl. 22
Phone 238 33 34
New York
832-0725 (24-Hour)
947-0837
Staterooms
33rd St. 6, 7th
8th, 9th
Open 9 A.M. to 7 P.M. 6 days a week

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ VETERAN'S DAY COAT SPECTACULAR ★ ★ ★ ★

READY THURSDAY 9 A.M.

Alexander's

READY FRI. & SAT. 10 A.M.

69⁹⁹

INCREDIBLE VALUE

fabulous juniors fur-trimmed tweed coats

See all the detailing and look at the deep natural dyed rabbit fur collar. Most wanted tweed (wool blend) done in wraps, single-breasted, gore backs, pocket treatments, more. Sizes 5-13.

JUNIOR COATS

For products, please call 1-800-233-2333

89⁹⁹ sold in stock for $125!

save $35 on sumptuous, soft genuine smooth leather trench coat

What could be more luxurious! Double or single-breasted trench, epaulets, double stitching and many quilt lined linings for cold weather! Other styles at this same low price. Sizes 8-18.

LADIES LEATHER & SUEDE DEPT.

$99

FABULOUS BUY!

plush fur lavished plush coats or stormcoats

THE COATS: Natural or dyed opossum rabbit fur shawl collars on wool blend coats! Wraps and double-breasted more! Sizes 8-18.

THE STORMCOATS: Full skin natural or dyed opossum or raccoon on poly/cotton oxford. 8-18. BETTER COAT DEPT.

Est. products labeled (3) show country of origin.

LEXINGTON AVENUE • KINGS PLAZA • FORDHAM ROAD • FLUSHING • PARAMUS • MENLO PARK • WHITE PLAINS • MILFORD, CONN. • VALLEY STREAM • ROOSEVELT FIELD • QUEENS BLVD. • 3RD AVE., BX. • EATONTOWN
Lex. Ave. open to 9:00 p.m. Other stores to 9:30 p.m. Mon. thru Sat. N.Y. and Conn. stores open Sun. 12-5:30 p.m. No mail or phone orders.

Handwritten signature or mark at the bottom center of the page.

in a cigarette but not de-

CHRISTIANS SYRIAN ROLE

Military Presence of Troops in Beirut Surroundings

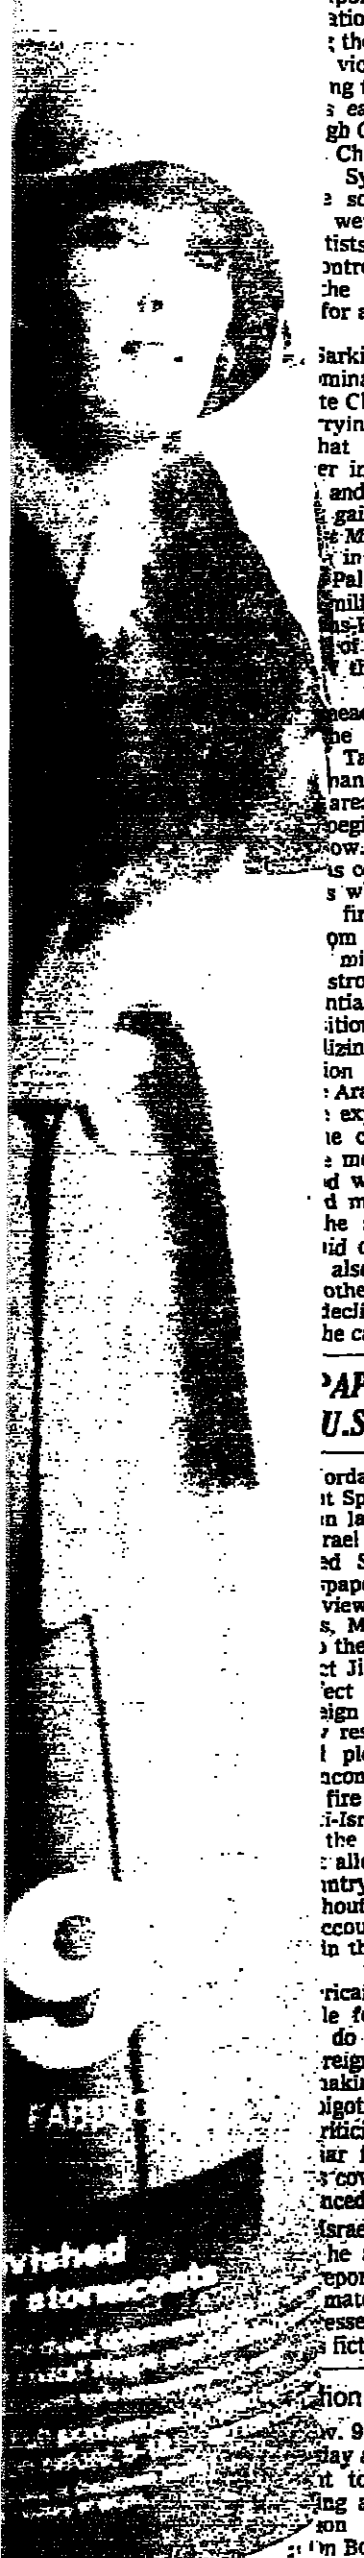

By F. CLARITY

Beirut, Nov. 9—Lebanese Christian leaders agreed in a meeting with Syrian troops today to allow the Syrian military presence in Christian Beirut and its suburbs. The meeting was held at the Presidential Palace in Beirut. It was attended by the principal Christian leaders of the Phalangist Party, the National Front and the Maronite community. The Syrian military presence in Beirut is estimated to be providing security for the enlarged 30,000 Syrian troops in Beirut. The Syrian military presence in Beirut is estimated to be providing security for the enlarged 30,000 Syrian troops in Beirut.

Strongite
IMOND
 Only 1.00
 Carat Purchase
 E.C.O.

ULAR ★ ★

READY FRI. & SAT. 10 AM

What's more... starts with the... for extra mild... got great taste... got great taste... You find it... smoking a cigarette... 95% of all cigarette...

Christian demonstrators also... at the Presidential Pal... the expected coming... no serious violence or... in connection with... But they indicated... the rightist Christians... violence when the Syrians... their forces in the moun... east of the capital, start... Christian areas.

Sarkis, who is in charge of... minated peacekeeping force... Christian, has moved ca... rying out the provisions of... hat the peacekeeping force... er in all areas of Lebanon... and the Syrians have had... gaining the agreement from... Muslims and Palestinians... in making the agreement... Palestinian and Lebanese... militiamen at a key section... Beirut highway at Aleih... of Beirut, quietly turned... the checkpoint to Syrian...

headquarters at a mountain... the main Damascus-Beirut... Tawfik Jalloul, a Syrian... and troops to be statione... area, said his soldiers... begin to move toward the... now. The colonel, emphatic... commanding Arab peace... who happened to be Syr... first leg of his advance... on Aleih, once a leftist... mile and a half west to... stronghold town of Kahale... nial armed rightist forces... tion.

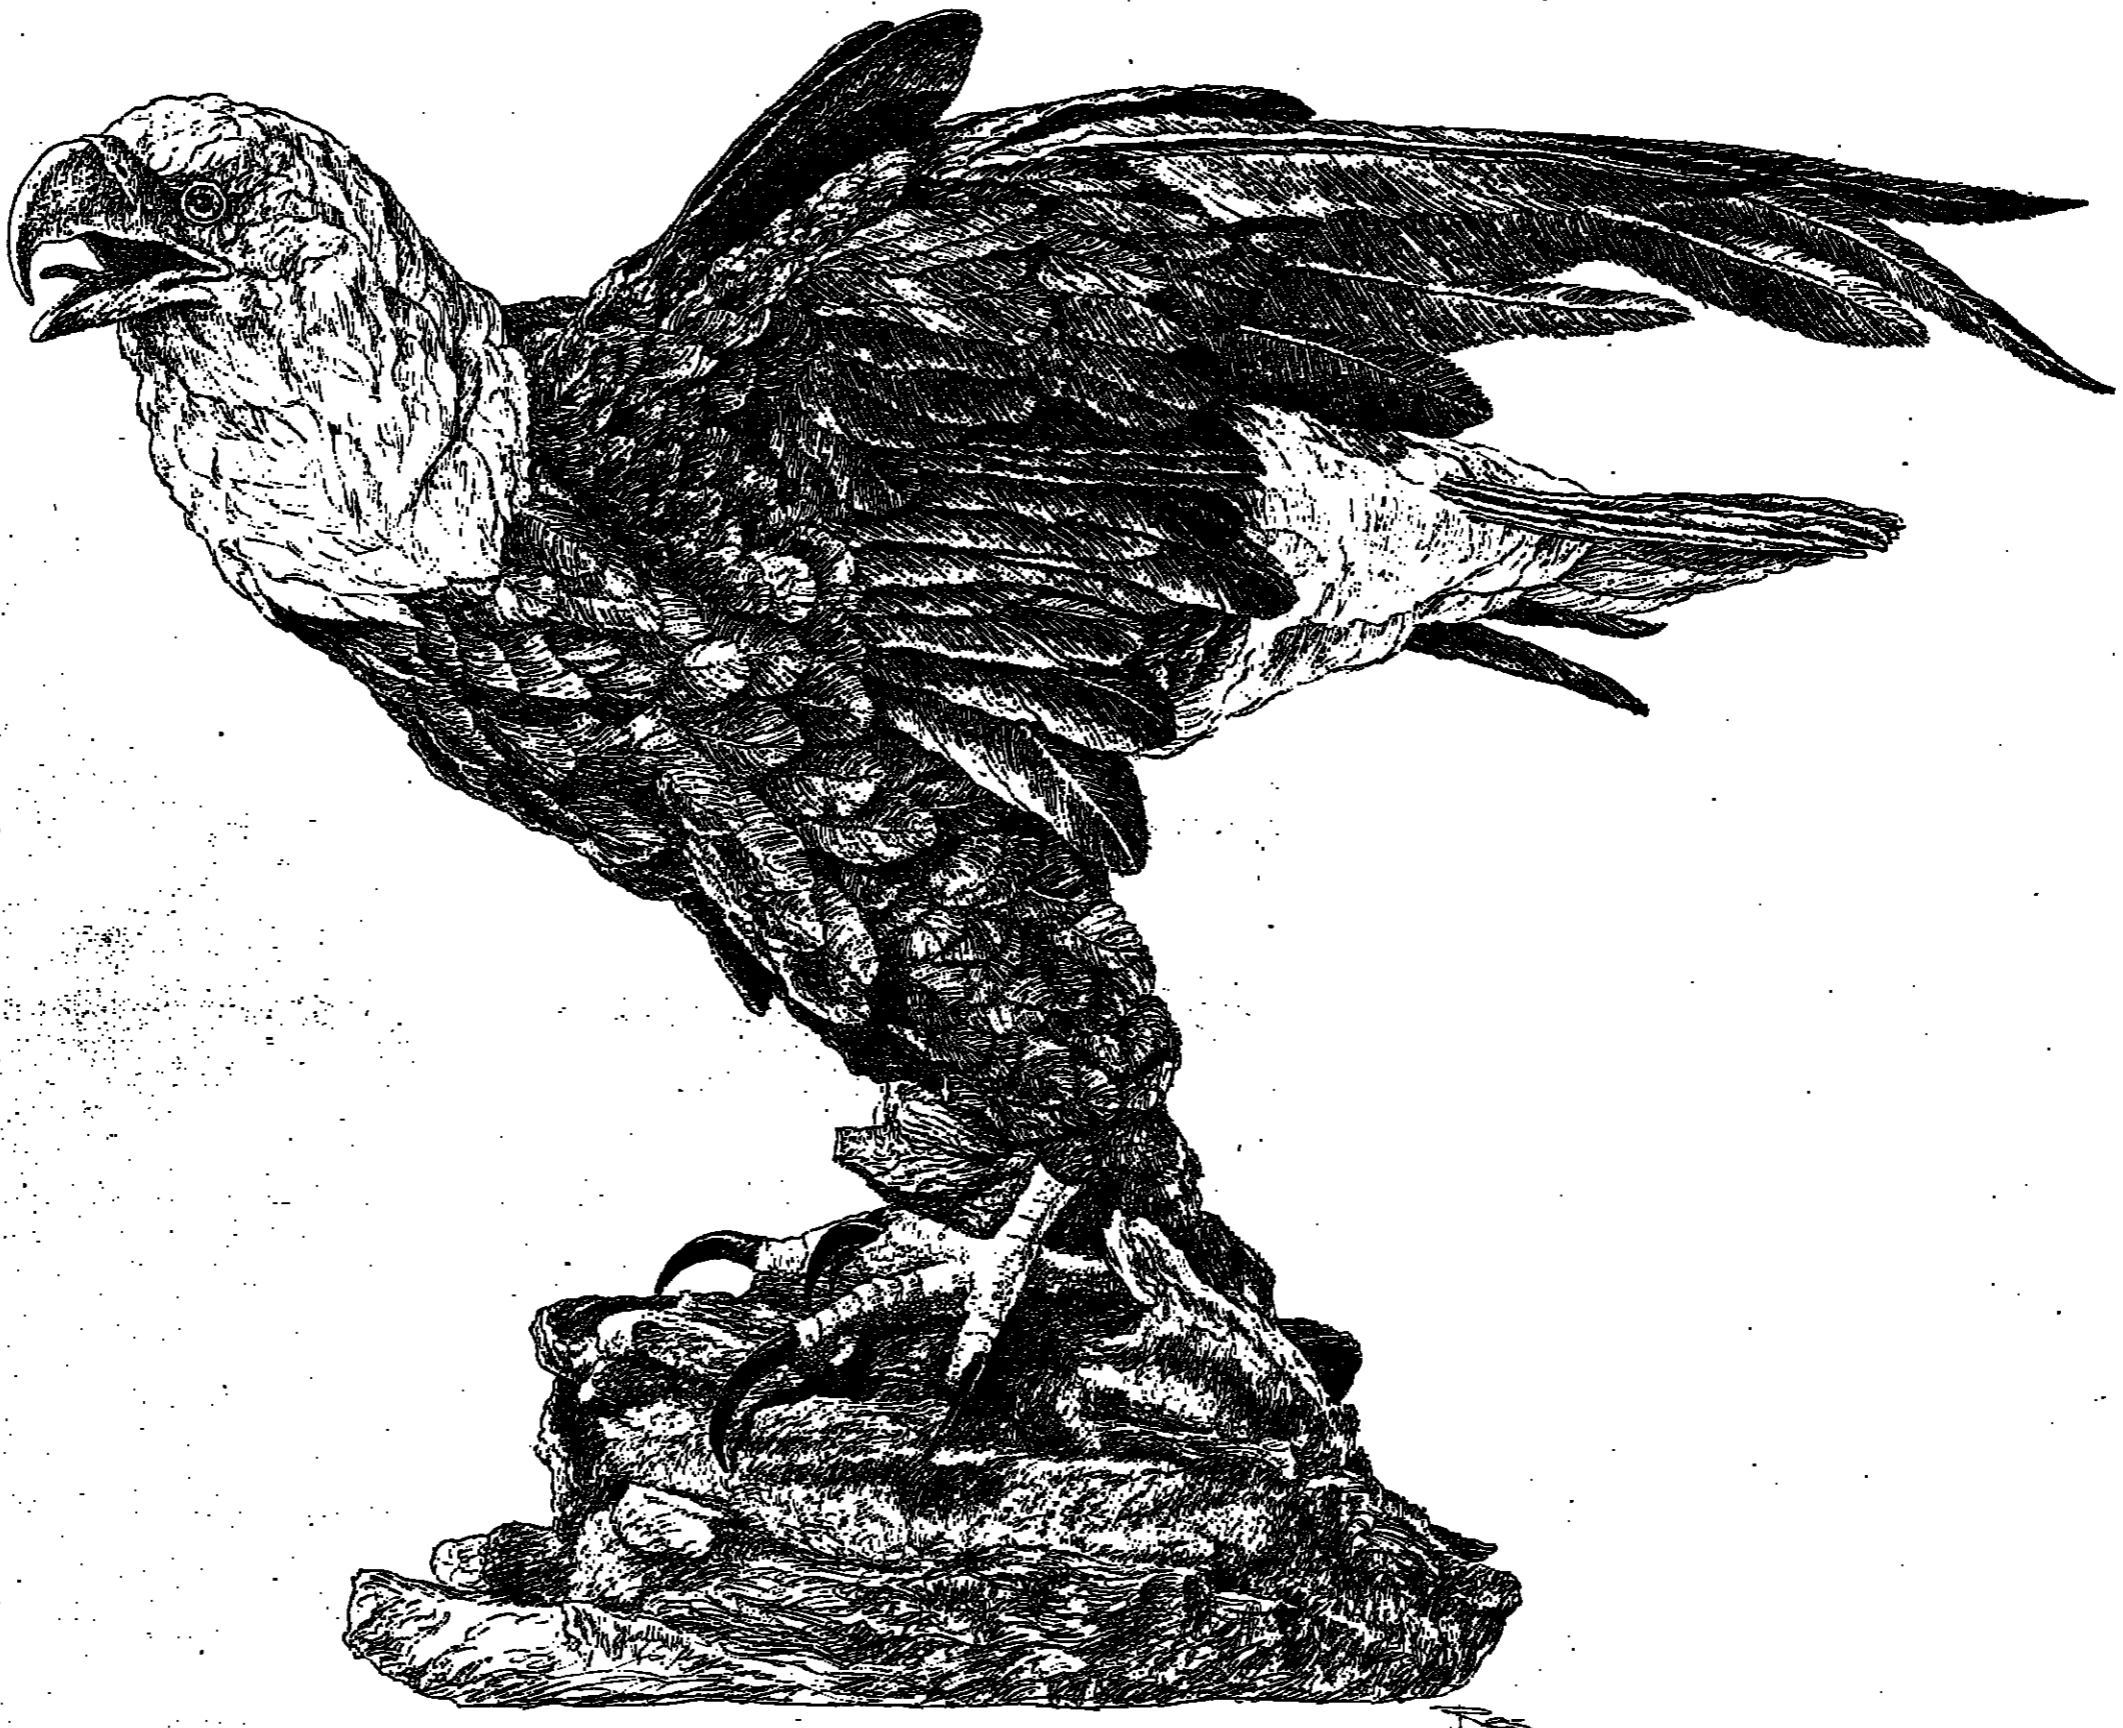

PAPER SAYS AGNEW U.S. BOYCOTT VIEW

Jordan, Nov. 9 (AP)—Former... it Spiro T. Agnew said today... in laws to counter the Arab... rael were not in the interest... d States, according to an... papee.

view in the English language... Mr. Agnew termed Israel... the United States" and said... t Jimmy Carter should con... ect antiboycott laws would... sign trade and employment... resigned as Vice President... l pleaded no contest to a... come-tax evasion. He has... fire several times since for... l-Israeli statements.

tion for French Defense... 9 (Reuters)—The National... day approved a defense budg... it to $11.3 billion for next... ing a last-minute increase of... son announced by Defense... in Bourges.

You can find Boehm porcelain in 53 museums around the world. And in Altman's new Boehm Gallery starting today.

Now, on our fourth floor, you can find a wildlife sanctuary of Boehm birds, animals and flowers.

These exquisite sculptures are treasured for a clarity of detail that brings each piece to life. Each feather on this proud eagle, for instance, is separate and distinct. Why? Because the Boehm people are masters of the hard-paste porcelain process. That's a long, long series of fine hand-crafting steps that eventually results in sculpture that can be compared with fine, centuries-old productions of Europe and Asia.

Each piece is gloriously hand-painted, with a special matte finish perfected by Edward Marshall Boehm. Most are limited editions.

If you're a collector, decorator, investor, or a very special Santa, do come to our new Boehm Gallery. You'll find more than flights of fancy. You'll find works of art you'll value more each year. From 25.00 to 6800.00. Fourth floor, Fifth Avenue only.

Today through Friday see a special exhibition of the life-size "Eagle of Freedom" from the Boehm private collection. Of the 15 sculpted, one was presented on July 4, 1976 to the President of the United States.

From our Boehm collection, American Bald Eagle II (shown). It took 31 molds and 168 mold parts to create this stirring bicentennial symbol. 15 1/2 x 21 1/2 x 16" d. in limited edition of 300, $5,500 each.

B. Altman & Co.

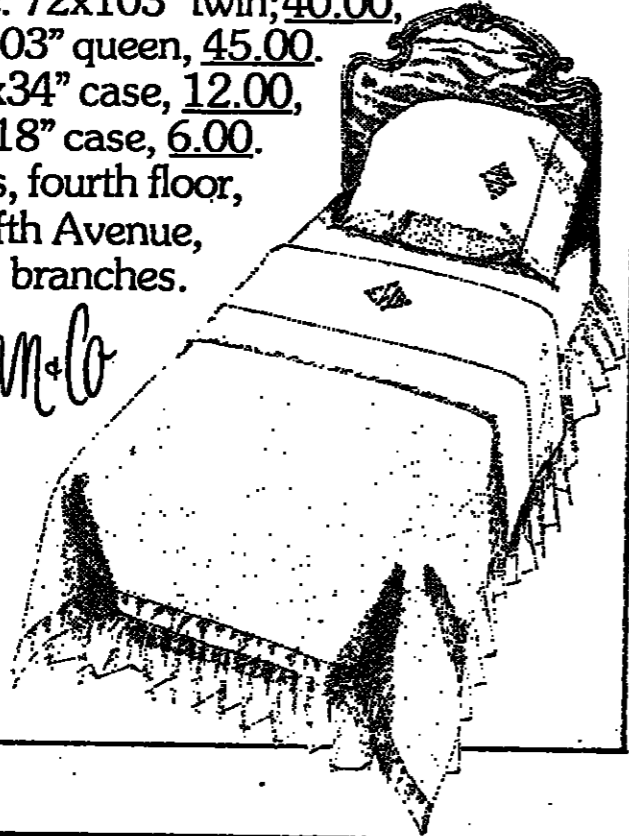

IRISH LINEN

Luxurious pure white linen sheets from Ireland. Hard-to-find 202-thread count smoothness with superb hem-stitching.

Flat style: 72x103" twin, 40.00.
 90x103" queen, 45.00.
 22x34" case, 12.00.
 12x18" case, 6.00.

Linens, fourth floor,
 Fifth Avenue,
 branches.

B Altman & Co

PURE LUXURY

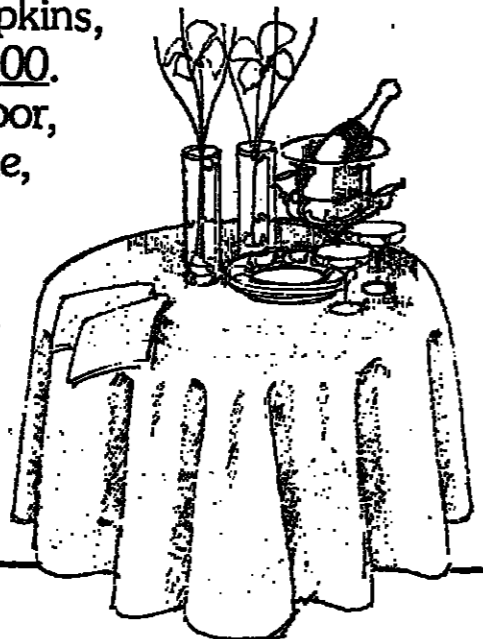

Exceptionally fine white damask linen tablecloths (202 thread count) from Ireland; traditional chrysanthemum pattern.

72x90", 65.00; 72x108", 75.00;
 72x126", 85.00;
 72x162", 140.00;
 72x216", 175.00.

22x22" napkins,
 12 for 70.00.

Fourth floor,
 Fifth Avenue,
 branches.

B Altman & Co

MONOGRAM

From Ireland, set of 12 exquisite hem stitched white linen napkins in two sizes:

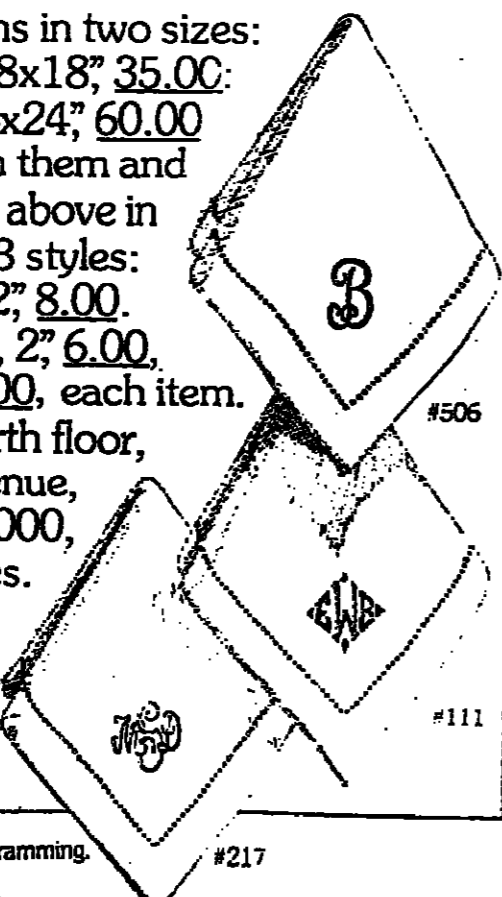

18x18", 35.00.
 24x24", 60.00

We'll monogram them and the linens above in any of 3 styles:

#111, 2", 8.00.
 #506, 2", 6.00.
 #217, 2 1/4", 10.00, each item.

Linens, fourth floor,
 Fifth Avenue,
 (212) MU9-7000,
 branches.

B Altman & Co

4 to 6 weeks delivery for Monogramming. #217

Quebec Minorities Irked by Language Issue May Sway

By HENRY GINGER
 Special to The New York Times

MONTREAL, Nov. 9—Several thousand angry Italian immigrants crowded into the basement assembly hall of a church in northern Montreal Sunday to denounce what they termed discrimination against their children in the schools of predominantly French-speaking Quebec.

The anger of the Italians and of other minority groups has suddenly assumed major political importance because their attitudes will influence the outcome of a legislative election next Monday that will help determine whether Quebec remains part of Canada or goes its own way as an independent nation.

At the center of what has become a highly emotional electoral campaign is the Official Language Act, widely known as Law 22, which was passed in July 1974 and which represents the most important effort by this province to assert the culture and identity of six million French Canadians against the pressure of the 2.5 million English-speaking North Americans.

The act declares French to be the official language of Quebec and requires its use in public administration and private business dealings, although not to the exclusion of English. Teaching shall be given in French, but English schools are provided for children from English-speaking homes. French schools are mandatory for children with other language backgrounds except those who are Indian or Eskimo.

A Surprise for Immigrants

However, the hundreds of thousands of Italians, Greeks, Portuguese and others who have poured into the Montreal area over the last 20 years came with the understanding that they were entering an essentially English-speaking world—one in which the language of economic opportunity was English.

"When they applied for immigration, nobody told them about the situation in Quebec," Dr. Kevork Baghjian, an Armenian who is president of the Federation of Ethnic Groups in Quebec, explained in an interview. "All these people have suddenly become involved in a language problem. If they learn only French, they cannot go out of Quebec to earn their livings. If they learn English, they can go anywhere on the North American continent."

That language problem explains why the Italian gathering in the church basement jeered the representative of the governing Liberal Party, which had pushed the law through, and cheered the representatives of the two main opposition groups, the National Union and the Quebec Party, which in effect promised freedom of school choice to immigrant families. The National Union's leader, Rodrigue Biron, went so far as to promise abolition of the law.

The hostile attitude of the English community and of those ethnic groups that aspire to join it has created an electoral paradox in Quebec with deep implications for the future of Canada. Such groups wish to keep Quebec part of a confederated Canada but are so angry at the Liberal Party over the language issue and others, among them high taxes and strikes, that their votes threaten to put the Liberals into a minority position, bringing the separatist Quebec Party either to power or close.

Next Few Days Titled Vital

Separatism or federalism is the crucial issue. Prime Minister Robert Bourassa, a Liberal, said yesterday at a luncheon meeting of the Canadian Club, which embraces a large part of the English-speaking business community. "The next few days are the most important for the future of Canada," he declared. "We have a party that wants to break up the country, and we have a chance of eliminating it once and for all."

The polls indicate that the Liberals face an uphill fight, with the English-speaking and ethnic votes crucial to their chances. Liberals readily acknowledge their party's mistakes, including the major one of failing to anticipate the hostile reaction to the Law 22 effort in defense of French culture. The act's history consists of one panicky reaction provoking another.

As the French community has gone from the highest birthrate in Canada to the lowest, a feeling has developed that if it does not defend itself, it will be drowned in an English sea. The arrival of immigrants attracted more to the English than to the French world has intensified the feeling. Hence the law, which proponents contend is a moderate and reasonable way of protecting both majority and minority rights.

Rising Pressure on English

The English minority, long accustomed to dominating Quebec's industry and commerce, although it has been displaced somewhat by multinational companies, has been unaffected by the educational positions of the law, but it has had to adopt French in its business dealings and labor relations. Many so-called Anglophones never took the trouble to learn French or to use it, and the necessity of adapting to the majority culture has produced many resentments.

The French, after a long tradition of either farming or intellectual pursuits, are demanding a role in the business community, which has increased the pressure on the English, resulting in a panicky feeling.

"I recognize that we had an over-privileged position," an English-speaking businessman exclaimed at a political gathering in a wealthy home. "Now the Liberals want to make us second-class citizens. Are the Liberals crypto-separatists?"

In the Canadian English weekly, Maclean's, Hugh MacLennan, a well-known commentator on the Quebec and Canadian scenes, asked, "Is Bourassa really campaigning to keep the French language in or get English people out?"

Remarking that the French Canadians had panicked over their declining birthrate, he inquired whether "they intend—not wish but intend—to create conditions that will make Anglophones so uncomfortable here that they will simply pack up and leave."

"A time may soon come when English Canada, at last sufficiently sure of itself to believe it could survive without Quebec, would simply tell this to go to hell and stop making Mr. MacLennan warned.

Such are the attitudes that Mr. Bourassa and his Liberals have had to contend with. In trying to win French, the English and the vote, Liberal candidates have already been in public conflict with another.

Law 22 provides that children non-English-speaking homes be for their knowledge of English being allowed into English schools, tests on 5-and 6-year-olds, and the ethnic groups into a fray, in many cases children in the family are assigned to different.

Mr. Bourassa has had to contend with the tests with a promise to them with something not specify

Siphoning Effect Is Foreseen

The National Union, a conservative group that once governed Quebec, fears to have won the most of the ethnic groups and English community by federalism with freedom of choice for immigrants now in

However, support for it will split votes from the Liberals, improving relative position of the separatist

Leaders of ethnic groups suggest the best solution is to improve teaching in the French schools, immigrant groups would seek it because they would offer the both worlds. It is unanimously that such teaching is inadequate

French public-school system, children graduating with a poor command of English; similarly French is poor in the English public school. The result is that the public school in general is helping to perpetuate linguistic polarization.

Language teaching is better in schools, but few immigrant children can afford them. Really bilinguals tend to come from the bracket of society. Mr. MacLennan stated that the real conflict in Quebec was not between the French and the English but between the French and the poor French.

IF YOU ASK ME TO WRITE A BOOK, MAKE A LETTER, BUT ONE
 CRYSTAL CLEAR
 PERSONALIZED LETTER
 I'M NOT STIRRING FROM MY SEAT.

When Cynthia called in a rage from Chicago, she said she had to send Sybil, it came through the society, she had to get organized. And I did. Cynthia's stationery is thoroughly up-to-date way. With 100% quality stationery accessories. They've got my name on them. 5 x 7, picture, $15. Ruler, $11. Desk blotter, $14.8. Note stand, $16.50. Pen/pencil rest, $12.50. holder, $12.50. From a collection designed by the Acricite. Stationery Collections, Street Floor, 5th Avenue, New York City. Add sales tax on mail orders. $2.50 charge beyond our regular delivery area.

DESIGNER MILLECENT ZAHN WILL BE HERE TOMORROW FROM 12 TO 4 TO HELP YOU SET MYSELF UP FOR FURTHER SUCCESS.

We understand you at
 Saks Fifth Avenue

Handwritten signature or mark at the bottom of the page.

Issue May S

INSPECTORS D IN PAYOFFS

From Page A1

Quebec, which to go to hell
Mr. MacLennan
Such are the races are the tend with the French with a Prose Liberal by been in a another.

Law on industry and that graft place for years without backdowns by Federal investigation of payoffs

New Jersey
Federal inspectors company officials were in-September on more indictthere.

Yesterday's indictments a grand jury in Brook-under Mr.
involved plants in Manhattan, in Mr. indicted 16 inspectors other gifts from Manhattan and the Bronx.
inspected inspectors were by both grand

harsher accusations employees, Mr.
was more of an abuse
the companies
special advantage."

ators estimated that the got $2,000 to $5,000 in meat products in Their yearly salaries
to $17,000.

who work for the Uni-Department, were of their inspectional to different jobs. Mi-the regional director or the department, said possible suspension
the outcome of the employees, who included more than 20

man inspectional force Island.

a lawyer for 25 of sities, said that the concoerced" for years, but the nerve to take the
the whistle."

Challenged.

dent of Food Inspector American Federation of loyees, challenged the
by the United States inspectors had vast au-state plant owners.

ve all these men were
s," Mr. Roth asserted.
es are run by pretty work on tight margins in all the time about

zman said that inspeccompany officials bying down plants, which is $5,000 a day. These that they doubted that def price for consumers

spectors face up to three-and fines of $10,000 each, which are expected to misdemeanor charges, 000 each.

involved in the corrup-
total annual gross sales kosher and non-kosher
es. The larger plants as 250,000 pounds of English long accus-

the industry it has been multinational affected by the
the law, but in his busiations. Many ever took the
to use it tapping to the reducer, many ong tradition lectual pur-in the busi-has increased fish, result-had an over-English-spea-as at a polity home. "Now

the secondberals cryp-weekly Man-man, a visit he Quebec and the Bureau's to the French
d people out-ch Canadians lecting. "I they want a create condupholdings they will see when Eng-ly sure

250,000

COURT ASSAULTS BY SELECTION

From Page A1

Jjari as special prosecuion had yet been reached yesterday's indeci-

the decision on other es was not clear. It was affect too many paster the state's criminal a defendant must chalenge of a jury panel before. Otherwise, his right served.

According to figures come Office of Court Admin-re about 200 cases pendpreme Court on Staten terday's decision could indictments.

rors are chosen from the trial jurors, these indict-defective. In addition, facing trial is now ex-ain about the jury panel's every defendant is going ue," Thomas R. Sullivan, d District Attorney, said

as noted that none of the ending "anywhere nearly case that Justice Polak her, then dismiss these uld discharge the tainted order that new ones be summed Repeatedly jury panel challenged by erwyer, Herald Price Fab-ed 103 persons. Justice hat, on the average, the panel had been summoned e nearly seven times—a number. Only two of the between 20 and 29 years than half were 30 or older.

analysts were women.

and that the court relied to replenish jury pools, stively recruiting from a
of the community.

ber 1974, people between ers old have been eligible a, but the judge said that nd resident in that age been called.

ds of "qualification and judge said, "are contrary constitutional require-and court rules."

rial Stays in Capital
ON, Nov. 9 (UPI)—Federal one L. Green refused today gal of former Representa-Hastings, Republican of York from Washington to e of the heavy case load
District Court in that city, s accused of taking kicks Congressional staff. Mr. ney, Gerard Mitchell, had trial in Washington would inconvenience for defense

the first resort...mic mac/ st. tropez

It all began with their maxi coat that set the world on its heels. That was 1968...the year we opened the first Mic Mac shop in the U.S.A. We loved them then. We love them even more now...for bringing us these great get-away cottons at prices that make them well worth putting in a holding pattern if you're not heading for warmer climes.

The gauze bigshirt to give a blouson effect when tucked into the wide-leg shorts. Shirt in sky blue, white, black, purple, teal. 32.00. Shorts in white, taupe, rust, hunter. 27.00.

The thin cotton tunic dress with ties at the shoulders, slits at the sides. Teal, banana, white. 36.00.

The pin-stripe jeans. Pink, rust, blue. 35.00.

The T-Shirt in rainbow stripes of red/purple/navy/shocking. S.M.L. 20.00.

Sizes 6 to 14. Sports Shop, 3rd Floor, New York.

Today's the day to greet Chantal and Michel Faure... the creators of Mic Mac...
With us today from 11 to 3,
to present their exciting resort collection. Don't miss them.

bloomingdale's mic mac

1000 Third Avenue, New York. 355-5900. Open late Monday and Thursday evenings.
A selection of colors available at Bergen County, Garden City, Short Hills, Stamford, Tysons Corner and White Plains.

REP. HANNA DESCRIBES LINK TO TONGSUN PARK

Continued from Page A1

pressed him for introductions to members of Congress and other Government officials and used his name to exert influence in United States Government agencies. He said he had made introductions for Mr. Park at all levels of Government, including the Democratic leadership of the House.

"I guess I was his original friend on Capitol Hill," Mr. Hanna said. "He often told me I was his oldest, dearest, closest, most valuable friend. Then he turned around and kicked me."

In the latter years of their relationship, Mr. Hanna said, he became convinced that Mr. Park was using him to make connections in Washington. "I felt used, I felt abused," he said.

He said he had recently learned of criticism in Washington because he had introduced Mr. Park to so many influential people. "Nobody has said anything directly to me, but I have heard things indirectly," he said.

Mr. Hanna said that he could not recall ever accepting a cash political contribution or gift from Mr. Park. He said that the Korean had never tried to influence his decision on legislation and had never asked him to deliver money to any other legislator.

Agent's Role Doubted

Mr. Hanna said that he had never known or even suspected that Mr. Park was an operative of the Korean Central Intelligence Agency. "Honest to God, I don't believe that," he said. He said he did not believe that senior Government officials in Seoul had sufficient faith in Mr. Park's ability to permit him to be a secret agent.

Mr. Hanna said that he had learned of the Department of Justice's investigation of alleged South Korean bribery and influence peddling earlier this year and that he had been interviewed twice by department lawyers. "I am cooperating fully with them and I have turned over all my records," he said.

He said he had given the Federal investigators a detailed description of his business relationship with Mr. Park. He said that Mr. Park approached him in 1971 and asked him for a loan to help him get an import-export venture started.

"This guy was really broke when he came to me," Mr. Hanna said. "This was a guy whose credit was no good." On April 2, 1971, Mr. Hanna placed some 7,646 shares of Spectra-Strip Corporation stock, with a value of some $90,000, as collateral for a $25,000 line of credit for Mr. Park at the Equitable Trust Company in Baltimore.

On Dec. 29, 1972, he placed 20,000 more shares of Spectra-Strip at the bank and Mr. Park's line of credit was increased to $50,000.

'Family' Business Deal

"When he came to me for the money," Mr. Hanna said, "he told me, 'I'll see you'll get a participation.'" However as the months went forward, Mr. Hanna said, "it never came down to a fixed amount of money." He said there were no partnership or corporation documents and that Mr. Park had told him that he would be "taken care of like a member of his family."

Mr. Hanna said that he had expected to participate in the concern's profits and also to handle some of its legal work after he left Congress. He never received any legal work, he said.

Whenever he raised a question about his participation, Mr. Hanna said, Mr. Park would "pull out a check, sign it and give it to me." He said he believed that his share of the profits between 1972 and 1975 was $60,000 to $70,000.

Mr. Hanna said that he had not taken an intimate interest in how the business operated. He said that Mr. Park had told him that he would export United States rice to South Korea and import hand-made granite backgammon sets and teak "trade" logs from the Philippines.

Mr. Hanna said that Mr. Park believed that if he could get involved in the United States-Korean rice trade he could get South Korea to buy an increasing share of United States rice and reduce its purchases from Japan.

Illegal Commission Seen

It was Mr. Hanna's "understanding" that it is "illegal" for anyone to take a "commission" as a broker on rice shipments under the subsidies of Public Law 480, but he said that he had come to believe that Mr. Park was receiving a commission from an agent for the California Rice Growers Association.

He said that Mr. Park had long sought to cultivate members of the California Congressional delegation from the rice growing areas. Mr. Hanna said that he had introduced Mr. Park to Representative John J. McFall, the Democratic majority whip. Mr. McFall acknowledged last week that he had accepted a $3,000 contribution to his office fund and a wrist watch from Mr. Park.

Mr. Hanna said that he had met Mr. Park's family in Korea and knew that they owned a profitable shipping company and petroleum distributing operation. He said that he did not believe that Mr. Park shared directly in the wealth of his family. "He was the youngest son of his father's second wife," Mr. Hanna said, "and in an oriental culture the control of the family's business would go to others first."

Mr. Hanna said that he thought Mr. Park sought influence for his own business purposes and not on behalf of the South Korean Government. In the last three to four years, Mr. Hanna said, Mr. Park's image in Washington was "distorted" by the news media.

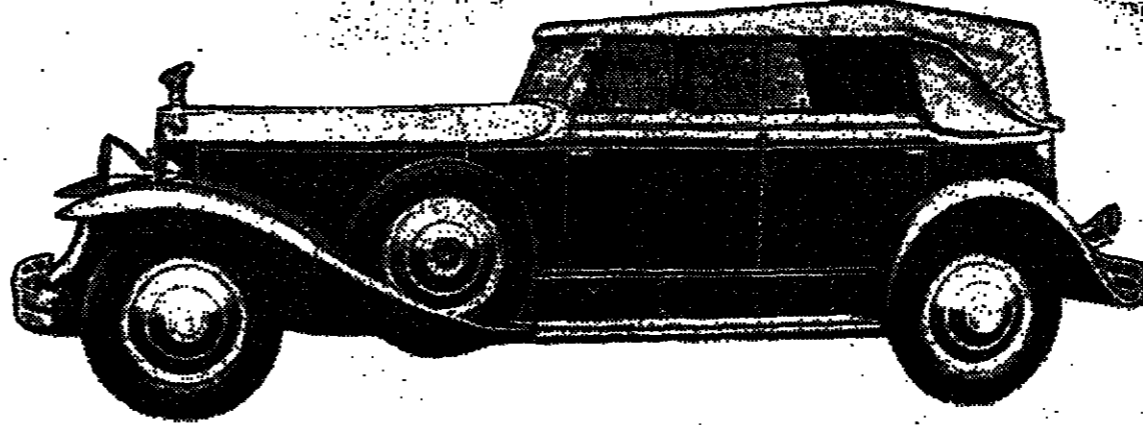

He said he realized now that he had probably contributed to Mr. Park's image as a man of great influence. "It was a very sad, tragic sort of mistake," he said.

In 1975, Mr. Hanna said, he had a personal falling out with Mr. Park over the sale of his home in Washington's plush Potomac, Md., suburb. "That's what really tore it for me," he said.

He said that Mr. Park had bought the 6.5 acre home site from him ostensibly for his "mother" for $205,000 and sold it shortly thereafter for $235,000. "He made more than I did and I lived in it six years," Mr. Hanna said.

Jerseyan Named to Panel

PALM SPRINGS, Calif., Nov. 9 (AP)—President Ford has appointed Doris W. Dealaman of Bernardsville, N.J., to serve on the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations. She will serve for two years on the commission, which reviews the operation of the Federal Government and makes recommendations for improvements.

The best things in life aren't free...
or even bargain priced.
But, our Stearns & Foster horse hair mattress is one luxurious exception.

Black mane horse hair... the best there is. There is no other substance available we know of that gives a mattress as much durability, buoyancy, firmness and just plain good old-fashioned comfort. And we have horse hair mattresses at very special savings. The luxury super firm horse hair Stearns & Foster mattress. It's designed exclusively for us to yield superior support. Features 10% black mane horse hair plus a top-quality grade of blended cotton felt, hundreds of 13 gauge steel coils, sag-resistant borders plus a rich, quilted polyester damask cover. It all adds up to super luxury, durability at prices almost everyone's budget can rest with in comfort; but hurry, quantities are limited.

Special purchase, twin 79.95

Full 99.95 ea. Queen 279.95 set King 359.95 3-pc. set

Also save on Stearns & Foster Ortho Firm supports. Designed for the person who wants super hard support. Features 20% black mane horse hair, 12 1/2 gauge steel coils... the thickest wire used in mattresses, today, top quality blended cotton felt, plus sag-resistant borders and covered with a 9 oz. hair proof cover.

Twin..... special purchase 109.95 ea. Queen..... special purchase 329.95 set Full..... special purchase 129.95 ea. King..... special purchase 479.95 3-pc. set Mattresses (D.414) 9th Floor, Herald Square and your Macy's. Phone orders accepted any day, any hour. Mail, too. In NYC: 971-6000. NJ: (toll free) 800-221-6822. New Haven: 203-624-9211. Elsewhere in Conn.: (toll free) 1-800-922-1350 or call your nearest Macy's phone order number. Sent within delivery area only. No COD's.

Macy's

Handwritten signature or mark at the bottom of the page.

LAYS HE TOLD KOREAN LOBBY IN '70

Continued from Page A1

and that its primary objective was to influence Congressional policy.

Mr. Laird declined to identify the sources of his information on the Korean lobby, saying that this would get into intelligence operations that he should not discuss publicly.

No Inquiry Until 1973

Although he suggested a Justice Department investigation in 1970, it was not until 1973 that the Federal Bureau of Investigation began inquiring into the actions of the Korean lobby and not until 1975 that the investigation picked up speed.

State Department officials said recently that "bureaucratic lethargy," not a deliberate cover-up, was presumably responsible for the delay in the investigation. A Department of Justice spokesman declined to comment.

The Justice Department is presenting a Federal grand jury evidence that could lead to indictments of Congressmen for accepting bribes and other persons for violation of laws that require nonofficial foreign agents to register with the Justice Department.

In the telephone interview, Mr. Laird said that "the Koreans tried to get people stirred up in Congress to reverse the decision" on troop withdrawal. He added, "I got a little sore a couple of times with the lobbying that was going on."

"My resentment and my concern," he said, "was that they were going against something we had decided was the policy of the U.S. Government" in an attempt to bypass the Administration and go directly to Congress.

The former Secretary recalled, "I warned the State Department that they should be careful. That was their responsibility, not mine." Asked whether he had also warned the Justice Department, he said he had suggested that to the State Department, again saying it was State's responsibility.

In meetings with South Korean officials to plan joint defense policy, Mr. Laird said, "I told them they were going about things the wrong way, that this was not the way to operate."

He asserted that he had told the Koreans they might lose a $1.5 billion program to modernize their armed forces, which had been proposed in return for their agreement on the troop withdrawal, if they continued the lobbying.

He said he had also told them they might lose their air cover, meaning the 54 Phantom F-4 jet fighters that were to be transferred from Japan to Korea as the ground forces were pulled out. However, both the $1.5 billion program and the jet transfer were carried out.

Mr. Laird said that the lobby was broader than Mr. Park.

"I'm not talking about just one individual," he said, "I'm talking about a broad spectrum."

The order to reduce American forces was cabled to Seoul by the State Department in April 1970 and became known publicly in June that year, to the consternation of President Park Chung Hee. He contended that American troops were "absolutely necessary" to the defense of South Korea.

In July, the United States officially notified the South Koreans of the forthcoming troop reduction. Prime Minister Chung Il Kwon threatened to resign as panic and anger spread in Seoul. But by August, the South Koreans softened their stand as the modernization plan made progress.

That fall, the South Korean Government decided to try to reverse the withdrawal decision by trying to persuade Congress to disapprove it, according to Koreans with access to reports of the Korean Central Intelligence Agency. That fits in with Mr. Laird's version of events then.

Despite the South Korean efforts, the 20,000 troops were withdrawn during 1971. But plans for further withdrawals announced by Mr. Laird and other Administration leaders then have not been implemented and about 40,000 American soldiers remain in South Korea today.

mattress

Why should men be the only ones to respond in kind when the invitation reads black tie.

We've already seen that women could take classic menswear, add a long, lean, leggy body and come up with a delightful paradox of femininity.

So next time he reaches for his tuxedo, step into Frank Smith's irreverently traditional tuxedos for women only.

Rich black cotton velvets, striped with satin, teamed with white polyester satin shirts: Dinner Jacket, 92.00

Satin-stripe pants, 54.00

Black tie tuxedo shirt, 42.00

Satin-Back Velvet Vest, 50.00

Still a bit of the old-fashioned girl?

Then team up with the long velvet skirt, 42.00

Satin stock tie shirt, 40.00

Everything for Evan Picone for 6 to 16 sizes.

Better Sportswear, Second Floor

Fifth Avenue at 56th Street, New York

You've changed.
We've changed too.
Evan Picone,
now on Two.

DRAWINGS BY JIM HOWARD

BONWIT TELLER

BONWIT TELLER FIFTH AVENUE OPEN EVERY THURSDAY NIGHT UNTIL 8:00 MANHASSET, SCARSDALE, AND SHORT HILLS OPEN UNTIL 9:00
Add 1.35 outside delivery area, and sales tax where applicable. Call (212) EL 5-2600 any hour. Bonwit Teller charge accepted, of course. We also honor American Express, BankAmericard and Master Charge cards.
New York Manhasset Scarsdale Short Hills Philadelphia Wynewood Jenkintown Chicago Oak Brook Boston Troy Palm Beach Beverly Hills

Are NEW VIRUS IN OUTBREAK

New Jersey Says Study Shown If It Is Cause of Legionnaire's Disease

ATLANTA, Nov. 9 (AP)—Results of tests done in the Department of Health on a man who died in the national center of Legionnaire's disease last week showed evidence of what may be a new strain of the disease, according to an assistant health commissioner.

The center said the man, who died in Trenton, N.J., was infected with the virus in New Jersey. Dr. Ronald F. Dowdle, who did the viral tests, said in an interview that it was now known if the possible new strain of Legionnaire's disease caused the mysterious malady killed 29 people and made 151 others sick after the annual Legion convention in Atlantic City last August.

Dr. Dowdle said that his team at the center has isolated from the victim of Legionnaire's disease a spherical viral particle that is 22 nanometers in size, or one-millionth of an inch.

He said that after he collected the man in a New Jersey hospital, his team found that the virus was identical to two independent testing laboratories. The first is the California State Laboratory of Public Health, and the second is green.

Dr. Dowdle, who heads the virology department at the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, said in a telephone interview, "We're aware of the fact that we have been cooperating with New Jersey. But he agreed with Dr. Dowdle that it was too early to determine the significance of the finding."

Dr. Leonard Bachman, state secretary of health in New Jersey, said in a telephone interview that he regarded the New Jersey case as "extremely preliminary."

Dr. Dowdle said that he had no doubts that the virus isolated in the New Jersey case had come from the victim's stool. But he emphasized that it was impossible to extrapolate from that single case to other cases.

He said, the virus may have been just a harmless virus that was isolated from the victim's stool, the virus could have caused the victim's illness but have nothing to do with the 179 other cases on the Atlantic coast.

Dr. Dowdle said the finding so interesting because all tests to date show that the virus is a previously unknown virus, or a combination of two viruses.

He said, "We're dealing with a new virus. It is a new agent to which we have antibody (a protective substance) indicating that it's a previously described human pathogen (disease-causing agent), or whether it has significant basic issue, I don't know."

Dr. Dowdle said, "I'm exceedingly careful in our use of the word 'new' because we don't want to make a mistake and we don't want to risk saying up scarce, irreplaceable specimens on the victims of the outbreak."

Dr. Dowdle, who is both a virologist and a microbiologist, went to the hospital where the victim was admitted there. He personally collected a specimen from the patient's fluid, blood and stools. He said a second stool specimen from the victim was also collected.

Dr. Dowdle said, "We have two separate stool specimens isolated what appears to be the same virus," he said.

Dr. Dowdle said, "The early phase of the testing, Dr. Dowdle's team found that samples of the fecal specimens caused the death of mice but not in other testing systems. After the team succeeded in purifying the mouse carcasses, they did a series of immunologic tests that allowed them to identify the virus under the electron microscope."

Dr. Dowdle said, "When they began to use monkey cells and the human carcinoma cells — uncommon cells — that they succeeded in getting the virus to grow in independent monkey cells. Dr. Goldfield said, "That was a great surprise we found that the virus lost its ability to produce the suckling mice. However, we continued to produce damage to monkey cells."

Dr. Dowdle said, "The tests have led Dr. Goldfield to believe that his team is probably dealing with a new agent with enormous potential."

Dr. Dowdle said that his team had to do before it was ready to give evidence of the new virus in samples from other Legionnaire's disease victims.

Dr. Dowdle said, "The tests from the New Jersey victim have for nickel, other heavy metals and pesticides that had been suggested as causes of Legionnaire's disease," Goldfield said.

Guilty in Deaths of Eight, Escapes a Jail Sentence

ILL., Nov. 9 (AP)—John J. Williams was found guilty today of one count of vehicular homicide in the deaths of eight Minster teen-agers on a road, but the sentence carried by the court was suspended.

Williams, 24, of Collins, Mo., was charged with the deaths of eight girls and boys in a car crash on Nov. 7 when it went through a curve and struck the Minster High School. They were celebrating a victory and traveling in a parade when they got out of their cars to disperse.

Williams was suspended for one year and fined $100.

Wixon Charged in Deaths of Eight

ILL., Nov. 9 (AP)—John J. Williams was found guilty today of one count of vehicular homicide in the deaths of eight Minster teen-agers on a road, but the sentence carried by the court was suspended.

Williams, 24, of Collins, Mo., was charged with the deaths of eight girls and boys in a car crash on Nov. 7 when it went through a curve and struck the Minster High School. They were celebrating a victory and traveling in a parade when they got out of their cars to disperse.

Williams was suspended for one year and fined $100.

Walter & Phipps
Adventure 150

celebrating our first 150 years in fashion with the take-me-out-tabards, coupled with straight-leg pants seen in the best places.
Like all good Butte Knits. You'll love the long lean flattery in polyester-wool knit, 6 to 16.
Side-buttoned tabard in black, 60.00
Side-tied tabard over thin strapped camisole in red, 64.00 Second Floor, Lord & Taylor,
Fifth Avenue & 39th Street, Call WI 7-3300
And at all Lord & Taylor stores

CREATED

See how the world's great designers relax.

Nowhere in Barney's is the atmosphere more easygoing than on the third floor of Barney's International House. Where there's an entire floor devoted completely to the casual fashions of the most innovative designers in the world.

It's a place where each piece, whether it's fashion or decor, is worth lingering over.

Where an antique armoire, frosted glass and oak paneling provide a backdrop for the unexpected. Victor Joris's roomy batwing-sleeved overshirt. Daniel Hechter's bomber jacket sweater complete with mouton collar. Rafael's velvet blouson. Casteljabe's corduroy coat lined with a ribbed sweater.

And if you happen to be shopping with milady, you may find her doing some shopping of her own. Among some of the fabulous sportswear designs of such headline-makers as Emmanuelle Khanh, Issey Miyake and Kenzo. Also with Christian Aujard, Mic Mac and Cacharel, who design for both men and women with equal aplomb.

One day soon, take a leisurely stroll through all the exciting collections of Europe's most sophisticated designers. And see how hard they work at relaxing.

Barney's International Sportswear collections.

7th Avenue and 17th Street. Open 9 AM to 9:30 P.M. Free parking. We honor the American Express Card, Master Charge and BankAmericard. And, of course, your Barney's Card.

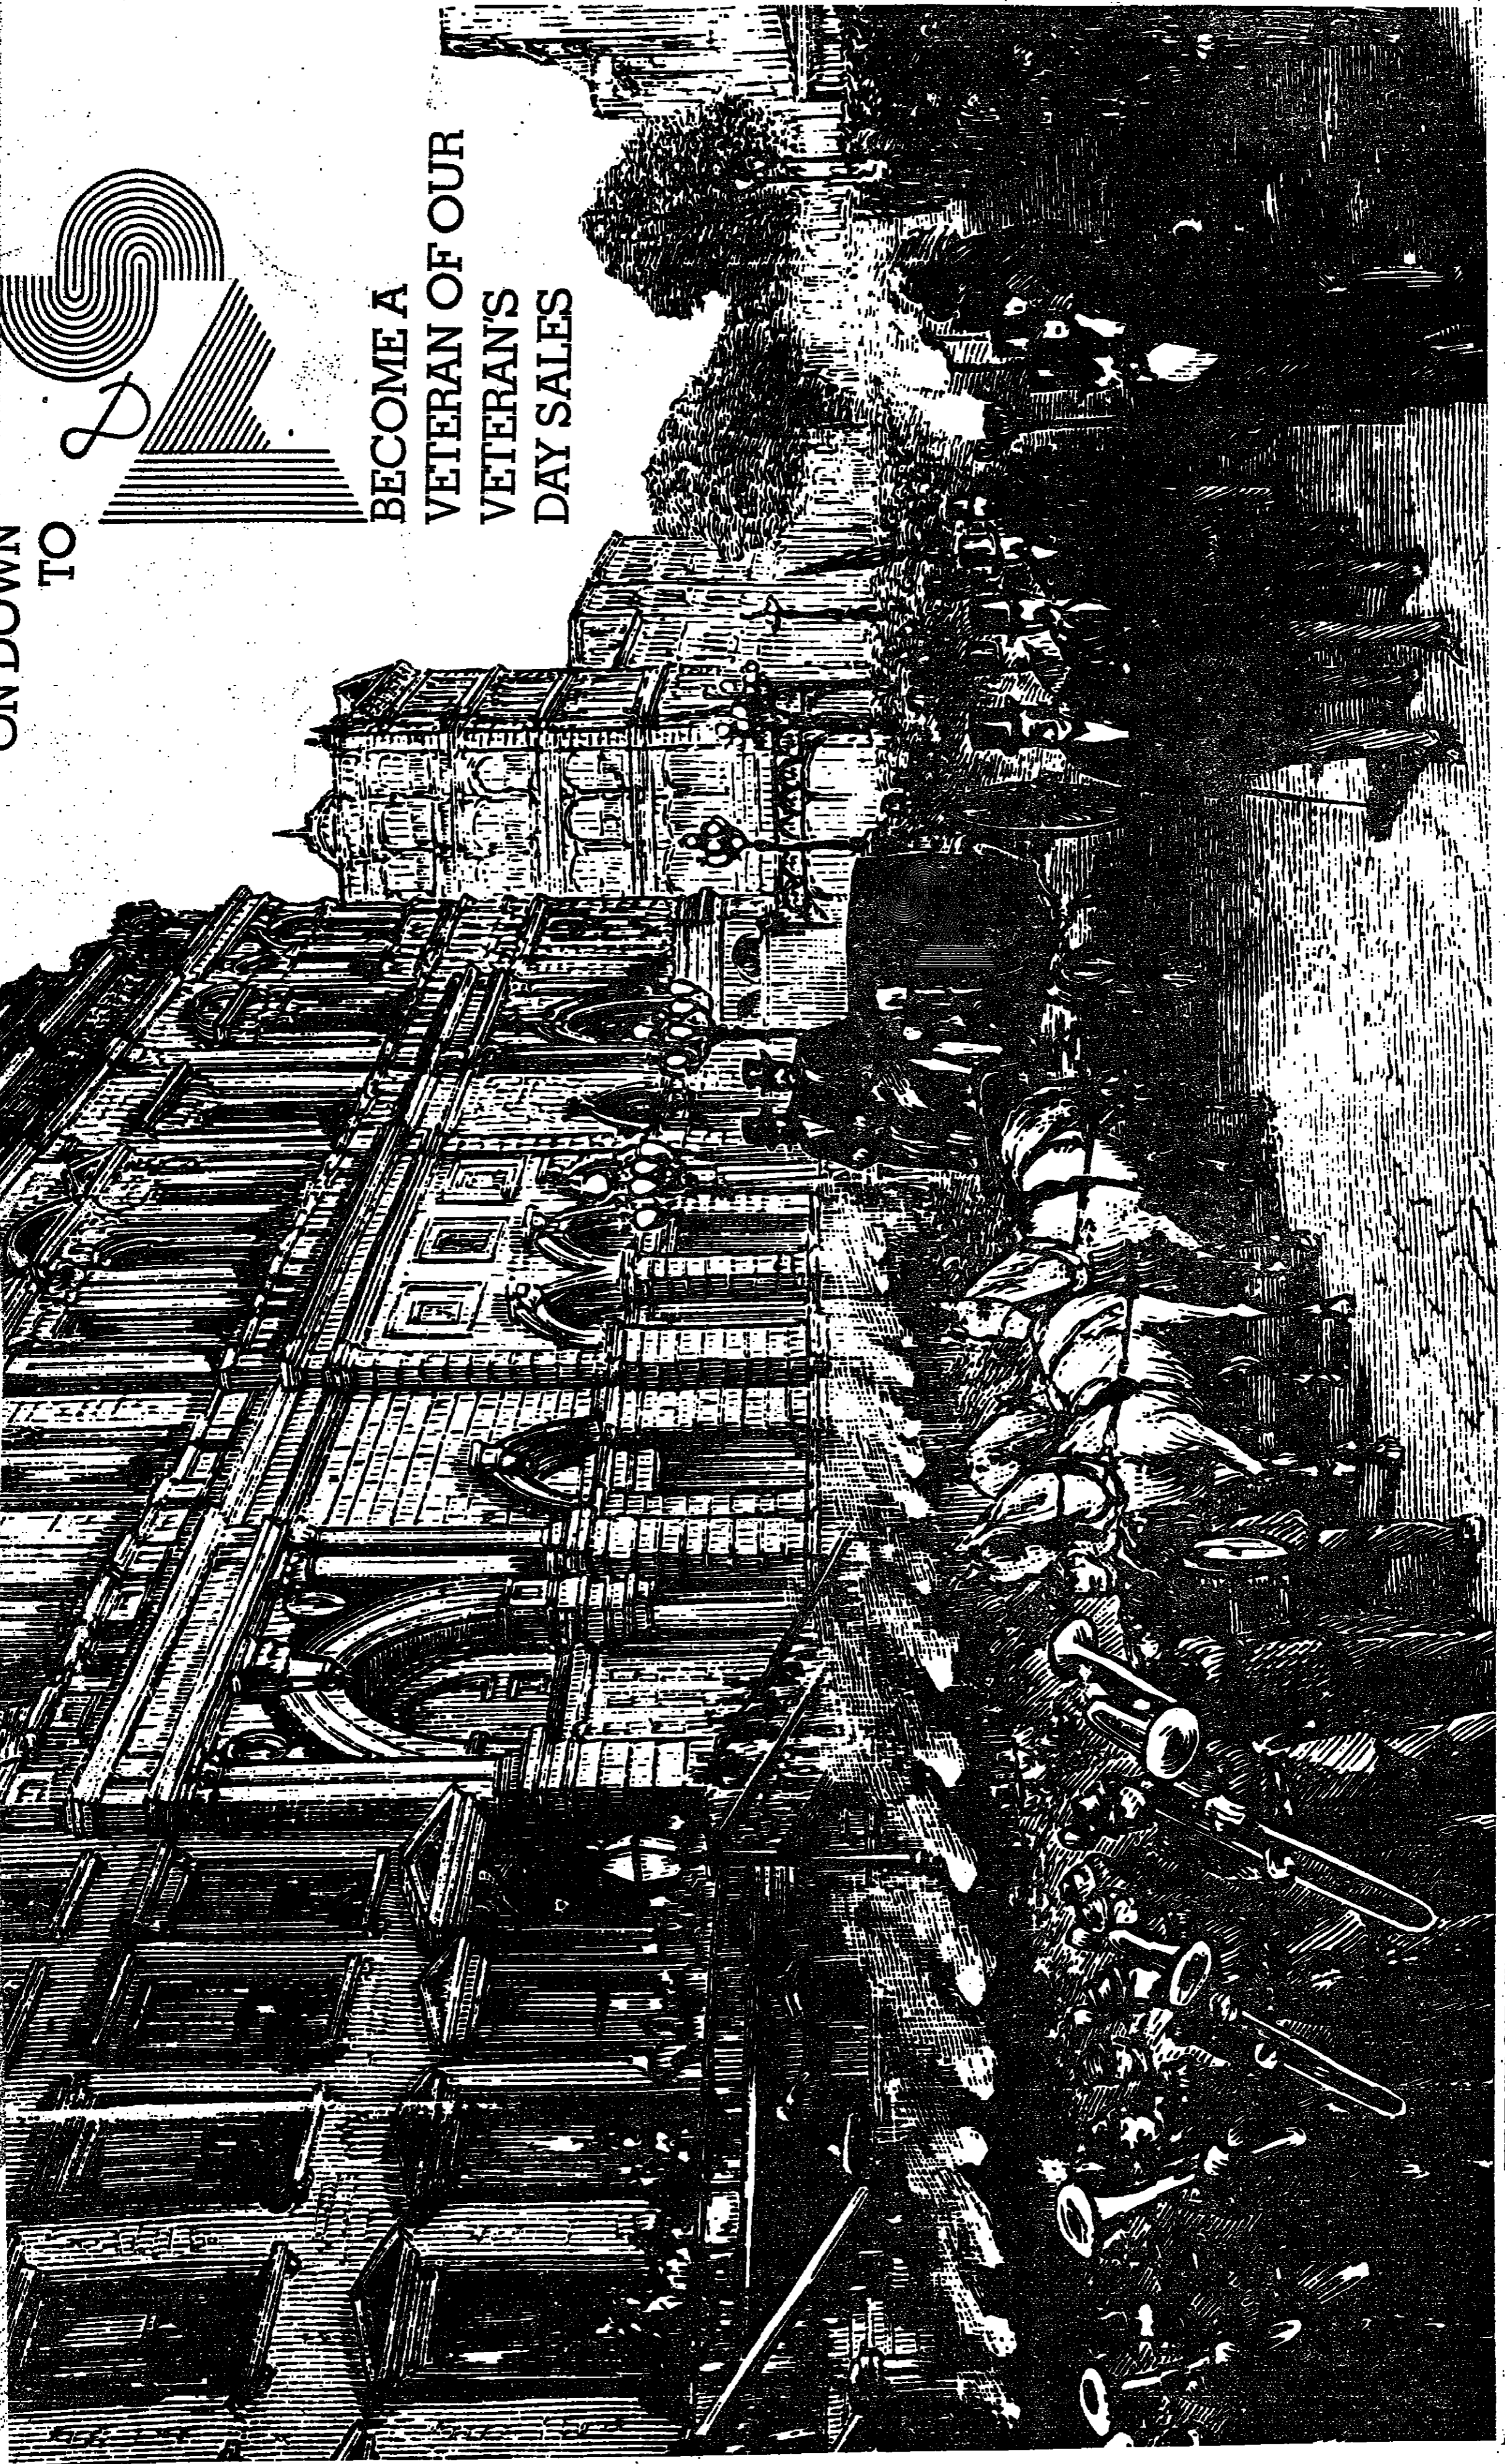

Handwritten text in a box: 375 1011 25

ON DOWN TO

BECOME A VETERAN OF OUR VETERAN'S DAY SALES

THURSDAY, FRIDAY, SATURDAY

Such big savings on every floor of every A&S store, it's worth a trip from anywhere! STORE HOURS: Brooklyn on Thursday 9:45 A.M. to 6 P.M., Friday and Saturday 9:45 A.M. to 9:30 P.M. daily; Woodbridge and Paramus 10 A.M. to 9:30 P.M. daily.

MISS HEARST WINS A PRISON TRANSFER

Continued From Page A1

was assigned to the center after her sentencing, she asked to be kept in administrative detention in the isolation unit until she felt it was safe enough to enter the prison population. She was segregated from other inmates for several weeks after she arrived, Mr. Meko said.

Prison officials were concerned because she had been reported in the press that Miss Hearst would testify as a government witness in the upcoming trials of her former underground traveling companions, Wendy Yoshimura and two members of the Symbionese Liberation Army, William and Emily Harris. The couple are charged with kidnapping Miss Hearst on Feb. 4, 1974, with other members of the underground group who were later killed in a shootout with the police.

According to both officials and inmates, however, there have been no major incidents against Miss Hearst since she joined the prison population five weeks ago. When Miss Hearst was still in the hospital, some inmates appeared at her window and called her names, two inmates sources said.

Refused Work Week Ago

According to inmate sources in her dormitory unit, who asked that their names not be used, Miss Hearst first refused to work a week ago. She was written up in a discipline report for each of the remaining days last week, they said. The sources said that the prison officials had planned to put her into an isolation unit on Friday but decided to hold off until Saturday after she visited with her lawyer, Albert Johnson.

After meeting with Mr. Johnson, she was reported to have said that she would return to work. On Monday she began working again, the sources said. However, Mr. Johnson met with her again last night and early this morning before she was transferred to San Diego.

Asked why Miss Hearst refused to work, one inmate source said that "she just didn't like the rules of this place, the limits on the amount of clothing and the amount of books you can have."

The Federal correctional institution in Pleasanton, however, is considered by many of its inmates to be one of the best places in the Federal prison system to serve time. Designed architecturally like a spacious college campus with cedar and grass buildings, the $5.5 million facility, which opened in July of 1974, houses 250 young men and women mostly between the ages of 18 and 26. Miss Hearst is 23 years old.

While she was at Pleasanton only a few people refused to talk to Miss Hearst, according to the inmate sources. "Most people were just curious and quite a few were friendly, though she kept pretty much to herself," one inmate said.

Another inmate who befriended Miss Hearst described her as "bitter and resentful." That inmate said that Miss Hearst told her that she had never done anything wrong and should not have been in jail.

"She would be cool one moment, then go off to her room and throw a tantrum another. She was very stubborn," the inmate said, adding, "After a week in the unit she said she was not afraid of going out alone. Up until then she never went out on the grounds alone."

Burger Warns Bar Against Long Briefs In High Court Cases

By LESLEY OELSNER

Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—Chief Justice Warren E. Burger put lawyers on notice today that if they wanted the Supreme Court to consider their cases they better not overload the Justices with long briefs and memorandums.

The Chief Justice made his point from the bench, at the close of oral argument in a Michigan case by a lawyer who had filed an initial 216-page brief and then a 53-page response to a brief by the other side.

"In this case there are 600 pages of material filed with us, which means that if every case heard today was treated the same way, we would have 2,400 pages to read," Justice Burger said in a stern voice. And that did not include, he noted, the Court decisions cited in the briefs as precedents—"which we do read," he added.

The lawyer actually performed a service to the Court, Justice Burger then declared. The lawyer, he said, furnished "Exhibit A: why the Court should activate a rule limiting briefs to 50 pages unless the Court grants special leave."

The lawyer, Sylvester Petro of Winston-Salem, N.C., sought to respond. The Chief Justice cut him off, saying: "I need no response to that. I am making an observation to the bar in general as well as to you. You have filed a 216-page brief when 75 pages easily would have done it."

Blackmun Criticizes First

Justice Harry A. Blackmun, the Chief Justice's fellow Minnesotan and long-time acquaintance, laid the basis for Justice Burger's remarks.

"A few weeks ago, when a lawyer in a sex discrimination case asked in oral argument for permission to file a supplemental brief, Justice Blackmun angrily responded by noting that the lawyer, Ruth Weyand of Washington, D.C., had already filed two briefs totaling 250 pages. 'Do you expect,' he asked, 'we can absorb that with the energy you'd like?'"

"Today, before the Chief Justice spoke, Justice Blackmun raised the same point with Mr. Petro, and commented, 'We do have other cases here.'"

"The Justices can adopt a rule of length of briefs by majority vote. Currently, the clerk of the Court, Michael Rodak, says that he tries informally to get lawyers to keep their briefs short."

Length can hurt. After Justice Blackmun's remarks in the sex discrimination case, another Justice was asked, out of court, for his reaction. He said that he doubted that any of the nine Justices had read the main Weyand brief to the end. He added that one Justice had a firm policy of never reading a brief beyond page 75.

Mr. Petro was arguing on behalf of Detroit teachers who are challenging a requirement that all teachers there, whether union members or not, pay dues to the union that represents the city's teachers. The case is No. 75-1153.

sloane's veteran's day sale queen anne style ladies desk

sale 249, reg. 315.

All the grace of classic Queen Anne styling plus all the sturdy beauty of solid native cherry with a magnificent heirloom finish. All yours in this writing desk at most exceptional savings. 27½x17½x39"H. Immediate delivery.

Second floor and all stores.

wrought iron baker's rack
sale 259, reg. 299.

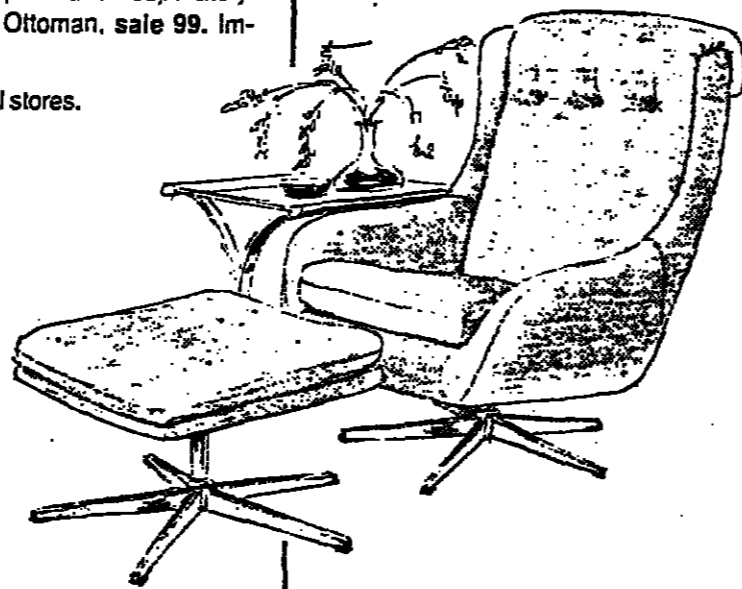

Decorative shelf-and-show space, a traditional baked goods display. Brass trim; glass shelves. 40x15x80"H. Not shown: corner baker's rack, sale 189. 30"W baker's rack, sale 199. 60"W baker's rack, sale 289. Immediate delivery.

Second floor and all stores.

handsome swivel rocker & ottoman sale 229, duo.

Textured gabardine in beige/tan/white covers our wonderfully relaxing chair and ottoman duo. Both swivel on a clean chrome base and may be purchased separately. Rocker, sale 159. Ottoman, sale 99. Immediate delivery.

Second floor and all stores.

velvety rug with a rich sheen

sale 149, reg. 199.
size 8'3"x11'6".

"Snowflake"—dramatic, luxurious with a light-catching sheen. Thick plush pile of 60% modacrylic/40% acrylic. White, sandalwood or brown. 4'x5', reg. 49. sale 39. 5'x7', reg. 89. sale 69. 10'x14', reg. 299. sale 249.

Third floor and all stores.

wing chair in tufted vinyl
sale 199.

A gracious, inviting and comfortable chair in classic traditional styling with the Queen Anne cabriole leg (of course) and brass nailheads. In cashew or butternut color vinyl, it adds a new importance to your room. Second floor and all stores.

recliner in brown cotton velvet
sale 279.

Choose this super-comfortable, tufted recliner for your modern room. The design is sleek and stylish, the slim arms are gleaming chrome, and the rich brown cotton velvet fabric looks and feels utterly luxurious! Fourth floor and all stores.

4-bay wall unit works wonders
sale 1376.

This handsome, hot fudge lacquer unit decorates your wall and makes it work as well. The four bays include a bar, a desk, and generous space for storage, for TV—plus plenty of display area with glass doors and lights. 119x19x80"H.

First floor and all stores.

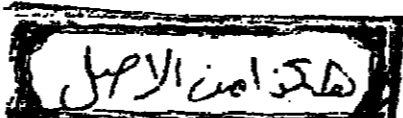

Convenient credit facilities available. We accept the American Express card.

For creative ideas and expert assistance, consult our Interior Design Studio on Four and all stores. Or call 695-3800, ext. 270.

W&J SLOANE FIFTH AVENUE at 38th

garden city • manhasset • white plains • paramus • short hills • red bank • jenkintown • stamford

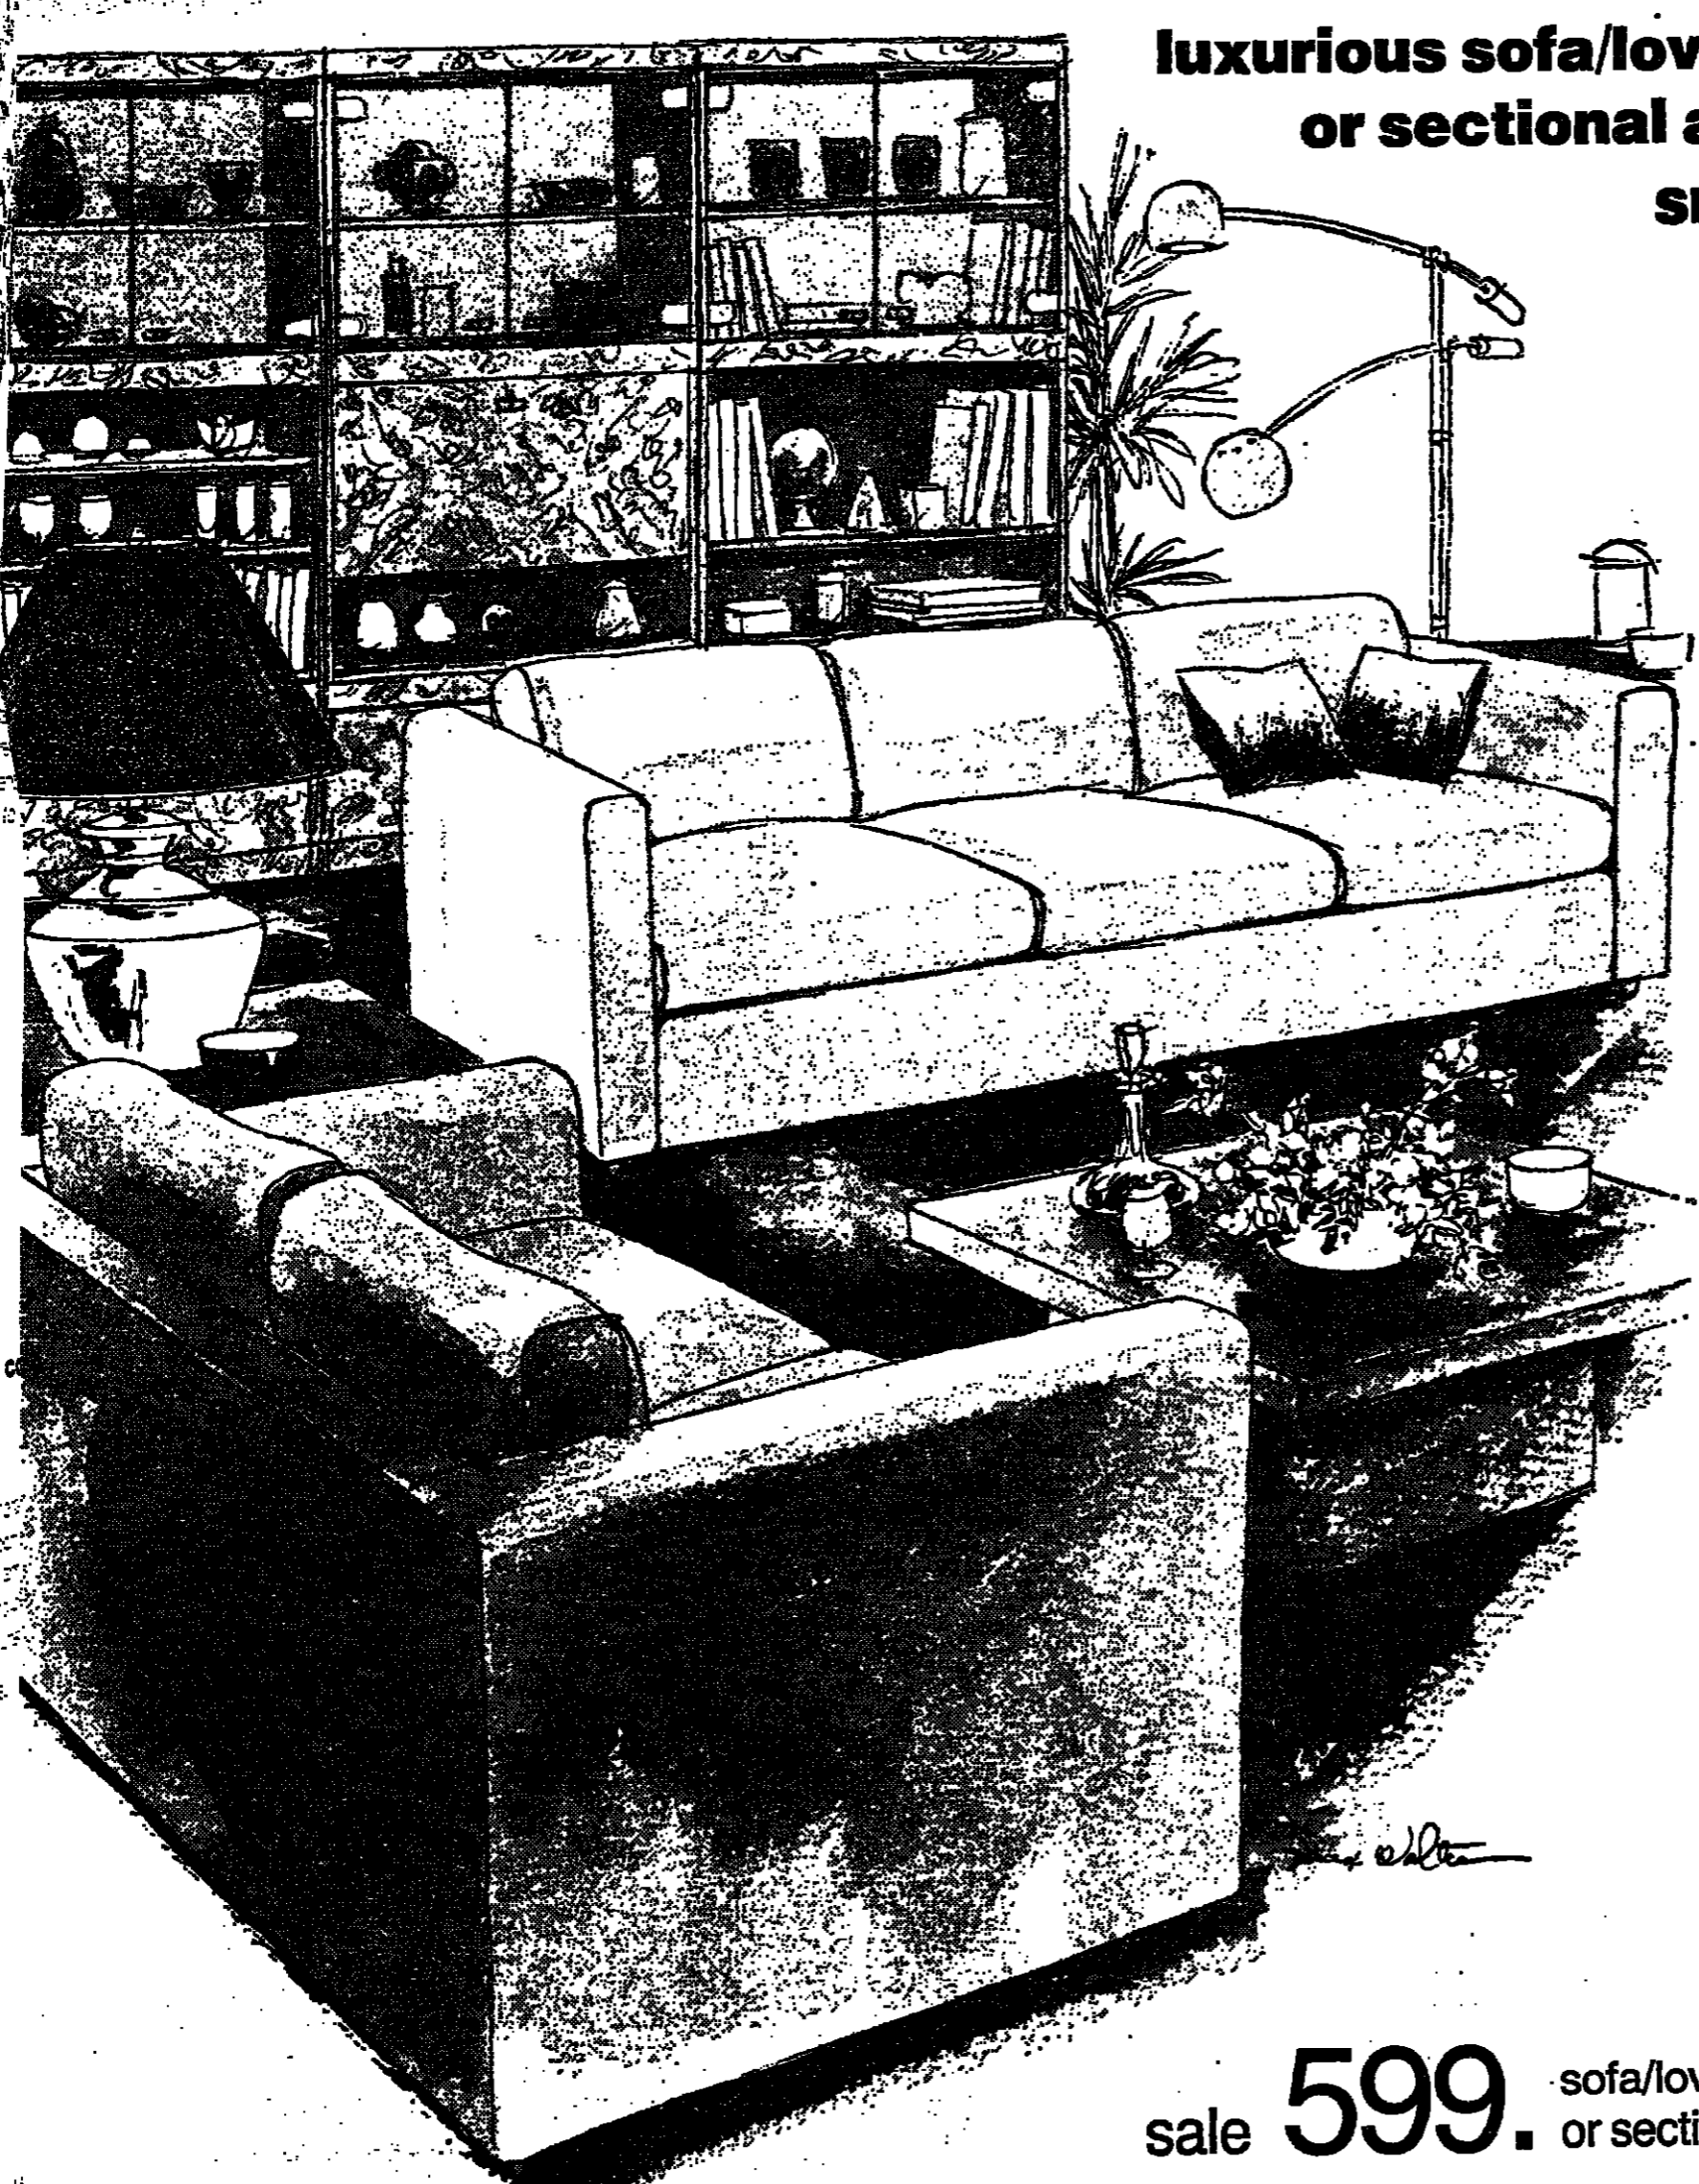

Fifth Avenue • daily 10 to 6 • Thurs. 11 to 8 • Short Hills, Stamford, White Plains, Garden City, Manhasset • daily 9:30 to 5:30 • Monday & Thurs. 11 to 9 • Jenkintown & Red Bank • daily 9:30 to 5:30 Wed. & Fri. 11 to 9 • Paramus • daily 9:30 to 9:30 • Sat. 11 to 5

da Sloane's veteran's day sale

Sloane's big double-value in velvet:

luxurious sofa/love seat duo or sectional at a single, small price!

sale 599. sofa/love seat duo or sectional

Just look at all the spacious, velvet-covered seating room you can have at superb savings. 87" sofa and 57" love seat combination, or a sectional including 87" sofa and 77" one-arm sectional. All in brick color cotton velvet. Not shown: 87" modern, flare-arm sofa and 65" love seat combination in beige or brown cotton velvet. Duo, sale 599. All built for comfort with coil spring suspension and spring edge. 3-piece, 108", burr wall system including 2 TV units, 1 desk unit. sale 999. Purchased separately: TV unit, 36x18x76", each, sale 359. Desk unit, 36x18x76", each, sale 399.

Second Floor, Fifth Avenue, and all stores

venient credit facilities available.
ept the American Express card.
ert assistance and superb selection,
t our Interior Design Studio on Four stores. Or call 695-3800, ext. 270

VE at J SLOANE FIFTH AVENUE at 38th
garden city • manhasset • white plains • paramus • short hills • red bank • jenkintown • stamford

daily 10 to 6 • Thurs. 'til 8 • Short Hills, Stamford, White Plains, Garden City, Manhasset • daily 9:30 to 5:30 • Monday & Thurs. 'til 9 • Jenkintown & Red Bank • daily 9:30 to 5:30 Wed. & Fri. 'til 9 • Paramus • daily 9:30 to 9:30 • Sat. 'til 5:30

ROBBERY SUSPECT, 17, FACES ARSON CHARGE

Youth, Accused of Stealing From Elderly Neighbor Is Alleged to Have Set Fire to Her House

By BARRARA CAMPBELL

A 17-year-old youth, who was released in his parent's custody last week after allegedly robbing an elderly neighbor in Flushing, Queens, was arraigned yesterday on charges of setting the neighbor's house on fire because she had reported the robbery to the police.

At his arraignment in the Queens Criminal Court, the youth, John Balsam, was ordered committed for psychiatric observation by Judge Harold Mayer.

The defendant, who lives with his parents and a brother at 41-17 162d Street, knew the neighbor, Mildred Latimer, who lives a few blocks away at 162-07 Sanford Avenue, the police said.

He had, according to Sgt. Salvatore Giordano of the 109th Precinct, visited the elderly woman, who lives alone, "numerous times" and had extorted money from her before she had been reluctant to turn him in, the sergeant said.

Feared for Her Safety

But on Oct. 27, Mrs. Latimer notified the police although she said she feared for her safety after the youth came to her house and allegedly took $5 from her pocketbook.

At 2 A.M. Monday, neighbors called the Fire Department after seeing flames coming from the back of Mrs. Latimer's house. She was led, dressed in nightclothes, from the burning building.

After an investigation, the youth was again arrested and charged with first-degree arson.

Mr. Balsam apparently had been in trouble with the law prior to Oct. 27, when he was arrested for the robbery, but any records made before the age of 16 are sealed in Family Court.

"It's too bad that judges in these cases are not aware of the background in these cases, particularly for bail purposes," said an assistant Queens district attorney, Thomas Demakos, who is handling the case.

Mr. Demakos said the youth had once been committed to a state training school.

No date has been set for Mr. Balsam to return to court, according to his Legal Aid Society attorney, Joseph Foster.

A 17-Year-Old Girl Gets 7 Years for Holdup Of 84-Year-Old Woman

A 17-year-old Bronx girl who was captured with two other youths as they attacked and tried to rob an 84-year-old woman and her son was sentenced yesterday to a seven-year prison term.

District attorney Mario Merola of the Bronx hailed the sentence, saying:

"In the light of recent attacks on our elderly in this borough, it is gratifying to see this kind of sentence imposed. Hopefully, it will serve as a deterrent to others who would contemplate this type of crime."

The defendant, Charise Finney of 185 McClellan Street, was convicted on robbery charges in State Supreme Court by a jury before Justice Harold Silbermann. According to Mr. Merola, the young woman and her two male companions were arrested by members of the borough anticrime police force shortly after midnight on March 20, 1975.

Police Officers Michael Ciravolo and Julio Rodriguez were on duty in the Highbridge section when they saw the victims, Catherine Eitlin and her son, Charles, 56 years old, enter the building where they live at 119 Grant Avenue followed by three suspects.

The police officers burst into the hallway and found one youth, Raymond Salamon, 17 years old, of 299 Eighth Avenue, Manhattan, holding an eight-inch knife to Mr. Eitlin's throat while another, Leonard Ellis, also 17 years old, of 1103 Sheridan Avenue, the Bronx, went through his pockets.

Mrs. Eitlin, a short slender woman, was being pushed against a wall by Miss Finney, who was trying to tear her pocketbook from her grasp. The three were quickly apprehended.

Since then, Mr. Salamon has pleaded guilty to robbery charges and is serving three years in prison, and Mr. Ellis, who pleaded guilty to similar charges, faces up to seven years.

OAKES RECEIVES AWARD OF THE AUDUBON SOCIETY

John B. Oakes, editor of the editorial page of The New York Times, received last night the Audubon Medal for "making The New York Times the most persuasive voice for conservation in America."

The presentation, the highest conservation award of the National Audubon Society, was made at the society's annual dinner at the New York Hilton Hotel.

Mr. Oakes, who in 1974 received the coveted John Muir Medal from the Sierra Club, has been with The Times since 1946.

He was cited last night as a "journalist, conservationist and scholar" who understood that "man cannot be free nor can he prosper in an environment that sickens and does not inspire." Mr. Oakes said, in accepting the medal, that he wanted to share it with colleagues "who have joined me over the years" in the environmental fight.

Environmental prospects are brighter now, he said, adding that he hoped the struggle could be won "in our generation." He also paid tribute to Jimmy Carter as being "surely the most knowledgeable and experienced environmentalist to occupy the Presidency in more than 40 years."

The Audubon Society presented to Elizabeth Guthrie of Bedford, N. Y., the 1976 American Motors Corporation Award for her pioneering environmental education work in New York City schools.

The City Gardens Club of New York received a special citation from the society for giving 500 teachers and administrators in schools here scholarships to Audubon Ecology Workshops.

Islanders Put Wings To Rout, 8-1

By PARTON KEESSE Special to The New York Times UNIONDALE, L. I., Nov. 9—What do you say after your team (the Islanders) whumps an opponent (the Detroit Red Wings) by a score of 8-1, outshoots them, 47 to 24, and makes them look as bad as a first-year club? Said Coach Al Arbour of the Islanders tonight at the Nassau Coliseum: "We were terrible the first period. We couldn't get the puck out of our own zone, we were giving the puck away and they had six or seven 3-on-2's on us."

2 Newcomers Help Knicks Win, 106-97

By SAM GOLDAPPER Moe Layton, a journeyman guard, and Lonnie Shelton, a heralded rookie, pulled the Knicks out of their second-half shooting doldrums last night and led New York to a 106-97 victory over Washington before a crowd of 13,244 at Madison Square Garden. The Knicks' sixth triumph in 11 games snapped the Bullets' three-game winning streak. Layton, a walk-on free agent in camp, entered the game as a replacement for Earl Monroe with 3 minutes 50 seconds remaining in the third quarter and the score tied at 68-68. During the next 10 1/2 minutes, Layton, who played two seasons ago for the Phoenix Suns but couldn't find a job in the National Basketball Association last season, tore the Bullet defense apart with his quickness and penetration. He scored 12 of his 14 points during that span as the Knicks opened an 88-76 bulge. Shelton, an impressive player in the last five games, scored 14 points, 10 in the last quarter and 8 in a five-minute span to help stymie Bullet comeback attempts.

was guarding, the Knicks would just clear aside for [Walt] Frazier, [Earl] Monroe and Layton. "The trio accounted for 56 points." Offensively, Wright was a big plus. After entering the game in the first quarter, when both teams had trouble making their shots, Wright teamed with Mitch Kupchak, the other first-round draft choice, and they scored 19 of the Bullets' 44 first-half points. Wright finished with 18 points and Kupchak with 11. The 6-8 Shelton, who became the Knicks' starting center after 19 steals and 13 blocked shots over the last four games of the recent trip, showed little respect when matched against Wes Unseld and Elvin Hayes, the Bullet stars. Shelton challenged and intimidated both as he battled them off the boards and on defense. Praise From Cunningham "I respect them," said the 245-pound Shelton, who added two steals and three blocked shots to his total. "They have been around for a long time. But I'm not going to give anything."

Knicks Do Wright Wrong "I saw the game was going at a slow pace," said Layton. "As I sat on the bench, I could see the Bullets taking their time bringing up the ball. I also spotted several defensive holes, especially involving Larry Wright, the rookie. I guess Red [Holzman] saw them also and he put me in and told me to keep the game under control. I tried to use Wright whenever I could." Layton, who says he rarely takes a bad shot, made seven of his 10 shots, all but one on drives and layups. Dick Motta, the Bullets' new coach, also took note of the way the Knick guards treated the 6-foot-1-inch Wright, one of the Bullets' two first-round draft choices. "All three guards took advantage of Larry," said Motta. "No matter who he

Continued on Page A26, Column 5

DEFENSES: Norm Bulaich, running back for the Dolphins getting a swine flu shot in Miami yesterday. The nurse is Marlene Teichner of the Dade County Health Department.

Ill Ailment May Keep Morton of Action Against the Redskins

By AEL KATZ New York Times E. N.Y., Nov. 9—The quarterback who led the Giants to a 17-10 victory over the Redskins last Sunday night, Craig Morton, may not be able to play Sunday against the Redskins. Steve Joachim told Todd at Shea old injury and prescribed heat pads, rest and medication. Morton's injury caught the Giants' attention when he was examined in the trainer's room after the game in Dallas for knee and rib bruises. At the time, the abrasion on his right elbow, which Morton suffered in the final minutes of the first half while completing a 17-yard pass to Ray Rhodes, seemed no more important than any of the multiple sore spots suffered every game by football players. It didn't seem bad enough to interrupt dinner with friends in Dallas after the game, but after dessert Morton's elbow was aching him. One of his friends, a doctor, examined the elbow in the men's room of the restaurant and, after seeing the swelling, called one of the Cowboys' team physicians, Dr. James Pat Evans, who arranged for Morton to be examined at a hospital. Coach John McVay reported the injury was probably some burst blood vessels and about 45 c.c.'s of fluid were removed from Morton's elbow in the Dallas hospital. "I don't know what 45 c.c.'s is," said McVay (i.e. it's a little more than a shot glass). "If he had equated it to a can of beer, I would have understood." McVay said he didn't know if the elbow would be drained again this week, but there was a "50-50" chance Morton could play against the Redskins. Continued on Page A27, Column 1 light elbow filled with fluid last Sunday night led to the Cowboys' loss as "questionable" in the game against the Redskins and all those fans who have been "ant Sneed" this season to see 37-year-old while, the Giants are or a backup quarterback can't play Sunday, if one is expected to borrow. Must Rest originally planned to undergo extensive hospital after further examination of the quarterback's irritation of an

Whalers Get a Tax Break As Hartford Takes Over

By STEVE CADY Hartford, "then both the city and the Whalers lose. But we're betting on the future. We feel we'll have an outstanding team, and a good season." Richard Greenberg, an attorney attached to the State Tax Commission, declined comment on the development, saying only that "some discussions" had been held. However, the Tax Commission is known to be concerned about possible widespread tax exemptions that could sharply reduce state revenue. The Hartford action also raises the question of how far a municipality should go to encourage and aid its professional sports franchises. In recent years, a number of stadiums and other facilities have been built by municipalities for football, baseball, basketball or hockey teams. One of the rationales for these projects is that they stimulate the local economy. Hartford, carrying the aid one step further, considers the Whalers an important factor in the protection of the city's $40-million investment for downtown urban renewal. "Their health and success is vital to the city," said Councilman Carbone. The Whalers, originally based in Boston. Continued on Page A24, Column 1

Under the new deal, which automatically exempts the New England Whalers from paying state admission taxes, the World Hockey Association club will receive an annual windfall of about $135,000. Tickets to sports contests and other amusement events in Connecticut are subject to a 10 percent tax, evenly divided between the state and the municipality. But the statute exempts events sponsored by nonprofit charitable organizations or by the municipalities themselves. The State Is Watching Hartford's nine-member City Council voted unanimously last Monday to become promoter of the Whaler home games, hiring the team to play at the 10,612-seat Hartford Civic Center. Safeguards have been taken to minimize the risk to the city. But Nicholas Carbone, one of six Democrats on the City Council, conceded yesterday that a small element of financial risk did exist. "If the ticket sales go down," Councilman Carbone said by phone from

Lonnie Shelton, Knicks' rookie center, recovering loose ball from Bullets

on Vote Record Close Presidential Election Chamberlain and Billy McCool

Memorial Fan Club is a little band of cated to the proposition that Ashflat, Ark., because Preacher Roe came from there, ger, Okla., where Johnny Bench grew up, at like Ashflat. Johnny was saying recently in four straight, he went back to Binger great big celebration. Everything was going he realized that everybody in town was in the parade and there was nobody to watch it. Anyhow, at a meeting of the Bobo New-son Club the other night, a member said it didn't seem to him that warm-weather types like Mickey Rivers and Catfish Hunter were meant to play ball on wintry nights said the climate at that season was more ers like Gene Freese, the Pittsburgh infield-ago, and Cool Papa Bell of the old Negro me deep thinking that produced an all-time viously intended by nature to play before his thermal underwear. Here is the 25-man ox Chamberlain, Reds; Windy McCall, Ryan, Giants; Jim Coates, Yankees; Foghorn; Billy McCool, Reds; Bob Grim, Yankees; ves, and a guy on the Brooklyn Athletics at name forgotten. e Deacon and the Preacher Dark, Giants; Chili Gomez, Phillies; Sammy Duff Cooley, Phillies; Charley Grimm, Cubs; Gene Freese. stormy Weatherly, Indians; Chick Shiver, ey, Phillies; Bill North, A's; Carroll Hardy, o Papa Bell. e Berg, Red Sox; Klondike Douglas, Phillies. Browns. zy Dolan, Phillies. rt down that road, you never know where u. Next thing you know you are picking at All-Stars. son Ferryman, Browns; Deacon Phillippe, r Roe, Dodgers; Larry Sexton, Braves; Bill- es; Monk Meyer, Phillies; Bert Abbey, Cubs; Phillies, and Howie Nunn, Reds. hmy Temple, Reds; Johnnie Priest, Yankees;

Max Bishop, Athletics; Pryor McElveen, Dodgers; Monte Cross, Phillies; Luke Easter, Indians, and a whole hierarchy of saints. Outfielders—Bris Lord, Phillies; Larry Chappell, Reds; Dave Pope, Indians; Charlie Abbey, Senators; Ody Abbott, Cardinals, and Billy Sunday, Cubs. Catcher—Fred Abbott, Indians. Manager—Deacon Bill McKechnie, Cardinals, Pirates and Reds. Food For Thought The Culinary All-Stars would make every mouth in Cooperstown water. Pitchers—Art Herring, Tigers; Oyster Burns, Orioles; Bob Veale, Pirates; John Lamb, Pirates; Pete Hamn, Twins; Ray Lamb, Indians; Bill Currie, Senators; Sweetbreads Bailey, Cubs; Al McBean, Pirates; Lou Tost, Braves; Frank Pears, Cardinals, and Candy Cummings, Reds. Infielders—Chico Salmon, Indians; Spinach Mellilo, Browns; Pie Traynor, Pirates; Cookie Lavagetto, Dodgers, and Jack Coffey, Braves. Outfielders—Fred Rice, Red Sox; Tony Curry, Phillies; Ginger Beaumont, Pirates; Goody Rosen, Dodgers, and Sherry Magee, Phillies. Catchers—Herman Franks, Dodgers; Spud Davis, Phillies; Johnny Oates, Braves, and Peaches Graham, Braves. Umpire—Beans Reardon. For those with an anatomical bent there are names like Bones Ely, Barry Foote, Ed Head, Elroy Face, Footsie Marcum, Rich Hand, Rollie Fingers, Harry Cheek, Mike Beard, Joe Pate, Tom Lipp and Heinie Groh. The Chromatic All-Stars would start with Pink Hawley, Blue Moon Odom, Vida Blue, Pumpsie Green, Bobby Brown, Red Schoendienst, Chief Yellowhorse, Joe Black, Bill White, Lu Blue, Rosy Ryan, Pete Gray, Pinky Higgins and Jimmy Lavender. The animal kingdom offers varmints of every variety from Snake-Henry, Possum Whitted and Piggy Ward to Hoss-Radbourn, Moose Skowron and Chicken Wolf. There are tradesmen and artisans like Bakers, Barbers, Butchers and Coopers, Carpenters, Potters, Brewers and Judges. And there is a unisex team: Kitty Bransfield, Lena Blackburne, Nellie Fox, Tilly Walker, Sadie McMahon, Daisy Davis, Bonnie Hollingsworth, Blondie Ryan, Snooks Dowd, Carmen Mauro, Dolly Gray, Fay Thomas, Nanny Fernandez, Lady Baldwin, Chippy McGarr and Swish Nicholson.

Tanner Ousted By Australian In First Round

HONG KONG, Nov. 9 (UPI)—John Marks, an unheralded Australian, ousted the powerful United States tennis star out of the $75,000 Hong Kong international tennis tournament in the first round today. Fresh from his victory in the Japan open, Tanner was hoping to gain Grand Prix points here, but Marks never allowed him to settle down. The scores were 6-3, 6-4. Top-seeded Ilie Nastase of Rumania, recovered from a fever, defeated Mike Cahill of Eagle, Wis., 7-5, 6-1. Another American, Billy Martin, lost to Russell Simpson of New Zealand, 6-4, 6-2. Nastase entertained the crowd with his artistic tennis and court antics, although the American extended him in the opening set. Ken Rosewall, the aging Aussie, easily got through the first round with a 6-1, 6-2 triumph over Hans Plotz of West Germany. Tom Gorman beat Jim Delaney in a battle between Americans, 7-6, 7-5. Gene Mayer, the young Jerseyan who hits a two-handed forehand, eliminated Chris Kachel of Australia, 6-3, 5-7, 6-3. Among the other winners were Chico Hagey and Tim Gullikson of the United States, Corrado Barazzutti of Italy and Brian Fairlie of New Zealand. Hagey advanced when his opponent, Bob Continued on Page A27, Column 2

Von Cramm Is Dead Baron Gottfried von Cramm, the German tennis star of the 1930's, died in a car crash on a business trip in Egypt at the age of 66. Obituary on D17.

NEW! PALL MALL RED WITH A FILTER ...it's milder America's best-tasting cigarette... made to taste even milder with a filter. Ask for Pall Mall Filter King in the gilt-edged pack. WHEREVER PARTICULAR PEOPLE CONGREGATE

People in Sports

Billie Jean King Surgery Will Keep Her Out 6 Weeks

Billie Jean King, the tennis ace, underwent knee surgery at Long Beach, Calif., yesterday. She is expected to be in Pacific Hospital for five days and after recuperating for six weeks hopes to be back on the court.

The efforts of the whole organization. This is a continuing effort. We won't hesitate to make more deals if we feel they will help the club.

The New York Times Billie Jean King

Gabe Paul, the general manager of the Yankees, whose trades helped the club capture its first American League pennant since 1964, was named the United Press International's major league executive of the year yesterday.

George Steinbrenner, chief owner of the Yankees, and Bill Wased, president of the Chicago White Sox, received two votes each, with Joe Burke, general manager of the Kansas City Royals, and Bob Carpenter, head of the Philadelphia Phillies, each getting one.

Joe Gergen of Newsday was elected chairman of the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers Association of America at the annual meeting yesterday in Shea Stadium.

Alberto Juantorena, the Cuban who became the first runner to win the 400- and 800-meter Olympic titles, and Nadia Comaneci, the little Rumanian who had seven perfect gymnastic performances to take three gold medals at the Montreal Games, were chosen by European sport editors as the U.P.I. sportsman and sportswoman of the year.

For the first time in 11 years, the Tennessee basketball team will have co-captains. They are Ernie Grunfeld, a 6-foot-6-inch ace from Forest Hills, Queens, and Mike Jackson, 6-3, of Nashville.

Hartwick Is Seeded First For N.C.A.A. Soccer Event

By ALEX YANNIS

The majority of the National Collegiate Athletic Association playoff berths having been assigned, action in all three divisions will begin as early as Saturday.

Hartwick, ranked third nationally in the final regular-season poll this week, was seeded first in New York and will meet Cornell in Oneonta.

Although Connecticut lost to Hartwick, 1-0, on Sunday, it was the top team in New England.

Fairleigh Wins With Rally In the New Jersey-Pennsylvania region, Temple, Penn State and Philadelphia Textile will likely be joined by Fairleigh Dickinson University, which yesterday defeated Bridgeport.

Howard away, something everyone tries to avoid because of the Bisons' advantage on their small, bumpy and dusty field in Washington.

Howard, national champions two years ago, will play host to Maryland, which put a blemish on Clemson's record on Sunday by tying the Tigers at Clemson. The score was 1-1 and the goal was the first Clemson allowed at home in 10 games.

Indiana Ranked First St. Louis defeated Southern Illinois-Edwardsville, its arch rival in the Middle West, but it is still Indiana that leads the region.

Harry Keough, the coach at St. Louis, said that Indiana would be seeded first when the playoff teams are announced on Saturday.

Regional games in Division II and III, Loyola of Baltimore will play Randolph-Macon, Rollins will meet Baltimore, Lynchburg will take on Grove City, Elizabethtown will play Haverford, Brocksport State will face St. Lawrence, and Cortland State will be host to Drew University.

Flyers' Dupont Hospitalized PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9 (AP)—Andre Dupont, a Philadelphia Flyer defenseman, was admitted to Temple Hospital today for treatment of strained ligaments in his lower back.

Whalers Get Tax Cut as Hartford Decides to Sponsor Home Games

Continued From Page A23

ton, are in their fifth season of competition and their second full season in Hartford. They played the first half of the 1974-75 season in Springfield, Mass., awaiting the opening of the Hartford Civic Center in January of 1975.

They averaged about 9,500 fans a game last season, good support but reportedly not enough to keep them from losing money.

Under the new plan, the City of Hartford will take 20 percent of the revenue from ticket sales. Out of this, it will pay itself rental for the 40 home games at the Civic Center, as well as expenses involving security and the sale of tickets.

With tickets scaled from $8.50 to $5, the estimated windfall from a 40-game home season comes to approximately $135,000.

Connecticut's jai-alai frontons and dog track apparently would not qualify for municipal promotion, since they already are under state control.

In the metropolitan New York area, where admission taxes at horse races and other sporting events account for substantial revenues, the combined state-city tariff on tickets is 8 percent.

Counting nonsports shows and excluding charitable events, Madison Square Garden alone pays more than $2 million a year in admission taxes.

"Naturally, we'd like to reduce our tax burden," Cohen said, "but I honestly don't know if there's a statute like that here, or whether it would be workable."

Spurs' Silas to Have Surgery SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Nov. 9 (AP)—James Silas, a San Antonio Spurs guard, will undergo surgery on his left knee next Monday, team officials announced today.

Takada Knocks Out Kim TOKYO, Nov. 9 (AP)—Jiro Takada of Japan, the Orient flyweight champion, knocked out Kim Mak Dong of South Korea in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round non-title match today.

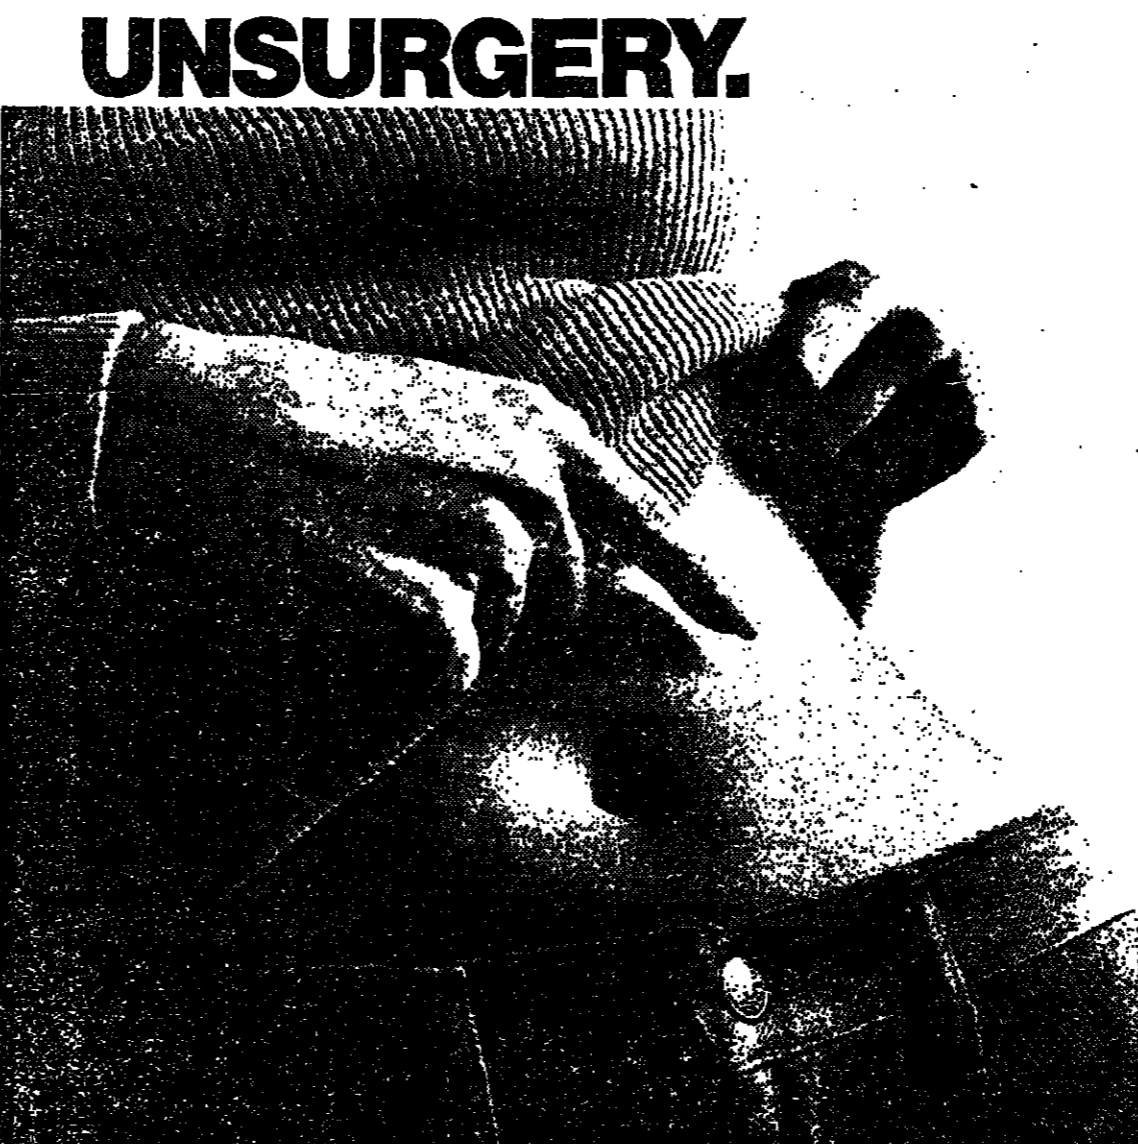

Table with tide information for various locations including Sandy Hook, Westport, Shinnecock, Fire Island, Montauk, and New London.

TONIGHT The main event in Madison Square Garden is in Harry M. Stevens Restaurant.

American Express Card. Don't leave home without it.

Boats & Accessories 3800 For Sale 3802 For Sale 3802

DOGS, CATS AND OTHER PETS 3800 Dogs 3802

UNSURGERY. THE CURE WITH NOTHING TO SHOW FOR IT.

Unsurger. The scar that didn't happen because you didn't go under the knife. Unsurger. The opinion of a second surgeon you saw, who said the operation wasn't necessary.

2 SKI DEAL FROM THE PRINCETON SKI SHOP NAME BRAND SKI CLOTHING AND EQUIPMENT 40% OFF 10% OFF

Does your apartment rent include all this? Ours does! GALAXY 7000 Boulevard East

AUTOMOBILE ADVERTISING APPEARS ON PAGES B5, B6, B7 AND B8

Large vertical advertisement on the right edge of the page, partially obscured.

Popularity of Winter Racquet Sports Is Reaching a New Peak in the Metropolitan Area

CHARLES FRIEDMAN
Tennis and squash—never before seen such a boom in sports in the metropol-

Keds sponsored a $20,000 tournament among the eight top-ranking doubles teams. A court was set up at Burlington House Plaza in midtown, admission director. The "father" of modern platform tennis and erstwhile king of racquet sports at Williams College, Squires has been assigned by Pro-Keds (a $10,000 grant) to work with the Parks Department on a program to get youngsters involved in the game.

sticking out of a man's attache case or a woman's bag. The Fifth Avenue Racquet Club on 37th Street, a commercial center, is drawing a lot of players. The major places of action, however, are still the university clubs, where it's tough to get a court at lunchtime.

women's final from Dawn Otto, 6-4, 6-1.

The sign over the front door says "Schwartz Chemical Factory," but three flights up are two beautifully laid out Har-Tru tennis courts with 60-foot ceilings. It's a strange setting, especially at night, with the East River close by. But Len Hartman has never regretted leasing the space in the factory and establishing the Long Island City Indoor Tennis Club in Queens. The courts are well booked seven days a week from 7 A.M. to midnight.

Dick Squires

On Nearby Courts

was free and the spectators saw a lively, artistic padding performance. Herb FitzGibbon, former Davis Cup tennis player, was a standout. So was Doug Russell, who operates the Manhattan Platform Tennis Club on East 38th Street, a public center.

Also conspicuous, although he didn't play, was Dick Squires, the tournament

On Fifth Avenue nowadays it's not unusual to see skinny squash racquets

Introducing The Credit Account.

Once you have it, you'll understand credit better, and know how to use it right.

The Credit Account* is pure bank credit.

A phone call or visit to European American can get you the best kind of credit there is. Pure bank credit.

We call it The Credit Account. It's a separate account. Separate from your checking account. Separate from all other accounts. It's straight credit, pure and simple. Easy to use. Easy to understand.

Just qualify and we'll make from $1,000 to $10,000 available to you.

Then, whenever you need money—for any reason you choose—you've got it.

The Credit Account is a lesson in using credit to your advantage.

The Credit Account helps you use credit right, because it's credit with built-in advantages.

Here are some of the ways to use credit as it ought to be used.

Use The Credit Account instead of loans. You'll pay lower interest than on almost any installment loan.

Use it to pay off other credit that costs you more in interest. Like many department store charge accounts, credit card accounts, and revolving credit accounts.

Use The Credit Account to organize and pay off all your credit through one inexpensive credit source. One source, so you can review your entire credit picture at a glance.

And remember this, too: unlike some other kinds of credit, The Credit Account costs you nothing until you use it. Not a cent.

Another advantage: privacy.

Once you have The Credit Account, why and when you need money becomes what it should be. Your business. Not ours.

You only have to apply for the Account once. After that, there are no interviews when you need money. No application forms to fill out. No trouble.

Call (212) 895-3404.
(516) 248-7020
or (914) 761-6400.

You can get The Credit Account by phone, too. Call us from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. any weekday.

Give us the information we need. We'll get back to you as soon as possible with the amount of credit we can put in your Credit Account.

Or if you like, stop in at the European American branch that's best for you.

The Credit Account will help you use credit the way credit was meant to be used. It's smart, and it works.

European American Bank

Think about it.*

Chartered in New York State, Member F.D.I.C.
*Service marks of European American.

First Event
Sport
nothing everyone use of the Bisons small, lumpy and glad.
champions two host to Maryland,
ab on Clemson.
trying the Tigers was 1-1 and the winning allowed was also the first to win a confer-
6, 1971.
First
Southern Illinois rural in the Mid-and Indiana that Illinois beat the ch-Stadium before night and there-
4-3, on Sunday
Oregon
Victories
National Col-Division II and will play Bar-will meet Bar-will take on Grove will play Haverwill face St. Law-
state will be Hospitalized his five children
Temple Park of circumstances
a team of in Sunday they began
w...
B5, B6, B7

Professional Football

Nat'l Hockey League

Nat'l Basketball Ass'n

American Conference

EASTERN DIVISION

1-Baltimore	12-Tampa Bay	26
2-New England	13-Philadelphia	27
3-Cincinnati	14-New Orleans	28
4-Cleveland	15-Cincinnati	29
5-Pittsburgh	16-Pittsburgh	30
6-Pittsburgh	17-New England	31
7-Pittsburgh	18-New England	32
8-Pittsburgh	19-New England	33
9-Pittsburgh	20-New England	34
10-Pittsburgh	21-New England	35

National Conference

EASTERN DIVISION

1-Dallas	10-Cleveland	19
2-Philadelphia	11-Cleveland	20
3-Cleveland	12-Cleveland	21
4-Cleveland	13-Cleveland	22
5-Cleveland	14-Cleveland	23
6-Cleveland	15-Cleveland	24

LAST NIGHT'S GAME

AMERICAN CONFERENCE

Central Division

1-Houston	8-Birmingham	15
2-Houston	9-Birmingham	16
3-Houston	10-Birmingham	17
4-Houston	11-Birmingham	18
5-Houston	12-Birmingham	19

AT BUFFALO

Los Angeles 128, New York 124.
 Buffalo 121, Detroit 117.
 Buffalo 121, Philadelphia 117.
 Buffalo 121, Cincinnati 117.
 Buffalo 121, Pittsburgh 117.
 Buffalo 121, Baltimore 117.

The Standings

NBA Eastern Conference

1-Cleveland	11-1	1.000
2-Baltimore	10-2	.833
3-Baltimore	9-3	.750
4-Baltimore	8-4	.667
5-Baltimore	7-5	.583

NAMED WEEK'S TOP COACH: Alex Agass, right, Purdue coach, strategy with his star tailback, Scott Dierking, for the upcoming game against Iowa. Agass's Ballerina beat Michigan, 16-14, on Saturday prompting United Press International to honor him as coach of the week.

World Hockey Ass'n

Pro Transactions

College Football

Central Division

1-Baltimore	26
2-New England	27
3-Cincinnati	28
4-Cleveland	29
5-Pittsburgh	30

Central Division

1-Dallas	19
2-Philadelphia	20
3-Cleveland	21
4-Cleveland	22
5-Cleveland	23

World Hockey Ass'n

Pro Transactions

College Football

Western Division

1-Denver	14
2-Denver	15
3-Denver	16
4-Denver	17
5-Denver	18

Western Division

1-Atlanta	32
2-Atlanta	33
3-Atlanta	34
4-Atlanta	35
5-Atlanta	36

Rangers' Lineups

At Garden, 7:30 P.M.

College Results

Kansas City

1-Kansas City	10
2-Kansas City	11
3-Kansas City	12
4-Kansas City	13

Western Division

1-Atlanta	32
2-Atlanta	33
3-Atlanta	34
4-Atlanta	35

Aqueduct Jockeys

Atlantic Coast

School Results

Aqueduct Racing

Roosevelt

ENTRIES

RESULTS

First race: 1. Jockey A, 2. Jockey B, 3. Jockey C.

ENTRIES

RESULTS

First race: 1. Jockey A, 2. Jockey B, 3. Jockey C.

Meadowlands

Leaf's Ferguson Out 8 Wee

Changing Coaches Not Answer To Basic Problem of the Giants

ENTRIES

RESULTS

First race: 1. Jockey A, 2. Jockey B, 3. Jockey C.

ENTRIES

RESULTS

First race: 1. Jockey A, 2. Jockey B, 3. Jockey C.

Throwing Bill Anspar to the season-ticket wolves—as Alex Webster and Alie Sherman were thrown before him—may relieve short-term tensions, but the long-term history of the football Giants indicates that changing coaches does not address basic problems.

A 50-year pattern of Giant success and failure shows a much deeper and more disturbing malaise.

The Giants have been able to succeed only when player talent was overabundant for a small number of teams. They have never succeeded when they've had to compete for player talent in a large field of teams.

Whatever the reasons behind it, this fundamental situation in collecting top players has existed with remarkable consistency throughout the club's history. Put generally, the formula seems to be: When plenty of good players are available for everyone, the Giants do a good job of putting together a championship team; but when many teams are competing for the top players, the Giants do a poor job of getting their share.

A Span of Five Eras

The club's history can be divided into five eras, and here is the record: 1. From 1925 through 1935, most college stars did not go into pro football, which was still mostly a small-money weekend, by-the-game activity. The Giants had nine winning records in 11 seasons under five different coaches. 2. In 1936 the National Football League began its college draft. More top college players were turning to pro football, but the league consisted of only 10 teams for the next decade, and in 1942 World War II distorted all sports. Under Coach Steve Owen through 1944, the Giants had seven winning seasons in nine years. 3. In 1945 returning servicemen flooded the National Football League,

Layton, Shelton Help Knicks Score Over Bullets, 106-9

Continued From Page A23

zier, the game's high scorer with 23 points, had the right hand that he jammed in the third quarter in a bucket of ice water.

"It was a good win," said the Knicks captain. "It showed that we had some good bench depth. Layton was able to give the guards a rest and Shelton, well, he's going to be a real good one. He's getting better with every game."

Before the game, the Knicks re-annealed Dutch Beards, who had been on the injured reserve list following late summer knee surgery. To make room for him, the Knicks put on the list Spencer Hayward, who injured his calf in the second half of the Golden State Warrior game last Saturday night. Hayward will miss at least five games.

Bill Bradley, who has tendonitis of the right knee, did not play last night and will miss the game against the Pistons in Detroit Friday night and the Milwaukee Bucks in the Garden the following night.

As coach Holzman studied the statistical sheet, he noted the Knicks had committed only 10 turnovers, compared to 23 for the Bullets.

"That's very good, very good," said the coach with a smile.

Knicks' Box Score

Player	mp	fg	ft	tp	reb
Graham	35	10-18	2-6	0-0	11
McMillen	20	5-10	0-0	0-0	8
Shelton	35	7-12	1-2	0-0	8
Murray	35	3-10	2-6	0-0	12
Moore	20	2-4	0-0	0-0	2
Jackson	15	1-2	0-0	0-0	2
Layton	17	7-10	1-2	0-0	6
Walk	2	0-0	0-0	0-0	0
Beard	7	1-2	0-0	0-0	3
Total	240	77-104	17-34	0-0	42

4 British Champions Win From Americans in R

WEMBLEY, England, Nov. 9 (AP)—Four British boxers champions of the program against American contenders at the Empire Pool tonight, by Alan Minter, the British middleweight champion and world title tender.

The 25-year-old Minter scored his most impressive victory his career when he stopped Tony Licata of New Orleans after 1 minute 30 seconds of the sixth round. The referee stopped the bout after Licata floored three times. The 24-year-old Licata had only been beaten four times in 60 previous fights. Minter had 24 of his previous 29 bouts.

Paddy Maguire, the British heavyweight champion from Belfast, Ireland, had to work much harder to out Raul Ramirez, a Mexican from El Paso, Tex., in 10 rounds. Britain's featherweight champion, Vernon Solas, the quiet victory of the night against Rudolfo Moreno, another Mexican from El Paso. He stopped American after 1:42 of the second round.

Jimmy Heair of Los Angeles had a gritty performance against the lightweight-welterweight champion, D. Green. Before losing a 10-round decision, the referee scored the fight in Green's favor, and afterward he praised the Briton. "I've been in a lot of good fights and you are a strong fighter," Heair told Green in the dressing room.

Gray to Miss Game

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 9 (AP)—A wide receiver, Mel Gray, will be held out of Sunday's National Football League contest with the Los Angeles Rams, the St. Louis Cardinals said today. Gray is still suffering the after-effects of plastic surgery on his nose.

Braves 121, Lakers 116

Monday Night

Monday Night

ATLANTIC COAST

1-Philadelphia	21
2-Philadelphia	22
3-Philadelphia	23
4-Philadelphia	24

on Joins List Injured

From Page A23
beaten the Giants 11 including a 19-17 last in the opener this season the Giants on the way to losing streak.
r, who was dismissed after the seventh game, three weeks ago and asked the team in a 2-7 Minnesota Vikings.
last time the Giants won.
y and willing to take "outraged" by the way has improved in two Vay. "What we did in I've never seen done ball team," said the 16- football league veteran.
ht so much of the arter performance at 23 plays to the Cow- 114 yards to a lead- 14 of the play-by-play on bulletin board. "I at framed," the coach been on losing teams thought the Giants' rrible. "I think this he said, "not very Stays as Starter listed as questionable (sprained ankle, high contusion), Bill Eled ankle) and Karl spasm). The only injury was Dennis ed knee.
George beaten the Giants 14 loss (including three was coaching the Los said Joe Thiessman to start at quarterback ilmen. Thiessman com- passes for 302 yards downs last Sunday as at the San Francisco o keep their playoff he was excited about starting against one ans. replied: "If I got playing everybody I'd fired up every week."
Bob Martin, the rookie was leading the team could be sufficiently re- his hip injury to play
ns Football Post
Nov. 9 (AP)—Gerry day as head football State University, ef- inclusion of his con- 77.
s Shell Giacomin and Trounce Wings, 8 to 1
From Page A23
ver Giacomin's right
a trailine the Island- had taken 25 shots is constantly making d was drawing "Ed- is from one end of dy Eddie became he final 20 minutes t Clark Gillies's slap en his pads and into goal. It was only his could blame him for 4, Canucks 2 d, Nov. 9 (AP)—Ron gton Capitals' goalie, er Canucks scoreless minute power-play ad-
ers Try to Analyze Poor Home Record
N HERMAN
quare Garden, where ased New York Rang- 40 times per season, vantage is never as- games in the Garden rangers have lost five, four.
the Washington the Rangers begin a stand of the season, e next week they will flo, Pittsburgh and allure at home and cess on recent trips victory) and Los An- ke a curious contrast rried younger Rang- advancing a theory.
to Road Trip
angers might do bet- f they actually lived in Manhattan instead LI, where the Rang- is located.
Is Appealing
dowlands Ban
New York Times
FORD, N. J., Nov. 9
-year-old brother of ation's leading dash- driver, has appealed for ion he received for lack of effort behind High Fron- sight at the Meadow- a New Jersey stew- on's case Friday.
also is sitting out a ion he received for infraction Saturday was suspended for igh Hope Lyss while egman Hanover.
dent, James J. Pic- as suspended for 30 f his horses tested rgesic, Butazolidin, was stayed, pending mo's horse, Gable, the fourth-race ex- ht, beaten nearly setting the pace.

Ilie Nastase of Rumania flings his racquet to the ground to express displeasure with a linesman's call during Hong Kong match against Mike Cahill.

Tanner Loses to Australian In Opening Round by 6-3, 6-4

Continued From Page A23
Carmichael of France, retired with a back ailment when trailing 2-6, 1-1.
HOUSTON, Nov. 9 (UPI)—Jimmy Connors, Eddie Dibbs, Raul Ramirez and Manuel Orantes have qualified for the eight-man Grand Prix Masters championship here Dec. 5, a tournament spokesman said today. The first prize is $150,000.
Harold Solomon and Guillermo Vilas appear to be near clinching two of the remaining places. Still in the running are Roscoe Tanner, Wojtek Fibak, Bjorn Borg, Brian Gottfried, Adriano Panatta and Ilie Nastase, the defending champion.
Connors and Borg Win
STOCKHOLM, Nov. 8 (AP)—Jimmy Connors and Bjorn Borg scored straight-set victories in their first matches in the $150,000 Stockholm open tennis tournament tonight.
The top-seeded Connors, firing his ground strokes with authority, crushed Jiri Hrebec of Czechoslovakia, 6-3, 6-1, while the second-seeded Swede wiped as he skated down the right wing and beat the Vancouver goalie, Cesare Meniago, on his short side.
The Caps went up by two as Mike Lampman kicked in a shot by a defenseman, Rick Green. Gerry Meehan scored Washington's third goal as he poked in a rebound at 11:32 of the first period.
In the second period, after a minor skirmish was settled and all penalties were assessed, the Canucks had a one-man advantage for eight minutes, but were shut out.
Aeros 7, Racers 2
HOUSTON, Nov. 9 (AP)—Rich Preston and Don Larway scored two goals apiece tonight to lead the Houston Aeros to a 7-2 World Hockey Association victory over the Indianapolis Racers. The victory extended Houston's home undefeated streak to eight games.

Islanders' Scoring
Detroit Red Wings 1 9 5-1
Islanders 2 3 3-4
FIRST PERIOD—1, Islanders, Trotter 1 (Harris, Gillet); 2:10, 2, Islanders, Drouin 3 (Westlake, Portier); 4:41, 3, Detroit, MacKewie 3 (Harvey, Lapointe); 1:28, Penalties—Lapointe, 11:07; Hart, 11:39; Gillet, 11:51; Harvey, 11:53.
SECOND PERIOD—1, Islanders, Perfe 5 (Westfall, Price); 4:46, 5, Islanders, Pavin 3 (Drouin, Price); 10:17, 4, Islanders, Bourne 1 (Hytrom, Howell); 19:57, Penalties—Hart, 11:20; Hart, 11:21.
THIRD PERIOD—7, Islanders, Gillet 4 (Lewis); 1:39, 8, Islanders, Bourne 4 (Hytrom, Hart, 5:13, 9, Islanders, D. Pavin 8 (Gillet); 8:17, Penalties—Kempie, 11:35.
Goals on goal—Detroit 10, 5, 6—24 Islanders 13, 12, 22—47.
Goalies—Detroit, Giacomin; Islanders, Reeh, A-14, B-5.

As he skated down the right wing and beat the Vancouver goalie, Cesare Meniago, on his short side.
The Caps went up by two as Mike Lampman kicked in a shot by a defenseman, Rick Green. Gerry Meehan scored Washington's third goal as he poked in a rebound at 11:32 of the first period.
In the second period, after a minor skirmish was settled and all penalties were assessed, the Canucks had a one-man advantage for eight minutes, but were shut out.

do Rod Gilbert and Steve Vickers. They commute to practices in Long Beach but take a taxi to games. "When you live here you read the papers, meet the people, feel the atmosphere," said Hickey. "You get to understand what your work is all about.
"The Cat's idea wasn't exactly isolation. It probably worked well when he first came to New York. Everyone had families. The only bachelor was Rod."
Said Farrish: "But that was old fashioned. It's really hard to occupy yourself in Long Beach. And there are four single guys out here. Gilles Gratton is thinking of moving into the city and soon—maybe by Christmas.
"I'm not saying that's the problem or if there's a problem at all," said Farrish. "We'll see after these four games."
Jockey Misjudges Finish, Mount Beaten by Head
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 9 (AP)—Khyber King scored by a head over Buddy Larosa at Churchill Downs today when Rudy Turcotte, riding Buddy Larosa, misjudged the finish line. Turcotte stood up at the sixteenth pole, then, after realizing his mistake, dropped down and began whipping, only to lose in a photo finish. Khyber King, who paid $5.20 to win ran the seven furlongs in 1:25 3/5.

Automobile Advertising Appears on Pages B5, B6, B7 and B8.
TOP $ PAID for GIANTS REDSKINS TICKETS NOVEMBER 14, 1976 CALL (212) 763-6746 Call everyday, 9 AM to 6 PM, incl. Sat. and Sun.

Uphill Victory Lifts Bengals' Hopes As N.F.L. Playoff Pressure Mounts

By WILLIAM N. WALLACE
Someone once asked Charlie Krueger, the now-retired tackle of the San Francisco 49ers, if he watched the pro games on Monday night. "Hell, no," he replied. "Does a butcher chop meat on his day off?" Krueger was distinctive in many ways and an exception when it came to the Monday night games. Most pro players, who perform on Sundays, watch and react.
Andy Russell, the Steeler's linebacker, had to be dismayed the way the Cincinnati-Los Angeles game came out, the Bengals winning, 20-12, with three touchdowns in the third quarter. But Cedric Hardman of the 49ers was delighted, after his early concern because the Rams so dominated play in the first half.
The Steelers are trying to catch up to their division rivals, the Bengals, who by winning held onto a two-game lead over Pittsburgh. The 35-year-old Russell, playing his last pro season, admits he is scared, scared that the Steelers will not make the Super Bowl after losing four of their first five games.
"Whatever we have to do," he says, "is to stay scared. I worry a lot."
As for Hardman and his teammates, who have lost their last two games, to St. Louis and Washington, the Cincinnati team did them an immense favor by beating Los Angeles.
That left the 49ers only half a game behind the Rams in their division race 13 days before those two play each other at San Francisco.
The game proved once more that a good team is a persistent team, and the Bengals are both. Ken Anderson, their quarterback, completed only 2 of his first 12 passes but then 9 of his next 14 and 2 for touchdowns to Boobie Clark, the fullback, and Bruce Coslet, the second tight end. The Bengals' defensive hero was the end and former Ram, Coy Bacon, who caused havoc all night.
The Rams wasted their early and late scoring opportunities, achieving two field goals rather than two touchdowns in the first half and turning the ball over on an interception and a fumble near or on the Cincinnati goal line in the fourth quarter. Their only touchdown came with eight seconds left to play.
The outcome added further fuel to the great quarterback debate in Los Angeles. James Harris, who went all the way, with Ron Jaworski and Pat Haden wearing huge mittens on the sidelines, once more lacked the finesse, the right touch so needed in a key game.
It is the time of year when the pressures on the players of the contending playoff teams go up. Chuck Noll, the Pittsburgh coach who so enjoys pontificating, said the other day, "People don't realize a professional football season is very taxing physically and extremely taxing emotionally. There is the pressure players face when they take the field every week and that's something they have to bear up under. That's one measure of a champion, to be able to do it."
Such pressure brings on the fear that Noll's matured linebacker, Russell, spoke about.
The psyche is of particular interest to coaches who, in November, try to keep the heads of their 43 players together and the bodies, too, if they can. Tom Landry, who has been in pro football since 1949, was talking about why his Cowboys performed so poorly against the Giants last Sunday.
He said, "You can't expect a team to play well after a big game like we had in Washington last week. It's a mark of a good team to win on an off day and we had one today."
The same thoughts were running through the mind of Don Coryell, the coach of the Cardinals, who just got by the Eagles on a similar off day. The week before they had beaten San Francisco in overtime.
St. Louis, one game back is trying to overtake Dallas, which Coryell admits is "very improbable because of our schedule. We have to win every game we have left, and that would be difficult."
The Cardinals, who may have to go without Terry Metcalf for a while, play the Rams, Redskins, Cowboys and Colts in the next four weeks while Dallas meets Buffalo, Atlanta, St. Louis and Philadelphia. Seldom are the inequities of the N.F.L. schedule so well contrasted.
Meanwhile there is Washington, where the Redskins' eminent psychologist, George Allen, predictably said the 24-21 victory over the 49ers. "We had a gutsy win. It was a game we had to win and we won it. This performance speaks for my team's character. They could have backed off but they didn't."
The point is to make the playoffs, either as one of the six divisional win-

Tack Sa Mycket (That's Swedish for Thanks a Million.)
GLE Sedan (pictured below)
NEW YORK
Bayside: Sanford Schill's Volkswagen of Bayside Ltd. 217-07 Northern Blvd. Tel. = 224-6100
Bedford Hills: Zeus Subaru Corp. 689 Bedford Road Tel. = 241-1150
Brewster: Lighthouse Motors Danbury Road Route 6 Tel. = 279-8086
Briarcliff Manor: Wallace Scott, Inc. 557 N. State Road Tel. = 941-9690
East Setauket: Setauket Foreign Motor Sales Main Street, Route 25A Tel. = 914-4540
Elmont: Light Island Jeep, Inc. 1400 Hempstead Turnpike Tel. = 354-0267
Glen Cove: Glen Cove Imported Cars, Inc. 81 Glen Cove Avenue Tel. = 676-1544
Huntington: Coldspring Imports, Inc. 800 West Jericho Turnpike Tel. = 692-6465
Long Island City: L.I.C. Auto Imports, Inc. 21-01 43rd Avenue Tel. = 794-8858
New York City: Zumbach Sports Cars, Ltd. 62a West 54th Street Tel. = 247-1444
Orangeburg: Pizza Auto Sales & Service, Inc. Route 303 Tel. = 359-7777
Staten Island: Bel-Aire Motors, Inc. 421 Richmond Avenue Tel. = 981-2353
Yonkers: Wills Motors, Inc. 560 Yonkers Avenue Tel. = 963-5446
NEW JERSEY
Bergenfield: Parkfield Motors 18 New Bridge Road Tel. = 385-7736
Denville: Rembert Motors Route 53 Tel. = 692-0616
Dover: Swartz Motors 200 E. Blackwell Street Tel. = 366-0224
East Keansburg: How-Lou Motors 41 Highway 36 Tel. = 787-4585
Englewood: Stillman & Hoag, Inc. 85 Van Hoesland Avenue Tel. = 569-9000
New Brunswick: Middlesex Foreign Car Sales & Service 318 Townsend Street Tel. = 247-8769
Princeton: Nemeth Motors, Inc. 830 State Road Tel. = 921-3500
Ramsey: Ramsey Motors, Inc. 138 N. Central Avenue Tel. = 327-3200
West Orange: Hornung Automotive Sales & Service 154 Valley Road Tel. = 731-7380
Westfield: Rockford Pontiac 433 North Avenue Tel. = 232-3700
Whitehouse Station: Whitehouse Imported Motors, Limited Route 22 Tel. = 534-2185
CONNECTICUT
Fairfield: Continental Motors, Inc. 26 State Street Ext. Tel. = 368-6726
New Canaan: Saab of New Canaan, Inc. 43 Hill Street Tel. = 966-5900
Stamford: Continental Motors 15 Station Place Tel. = 327-7410
Westport: Chapman Motors, Inc. 936 East State Street Tel. = 227-7267

Coaches Not a Problem Shell Giacomin and Trounce Wings, 8 to 1
ers Try to Analyze Poor Home Record
Automobile Advertising Appears on Pages B5, B6, B7 and B8.
TOP $ PAID for GIANTS REDSKINS TICKETS NOVEMBER 14, 1976 CALL (212) 763-6746 Call everyday, 9 AM to 6 PM, incl. Sat. and Sun.

MONDAY NIGHT
Los Angeles Rams 0 0 0 0
Cincinnati Bengals 3 0 2 0
CIN-FC: Demas, 19; L.A.-FC: Demas, 21.
Cin-Clats, 9, run (Bahr, kick).
LA-Clats, 22, pass from Anderson (Nick fatted).
Cin-Clats, 17, pass from Anderson (Bahr, kick).
LA-Clats, 19, pass from Harris (kick fatted).
Aftercasts—9-5:7.
INDIVIDUAL STATISTICS
RUSHES—L.A.: Casper, 20 for 86 yards; McCutchen, 29 for 78; Clats: Clark, 18 for 70; Elliot, 7 for 41.
PASSES—L.A.: Harris, 16 of 28 for 192 yards; Clats: Anderson, 11 of 22 for 121.
RECEPTIONS—L.A.: H. Jackson, 5 for 75 yards; Jessie, 5 for 39; Clats: Brooks, 3 for 44; Clark, 3 for 20.
STATISTICS OF THE GAME
First downs 21 15
Rushing yardage 41-182 31-167
Passing yardage 160 132
Passes 16-25 11-26
Interceptions by 1 1
Fumbles lost 4-3 1-1
Yards penalized 57 55

Rocket Vehicle to Start Speed Runs Shortly
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 9 (AP)—The builder of a rocket-powered vehicle that will shoot for the men's and women's world land speed records said today that runs for the marks would be made "sometime between Monday and Nov. 23."
Bill Frederick, the builder, said Hal Needham would pilot the "S.M.L. Motor" in Oregon's Alvord Desert in an attempt to eclipse Gary Babelich's flying kilometer record of 631 miles per hour. Kitty O'Neil will drive the three-wheeler in an attempt to better Lee Breedlove's women's mark of 308 m.p.h.
Frederick said the vehicle, powered by hydrogen-peroxide fuel, had made nine runs previously.

The Great Slavery Boom

By Brion Davis

John-Charles Sauer

slavery is less puzzling than the preceding period of neglect—the period, roughly, from the 1920's to the 1950's, when the realities of racial oppression failed to fit the prevailing mythologies about the American past.

If the slavery boom has not freed us from other mythologies that are no less blinding and self-serving, it has at least contributed to a critical spirit that should not be confused with earlier ventures into historical muckraking and "debunking." Indeed, the exciting new work on slavery is only part of a much broader reinvigoration of historical scholarship—a vital historical renaissance, international in scope, that is profoundly reshaping our understanding of the human past.

In various ways the best recent works on slavery epitomize the leading concerns and characteristics of this new social history. They seek, for example, to reconstruct the behavior, culture and quality of life of non-elite peoples. They often make systematic use of manuscript census schedules; parish and plantation records; ship manifests; archeological evidence; and, in the case of American slaves, of surviving letters and folklore.

Many of the studies are comparative and cross-cultural, examining not only the varieties of chattel slavery but the whole spectrum of servitude and involuntary labor. Some of the work on slavery and abolition has also provided new insight into the critical process of modernization—a transformation that affected fundamental values and attitudes as well as the accepted mode of labor.

Finally, the research on the rise and decline of plantation slavery leads ultimately to the relations between the developed and developing nations of the world—to the expansion and temporary world hegemony of the West; to the resulting economic and cultural imperialism; and to forms of white racism that were partly nourished by slavery but that survived its abolition.

Wherever one stands on the coming struggles between the have and have-not nations of the world, we cannot afford the kind of historical ignorance and arrogance that have recently led us into some disastrous adventures and that have also served to exacerbate the effects of relinquished and decaying Western power.

Even the best history provides no answers for future crises. It can do no more than to tell us how we got to where we are, illuminating the costs of possible alternatives.

Unfortunately, the exciting breakthroughs in social history have coincided with a catastrophic decline in the amount and quality of history taught in American schools and colleges. The supreme "irony of American history" may thus turn out to be a self-understanding that few people are prepared to understand.

David Brion Davis, professor of history at Yale, is author of "The Problem of Slavery in the Age of Revolution, 1770-1823."

Where the Quarrel Points

By C. L. Sulzberger

ANKARA, Turkey—The emotional impact of the Greek-Turkish quarrel over Cyprus and contradictory claims over Aegean air and sea space has produced distressing effects on the foreign relationships and the internal stability of both countries.

In terms of ties with other nations, both disputants have to some extent (more in Greece than in Turkey) weakened their connection with NATO. Each is suffering from a massive popular case of anti-Americanism and each is also courting the Soviet Union. As a result, Western unity and defense have been seriously damaged and the future of these ancient, bickering neighbors has been placed in jeopardy.

If they don't in the end destroy each other—and NATO to boot—they may very well destroy themselves. While one Greek opposition leader, the demagogic Andreas Papandreu, calls simultaneously for war with Turkey, severing all ties with the United States and the Atlantic alliance, even hinting Greece should obtain nuclear arms by its own means (presumably a terrorist raid), Turkey disintegrates politically, socially and economically.

Greece at this moment technically has the strongest parliamentary government in the West with a massive majority for Prime Minister Caramanlis. Nevertheless, despite his personal preference for close ties with both the United States and NATO, the pressure of public opinion has forced Mr. Caramanlis to delay a new military bases agreement with Washington and to start bilateral talks with Moscow.

Turkey is likewise engaged in a Soviet flirtation which was tangibly confirmed when Ankara permitted a Russian aircraft carrier to pass through the Dardanelles into the Mediterranean. One of the two Turkish labor union federations openly acknowledges its preference for a Marxist type of social-economic system.

The Turks have an old record of antipathy toward the Russians but during the early years of Kemal Ataturk's revolution, relations with Moscow were warm. The current wave of affability has produced approximately $1 billion of Soviet economic assistance that will be paid for by exports over a long term and on a low-interest basis.

Parallel to a new look at the U.S.S.R., rising hostility toward the U.S.A. and internal pressures, the Turks have also developed friendlier relations with the third world, above all the Arab states. Last year Ankara supported an Arab resolution attacking Zionist "racism" in the United Nations Assembly, despite previous Turkish sympathy for Israel.

Undoubtedly this Government's intention is to improve its ultimate position vis-à-vis the West by flirtations with the East, a kind of implied blackmail. One reason for this is to hint to the European Community (Common Market) that it had better give Turkey treatment comparable to that now being meted out to Greece, whose full membership is under negotiation.

Turkey realizes that it faces more potential danger from its Soviet neighbor than from any other quarter, since Greece is hardly a major military threat. Also, Ankara knows it relies on Western (primarily U.S.) equipment to keep its armed forces up to date.

These fundamental facts are hard to escape. Nevertheless, if an excited public opinion continues to press for changed essential policies in Greece and Turkey, facts could be forgotten. Passion is one trait vigorously shared in both lands.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Such passion is being continually heated up by the political opposition in each case—by the momentarily weak but clever and potentially dangerous Greek, Papandreu, and by the strong, vigorous and shrewd Turk, Bulent Ecevit. The Turkish Government, moreover, is decidedly weak.

Prime Minister Demirel depends upon an unstable coalition catering to a super-nationalistic minority faction. Every time this minority demonstrates its jingoism, Mr. Ecevit seeks to outflank it from the left and the Demirel Cabinet creaks along behind.

The wholly irresponsible press in both countries helps this steady push toward disaster. Therefore new—and so far low-level—bilateral negotiations started by Turkish and Greek experts in Bern and Paris meet in a psychological atmosphere unfavorable to settlement.

About all the two sides agree on is that the situation is explosive and that the United States is somehow responsible; that therefore America's existing military base structure in each country should be reduced.

Turkey's students (often a catalyst for trouble) are restive. Turkey's major alliance—with the U.S. and NATO—is in disrepair. Turkey's economy has a case of the staggers. And Turkey's voting public is in such a disoriented state as a result of accumulated and continued crises that the prospects of choosing any majority government at the ballot box are at present most dim.

James Reston is on vacation.

es, but What Do You Mean?

By John Swinton

PARK, Pa.—From where near the woman in the discussing her marriage, we a good relationship," her listener must understand means for they move her subject.

ternoon, I overheard a ed tell her boyfriend, wonderful relationship s." An intriguing re- for her to explain it, am groupie? Its bat- ager's niece? The left Or was she just an er know because her ted her remark with-

And I love my wife. I like to talk about our marriage. I also t my son and my two learily the impish But I don't discuss ather-daughter "rela- a I talk, I like to be recision, that word explains a good deal at state of our society, ear, and laziness, and id pretension, and an- ure of impersonality. h, "relationship" has s. To minds grown soft specifics come like r. One must coat them ly amorphous phrases. denotes choice and commitment in a socially unsettled area, so it's ever so much less controversial to refer to "our relationship." It doesn't pin a person down, yet it makes him seem urbane and thoughtful.

Actually though, it's easier to use the ready-made "relationship" than to scour the mind for an appropriate and accurate description.

One tosses off "father-son relationship" instead of specifying the precise bond he enjoys with his son. One can have a relationship with practically anything that can respond: a husband or wife, a child, a psychiatrist, a friend, an enemy, a pet, a paramour, even (according to some schools of thought) a house plant. But it takes mental effort—work—to characterize that relationship accurately: our second honeymoon; a mutual delight in fishing; my fourth week in analysis; his extramarital affair; or watering, fertilizing, and pruning.

Moreover, "relationship" has become a species of euphemism, a figure of speech meant to soften stronger utterances. Just as we use the pretty phrases ("pass away" for "die") and the silly ones ("sanitary engineer" for "garbage man"), so we use the neutral "relationship" for the shadier "affair" and the stigmatizing "adultery." But the way people speak reflects how they view their behavior, so adultery increases all the more as we devise acceptable terms for it.

In addition, "relationship," which first spread across the campuses, then infiltrated other benighted areas, is what Fowler would have called "a popularized technicality." Deriving from the social sciences, where clear, direct expression has always been scarce, it acquired academic authenticity. Many of us want to sound like professors even when professors sound vague.

Finally, the Penn State football coach, an Ivy League liberal arts graduate who should know better, speaks this fall of the "good relationships" on his team. The Frank Merriwell phrase "team spirit" is apparently too naive for a 1976 audience, even though it calls up pleasant images of eager young men working crisply toward a goal. "Good relationship" calls up exactly nothing—which may account for the lackluster season the team is having.

John Swinton is affiliated with the College of Human Development of The Pennsylvania State University.

An Agenda for the Cities

By Richard P. Nathan

IN—A striking converging on two important. In recent months, po- in the Northeast and called national atten- the relative decline of al states vis-à-vis the longer time, observers come have been calling a similar way, again serious conditions of liness of the nation's ities.

ssues are more closely generally recognized, ither for purposes of. The preponderance of ities are in the North—that is, the Northeast- tern states combined. g increasingly apparent m of these old, declin- e domestic problem of tes. It is customary in ut domestic policy to job crisis, the welfare is of educational defig crisis. What is be- t is that all of these together and are most qualifying as critical lems) in the core cities: hand, in many healthy urban areas, domestic ot so serious and, in- rceived by residents in nd urgent terms. This hat these areas do not only that their proba- bly likely to be so com- ute as to warrant be- s crisis conditions.

n between the United her industrial nations point. Most European ers of cultural, social activity, America's in- ies offer a bleak con- several ways that the ment can help to relieve the urban-crisis conditions of the most distressed central cities:

- It can enact a new domestic "Marshall Plan" for distressed cities.
- It can change formulas under existing aid programs to concentrate financial grants and borrowing assistance on distressed central cities. This could be done, for example, by revising the distribution formulas for general revenue-sharing and the block-grant programs for community development, manpower and social services.
- It can rely on a strategy that aids the poor in central cities and in the nation as a whole by providing help to needy families and individuals in the form of direct income and in-kind transfers, such as cash assistance, health care, food stamps, scholarship aid, and subsidies for day care and housing. This does not necessarily require a single "income strategy." Income transfers can be made through a number of programs.
- It can adopt an explicitly structural approach that requires or induces state, county and municipal and suburban governments to change their boundaries and realign functions on a basis that enlarges or in some other way changes the political and financial structure of government in distressed central cities.
- It can concentrate on particular functions such as education or public-service jobs, and provide assistance on a basis that targets on distressed inner-city areas.

H. I. Menden once said, "For every human problem, there is a solution that is simple, neat, and wrong." The first approach, a "Marshall Plan," can easily fall into this trap of being too simplistic, too dollars-and-cents oriented.

What is needed is a multiple approach that builds on current programs: We should change formulas under existing grants-in-aid to give extra attention to the problems of infected core cities, and at the same time push ahead with a number of closely related incremental reforms of income-transfer programs. And we should blend the old with the new—for example, special measures to encourage states to make structural changes to help deal with urban problems and perhaps ultimately the adoption of some form of an urban development bank, as mayors are now recommending.

A single new plan targeted on the most distressed core cities may be possible and may be a better answer than the multiple approach described here.

But even if such a plan were to be enacted, calling it a "Marshall Plan" and building up expectations in this way would not be a good idea and runs the risk of repeating the mistakes of the past. We need to be long on policy and short on rhetoric in recognition of the depth and stubbornness of the problems of infected core cities.

Any plan for dealing with the problems of the nation's most infected core cities cannot just be governmental, and certainly not just Uncle Sam's doing. It must include state governments and county governments (whose role in many metropolitan areas is expanding) along with business, labor and many types of civic organizations.

Richard P. Nathan is Senior Fellow at The Brookings Institution.

Public Finance? Listen.

EFHutton combines professionalism and strength in the two major areas of tax-exempt financings: First, each member of our Public Finance Group is experienced in the field and has demonstrated his ability to formulate sound financings; Secondly, E.F. Hutton has demonstrated an outstanding ability to distribute large amounts of securities. Our specially trained Debt Coordinators and Account Executives located in our 151 offices are supported by eleven municipal departments and service centers.

While obtaining new capital is essential to a municipality, lowering interest rates on the outstanding debt can be just as important. E.F. Hutton has refinanced millions of dollars of public debt to lower the net interest costs. Our computer program for refunding is considered one of the best in the industry. And any public body with outstanding debt could benefit from an analysis of the savings that may be available to them.

For more information about our Public Finance Group, please write to Box 444, New York, N.Y. 10004 for our Annual Report.

When EFHutton talks, people listen.

Samuels' Attendance at Meeting Of Mayors Strengthens Carter Tie

By FRANK LYNN

Howard J. Samuels, whose political career seemed at an end after his four unsuccessful attempts to gain the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, has emerged as one of the top New York Democrats with ties to President-elect Jimmy Carter.

The Carter-Samuels link was evident when the former chairman of the Off-track Betting Corporation was designated as Mr. Carter's representative at the weekend meeting of the United States Conference of Mayors meeting in Chicago. Mr. Samuels said that Hamilton Jordan, Mr. Carter's campaign manager, had initiated the assignment. Other informants said that Mr. Samuels had suggested that he attend the conference.

In any event, the 56-year-old Mr. Samuels' assignment, self-suggested or not, was widely viewed as an indication that he was a strong prospect for a post in the Carter Administration. During the Lyndon B. Johnson Administration, Mr. Samuels had been an undersecretary of Commerce and head of the Small Business Administration.

Mr. Samuels' debut as a representative of the President-elect proved to be controversial. Several mayors, including Mayor Coleman A. Young of Detroit, contended that Mr. Samuels, instead of listening and observing, was, as Mayor Young described it, "half the time advancing his own opinion and engaging in debate with the mayors."

"An insensitive performance," said the Mayor.

Mr. Samuels reacted to the criticism by declaring that he was merely responding to requests by the mayors and newsmen for Mr. Carter's positions on urban issues. "Nothing I said at that conference didn't come from Carter's position papers," Mr. Samuels said.

He suggested political motives for some of the sniping at him. "Once you get out in front, there are 15 people ready to chop your head off," said the New York Democrat, adding that some of the mayors were looking for Cabinet posts.

Mr. Samuels said that he had not talked with Mr. Carter about Cabinet posts or anything else since Election Day. "He owes me nothing," said Mr. Samuels.

However, the New Yorker and Mr. Carter are obviously of a mind on such subjects as reorganization of the bureaucracy, long a pet Samuels topic and a major point in the Carter campaign. "I supported Carter a year ago based on his commitment to competence and reorganization of management and the bureaucracy," Mr. Samuels said.

Since their first meeting a year ago, Mr. Samuels was the principal fund-raiser for Mr. Carter in New York, the political fund-raising capital of the country. On the night of the Iowa caucus last January, Mr. Carter's first victory, the candidate was the principal attraction to a fund-raising event in Mr. Samuels' apartment.

3 CONGRESS LEADERS PLAN NEW YORK AID

Continued From Page A1

in Washington. "The whole approach will be different," Mr. Kirschenbaum said. "It will be one of sitting down to realistically discuss problems, and not a complete adversary relationship."

The chairmen agreed on the probability that Congress would approve legislation through which the Federal Government would assume more of the costs of welfare, which was a $500 million item in New York City this year.

Representative Ullman, Democrat of Oregon and chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, which has jurisdiction over welfare legislation, said: "I think we'll get some welfare restructuring, and in that the Federal Government certainly will take over a bigger load."

Guarantee of Loans Expected

However, Mr. Ullman did not foresee Congressional approval of a Federal takeover of the local costs of welfare, as pledged by Mr. Carter. Mr. Ullman predicted that the major thrust of Congressional action would be to "get employable people off welfare."

Senator Proxmire, Democrat of Wisconsin and chairman of the Senate Committee on Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs, predicted that the Senate would consider Federal guarantees of municipal loans. President-elect Carter had pledged to study the feasibility of such guarantees.

"This has merit independent of the New York situation," Mr. Proxmire said. "This would be one way to bring the interest paid by municipal government sharply down."

New York City officials have estimated that such guarantees could lead to a possible reduction of annual debt services costs by as much as $200 million.

However, Senator Proxmire, an early and ardent champion of Federal aid to New York City, said he was unhappy with proposals that the city not adhere to its financial plan, or stretch out its payments of bonds, which he regarded as an effort to circumvent the requirements that the city balance its budget by June 30, 1978.

Approval by Congress Needed

"I hope that we can discourage that," Senator Proxmire said. "I think it's essential that they continue with the plan. The plan must be approved by the Congress, and it's unlikely that the Congress would approve a stretchout unless the city has done everything possible, and even then I think it would be uphill."

Senator Proxmire predicted that Congress would approve a large-scale housing program, saying:

"The legislation is there in part. It should be a bigger and more-substantial program."

Representative Reuss, Democrat of Wisconsin and chairman of the House committee on Banking, Currency and Housing, said that "I think there will be a revival and a revision of existing housing programs, some of which certainly will be of help to New York."

"There ought, for example, to be a few and better form of public housing," Mr. Reuss said.

Mr. Reuss was more optimistic than Mr. Ullman over the extent to which a restructuring of welfare would help New York and other cities.

"I think that New York's problems can and will be eased by as close as possible to a Federal takeover of welfare," Mr. Reuss said.

Mr. Reuss was pessimistic about the prospects of revising Congressional formulas to help New York, the Northeast and the Middle West, saying, "These national formulas are not easy to change."

However, he contended that "the Northeast-Midwest coalition earned its right to very serious consideration from the Carter Administration by reason of the fact that it was the only non-South area that was of any help to Governor Carter."

"A contract has been made," he said.

Estimate Board Likely To Reconsider Approval Of S.I. Amusement Park

By GLENN FOWLER

Reconsideration of the city's preliminary approval of a $40 million, 146-acre amusement park near the southern tip of Staten Island appeared certain yesterday as Mayor Beame reported that the prospective developer had not submitted sufficient financial data to qualify as a bidder for the city-owned land on which the park would be built.

At the same time, three Borough Presidents who voted last July with Mr. Beame and Comptroller Harrison J. Goldin in the Board of Estimate to approve the controversial project, said they now favored a second look. Last weekend Mr. Goldin, expressing fear that the venture might fail and become a financial burden on the city, said he wanted the board to restudy the proposal.

The "theme park," which would be developed on a motif of New York at the turn of the century, has been bitterly opposed by Staten Island residents and community groups. They contend that it would bring traffic congestion and excessive noise to the vicinity of the site, which is at present a vacant industrial tract adjacent to the new West Shore Expressway and the Richmond Parkway in the Charleston section, overlooking the Outerbridge Crossing over Arthur Kill.

Mr. Beame said an audit of the financial statements submitted by the developer, the Amusement Corporation of America, was at his request by John C. Burdick, Deputy Mayor for Finance, had disclosed "insufficient backup" to qualify for bidding on the lease of the site from the city. The Department of Real Estate has given the developer until Monday to supply the additional data.

School System Accused of Job Bias

Continued From Page A1

Health, Education and Welfare—despite specific commitments made to me—to look into the entire question of the imbalance in the employment of staff," Mr. Anker said.

Albert Shanker, president of the United Federation of Teachers, said he had looked over the report and found it "sloppy and full of contradictions."

Naomi Spatz, speaking for Mr. Shanker, said: "A few years ago the Department of Health, Education and Welfare said that the examinations for principals was discriminatory. At that time we had more women principals than we do now. As a result, the selection of principals was placed in the hands of the community school boards, which tend to prefer males."

According to Mr. Gerry, although New York City has a student population that is 66.8 percent black and Hispanic, only 13.2 percent of the teachers employed last year were black and Hispanic—substantially lower than the ratios in the five largest school systems in the country.

Mr. Gerry said that the New York City systems had organized its hiring process into two "racially identifiable components."

Under the first component, the rank-order method, the names of teacher candidates and their scores on qualifying exams are placed on a list of persons eligible for citywide employment.

Members in that group are given employment preference based first on the date the list is issued by the State Board of Examiners and second on their test scores, Mr. Gerry said.

"The use of the date as a criterion has an exclusionary effect on minority applicants, because it prohibits the hiring of of persons who passed the test before earlier lists have been exhausted," he said. "We have found that the percentage of minority applicants who took and passed the test have increased in recent years."

Under the second component, the alternative method, a hiring pool is established from which teachers who passed the Board of Examiners test or the National Teachers Examination may be selected for some elementary and junior high schools, but not all of the system's schools.

This method does not require that preference be given by date of examination or score attained.

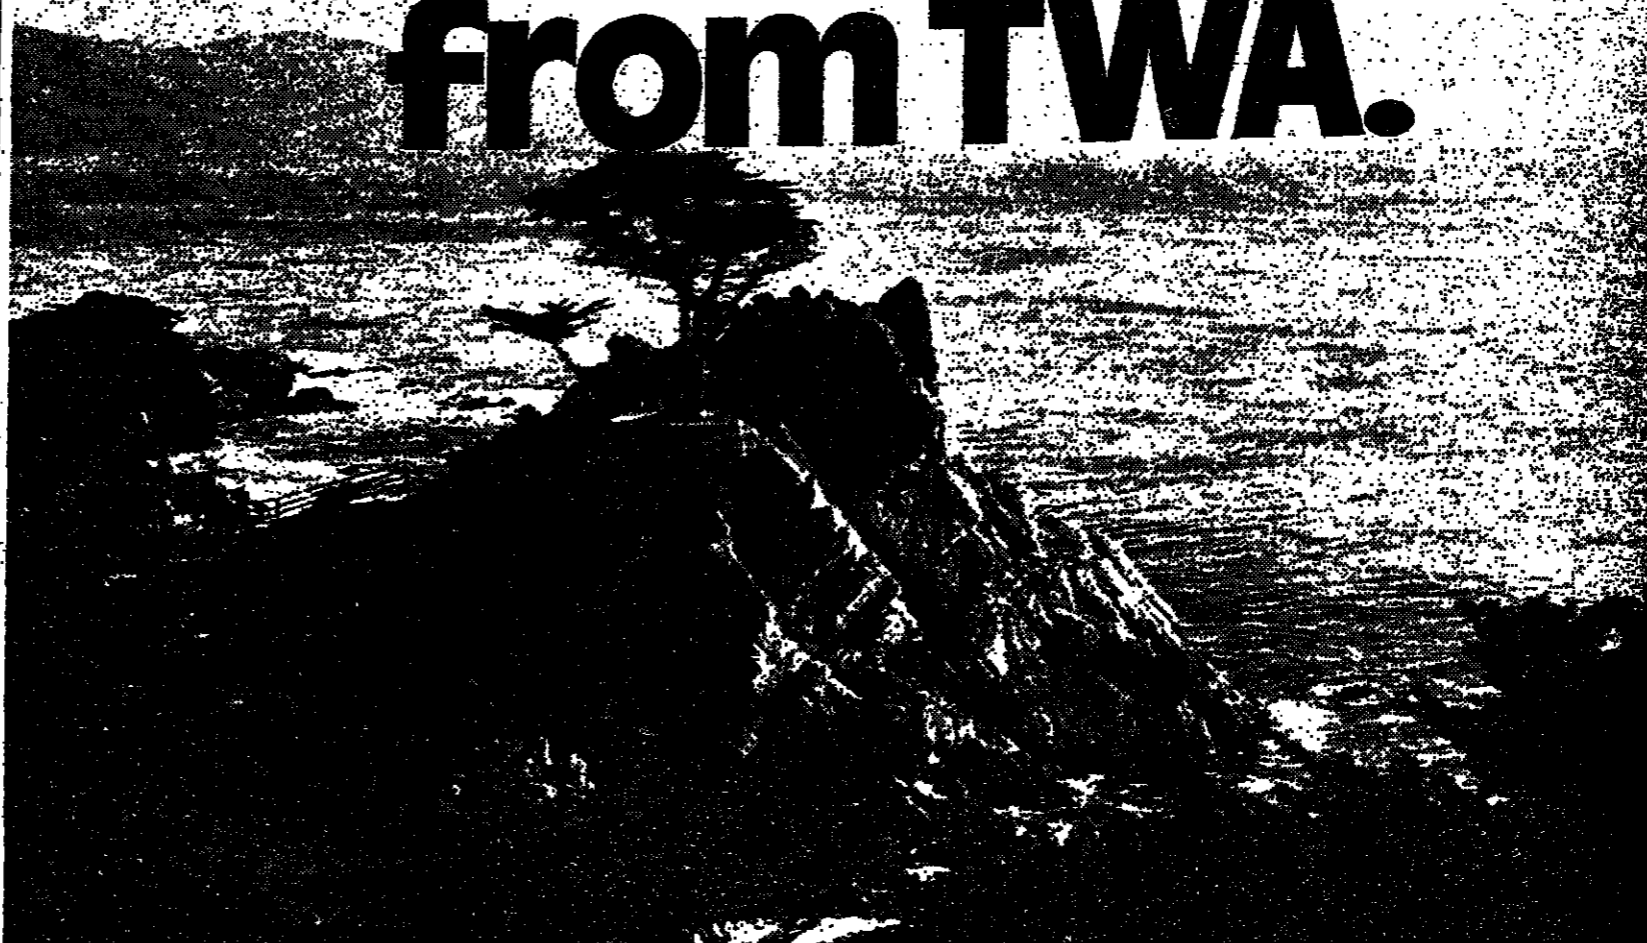

The percentage of minority teachers hired under the alternative method is at least four times the percentage of minority-group teachers on the rank-order method, showing that the rank-order process excludes a larger number of qualified minority teachers, according to Mr. Gerry.

Asked if the recent layoffs of teachers had been taken into account during the study, Mr. Gerry said: "We are aware of the contractual employment problem in the city and realize that the fiscal crisis may have aggravated the situation. But the law would require the city to use the hiring opportunities that do come about to the fullest extent possible to overcome the effects of discrimination."

The findings that were released yesterday dealt only with employment issues. Findings concerning the delivery of equal educational services to students will be submitted to the school system in January, Mr. Gerry said.

"Our goal is to end discrimination, not to cut off Federal funds," he said. "I anticipate that the school administration will take an equally constructive view of the problems we have identified."

Now on Sale from TWA.

The spectacular West is now on sale at TWA. There's no better time to see it. Because right now TWA's Discover America fares are the lowest they'll be for the year. And you can fly any day of the week, any time of the day.

Getaway Card, you can extend your payments over time. So see your Travel Agent and book now. You may never get another chance like this.

TWA's Discover America Fare.

Save 20%

Reservations must be made at least 14 days before you want to fly. Tickets must be purchased no more than 10 days after you've made your reservation and at least 14 days before your departure or return. Stay 7-30 days. And, since there is a limited number of seats per flight on which we offer these savings, make plans early.

New York to:	Adult Round-Trip	Child Round-Trip
Los Angeles	$323	$202
San Francisco	$323	$202
Las Vegas	$296	$185
Phoenix	$285	$178
Tucson	$283	$177
Denver	$229	$143
Chicago	$128	$ 80
St. Louis	$146	$ 91
Kansas City	$170	$106
Albuquerque	$250	$156
Oklahoma City	$197	$123
Tulsa	$184	$115
Wichita	$189	$118

Save when you fly TWA to FRONTIER.

TWA and Frontier Airlines have teamed up to offer you ease, convenience and low fares when you fly between these cities. Just fly into Denver on TWA and then on to any of the cities listed below on Frontier. All Discover America Fare restrictions apply.

New York to:	Adult Round-Trip	Child Round-Trip
Salt Lake City	$267	$167
Colorado Springs	$229	$143
Grand Junction	$251	$157
Rapid City	$229	$143
Casper	$229	$143
Jackson	$243	$152

TWA's Discover America Night Coach Excursion Fare.

Save 25%

This fare is subject to the same restrictions as TWA's Discover America Fare. In addition you must book on a TWA designated Night Coach flight to take advantage of 25% savings.

New York to:	Adult Round-Trip	Child Round-Trip
Los Angeles	$303	$202
San Francisco	$303	$202
Phoenix	$267	$178

TWA's Night Coach Fare.

Save 20%

This fare has no restrictions whatsoever. You don't have to book in advance, or stay any specified length of time. Just reserve a seat on a TWA designated Night Coach flight.

New York to:	Adult One-Way	Child One-Way
Los Angeles	$162	$108
San Francisco	$162	$108
Phoenix	$142	$ 95
St. Louis	$ 73	$ 49

When your children fly with you they'll...

Save up to 50%

As you can see above, children (2-11) traveling with you can fly at 50% off the regular Coach fare with our Discover America Fares and 47% off with our Night Coach Fare.

Being the best isn't everything. It's the only thing.

TWA

Handwritten signature or mark at the bottom of the page.

O'Dwyer: Figurehead Or a Major Political Force?

By MOLLY IVINS
had the temerity to suggest that the little tired and toothless man...

8:30 A.M. with a breakfast meeting at Gracie Mansion. He then went to Queens for a Board of Estimate meeting...

Continued on Page B18

City Council president Paul O'Dwyer talking to council members in the Council chamber after meeting yesterday

She Does Cube Roots in Her Head

By BAYARD WEBSTER

She forgot, momentarily, that she had visited the United States once before, 20 years ago...

If you gave her any date in the last century, she would tell you what day of the week it fell on...

Wrapping her shimmering blue and green sari more closely around her as she paced back and forth last week...

Mrs. Devi's demonstration of her quick ability to solve in her head mathematical problems involving addition, multiplication and division...

A Lapse of Memory

"This is my first visit to the United States," she told an interviewer at the bank just before her performance...

Standing a few feet from the bank's Burroughs Model 1700 computers, which were used to pose questions...

In addition to "normal" math problems, she said, she can do square and cube roots and logarithms in her head and recall the days of the week of any given dates in the last century...

"I have to start with the simple problems first," she told the banking employees...

Then came larger numbers: The cube root of 188,132,517? "Five hundred seventy-three..."

Then came lines of eight and nine-digit numbers, which were added and then multiplied by a large number...

"What day of the week was Sept. 2, 1951?" "Sunday," came the correct response.

Mrs. Devi is now on a tour of the eastern United States, hoping to sell a manuscript on mathematical shortcuts to a publisher...

According to mathematical scientists, Mrs. Devi's gift as a numerical math prodigy is not unique and has no relation to the science of mathematics...

Many people, since the time of Isaac Newton, have demonstrated extraordinary powers of mathematical calculation...

Occasionally, questioners have tried to trip them up. One of the most famous of the Wizards, the late Zerah Colburn, a Vermont, was asked at one of his London performances...

The New York Times/Berion Silverman

to start with the simple problems first," said Shaktuntala Devi as she took mathematical problems from employees of the State Bank of India...

These are some of the problems that Mrs. Devi solved in 20 seconds or less:

- 1. Add: 25,842,278 111,201,721 370,247,830 55,511,315
2. 3 root of 188,132,517.
3. On what days of the week did the 14th of each month occur in 1935?

Answers:

- 1. 5,559,369,456,432
2. 573
3. Beginning with January: Tues., Thurs., Thurs., Sun., Tues., Fri., Sun., Wed., Sat., Mon., Thurs., Sun.

News Summary

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1976

National

U.N. members who voted in a majority in the General Assembly...

Christian leaders in Beirut and Damascus...

Secretary of Defense William Clark...

man said in an interview that he had a partner...

in Government office. Feeling "used" and "abused," he said he had cooperated fully...

Patricia Hearst, who had been serving her bank-robbery sentence in the California State Prison...

Metropolitan

Congress will help New York, in the opinion of the chairman of three key committees...

The public-school system of New York City discriminates against women teachers...

State's Island jury list is "hopelessly and irremediably tainted," Justice Leon B. Pelsky...

ery and perjury charges against James Hasson, a lawyer. [A1:1-2.]

Two former bank presidents whose institutions collapsed last winter amid charges of loan frauds...

A Japanese film that was removed from the New York Film Festival after the Customs Service threatened to confiscate it...

Business/Finance

Under pressure from Congress, figures are published for the first time on loans by American banks...

The International Energy Agency, formed by 19 Western industrial nations...

Stock prices lost ground for the third straight day as the Dow Jones industrial average...

Index

International

- Rhodesian morale buoyed by raids A3
Rhodesian black hints overturo to Moscow A3
New plan for Rhodesia discussed in London A5
World News Briefs A6
China intensifies eulogy of Hua A8
U.S. finds no illegal activity by Iran A9
Soviet Jewish dissidents tell of jail experiences A10
Immigrants' anger affects Quebec voting A12

Government/Politics

- Approval of nuclear plant's cooling system lost A16
Burger warns lawyers against long briefs A20
Electoral system poses problems A22
Some reasons for the election outcome A22
Samuels has ties to Carter A30

General

- Around the Nation A16
N.A.A.C.P. leader-designate sets national goals A16
Smokey Bear is dead at the age of 26 A16
Robbery suspect, 17, is arraigned for setting fire A21
Hospital found taking patients unnecessarily B2
Student killed in military society rite was commended for actions B2
Metropolitan Briefs B3
Survival of South Bronx row houses celebrated B3
Nursing home operator indicted in $374,000 Medicaid fraud D17
Pushbutton news on television D17

Industry/Labor

- Police and New York City agree to reopen talks B18

Education/Welfare

- Harvard renews drive to overhaul liberal arts program B4

Nigeria begins "march to literacy" B4

Health/Science

- Life on Mars, still a science puzzle A16
New virus suspected in Legionnaire's disease A17

The Living Section

- The world's greatest new chef C1
Discoveries C1
William F. Buckley Jr. and Mike Wallace on skillets and wives C1
Luciano Pavarotti on dieting C1
Metropolitan Diary C2
Notes on People C2
A vegetarian, without tears C3
The 60-minute gourmet C3
Food questions and answers C4
A party for two or 3,000 C6
Living Abroad: London C7
If you don't know about chull C8
A tour of charcuteries C9
Private Lives: Remarriage C10
Personal Health: Jogging C11
Child's World: Fascinating rhythm C12
All About: Buying a stove C12
Fashion fantasy vs. reality C13
Personal Finance: Credit cards C16
Don't spare the champagne C16
New Yorkers, Etc.: Sinatra C18
Avery Fisher, modest philanthropist C19
Going Out: Guide C22
Gavella Theater of Zagreb opens Dutch National Ballet makes United States debut C26
Pinter's "No Man's Land" staged C26
Dr. Alex Comfort's "A Good Age," on aging, is reviewed C27
American Conservatory gives "Taming of Shrew" on WNET/13 C28

Obituaries

- Von Cramm, German tennis star of the 1930's D17

Business/Finance

- Exxon nears completion of world's deepest offshore rig D1
Bus production appears assured by U.S. accord D1
New Gramscian Gulfstream III intensifies corporate jet war S.E.C. forces naming of carriers that paid rebates D1
Rise in restaurant prices forecast D10
About Real Estate: Beame seeks to spur lagging construction D16

Quotation of the Day

"The Northeast-Midwest coalition earned its right to very serious consideration from the Carter administration by reason of the fact that it was the only non-South area that was of any help to Governor Carter. A contract has been made..."

Table with columns for Page, Adv. News, Amer. Stocks, Bond Sales, Business Records, Commodities, Corp. Affairs, Dividend, Exchange Rates, Market Place, Market Profile, Money, Mutual Funds, N.Y. Stocks, Out-of-Town, People/Business

Table with columns for Page, Knicks sink Bullets, Layton stands out, Islanders rout Wings, Ailing elbow may sideline Morton, Hartford Whalers get tax break, Tanner beaten in opening round, Billie Jean King out for 6 weeks, N.C.A.A. soccer starts Saturday, Racquet sports are popular here, Rangers rookie prefers Manhattan, N.F.L. feels playoff pressure

Features/Notes

- Man in News: Patrick J. Hillery A2
Editorials/Comment A28
Editorials and Letters A28
C. L. Sulzberger discusses the Greek-Turkish imbroglio A29
David Davis examines renewed interest in slavery A29
John Swinton questions emptiness of "relationship" A29
Richard Nathan offers guidelines for aiding core cities A29

CORRECTION

An article in The Times Oct. 30 incorrectly stated, as a result of a typographical error, that according to Amnesty International Iran had arrested thousands of Kurds. It should have said that Iraq had been accused of the action.

Vertical text on the left edge of the page, including 'TWA's America Night Excursion Fare', 've 25', 've 20', 've up 50', 'everything'.

Student Killed at R.O.T.C. Exercise Won Commendation in a Prior Test

By PETER KIRSS

Thomas Fitzgerald, who was fatally stabbed during a Reserve Officers Training Corps unit program last Friday, had been "commended and complimented" earlier this fall for refusing an order to fire a pistol at another student. The incident involved the same Pershing Rifles military honor society.

Lieut. Col. James R. Rafferty, commanding the St. John's University R.O.T.C. program, said yesterday that the pistol exercise—devised by students rather than the university—was to see if cadets would accept or refuse "an illegal and immoral order." Investigation, he said, indicated that a dummy wooden pistol was used in a darkened room.

St. John's president, the Very Rev. Joseph T. Cahill, and Colonel Rafferty held a news conference in the Jamaica campus's Sun Yat-sen Building, standing before a wall relief of a Chinese gold dragon on a blood-red background.

They said their inquiries led them to believe Mr. Fitzgerald's death last Friday night on a South Shore island was accidental. He had been stabbed as a simulated prisoner of war, assertedly by a fellow unit member, James Savino. The Suffolk County police charged Mr. Savino with second-degree murder in what they called "a combination war game and form of hazing."

The university officials said hazing did not appear to be involved in the fatal or other incidents. Father Cahill said, "From what we have learned so far, a group of students within the Pershing Rifles organized a voluntary exercise to develop their skills in survival, evasion and escape techniques."

No one in the administration had previous knowledge of the exercise and no authorized military weapons were involved, Father Cahill said. But he reported that the university had "decided to suspend the activities of the Pershing Rifles until all the facts are determined."

Twenty-four of the 34 members of the group (out of 222 R.O.T.C. members at St. John's) participated, according to the university officials. Herbert D. Schwartzman, university counsel, said the school's investigators had refrained from talking to eyewitnesses at the request of the Suffolk District Attorney.

A university-owned raft had been used to get to the island, Colonel Rafferty said. This had been purchased by the student government at the request of the separate Ranger Unit of the R.O.T.C., but the Ranger Unit was also a member of the Pershing Rifles and permitted its use.

The officials disclosed that a three-page memorandum forbidding "hazing activities of any kind" had been circulated to all 15,000 students Oct. 21 as an annual routine. This cited a state law making hazing while attending school a misdemeanor, and if it results in "permanent disfigurement" a crime of mayhem punishable by up to 15 years' imprisonment.

University guidelines defined hazing as "harassing or by or as 'abusive and humiliating tricks.' Exempt from the definition were such acts as "testing of pledge material" or "performance of pledge skills which are neither physically, nor psychologically abusive." Colonel Rafferty said he had learned that, among other tests, the Pershing Rifles' pledges had been asked "to sign a statement denying their religion, motherhood and allegiance." Most refused, he said, and "it makes me a little proud of them."

Investigation, Colonel Rafferty said, established that one reported head injury to a cadet occurred when pledges were sitting on a floor and were called to spring to attention as a cadet officer entered. The elbow of one pledge struck another's head, he said.

Colonel Rafferty said Mr. Fitzgerald and Mr. Savino had been "brothers and friends." Mr. Savino, he said, is "a reliable, dedicated, conscientious young man," and the R.O.T.C.'s inspector general, Mr. Fitzgerald, he said, was "a fine young man, bright student" who entered the unit last September after summer training at Fort Knox, Ky.

Nevertheless, the colonel said that for a large extracurricular exercise, the students should have submitted an operations order, which would have led to some supervisor being assigned. The program, he said, was an effort by students to refine their professional military skills, but did involve "poor judgment."

A Suffolk County grand jury in Riverhead briefly started its inquiry into Mr. Fitzgerald's death yesterday, recessing until next Tuesday. A hearing for Mr. Savino in District Court in Hauppauge was delayed until today.

TRIBUTE FOR BELLA: Representative Bella Abzug greeting former Gov. and Mrs. W. Averell Harriman and Ellen Burstyn, the actress, at $100-a-person party marking her departure from Washington, and her need to repay campaign debts. Sponsors of affair ranged from Governor Carey to Gloria Steinem. Mrs. Abzug refused to be downcast. "Like Jimmy Carter," she told her 200 guests, "I expect to be born again."

Hospitals Found Taking Patient Just to Get Most Out of Medicaid

By RONALD SULLIVAN

Officials of the New York State Department of Health said yesterday that they had uncovered a statewide pattern of unnecessary hospital admissions and protracted stays that were apparently calculated to get the most possible income from Medicaid reimbursement funds.

Teams of Health Department nurses and physicians reported the following cases: "A man was admitted to St. Clare's Hospital and Health Center on Oct. 26 as a Medicaid patient with a lacerated middle finger. According to the state, he was kept in the hospital until Nov. 5 awaiting consultation with a plastic surgeon, but was not given any treatment, all at a cost in Medicaid funds of $130.66 a day."

"At New York Medical College-Flower and Fifth Avenue Hospitals, the state reported that a 3-month old child had been admitted as a Medicaid patient with an illness that was diagnosed as dandruff. The child was kept in the hospital for three days and given one shampoo, at a daily cost to Medicaid of $226.58."

"And at Bellevue Hospital Center, a municipal institution, operated by the New York City Health and Hospitals Corporation, the state reported that a 23-year-old man was admitted there on Oct. 25 with a broken leg."

"When the man was ready to be discharged on Nov. 4, physicians decided to straighten his nose even though there apparently was no justification for it other than to improve his appearance. The daily Medicaid rate was $215.41. In each case, state Medicaid officials said, they terminated reimbursements for the care."

A Hepatitis Complication

In response, a spokesman for St. Clare's said that the patient with the lacerated finger had to be kept hospitalized because of "medical complications, including hepatitis."

Dr. Miriam Lending, the head of pediatrics at Flower and Fifth Avenue, said she recalled the 3-month-old patient. "It was pathetic," she said. "The child had the worse case of seborrhea [dandruff] and the mother could not handle it."

"Unfortunately," Dr. Lending went on, "we are forced to admit patients that we otherwise would not."

At Bellevue, a hospital spokesman refused to comment on the patient with the broken leg, except to say that the institution occasionally performed cosmetic surgery.

According to John Eadie, the director of utilization review and Medicaid operations for the Department of Health, the cases cited by his survey teams were evidence that hospitals in the state—public, private and voluntary—were admitting Medicaid patients who did not require hospitalization.

The reason they did, state officials said, was to get the greatest possible amount from Medicaid reimbursements. They said that the same reason explained what health officials scribed as the unnecessary and protracted stays of patients by hospital insurance, such as

Beginning in September, the Department of Health deployed eight teams to inspect the administrative records of patients admitted in the state, 31 of which were in York City.

The teams reviewed the 10,868 patients in September at and disallowed Medicaid reimbursement funds in 401 cases.

The inspections also have questionable Medicaid reimbursement for the case of patients who have been released by the hospitals and end leaves, a practice that state officials called "smacked of fraud."

The state says it is cracking such practices because it pays of every Medicaid dollar. Federal account for half and local fund remaining 25 cents.

According to state and city officials, the system of hospital payment encourages hospitals to patients who do not require their care because most hospitals Medicaid and health-insurance payments as major sources of income.

One prominent hospital official said a hospital bed with a theater or a space in a parking upkeep and operating costs are even if they remain empty.

Encouraged by State officials, that it costs 70 percent of the reimbursable rate under Medicaid Cross just to maintain an empty since New York City is said a surplus of 5,000 hospital beds, an almost irresistible tendency of individual institutions to fill patients, whether they belong in hospital or not.

Moreover, the State Department Health has established a cap for individual hospitals. When a institution falls below the stipula (it could be, for example, $5 per is financially penalized when the is calculated.

This, of course, is an added imp to fill beds, hospital officials explained. Directors of New York City hospitals have reported that it compelled to admit patients, rather than in outpatient clinics, the reimbursement formulas favor inpatient admissions.

"We have simply stuck our in the water," Mr. Eadie explained night. He said that the problem necessary admissions appeared "monumental." But he said that, referred to hold back any definite until the on-site utilization teams had an opportunity to inspect hospitals.

West 86th St. Fights Center for 'Mentally Disabled'

By LAURIE JOHNSTON

A noisy meeting at which members of the Committee to Preserve 86th Street protested plans to install a rehabilitation center for "the hard-core mentally disabled" in their neighborhood ended last night with a vote by Community Planning Board 7 to avoid immediate action on the issue.

The board's vote of 28 to 2 to confirm the ruling of its chairman, David Kornbluh, against a motion for an immediate vote "unequivocally opposing the relocation" of the center to the Brewster Hotel, 21 West 86th Street, was greeted by boos and shouts of "Resign!" and "Who do you represent? Not the community!"

The proposed center would be in the ground floor of the hotel. Nearly 500 people showed up at the meeting of the board at Trinity School, 139 West 91st Street.

Residents of the street said they had been "bypassed" without consultation by the Bridge Inc., a rehabilitation agency at Broadway and 83d Street for the last 15 years. An earlier attempt by the agency to move was rebuffed by the West 78th Street Block Association.

"We're frightened of the kind of people who could be spilling out into the street, taking out their frustrations," said Joseph

A. Monica, a lawyer who is secretary of the 86th Street residents' committee. "They may be perfectly harmless—but the way this was done gives us pause that they may be putting something over on us."

Murray Itzkowitz, executive director of the Bridge, replied that "hard-core mentally disabled" is a technical term for adults who have been in and out of psychiatric hospitals. He said the enlarged facility for 300 to 350 clients "is what the Upper West Side has been asking for—so these people don't just sit on the park benches of Upper Broadway."

Mr. Itzkowitz said the center "won't be bringing people in from around the city—they all live within walking distance." Coming about twice a week, they would receive "socializing and recreational therapies" such as music, art, theater and writing activities, with any psychiatric treatment taking place elsewhere.

Arthur Pincus, a Brewster Hotel resident who first went there when he bought an apartment from the late comedienne Fannie Brice, said that both hotel management and the planning board had been "selective" about plans for the rehabilitation center.

Although a public hearing on the matter has been scheduled for next Tuesday by the community board's health, hospital and social service committee, work on the center has already started. A two-year lease was signed in August between the Bridge and Podar Realty Company, operators of the hotel. For $24,000 a year the center will have its own entrance and 8,000 square feet of space formerly occupied by a catering service and a doctor's office.

Brewster Hotel residents expressed their opposition at the committee's October meeting. A few years ago the hotel management announced plans to convert the building to housing for the elderly. The present residents, however, include not only older people but a more transient group of younger people from the theater, as well as artists and writers.

The Rev. Robert Davidson, pastor of the West Park Presbyterian Church on 86th Street, said he had "respect for the work of the Bridge but not for this present maneuver of the Bridge, it is moving so quickly."

Alluding to the current emphasis on placing rehabilitation facilities within "normal" communities, Mr. Davidson said, "If neighborhood residents are to be considered as part of a therapeutic community, then they need to be considered as part of that human process."

adventure 150

celebrating our first 150 years in fashion with

The Manhattan Shop's

fly-away prints. Ultra lightweight with a whimsical bird design.

Dress and coat in green- white, 98.00 Two-piece dress in blue-white or coral- white, 72.00 Both by First Lady in Klopman's performance tested Whiteway® a knit of 65% Dacron® polyester and 35% combed cotton, sizes 14 1/2 to 22 1/2. Fourth Floor, Lord & Taylor—WI 7-3300, Fifth Avenue, Manhasset, Westchester, Garden City, Millburn, Ridgewood-Paramus and Stamford.

This week Stan Freberg's creative genius creates laughter.

Dial-A-Joke 999-3838

Different jokes every day.

New York Telephone

Only Plymouth Rock is firm

- BUT THE PLATFORM BED IS FAR MORE COMFORTABLE

The Loftcraft Platform Bed

Hand made in our shops. Sizes twin to king in birch, oak, walnut, and white lacquer. Matching dressers, too! For a truly magnificent bedroom.

Uptown 1021 Third Ave. (60-61st) (212) 753-3367 Open Mon.-Wed., Fri. and Sat. 10-8 Thurs. 10-10, Sun. 11-5

Order now for Christmas. 171 Seventh Ave. (212) 255-90 (212) 255-90 Open 10-8, Sun Easy Parkin

Loftcraft

Free catalogue on request

20% off!

Roll up blinds and Roman shades

Choose from a collection of superbly made matchstick, tortoise bamboo, split bamboo and textured natural cotton. From 2 1/2' to 8' wide—

reg. 28.00 to 155.00, sale 23.00 to 125.00

Shown here, natural color, hand-loomed textured cotton Roman shade.

Reg. Sale

2 1/2' x 6' . . . 45.00 . . . 35.00

3' x 6' . . . 50.00 . . . 40.00

4' x 6' . . . 65.00 . . . 50.00

All by Vaccaro Smith. Ninth Floor, Lord & Taylor—WI 7-3300

And at all Lord & Taylor stores except Manhasset, Boston, Dallas and Chicago.

Gustave L. Levy

The Officers, Directors and Employees of O.P.M. Leasing Services, Inc. mourn the death of a friend and giant in the business and Judaic communities.

November 3, 1976

Altman's Christmas Book

in your Times

Sunday, Nov. 14 (distributed in the N.Y. metropolitan area)

See hundreds of 10,010 gifts we share with you on everyone on your shopping list. If a gift-packed 116 p Christmas Book in your Times, we send you a copy.

Mr. J. De Ruvo, E. Altman & Co., Box 16, New York, N.Y. 10016

Low-tar cigarette

doesn't cheat you

Christmas Book

Stals Found Taking to Get Most

By RONALD SUZUKI
The New York State Department of Social Services yesterday announced that it had filed a lawsuit against a group of 11 individuals, including several prominent figures in the state's financial community, for allegedly misappropriating state funds.

The lawsuit, filed in the Supreme Court in New York City, alleges that the defendants, who are named in a separate document, conspired to divert state funds for their own private use. The funds in question were part of a program designed to provide financial assistance to low-income families.

The state department's investigation revealed that the defendants had used the funds to pay for personal expenses, including travel, entertainment, and the purchase of real estate. The total amount of funds allegedly misappropriated is estimated to be in the millions of dollars.

The state department is seeking to recover the funds and to have the defendants held liable for their actions. The lawsuit is expected to be a lengthy and complex legal battle.

BANK CHIEFS INDICTED

in Jersey Alleged Scheme Utilized for

WAGGONER

The former president of New Jersey banks was indicted today for allegedly using more than $1 million of state funds for loan-shark purposes.

The indictment, filed in the Superior Court in Newark, charges that Waggoner, who is now a resident of New York City, conspired with several individuals to divert state funds for the purpose of financing a loan-shark operation in New Jersey.

The state attorney general's office is conducting an investigation into the case, and it is expected that other individuals involved in the scheme will also be indicted.

Alexander Avenue in the Mott Haven section of the Bronx is an oasis of neat old row houses and iron railings

Survival of South Bronx Row Houses Celebrated

By CHARLES KAISER
Near the heart of the most desolate area of the South Bronx lie three lovely blocks of row houses built in the late 1800's, anchored by a spectacular turn-of-the-century church and the security provided by the station house of the 40th Precinct.

The survival of the blocks, along Alexander Avenue between 138th and 141st Streets, was celebrated yesterday by the Department of City Planning, which unveiled comprehensive plans for the restoration and revitalization of the center of the Mott Haven neighborhood.

No one seemed to mind too much that the city's fiscal crisis has precluded the implementation of anything but the most modest proposals—perhaps a couple of new bus shelters, or some fresh paint for the facades of the row houses.

"It means recognition," said William Houseman, who moved into the area nearly eight years ago from his suburban home in Hastings-on-Hudson. "It means acceptability. It means the South Bronx is not one vast wasteland."

Edward L. Cohen, who headed the federally financed study of the neighborhood, said he thought that the fact that 60 percent of the houses were owner-occupied was one key to the neighborhood's survival.

Sgt. Paul Butler had a different perspective. "It's the station house," he said, leaning against the wall of the 40th Precinct building, which itself is a city landmark. "We've got cops coming to and from here all day."

He added that one happy result of the city's fiscal crisis was that the station house would remain on Alexander Avenue, rather than being moved to a proposed new building three blocks away.

Metropolitan Briefs

Dog Restrictions Asked

Fran Lee, the former television personality and director of an organization called Children Before Dogs, announced yesterday that a suit has been filed in State Supreme Court in an attempt to have New York City signs that read "Curb Your Dog" declared illegal.

Miss Lee and the other plaintiffs charge that sections of the city health code, administrative code and Parks Department rules and regulations prohibit the depositing of any obnoxious matter on public streets and require that dogs be leashed at all times, including when they are in parks. The signs, the suit charges, invite city residents to let their dogs defecate in the streets, thus breaking the law and endangering the health of others. Named as respondents in the suit are four city commissioners and the director of the animal control division of the Board of Health.

Loan Shark Trial Opens

Paul "Big Paul" Castellano, a brother-in-law of the late Don Carlo Gambino and one of a handful of men mentioned as a possible successor to the leader of the Gambino "crime family," went on trial with six other men on charges of loansharking. Before the trial started in Federal Court in Brooklyn, Paul F. "Little Paul" Castellano, a cousin, pleaded guilty to taking part in the loansharking conspiracy and to income-tax evasion for 1972.

The seven men on trial are accused of operating one of the city's largest and most profitable loansharking businesses, which charged borrowers as much as 150 percent interest a year.

Hospitals Reach Accord

Ten voluntary hospitals in Westchester agreed yesterday to work with the newly completed county medical center and New York Medical College, which is linked to the center, to formulate a coordinated plan of obstetrical and gynecological health care. The hospitals have been arguing that the $61 million medical center, designed as a facility for highly specialized services, will compete for routine services, especially in the declining obstetrics field.

The state, as part of an effort to coordinate health services, is seeking to close obstetrical departments delivering fewer than 1,500 babies a year. This would apply to the majority of the 10 hospitals. A coordinated plan would be submitted to the seven-county Health Services Agency for approval, according to the Westchester County Executive, Alfred B. DeBello.

Death Penalty Sought

Although a judge has ruled New York State's death penalty is unconstitutional, the Westchester County District Attorney, Carl A. Vergari, said he would seek the death penalty for a man accused of murdering Police Officer Arthur DeMatte of Larchmont. He made the statement as he announced the indictment of Anthony Blanks, 23 years old, of St. Louis, on a charge of first-degree murder in the Oct. 12 shooting of Officer DeMatte.

New York City Mediator Quits

Vincent D. McDonnell, chairman of the New York State Mediation Board, resigned yesterday as Mayor Beame's unpaid representative on the city's Board of Collective Bargaining. Mr. McDonnell, who retains his state position, wrote the Mayor that "in view of my heavy schedule and desire to restrict my activities as much as possible to neutral matters, I now desire to terminate my service in the Office of Collective Bargaining as of Dec. 1."

Medical Complication
A patient who had been in the hospital for several days was discharged yesterday. The patient's condition was reported to be stable.

Is Heavy
The criminal case was carried out in 1974. The case involves the misappropriation of state funds. The state attorney general's office is conducting an investigation into the case.

tion and National Financial Leasing Corporation.
Michael Musillo, 21, his son.
Dominic Troiano, 45, of Monsey, N. Y., a salesman for the Funding and Financial Leasing Corporation and a principal in several garbage collections companies and the Gulf Stream Sanitation Corporation of Hollywood, Fla.
James Lanzano, 50, of Coral Springs, Fla., associated with the Queens City Carting Corporation and the Gulf Stream Company.
Winfield Scott, 53, of Jacksonville, Fla., president of Scott Equipment Corporation, manufacturer of garbage collection and recycling machinery.
James Piccolo, 34, of Chester, N.J., accountant for U.S. Funding and National Leasing Corporation.

Offices at Olympic Tower on Fifth Avenue

Small offices of 1,000 to 10,000 sq. ft. still available at Olympic Tower

Occupancy available within sixty days

CONTACT: Eric Peniston, Jr. CUSHMAN & WAKEFIELD 529 Fifth Avenue New York, N.Y. 10017 Phone: (212) 983-6392

OLYMPIC TOWER
Fifth Avenue at Fifty First Street, New York City

celebrating our first 150 years in fashion with our very own Far Eastern quilts of polyester that look and feel for all the world like silk (only you'll know the difference because they're washable). More good news. Exquisite touches like hand-bound buttonholes, piping trim, hand-made buttons and frog closings. Luxurious quilts in P.S.M. or L. long bird-quilted button-front robe, red, aqua or emerald, $2.00 Short rose-quilted zip-front robe, poppy pink, heaven blue or yellow, 45.00 Fourth Floor Loungewear. Lord & Taylor, call WI 7-3300. Fifth Avenue, Manhasset, Westchester, Garden City, Millburn, Ridgewood-Paramus and Stamford.

Plymouth Budget Calls for a Tax Cut

By ROY R. SILVER
Special to The New York Times
Ralph G. Caso, executive, today proposed a 3.9 percent cut in the county sales tax, the county would receive $100 million less in revenue.

The county budget of $796 million anticipates revenues from county sales tax, cents on the dollar.

The proposed cut will be presented to supervisors for action at a public hearing, scheduled for Nov. 10, at 8 p.m. at the county office building, 100 West Broadway, New York City.

The county is expected to have a deficit of $5 million by the end of this year. The county administration has decided to amortize the debt over the next five years at $1.2 million each year.

police district, community college and courts. The highest costs in operating the county are projected at $615 million in the general fund and $81 million in the police fund.

The cost for police protection applies only to about 70 percent of the county's residents who are not served by their own municipal Police Departments.

Total Spending Is $1.04 Billion

The proposed total expenditures for the operating and capital budget for next year is $1.044 billion. However, capital expenditures, which include $136.4 million for sewer construction and $20 million for the community college, are financed by long-term bonds and the tax rate for the operating budget does not reflect capital construction cost.

In the area of welfare, the number of people receiving assistance declined by 3,461, or 10 percent, since the beginning of the year. The welfare rolls are at the lowest level in more than six years, Mr. Caso added.

Nassau is expected to have a deficit of $5 million by the end of this year. The county administration has decided to amortize the debt over the next five years at $1.2 million each year.

LOTTERY NUMBER
Nov. 9, 1976
New Jersey Pick-It—398

Lofting
Free data request

Altman's Christmas Book
In your Times, Sunday, Nov. 14 (distributed in the N.Y. metropolitan area). See hundreds of the 10,010 gifts we have to share with you and everyone on your shopping list. If our gift-packed 116 page Christmas Book isn't in your Times, we'll send you a copy. Write Mr. J. DeRuvo, B. Altman & Co., P.O. Box 16, New York, N.Y. 10016

There's never a charge to call for information about home delivery of The New York Times. Call 800-325-6400

The low-tar cigarette that doesn't cheat your taste.

It seems hard to believe. Most low-tar cigarettes are low-taste cigarettes. So who's kidding who? If Pall Mall Extra Mild has only 7 mg. tar, how can it be an exception? The reason Pall Mall Extra Mild is de-tarred, but not de-tasted is because it has the Air-Stream filter that reduces tar—but not taste.

What's more Pall Mall Extra Mild starts with the finest tobacco money can buy. Tobaccos specifically selected for extra mild taste. And when you've got great taste to begin with, you've got great taste to end with. Try a carton. You'll find it hard to believe you're smoking a cigarette with less tar than 95% of all cigarettes sold!

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking is Dangerous to Your Health.

7 mg. "tar", 0.6 mg. nicotine av. per cigarette by FTC method.

Altman's Christmas Book
In your Times, Sunday, Nov. 14 (distributed in the N.Y. metropolitan area). See hundreds of the 10,010 gifts we have to share with you and everyone on your shopping list. If our gift-packed 116 page Christmas Book isn't in your Times, we'll send you a copy. Write Mr. J. DeRuvo, B. Altman & Co., P.O. Box 16, New York, N.Y. 10016

There's never a charge to call for information about home delivery of The New York Times. Call 800-325-6400

About Education

Harvard Renews Drive for Major Overhaul in Liberal Arts

By EDWARD B. FISKE

Two years ago Henry Rosovsky, dean of the Faculty of Arts and Sciences at Harvard University, issued a widely publicized appeal for the reformation of undergraduate education.

"At the moment, to be an educated man or woman doesn't mean anything," he wrote. "It may mean that you've designed your own curriculum; it may mean that you know all about urban this or rural that. But there is no common denominator."

This week Harvard took a major step toward the first major overhaul of its liberal arts program since the famous "Education in a Free Society" report in 1945.

In a 19-page annual report to his faculty, Dean Rosovsky described his ideas on how to restore what he termed in an interview "the possibility of common discourse among educated people."

Simultaneously, a faculty Task Force on Core Curriculum released its own proposals on how to translate these goals into curriculum offerings.

requirements normally mean that to graduate a student must take a certain number of courses each in the humanities, the social sciences and the natural sciences.

Although there were major exceptions, such as Columbia and Princeton Universities, many schools abandoned or greatly eased these rules under pressure from students seeking more freedom. Harvard maintained its "general education" program in principle but allowed students so many options for meeting requirements that they virtually lost their meaning.

"An educational nutritionist would say that we were no longer requiring a balanced diet," said James Q. Wright, professor of government who was chairman of the task force.

In his report to the faculty, Dean Rosovsky locates the problem not so much in pressures by students or the general proliferation of knowledge as in the deliberate decision of the university in the postwar period to broaden its constituency.

"At a time when it is fashionable to mock the real achievements of American democracy," Dean Rosovsky writes, "it may be worth stressing that Harvard and other 'elite' institutions transformed themselves as a consequence of deliberate policies: providing generous scholarships, recruiting nationally in public and private schools, and—not least important—awarding faculty positions solely on the basis of academic merit."

The social consequence of this decision, Dean Rosovsky argues, was the destruction of the homogeneity that once marked elite institutions.

"Inevitably," he says, "the concept of a 'typical Harvard student' has become almost meaningless." Another consequence of this and other trends, though, has been the loss of common academic objectives.

"I was worried that students were going through here and coming out without any common structure of education," Dean Rosovsky said in the interview. "The world has become a Tower of Babel in which we have lost the possibility of common discourse and shared values."

In his report, which brings together the ideas of seven faculty groups that have been studying these issues since his letter in 1974, Dean Rosovsky offers half a dozen principles for re-establishing "a common basis for intellectual discourse."

Ability to Communicate Needed Some are traditional and were never seriously challenged, even in the 1960's. For example, he says that an educated person "must be able to communicate with precision, cogency and force."

Likewise, he or she "should have achieved depth in some field of knowledge" and should have a "critical appreciation of the ways in which we gain knowledge and understanding of the universe, of society and of ourselves."

This means, in terms of curriculum requirements, that an educated person should have an "informed acquaintance" with the following:

"The mathematical and experimental methods" of the natural sciences. "The 'main forms of analysis' and the 'historical and quantitative techniques' used in modern social sciences, and "Some of the important scholarly, literary and artistic achievements of the past" and "The major religious and philosophical conceptions of man."

Other principles, however, were not part of earlier definitions of liberal education and reflect what Dean Rosovsky sees as the particular needs of the world today. The most obvious criticism of the "general education" of the past was that, however broad it might have been in terms of disciplines, it still operated within the parameters of the classical Western culture.

"An educated American, in the last third of this century, cannot be provincial in the sense of being ignorant of other cultures and other times," Dean Rosovsky says. "It is no longer possible to conduct our lives without reference to the wider world."

"Perhaps few educated people will ever possess a sufficiently broad perspective. But it seems clear to me that a crucial difference between the educated and the uneducated is the extent to which one's life experience is viewed in wider contexts."

Likewise, the Dean argues, an educated person today must have "some understanding of, and experience in thinking about" moral and ethical problems.

The report of Dr. Wilson's task force follows the general lines of Dean Rosovsky's ideas in its proposals for a new core curriculum. One possibly controversial suggestion is that the present foreign language requirement be eliminated.

"We believe that exposure to the perspective of another culture is important," he says in an interview, "but in the absence of a meaningful language requirement this might be done more effectively in one's own language."

Dean Rosovsky's report and the ideas of the various study groups now go to the Faculty of Arts and Sciences for consideration, and the debate over any major curriculum changes is expected to last at least a year.

Nigeria, in 'March to Literacy,' To Open Schools to All Children

By JOHN DARTON

LAGOS, Nigeria, Nov. 9—Six-year-old Benjamin Disu has to rise at 6 A.M. to get to school on time, he does not have all of his school books yet, and the school building he goes to is so overcrowded that it is on double session. But Benjamin, and his parents, are not complaining.

"He is the first in my family to go to school," said his father, Gabriel Disu, a cow slaughterer in the sprawling slum of Yaba. "His life will not be the same as mine."

Nigeria has just begun the most momentous "march to literacy" undertaken by an African nation—universal primary education. The country's literacy rate is believed to be about 25 percent.

The program began this semester, when all 6-year-old children throughout the federation were given the right of free admission to schools. It will be extended as the current class moves from grade to grade, so that at the end of five years it will cover the entire primary system.

Compulsory Education Envisioned By 1980, at the end of a five-year development plan, the Government plans to make primary education compulsory. It clearly hopes, as the head of state, Lieut. Gen. Obusegun Obasanjo, said in beginning the program last month, that "by then the benefit and importance of education will be so appreciated by all Nigerians that making it compulsory will be mere formality."

The program has encountered many problems in starting. It has strained resources and represents a substantial financial commitment—$800 million for the first year alone, not including the cost of school construction. Last year there were 4.8 million children in primary school. This year there are 8 million, including 2.5 million beginning. By 1981, the figure will rise, at least, to 18 million pupils, more than the population of many countries.

This semester the country has 60,000 new classrooms and 180,000 new teachers. About 300,000 teachers will be required over five years. To meet the need, the Government has taken over 15 training colleges and plans to open new colleges each with a student intake of 1,000.

Still, there are not enough supplies and no classrooms. Instruction progress is lagging. In the Cross River almost half the new classrooms were not ready and so the opening of schools was postponed for 214,000 Ondo State, churches and mosques to be used as makeshift classrooms. The capital of Lagos, close as on triple sessions.

Some School Construction Is In the northeastern section of the country, construction work by local contractors was so shoddy that some were blown down or carried off by floods. A thousand students who last year for an emergency teacher training course discovered they had only just been started.

Some teachers have been reassignments to rural areas because of lack of amenities.

The Government's attitude is that, despite all of the shortcomings, universal primary education is such an important goal that it cannot be postponed.

EDUCATION

Back when women's lib was women suffrage, we made a pledge to young women of ability

In the early 1900's we were ahead of our time. Founded when the right to vote was still denied to women, our commitment from the first was to the higher education of women.

"No one can take your place at the College of New Rochelle"

In the early 70's we were still ahead of our time. Ignoring the trend away from single-sex colleges, we held firm in our commitment. Today, as others weigh their gains and losses, we take quiet pride in having kept our identity as a four-year liberal arts college for women.

College of New Rochelle School of Arts and Sciences, Graduate School, School of New Resources, School of Nursing

WE GIVE YOU A NEW LANGUAGE PLUS PEOPLE TO SPEAK IT WITH.

A Berlitz Semi-Private program can have you speaking and thinking in a new language in a matter of weeks. You meet up to three new people to speak with in a relaxed, sociable situation.

BERLITZ (212) 785-1000 Rockefeller Center 40 W. 51st St. New York, N.Y. 10036

A WEEKEND SYMPOSIUM presented by The Institute for the Study of Human Knowledge in cooperation with The School of Continuing Education, New York University

- November 20th and 21st, 1976 at The Hotel Roosevelt. $65. PAUL BRANDWEIN The Duality of Mind: Implications for Education Are There Right and Left Brain Curricula? JEANNINE HERRON Education and Left Handed People ROBERT ORNSTEIN Two Modes of Knowledge and the Two Halves of the Brain: New Discoveries on the Nature of Consciousness IDRIES SHAH Teachers of the East On the Nature of Sufi Knowledge

EDUCATING BOTH HALVES OF THE BRAIN. To register, please complete the form and send it with your check or money order made payable to ISHK. Tuition may also be charged to your MasterCard or BankAmericard account.

FORDHAM AT TARRYTOWN

Offers Graduate Programs in Social Service, Education and Business Administration, January Semester 1977

Fordham University opened its new Graduate Center this September at the Marymount College campus in Tarrytown near the Tappan Zee Bridge for students from Westchester, Rockland and Putnam counties, northern New Jersey and southern Connecticut.

Form for Fordham Graduate Center with fields for Name, Address, Zip, Home Phone, Business Phone, and checkboxes for Social Service, Education, Business Administration, and MCAT.

URBAN CONVERSATION SPANISH and all Modern Languages. Career-oriented program and Evening Groups of 4-6 students.

classes of starting no. BILINGUAL SKILLS IN THE LANGUAGE: 80 5th Avenue, N.Y.

AMERICAN ENGLISH. Basic or Advanced in 8 or 16 weeks. THE LANGUAGE: 501 Madison Ave., N.Y.

PACE UNIVERSITY SPRING SEMESTER COURSE. Jan. 31 - May 15. 1990 New York City.

CAREERS EDUCATION. PHYSICS & Mathematics Institute for ECE students degree program.

LSAT GRE GMAT SAT. Your future depends on a 3 1/2 hour exam. Don't leave it to chance! Call 24 hours - 7 days.

Pursue a PARALEGAL CAREER-Not Just a Job. Through an intensive 200-hour day or evening course of study offered by LONG ISLAND UNIVERSITY BROOKLYN CENTER and AMERICAN PARALEGAL STUDIES CORP., a college graduate, graduating college senior or person with substantial experience in a legal related activity may qualify for a new and exciting career as a PARALEGAL.

DYNAMIC GRADUATE PROGRAMS FOR QUALIFIED PROFESSIONALS. Ph.D., Ed.D., D.B.A., M.A. & M.B.A. programs in Psychology, Education, Business & Ocean & Environmental Affairs.

There IS a difference!! PREPARE FOR: New MCAT • DAT • LSAT COMPACT COURSES DURING CHRISTMAS

Have an ADVANTAGE! Become a PARALEGAL. Only Paralegal Institute Licensed by New York State Education Dept. Call, Grade, Top Hi School Grade & Legal Sec May Apply.

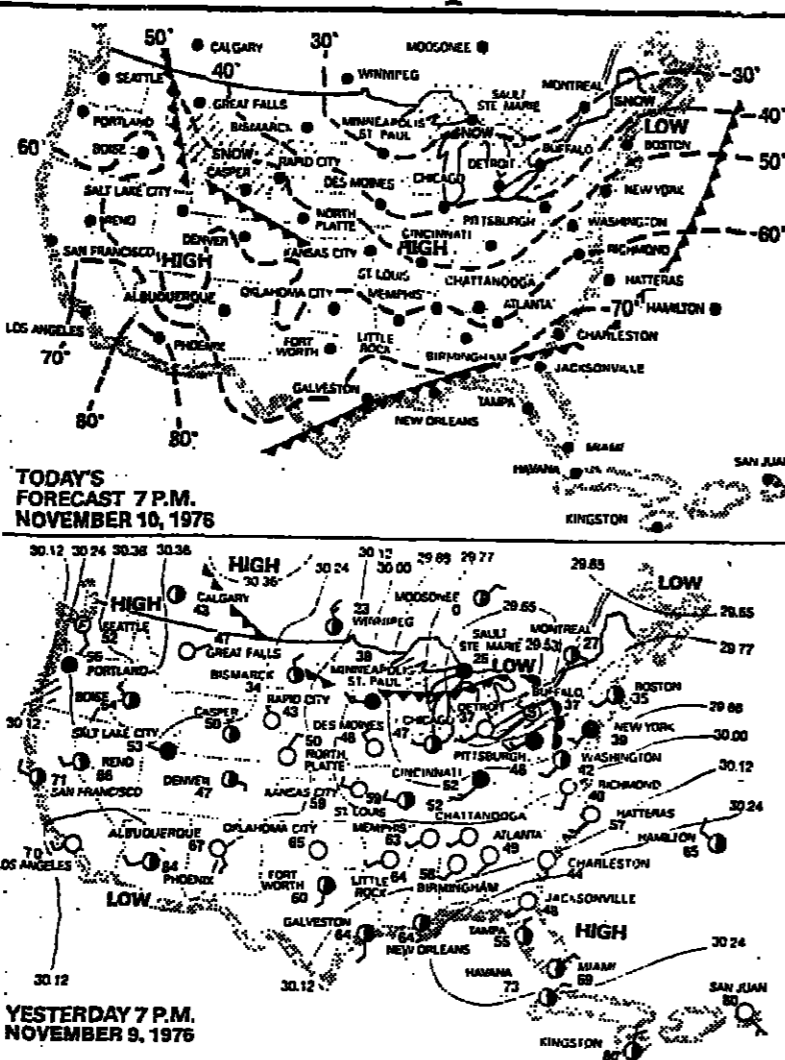

french. Register today for conversation classes. Native French teachers, modern methods. Small classes. Call 644-1820 for catalog.

LIBRARIAN OPENINGS. MEDICAL CENTER LIBRARIAN. The Health Services Center Library serves students and professionals in Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy, Allied Health and associated sciences.

Next Sunday... The New York Times Fall Survey of Education and Career Development. Students, parents, educators will want to read this important section on Sunday, November 14.

Handwritten signature or note at the bottom of the page.

Weather Reports and Forecast

TODAY'S FORECAST 7 P.M. NOVEMBER 10, 1976

YESTERDAY 7 P.M. NOVEMBER 9, 1976

Figure beside Station Circle is temperature. Cold front a boundary between cold air and warmer air...

Yesterday's Records Eastern Standard Time. 10 A.M. 51 N.Y. 10.00, 2 A.M. 29 N.Y. 10.00, 4 A.M. 29 N.Y. 10.00...

Temperature Data (10-hour period ended 7 P.M.) Lowest: 27 at 6:30 A.M. (new record)...

Precipitation Data (24-hour period ended 7 P.M.) Twelve hours ended 7 P.M.: 0.0...

Sun and Moon (Sun rises today at 6:36 A.M.; sets 4:38 P.M.)

Extended Forecast (Friday through Sunday) METROPOLITAN NEW YORK: LOW clouds, mostly sunny...

Local Time Table with columns for Time, Temp., Cond., Wind, and other weather-related data for various cities.

CUSTOMS IS BARRED FROM STOPPING FILM

Continued From Page A1 threat that it would be seized. "I think this notice of redelivery by a roving censor who happens to work for the Customs is an outrage..."

"Study of Passion" The judge noted that it was not necessary for him to see Nagisa Oshima's film, which the producers described in court papers as "a study of the destructive nature of consuming physical passion..."

The dispute over the film began Oct. 1, when it was shown at a press preview shortly before its scheduled screening at the New York Film Festival...

Customs officials in New York raised questions about whether the film was obscene, and they attended the press preview, where they advised representatives of the film's producers that it had to be removed from the festival...

Shipping/Mails

Outgoing SAILING TODAY Trans-Atlantic ZIM GENOVA (21m) Barcelona Nov. 20 and Genoa 21; sails from Ft. Elizabeth, N.J.

South America, West Indies, Etc. MORRISAN (16m) San Juan de los Rios, 21; sails from Ft. Elizabeth, N.J.

SAILING TOMORROW Trans-Atlantic ATLANTIC CINDERELLA (ACL), Gobenburg Nov. 19 and Liverpool 22; sails from Ft. Elizabeth, N.J.

South America, West Indies, Etc. ARCEBO (PRIMA), San Juan Nov. 20; sails from Ft. Elizabeth, N.J.

On Oct. 4, the Customs Service issued a "notice of redelivery" demanding that the film be sent back to Customs officials in Los Angeles for "possible violation of Section 305" of the Tariff Act, which prohibits the importation of obscene material...

It is an unusual case, involving Customs officials in two different ports, so it might not directly affect many other films, but it could establish an important precedent to present similar attempts in the future. The Government did not indicate if it would appeal the ruling.

PUBLIC AND COMMERCIAL NOTICES 5103-5102

DRIVERS NOW! FLORIDA CALIF ALL USA & OVERSEAS ICC 20 OFFICES $500.00 INSURED Reserve Cars to File, Nov-Dec-Jan-Feb ALL GAS PAID Aaon Auto (212) 354-7777, NYC, 229 West 41st St., NY 10018, New Jersey

INSURED AUTO SHIPPERS INSURED FOR FLORIDA & LIABILITY TO Calif, California, All States All Gas Paid - 947-5230, I.C.C. Dependable Car Travel, Inc. 130 W. 42nd St. New Jersey Call (201) 672-2044

DASHER DELIVERY SERVICE PROMPT-EFFICIENT-RELIABLE INSURED - 425-7242, 212-452-8049

TRUCK CARS TO FLORIDA 2 days for delivery. No driving on highways on your car. Fully insured. For info, call (813) 246-1200. In-state, 800-221-6623. AUTOLOG CORP. 1100 N. W. 13th St., Ft. Lauderdale, FL 33304

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING INDEX For rates, for your church, temple, synagogue, school, fraternal, etc., call 212-512-2000. For advertising rates, call 212-512-2000.

TOP PUBLICITY For products, restaurants, shows, schools, etc., call 124 PA. 211-2114.

COMMERCIAL NOTICES - 5102

INSURED AUTO SHIPPERS INSURED FOR FLORIDA & LIABILITY TO Calif, California, All States All Gas Paid - 947-5230, I.C.C. Dependable Car Travel, Inc. 130 W. 42nd St. New Jersey Call (201) 672-2044

DASHER DELIVERY SERVICE PROMPT-EFFICIENT-RELIABLE INSURED - 425-7242, 212-452-8049

TRUCK CARS TO FLORIDA 2 days for delivery. No driving on highways on your car. Fully insured. For info, call (813) 246-1200. In-state, 800-221-6623. AUTOLOG CORP. 1100 N. W. 13th St., Ft. Lauderdale, FL 33304

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING INDEX For rates, for your church, temple, synagogue, school, fraternal, etc., call 212-512-2000. For advertising rates, call 212-512-2000.

TOP PUBLICITY For products, restaurants, shows, schools, etc., call 124 PA. 211-2114.

COMMERCIAL NOTICES - 5102

Local Time Table with columns for Time, Temp., Cond., Wind, and other weather-related data for various cities.

U.S.-Canada In the following report of observations of weather stations in the United States, high and low temperatures are given for the 24-hour period ended at 5 P.M. Weather observations are reported in Eastern Standard Time.

Low High Station Today's Precipitation Today's Low High Station Today's Precipitation

U.S.-Canada (Continued) In the following report of observations of weather stations in the United States, high and low temperatures are given for the 24-hour period ended at 5 P.M. Weather observations are reported in Eastern Standard Time.

Low High Station Today's Precipitation Today's Low High Station Today's Precipitation

U.S.-Canada (Continued) In the following report of observations of weather stations in the United States, high and low temperatures are given for the 24-hour period ended at 5 P.M. Weather observations are reported in Eastern Standard Time.

Low High Station Today's Precipitation Today's Low High Station Today's Precipitation

AUTOMOBILE EXCHANGE

Large advertisement for AUTOMOBILE EXCHANGE featuring various car models like Cadillac, Chevrolet, and Ford, with descriptions and prices. Includes sections for 'HEAPHY', 'FLEET PRICES', and 'DON'T SELL YOUR CAR'.

Vertical advertisement on the left side of the page, including 'March to Literacy in Schools to All', 'Educational Center', and 'Shamrock Town'.

Selling your car? To place your ad call OX 5-3311

AUTOMOBILE EXCHANGE

ALL-STATE announces AN UNPRECEDENTED CAR LEASING OFFER Limited Time Only GET 2 CARS FOR THE PRICE OF 1 LEASE on our exclusive TWOFR/250 DEAL.

For Complete Details Call 212-937-7500

ALL-STATE Leasing 42-01 Northern Blvd. Long Island City, N.Y. 5 minutes from the Midtown Tunnel and the 59th St. Bridge

TACK SA MYCKET The lowest prices in town at L.I.C. AUTO IMPORTS, Inc. 21-01 43rd Avenue, Long Island City 212-784-8888

SAAB THE ROAD CAR never been thanked

Challenge Avis. See if our car service network will work better for you. AVIS CAR LEASING You'll like riding on our reputation.

GIANT CLEARANCE SALE This Week only thru Sat., Nov. 13th PRICES SLASHED on all cars in stock

To locate this great Lancia Lancia Scorpion call toll free (800) 447-4700

DATSUN CLEARANCE Brand New '76 $210 $2695 LARGE SELECTION OF Z'S REDUCED

VOLVO HONDA NOW! USED CAR SALE! SAVE

WOLF Jaguar PEUGEOT TRIUMPH

TOYOTA 1977 NOW AT 1976 PRICES WE GUARANTEE YOU 1977 TOYOTAS AT 1976 LIST PRICES OR LOWER THRU DEC. 31ST, 1976

TOYOTA CITY WESTCHESTER'S LARGEST FACTORY AUTHORIZED TOYOTA DEALER (914) 698-8120

Limited Offer 12 Month Closed End Lease POTAMKIN ROLLS BACK THE PRICES! 1977 Cadillac COUPE DE VILLE $159 PER MONTH

HONDA New '76 SALE RECORD BREAKING SAVINGS ON HONDA CIVIC & CIVIC MODELS

VOLKSWAGEN BRISTOL MOTORS CLEARANCE 1976 MODELS ON DISPLAY 1977 MODELS

FALL PREVIEWS VOLVO 75, 164 blue met... $5995 VOLVO 74, 164, equip... $3695

WANTED Foreign cars ALL MAKES ALL MODELS We will estimate the approximate value of your car from a description over the phone

Why rent someone else's car in Europe when you can be driving your own

Buy a Fiat here and pick it up in Europe. Instead of renting a car, you can put your money into a car you can bring home with you.

TRUCKS!! TRUCKS!! ALL MAKES ALL MODELS 212-478-6450

PORSCHE 76 Carrera Turbo $250 FACTORY REBATE! PLUS $200 DEALER REBATE!

RENAULT 5 IT'S SIMPLE... 1. Select the Renault 5 of your choice.

DIAMOND MOTORS 100 Sylvan Avenue Englewood Cliffs, N.J. 201-461-6060

Rolls Royce New 1976 Corniche Conv. Silver Chiffon over black. Power interior.

Rallye Motors Inc. Authorized Rolls Royce Dealer

VOLVO HONDA NOW! USED CAR SALE! SAVE

SAAB SALE One millionth Saab year special. Priced low to medium. Come in or call 212-247-1444

ZUMBACH SAAB 99 1973

Vertical text on the far left edge, possibly a page number or column indicator.

Real estate listings for the 42nd St. area, including '42 ST., 41 EAST' and '495 to 6,500'.

Real estate listings for the B'way area, including 'B'WAY, 1697 (53 St)' and 'B'WAY, 111'.

Real estate listings for the 45th St. area, including '45 ST 24 W' and '45 ST 30 W'.

Real estate listings for the 57th St. area, including '57 ST, 57 W' and '57 ST, 119 West'.

Real estate listings for the Park Ave area, including 'Park Ave, 230' and 'Park Avenue So. 237'.

Advertisement for 'Every month an average of 39,600 apartment ads appear in The New York Times Classified Pages'.

Advertisement for 'Carlton Regency North' located at 137 East 36 St.

Advertisement for 'Penny Lane' located at 215 E. 24th St.

Advertisement for 'Warren House' located at 155 East 34 St.

Advertisement for 'Penny Lane' located at 215 E. 24th St.

Vertical text on the far left edge of the page, possibly a page number or a small advertisement.

Real estate listings under the heading 'Apts. Queens - Bayside 1608'. Includes details for 'VANDERVEER ESTATES' and 'SOME NO FEE' properties.

Real estate listings under the heading 'Apts. Queens - Bayside 1611'. Includes details for 'SOME NO FEE' and 'SPECIAL RENT' properties.

Real estate listings under the heading 'Apts. Queens - Bayside 1612'. Includes details for 'YEAR END RENT SALE' and 'THE ANDREW JACKSON' properties.

Real estate listings under the heading 'Apts. Queens - Bayside 1613'. Includes details for 'THE ANDREW JACKSON' and 'FOLIAGE' properties.

Real estate listings under the heading 'Apts. Queens - Bayside 1614'. Includes details for 'FOLIAGE' and 'TROY TOWERS' properties.

YEAR END RENT SALE
Lefrak City
Huge Reductions
150 Choice Apts
Immediate Clearance!

Studio 215
UNBEATABLE VALUES ON
1 & 2 BRDM APTS
FREE AIR-COND. FREE GAS
JUST 15 MINUTES TO MANHATTAN

COURT PLAZA
FREE G&E
1 Bdrm $335
2 Bdrm/Terr $450
3 Bdrm/Terr $590

WAVE CREST GARDENS
20-02 SEAGIRT BLVD.
AT BEACH 20 STREET
STUDIOS, 1 & 2 BR APTS.

FOREST HILLS
REGO PK 5/2 BRDM
WATERVIEW 2 1/2 BRDM
SEE SUPP ON PREMISES

FOREST HILLS
REGO PK 5/2 BRDM
WATERVIEW 2 1/2 BRDM
SEE SUPP ON PREMISES

FOREST HILLS
REGO PK 5/2 BRDM
WATERVIEW 2 1/2 BRDM
SEE SUPP ON PREMISES

THE ANDREW JACKSON
2 BEDROOM APTS
AVAILABLE FOR IMMEDIATE OCCUPANCY
NO FEE

THE ANDREW JACKSON
2 BEDROOM APTS
AVAILABLE FOR IMMEDIATE OCCUPANCY
NO FEE

CAMELOT
175-20 WEXFORD TERR
1 & 3 BEDROOM SUITES
WITH TERRACES

THE GREYSTONE
IF YOU
LOVE MANHATTAN,
BUT ALSO LOVE
TREES & THE HUDSON.

WOODSIDE
BRAND NEW LUXURY BLDG
STUDIOS & 1 BRDM
LAUREL HILLS APTS

WOODSIDE
BRAND NEW LUXURY BLDG
STUDIOS & 1 BRDM
LAUREL HILLS APTS

WOODSIDE
BRAND NEW LUXURY BLDG
STUDIOS & 1 BRDM
LAUREL HILLS APTS

Keep An Eye On
The Hudson River
from the fabulous
GREENHOUSE
70 ANDERSON AVE.
THE PALISADES

Keep An Eye On
The Hudson River
from the fabulous
GREENHOUSE
70 ANDERSON AVE.
THE PALISADES

Keep An Eye On
The Hudson River
from the fabulous
GREENHOUSE
70 ANDERSON AVE.
THE PALISADES

Keep An Eye On
The Hudson River
from the fabulous
GREENHOUSE
70 ANDERSON AVE.
THE PALISADES

Keep An Eye On
The Hudson River
from the fabulous
GREENHOUSE
70 ANDERSON AVE.
THE PALISADES

Keep An Eye On
The Hudson River
from the fabulous
GREENHOUSE
70 ANDERSON AVE.
THE PALISADES

Keep An Eye On
The Hudson River
from the fabulous
GREENHOUSE
70 ANDERSON AVE.
THE PALISADES

TROY TOWERS
Also The City of the Hudson
Magnificent view of NYC
from all sides.

TROY TOWERS
Also The City of the Hudson
Magnificent view of NYC
from all sides.

TROY TOWERS
Also The City of the Hudson
Magnificent view of NYC
from all sides.

TROY TOWERS
Also The City of the Hudson
Magnificent view of NYC
from all sides.

TROY TOWERS
Also The City of the Hudson
Magnificent view of NYC
from all sides.

TROY TOWERS
Also The City of the Hudson
Magnificent view of NYC
from all sides.

TROY TOWERS
Also The City of the Hudson
Magnificent view of NYC
from all sides.

Go national!
With your classified advertising in The New York Times, Monday through Friday. Auctions, apartments, business opportunities, help wanted, merchandise offerings, situations wanted, real estate.
Only 76 cents a line additional for 200,000 extra circulation.
For full details call—
(212) OX 5-3311
In Nassau-747-0500
In Suffolk-669-1800
In Westchester-WH 9-5300
In New Jersey-623-3900
In Connecticut-348-7767
The New York Times

Paul O'Dwyer: A Figurehead or a Major Political Force in New York City Government

Continued From Page B1

There's no one of stature. The Council President can be either the Mayor's man or lead the opposition: O'Dwyer is neither fish nor fowl.

"Oh, yeah, I can think of one thing he's done. The O'Dwyer law. He got the official date of the city's founding changed from 1664 to 1625." He noted, however, that the change had been only on the date of the flag and not on the city seal.

This hardly sounds like the Paul O'Dwyer of yesterday, the mighty battler for Irish independence, for the founding of Israel, for black civil rights, for voting rights for Puerto Ricans, for ending the war in Vietnam, and for standing up to the late United States Senator Joseph R. McCarthy (who was nothing but "a stupid Irish drunk," according to Mr. O'Dwyer).

Paul O'Dwyer, the Wall Street lawyer who defended no one knows how many civil-rights cases without charge, who helped Cesar Chavez, who fought all those battles for political changes—an "irrelevant political antique?"

"What good is a wonderful old romantic Irish revolutionary in the middle of a fiscal crisis?" asked one of the Mayor's aides.

Praise From Deputy Mayor

But a strong dissenting opinion comes from the Mayor's aide who is most likely to know what Paul O'Dwyer is doing for the city. Deputy Mayor Stanley M. Friedman, who is not noted for flatterring others, said, "He is one of the sharpest and brightest men there is at the Board of Estimate, a very keen man always thinking two steps ahead. I've learned a lot from him."

Mr. Friedman sits in for the Mayor as chairman of the Board of Estimate, which passes on all the city's contracts. Mr. O'Dwyer has four votes on the board, as do the Mayor and the Comptroller; each of the Borough Presidents has two votes.

While presiding over Council meetings is the most visible part of the Council's President's job, it doesn't amount to a mess of grits, as Mr. O'Dwyer concedes (he can only vote in case of a tie). What little real power he has lies in the Board of Estimate.

According to Mr. Friedman, Mr. O'Dwyer has been a consistent force for good on the board.

Early Problems Remembered

"There was a time when I didn't like him," said Mr. Friedman. Asked about that statement since no one actually dislikes Mr. O'Dwyer, Mr. Friedman said:

"Well, I opposed him when he ran for the job and that didn't help, and when I first got on the board we had some strong differences on how things should be handled. But then, frankly after I'd gotten burned a couple of times, I just went and sat down with him and learned he is the kind of guy you can go to and work things out. He is able, he is zealous about his work and he's been very helpful. He is a man of his word."

Specifically, Mr. Friedman credits Mr. O'Dwyer with saving the city several millions on the latest Group Health Insurance and Blue Cross contracts, with saving more money on the Third Water Tunnel contract, which is still in litigation, and with being in the forefront of the fight to keep businesses in New York.

"He was the one who took on the delicate task of using our purchasing policies to help the city's economy," said Mr. Friedman. "We have an open bidding system on everything the city buys—desks, computers. The way it is now, if a New York City firm comes within 10 percent of the lowest bidder who is from out of the city, the contract usually goes to the city's firm, because we get it back in taxes and jobs."

As to Mr. O'Dwyer's role during the fiscal crisis, Mr. Friedman said: "There were many people who had conflicting views, including the President of the United States, and he's changed his mind, too. When it became apparent that neither the state nor the national government would help us unless we were unified here, Paul was there. He went to Albany and was very helpful."

Sidney J. Frigand, the Mayor's press secretary, said: "You ask what a Council President can do? Well, he could have made trouble, but he didn't. He was there with us at the worst, and I know the Mayor will never forget it. When the Mayor went to Albany to make the plea, Paul stood beside him. He was the balance wheel on the Board of Estimates. People were going off in all directions and a few were hysterical. It meant accepting a humiliating legislative package and that's hard for politicians to do.

Mr. O'Dwyer himself said: "I deny that it follows that a person who is a civil libertarian cannot add. I don't think those two things are in any contradiction, nor do I think that because I'm a liberal that presupposes fiscal irresponsibility."

Mr. O'Dwyer has a sharp eye for at least some forms of waste. "Take a look at that operation," he said, surveying a pothole filling on Chamber Street. No fewer than nine workers were standing around watching a machine fill the hole. "We get all this labor-saving machinery, but we don't get any benefit," said Mr. O'Dwyer.

Norman Adler is something of a scholar on the role of City Council president. A former professor of political science at City University, he is now director of political action and legislation at District Council 37 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees—the city workers' union.

"The potentiality of the job is that it leaves you complete freedom to run for another office," said Mr. Adler. "You have a staff and a budget and a nice title, president, and the modicum visibility. You don't have to do anything except to vote on the Board of Estimate. It becomes sort of like Prince Philip, consort to the Mayor."

Although Mr. O'Dwyer has run for many jobs, the only other elective job that he has held is that of City Councilman (1963-65). Most recently, he sought the Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

Mr. O'Dwyer's staff, which is by and large young and has strong minority-group representation, wins high marks from some in city government.

"We did make mistakes," said John McGettrick, 29, Mr. O'Dwyer's executive assistant on Chamber Street. "At our first hearing, it was about, we fixed up 65,000 on our side. We didn't know the standard procedure is two-thirds against."

"Sure Paul's record is a libertarian, and he got into office himself in the middle of a fiscal crisis. But he didn't take cheap shots. He has been productive, think others in his position on to do much. We know how he does because we spend so much down here trying to help him

Free Corning Ware.

When you put $500 in a Chase savings account.

Introducing the Chase Advantage you cook in. Free Corning Ware®. Now, when you save at Chase, you can get both free checking and your choice of 4 beautiful Corning Ware pieces. Each with the new Spice of Life pattern.

Or set your table with a 20-piece set of Corelle® Dinnerware. It's just $9.95 when you open a $5,000 savings account at Chase.

Once you have your first piece of Corning Ware, you'll want them all. And you can have them all. Because, with every $100 you add to your passbook account, you can add more Corning Ware or Corelle Ware to your collection.

Chase has always given you more for your savings than interest. And from now till December 31st, we'll give you a Chase Advantage to cook in. Member F.D.I.C.

CHASE

Police, City Hall Agree to Resume Talks on Contract

By DAMON SIETSON

Mayor Beame said yesterday that New York City had agreed to reopen negotiations with an enlarged bargaining committee of delegates of the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association.

But the Mayor made it clear that any new agreement had to fall within the economic framework of the mediator's recommendations that the delegates unanimously rejected last week.

Douglas D. Weaving, the police union's president, met for an hour yesterday afternoon with the Mayor and his aides at City Hall and said later at a news conference that he was hopeful that the delegate committee could come up with "fresh ideas" and a package acceptable to delegates and the city's 18,000 police officers.

The P.B.A. president noted that the Emergency Financial Control Board must give final approval to any agreement and that there were economic limits, but he said the negotiators would explore other areas of accommodation.

Asked if there had been any discussion of the police group's demand for amnesty for officers charged with disorderly conduct in recent demonstrations, Mr. Weaving said he would discuss the matter with Police Commissioner Michael J. Codd. He quoted the Mayor as having said that the Commissioner would have the final say on the issue. Mr. Weaving said he expected the Commissioner to take into consideration the difficult times and the officers' frustrations.

"Amnesty has to be a very strong point with respect to any package in toto," Mr. Weaving said.

Mayor Beame said at a later news conference that he had made it clear that City Hall would not interfere with the operations of the Police Department with respect to amnesty.

Mr. Weaving said that he would select a delegate bargaining committee of 20 to 25 members representing police officers in each of the boroughs. The committee, he said, will be briefed Friday, will have the weekend to study the issues and will meet again Monday. The initial bargaining session with the city, he said, will probably be held later next week.

Meanwhile, lawyers for the city and the P. B. A. said they had advised the Court of Appeals that the police union delegates had rejected the recommendations of Michael J. Sovern, the mediator in the dispute. As a consequence, they said, they have withdrawn their earlier request that the court withhold its decision on the city's appeal of a Supreme Court ruling directing that a 6 percent increase be paid the police officers, in accordance with the recommendation of an impasse panel.

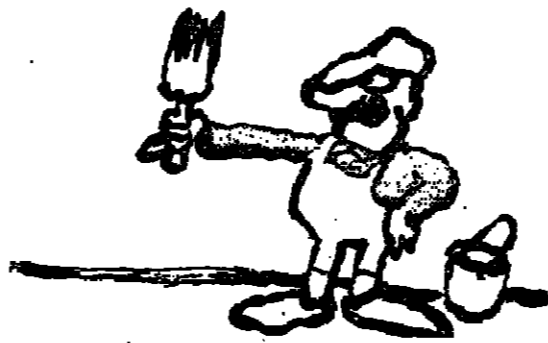

طه احمد الالهي

ity Govern to run get and office to say-ard of Prince rim for five job ouncilought Ertel?
by and marks

60-Minute
Gourmet—
Shrimp With A Mexican Flavor
Page C3

Are You Planning
A Pool
For Your Apartment?
Page C18

To Move
Or Repaint,
That Is the Question
Page C20

Whatever Happened to Melinda Dillon?
Page C21

The Living Section

The New York Times

L C1
WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1976

DISCOVERIES | Enid Nemy

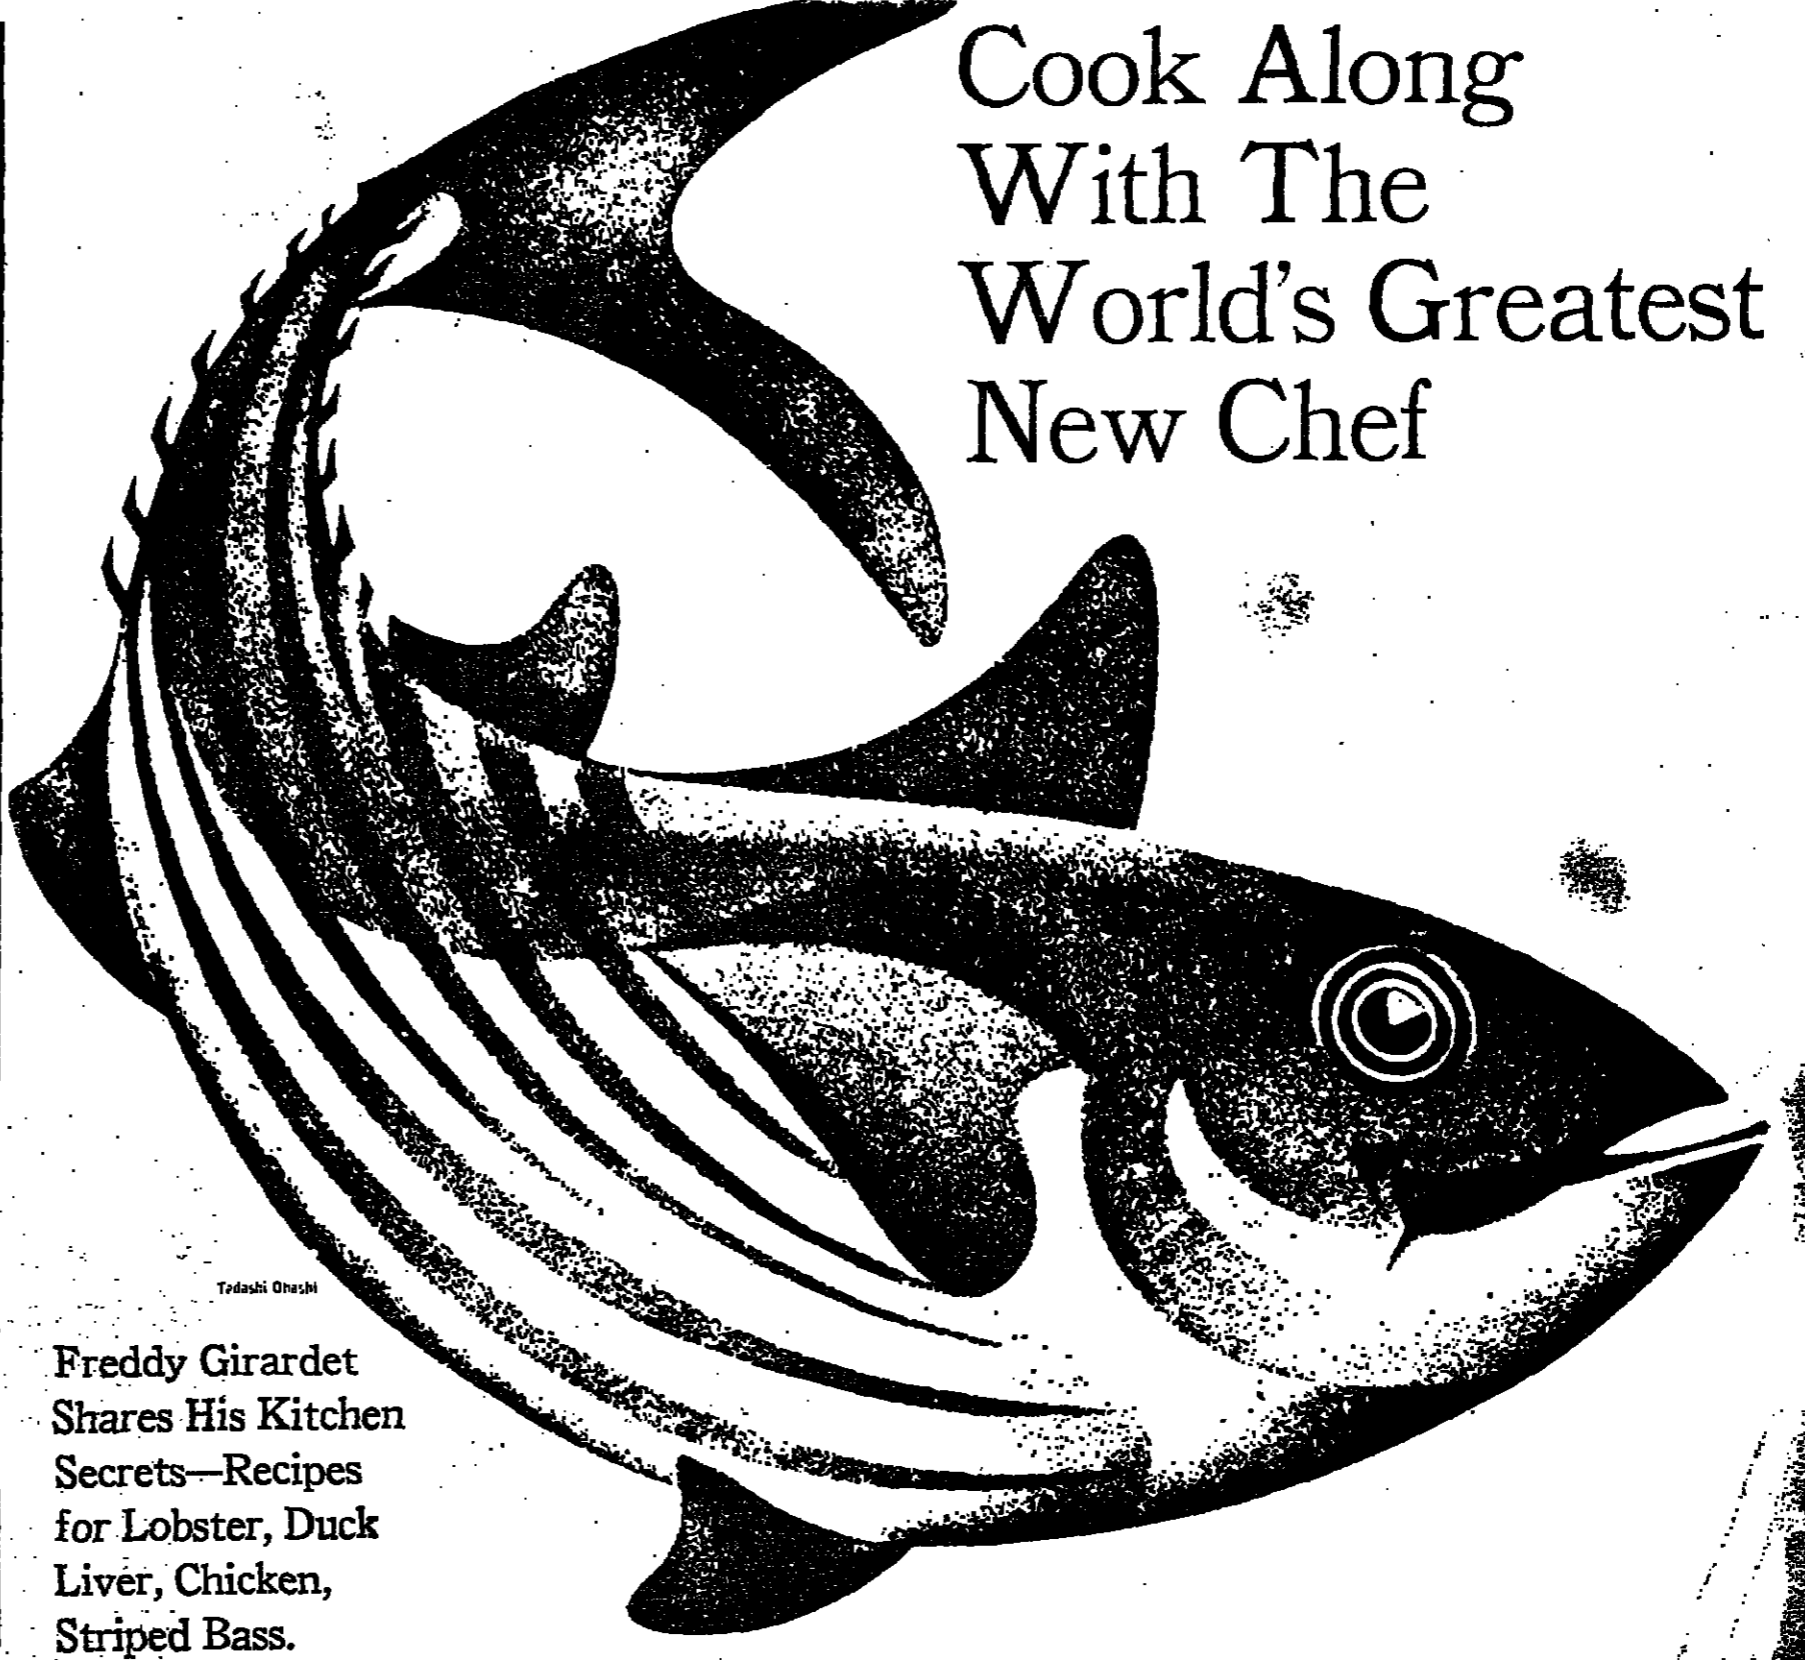

Programmed Santa Claus
gh to make one laugh—or cry. Santa Claus has acquired status. The Christmas card has a fat, red-garbed Santa, toting an enormous sack in shades of brown and camel. The initials scattered every- where the sack read "SC," but even so the design is easily identifiable as pure Louis Vuitton. The cards are $12.50 for 25 in the stationery unit at Bonwit Teller.

It's $275 Backpack
The subject of status, Saks Fifth Avenue is wrapping up a lot of new shop called, not too surprisingly, Status Quo. It's scheduled to open on Nov. 23 and will carry all the initialed symbolized and name-em- bodied goods that anyone could possibly want—or not want but get. There will be things such as Yves Saint Laurent's paisley shawl and pigskin gloves with Anne Klein's gold lion trademark in one or $28, but for the most original of the lot, we're right back to Vuitton. How about a Vuitton backpack for $275? The idea is that on't hike, you might do your city errands on a bicycle. It's true! Quo will be on the main floor near the 49th Street entrance.

The Givenchy Hug
ound to happen—a designer name is now on a dance. The Givenchy Hug, as the newest discotheque dance, will be introduced at Bloom- ington Saturday. It will be performed, and taught to customers, by the 2nd Century Dancers, a troupe organized by Ron Forella, a dancer and choreographer. Just in case anyone is wondering what has to do with either a hug or a dance, the answer is simple. The body smoother pantyhose are said to hug the legs with support. Round-the-Clock, the hose manufacturers, commissioned a dance Hug. That's the way promotion works. The Givenchy Hug will be taught, without charge, from 2 P.M. to 4 P.M. Saturday in what is the Saturday Generation on the Metro level (some of us still call it) at Bloomingdale's. The Body Smoother, in nine shades, are $5.95 you think that's a lot, the Givenchy signature in gold just below ine may be some consolation.

Tasty Good
Swearingen, whose husband, John, is chairman of the board of "Oil of Indiana," is very fond of such things as emeralds and oil. I thought it would be a great idea to have a perfume that smelled like emeralds. She's been going around extolling the yum-yum- roll-on lip glosses. With mint or cinnamon stick or cherry smash- lips, she said, a kiss tasted like a kiss. Her husband didn't. It turns out that Mrs. Swearingen was right. Tasty glosses have a big thing and one company after the other is coming out with izing flavors as Krazy Kols, Bubble Gum, Dr. Pepper and Carmel- ix. Factor calls its Lip Potions; Boone Belle is Lip Smackers and ne has come up with Kissing Potions. None are guaranteed to do, but shine, but one can always hope. For $1.75 to $2.50, it's try.

Cook Along With The World's Greatest New Chef

Freddy Girardet Shares His Kitchen Secrets—Recipes for Lobster, Duck Liver, Chicken, Striped Bass. See Page C14.

By CRAIG CLAIBORNE
WHERE people talk knowl- edgably about great cook- ing today, 40-year-old Freddy Girardet is said to be the most illustrious thing to come along since Mrs. Escoffier gave birth to Georges Auguste 130 years ago. Even Paul Bocuse has hinted at it. And Pierre Troisgros is so impressed with the man's talents that he dis- patched his son, Michel, to serve his apprenticeship in the kitchen of Restau- rant Girardet in the tiny Swiss town of Crissier, three miles from Lausanne. The professional restaurant critics of France are downright breathless when they mention his name. The man from L'Express describes Mr. Girardet's kitchen as "extraordinary, unforgetta- ble." The scrivener of Jours de France says "Sublime." There are even those who argue that what Mr. Girardet has put together is conceivably the greatest French restaurant on the European con- tinent. Then who is the new genius, this sorcerer of the European cookstove so recently catapulted into international enu- nciation? He has a modest background. He never served a day's apprenticeship in any of the great and established kitchens of France. To the contrary, in his early youth, he was a jock and when he wasn't playing with the local foot- ball team, he was working in his fa- ther's modest kitchen, in Crissier, a town of 4,000 inhabitants. That plus a three-year stint at a popular but scarcely celebrated establishment, the Brasserie du Grand Chêne in Lausanne. Mr. Girardet vows that his entire in- spiration in cooking began with a routine visit years ago to a vineyard in Burgundy on a buying tour. "I had never dined in any of the greatest restaurants in France," he said. "On this particular occasion, one of the vineyard owners suggested we drive to Roanne for lunch. He took me to the Troisgros restaurant." It was, Mr. Girardet recalled, an almost spiritu- al experience. In one meal, he declared, his vision, his entire concept of what cooking was all about, was altered—ir- revocably. The thing that astonishes his peers is that—following this experience, he

Continued on Page C14

Wives and Their Skills, Men and Their Dreams

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.
SORTLY AFTER I was snatched from the arms of my mother to go fight in the world war to liberate Poland, I found myself doing duty in the mess hall at Camp Wheeler, Ga. when the company commander, accompanied by syndacastic aides with polished swords, paid a state visit to the chef to report the find- ings of the Inspector General, or some other august person. It is that affects the morale of America's fighting order. (1) The food he eats. (2) Mail from home. Nic fatigues. I was very surprised. I lived for those letters from home, not yet tasted the joys of a furlough. But food? My had simply never turned to the subject. I remem- ber that the food at school in England was bad, at- tending prep school in Millbrook, N.Y., tolerable, in about what one would expect which, it served shun, which it always was, as also tolerable. This is my intellectual introduction to the importance of food as an opsmath. Others come to an appreci- ation early. I later heard about the suicides at a boys' school in the 20's. At the inquest, convened by a flustered ter, he addressed the student body. "Did anyone be asked, 'have any idea what might have been the cause of Jones's suicide?' Lord Harlech, then 8, raised his hand. "Could it have been the food, knew that food was a matter of life and death.

By MIKE WALLACE
FINALLY, I THINK, finally I shall be in commerce. For 20 years I've yearned to do it. Nothing big, no huge moneymaker, but something I might put my hand to, a restaurant or gallery, some small enter- prise where I might sit behind the cash register and talk to customers who come in to browse and buy. It first occurred to me that I'd like to do it when I met my wife in Puerto Rico back in 1955. She used to sit at a huge round table in the Galeria de las Antillas next to the Caribe Hilton and paint dresses. Coffee, cigarettes and morn- ings of pleasant aimless conversation, with enough money coming in to support her children and take an occasional trip back home. That undertaking of hers had begun in Haiti. She and her painter/partner had started the Galerie des Arts d'Haiti in the middle 50's. Paintings, dresses, Haitian beads and frames, some mahogany carvings. Why not try it again, I wondered a while back? Why not get it started long before retirement? A restaurant was what I wanted most of all. I don't know why. But it wasn't hard to talk me out of it. Too much work, too many employees, too easy to go broke. Besides, this was to be a family enterprise and no one else wanted to be involved with food. What about a store? What kind? A family conference decided it would be like none other in Fort-au-Prince. An emporium, we decided, that would sell

Continued on Page C20

Continued on Page C20

William F. Buckley Jr. is editor of National Review.

Mike Wallace is co-editor of CBS' "60 Minutes."

Pavarotti's Diet—With Pasta

By VIRGINIA LEE WARREN
IT is no secret that Luciano Pava- rotti—great in bulk as well as in voice—is taking off weight. The Metropolitan Opera's wardrobe department knows it because the sing- er's costumes in "Il Trovatore" have had to be taken in at least six inches. The audiences at the Met are beginning to notice it. And this shedding of pounds is rais- ing a lot of questions. Is it for a health reason? Has it stopped his cooking? Mr. Pavarotti's pastas have been considered only a little less sensational than his arias. And what about the parties for friends that inspired him to whip up those phenomenal dishes, parties that made those who attended fearful of getting on the scales for a couple of days afterward? The singer once said: "I'm not a great cook. I'm an Italian cook, and if my guests want to diet after eating with me, that's their deci- sion." Will he stick with the diet? And if

Continued on Page C16

Carl Fischer

Metropolitan Diary Tom Buckley

Richard Armour, one of the lightest of light versifiers, and one of the most prolific, has kindly provided a look at some of the things he has been thinking:

BIG DECISION

We've had a Bicentennial, We've heard the three Debates We've even picked a President To lead these 50 States. Now only one decision's left, Most troublesome of the lot, And that is whether we should have A swine flu shot or not.

Robert Hoffman, the Washington Heights patriot, reports that he has scored a qualified victory in his campaign to have Fort Tryon Park renamed so that it no longer recalls the memory of the last British colonial governor of New York.

While Community Board 12 voted down a resolution to rename the entire park for Margaret Corbin, the wife of a Revolutionary soldier who took her husband's place in the battle there on Nov. 16, 1776, after he was wounded, it proposed that the plaza and drive leading into the park should bear her name.

It's on Percy Sutton's desk right now," said Mr. Hoffman, a retired salesman. "We expect the recommendation to be made official any day now."

Victoria and Long Island City, on the far shore of the East River, is Indian country as far as Manhattan is concerned, so it wasn't exactly surprising that the latest victory of James J. Delaney, the grand sachem of the fierce Powhatan Democratic Club, went virtually unnoticed in the metropolitan press.

Election to his 16th term in the House of Representatives by the almost Stalinist margin of 100,000 votes on the Democratic, Republican and Conservative lines, to 6,000 for his Liberal opponent, put Mr. Delaney's line for one of the most important Congressional leadership posts—the chairmanship of the Rules Committee.

If he is chosen on the basis of his seniority by the House Democratic Caucus, and there is no sign that he won't be, Mr. Delaney will be the first chairman of a major House committee from the city since the defeat of Emanuel Celler, who headed Judiciary, in the Democratic primary in 1972.

Rules, which decides what bills get to the floor of the house and the way in which they will be considered, is a great place for bargaining and favor-trading, and Mr. Delaney expects to make the most of it on behalf of the hard-pressed city.

"I really sold my soul last year getting Federal help," he told Diary the other day. "It'll probably be a little easier this time, with Jimmy Peanuts in the White House."

Howard Smith, Bill Colmer and Ray Madden, served well into their eighties. The job is like Shangri-La. It's the Fountain of Youth."

North of the border, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police is a proverbially intrepid and persistent law-enforcement agency. Coming to the Big Apple, as the Mounties "Musical Ride" did to participate in the National Horse Show, they are just as careful as any little old matinee ladies from Plainfield.

"If we go out after the show we usually go in threes and fours," said one of the men as he waited to put his horse through its paces. "We haven't had any trouble, and maybe that's the reason."

The turn-of-the-century flavor of the Mounties in their campaign hats and scarlet tunics, riding matched black horses, found an echo in the harness horse event. Women take the reins in four-wheeled buggies behind high-stepping trotters.

The winner, appropriately enough, was a handsome, black-haired daughter of the Old Dominion, Sally Wheeler of Keswick, Va., who looked like something out of "Gone With the Wind," in a driving outfit of scarlet and black.

Although she's no women's libber, Mrs. Wheeler disagreed emphatically with the suggestion that the nation's roads might be safer if women had been limited to one-horsepower vehicles.

There can be few readers of books or, at any rate, book reviews who remain unaware that the original of Von Humboldt Flescher, the title character in "Humboldt's Gift," was the model that put Saul Below over the top for his Nobel Prize, was Delmore Schwartz, the New York poet.

Pretty much overlooked, though, is the marked resemblance between Orlando Huggins, who appears as the executor of Flescher's estate, and Dwight MacDonald, the critic and, in recent years, teacher at John Jay College of the City University.

Besides mentioning such MacDonald trademarks as a white goatee, a stammer and a cigarette holder, Mr. Bellow describes him in this way:

"It came back to me that more than 20 years ago I had found myself at a beach party in Montauk, on Long Island, where Huggins, naked at one end of a log, discussed the Army-McCarthy hearings with a lady sitting naked and astride opposite him."

Mr. MacDonald, who is currently working on his own memoirs, said that he was in fact the executor of the Schwartz estate. It consisted pretty much of eight or nine cartons of manuscripts and personal papers, which are at Yale University.

"James Atlas, the poet, has been looking through them," Mr. MacDonald said. "He has a biography of Schwartz coming out next year."

As to the beach scene, Mr. MacDonald said that in the late 1940's he had been one of the moving spirits of a summer of nude picnics on Cape Cod.

"Bellow was probably at one of them," he said. "I don't really remember. I haven't seen him in years. They weren't sensual things at all, though. We were ahead of our time."

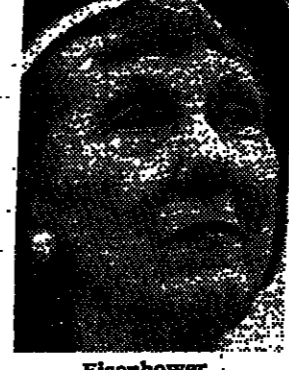

This space welcomes verse, anecdotes and other short contributions of merit. Publication will be its own reward—publication and a bottle of champagne.

Notes on People

Albin Krebs

Marx

Eisenhower

Corio

Although he's old (86), ailing, frail and almost deaf, Groucho Marx is in Washington, for the first time in 30 years, to be lionized. Tonight he'll present the Smithsonian Institution some famed items of Marxian memorabilia—the swallowtail coat, pith helmet and jodhpurs he wore as Captain Spaulding in "Animal Crackers." Tomorrow night, at a money-raising benefit called "Washington Greets Groucho," for Ralph Nader's Public Citizen organization, Valerie Ferrine, George Fenneman (Groucho's announcer) and Chevy Chase will read from Mr. Marx's letters and other writings. Reached by telephone before he left his Los Angeles home, Mr. Marx said he was glad Jimmy Carter had won the election, "but if Betty Ford had been running I would have voted for her." The last time he was in Washington, he said, "F.D.R. was in the White House and I visited his wife, Eleanor. We were taking a walk in the garden and a Marine band was playing—rather badly. I turned to her and said, 'No wonder you keep traveling.'"

The former First Lady, Mamie Eisenhower, will celebrate her 80th birthday Sunday, but well-wishers started deluging her with cards and gifts more than a month ago. The postal service in Gettysburg, Pa., where the widow of Dwight D. Eisenhower lives on a 500-acre farm, has received several bags of greetings sent to Mrs. Eisenhower from around the world. Mrs. Eisenhower is in frail health—she recently returned to the farm after a two-month stay in Walter Reed Army Medical Center—but she hopes to go through a sampling of the birthday cards. She rarely appears in public and intends to observe her birthday with members of her family.

Follow up: After the Department of Antiquities in Tel Aviv ruled last week that Moshe Dayan, the former Israeli defense minister, would have to give up some archeological treasures owned by the state, authorities picked up a pair of sarcophagi in his garden. "My wife was using them to grow flowers in," said Mr. Dayan. "They gave me a nice thank-you note and took it." A New York newspaperman reported yesterday that in 1967, when the Minister Dayan was showing his archeological collection in his garden, Mr. Dayan acknowledged he had possession of some items. "If I were the director of antiquities, I would rest me," said Mr. Dayan. "But I don't."

One of the last of the oldtime vaudeville striptease artists, Ann Corio "gone legit" and became co-owner of a theater, Miss Corio, who is 69 but doesn't look it, and her husband, Michael Iannucci, have lease on the Playhouse on the Mall in Paramus, and will present legitimate productions like "Same Time, Next Year." "Shenandoah." However, Miss Corio is not quitting her perpetually touring "This Was Burlesque" show (it's going on 12 years now) and early next year it will be filmed in the Playhouse on the Mall as a Home Box Office TV presentation. "Red Buttons" started out in burlesque, will be in said Miss Corio, the producer. "so will I," said Miss Corio, the ex-ast.

Peter Maas, the Mafia-watching best-selling author of "The Valachi Papers" and other books, was secretly married last week in Alexandria, Va., to La Parkins, a 30-year-old New York real estate broker. The 47-year-old Mr. Maas who is a member of the Board of Higher Education, was previously married to Audrey Gellen, a television film producer, who died 18 months ago.

The American Whig Closophic Society at Princeton University has chosen the retiring United States Senate Majority Leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana, for its James Madison Award for public service. Fred Rich, president of the political and debating societies said that "in choosing Senator Mansfield, we were recognizing especially his leadership in transforming the character of the Senate... in enabling the 18-year-old vote, and in his early consistent opposition to the war in Vietnam."

James J. Delaney, grand sachem of the Powhatan Democratic Club in Queens, won his sixteenth term in the House by a massive margin.

Waldbaum's food specials also avail. in TSS Hempstead & Lawrence. Prices avail. in N.Y. State stores only. Coupons are limited to 1 per family. No substitutions. Plus tax where applicable. Arm & Hammer detergent 1.19. Niagara spray starch 59c. Final Touch fabric softener 69c. Fantastik finger tip spray 73c. Borateem Plus 1.49.

dairy specials: Russell Farms milk 2 89c. Kraft singles 1.19. Schorr's tomatoes .55c. Merico Crescent rolls .33c. Vita Taster Bits .75c. Friendship Cottage cheese 69c. Yankee Ambrosia 89c. Wispride refills .99c. Fisher snack pack 69c. soft Fleischmann's .69c. frozen specials: Swanson TV Entrees 2 95c. Lender's bagels 85c. Buitoni baked Ziti 89c. orange juice 85c. Silver Star ravioli 1.09. French fries 75c. Light 'n Lively ice milk 39c. Carnation shrimp 1.99.

grocery specials: Campbell's soup 2 29c. Ocean Spray juice cocktail 79c. Brillo 10 29c. Pillsbury basic Bundt 73c. Skippy peanuts 79c. Scot towels 55c. Ajax cleaner 79c. Skippy peanut butter 2 29c. Aunt Millie's sauce 49c.

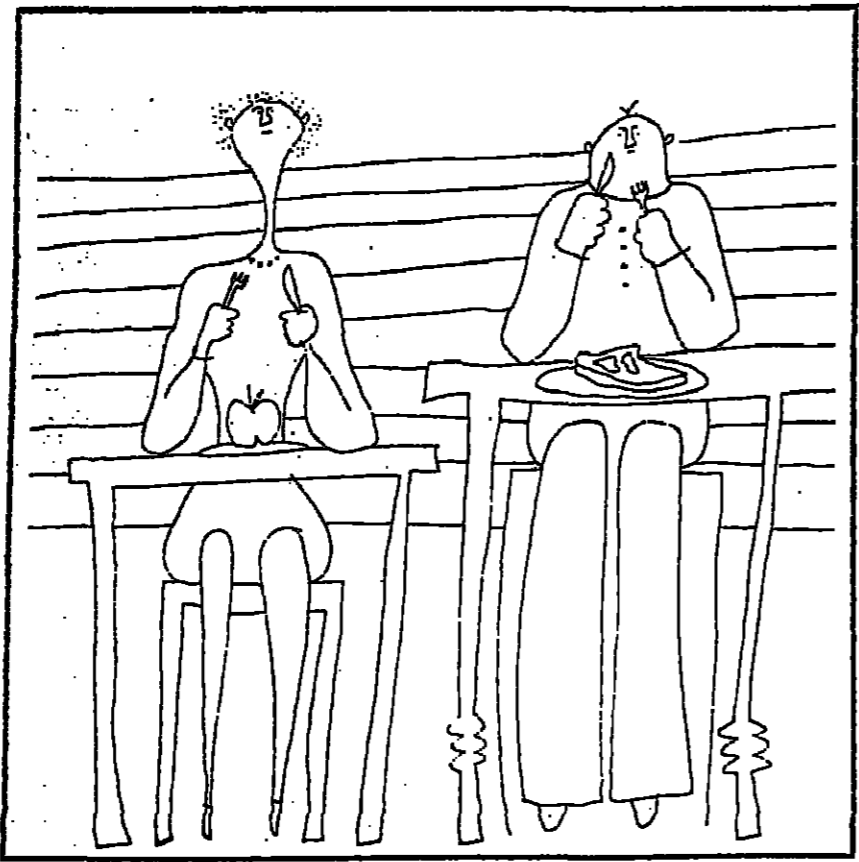

appetizer specials: ham sale 1.19. Pot cheese .69c. Cheddar cheese .99c. eggplant salad .99c. noodle pudding 85c. barley & mushrooms .85c. kosher deli sale 1.99.

Waldbaum's produce: 12 1, 3 39c, 8 1, 59c.

Obstinance Without Tears

By JOYCE MAYNARD

Two years ago, when the price of food had risen even higher than usual, a national boycott was announced...

Joyce Maynard

Food Freak' thinking of that TV commercial shows a mother offering a child a certain brand of cottage cheese...

cats, who talk about hormones injected into cows and chickens, and speculate about their relation to cancer statistics...

fish don't suffer on their way to becoming seafood. Maybe it is that cows and rabbits have faces, and clams do not...

re up eating meat about four go. There was nothing cere about it no one moment said "I'll never eat another op."

As for me, I have come to my salad days with no single dogma, and a combination of all. My health is good, but very likely I would be healthy eating hot dogs too.

I pass no moral judgments here. If anything, it is the moralistic kind of vegetarian I'd criticize. But for myself, I suppose it is, at least in part, the inability to do the killing that brings about my reluctance to do the eating.

are the proponents of vegetas as a healthier way of eating, political vegetarians, who argued about the effect on world of eating large quantities of beef.

There is a certain inconsistency perhaps, in the fact that I switched, not long ago, from abstinence from animal flesh of any sort to the point where I will allow the odd shrimp or scallop to cross my path.

A friend of mine raises a lamb every spring, and kills it every winter, for food. He doesn't enjoy the slaughter, but he does enjoy the lamb, and this seems sensible to me.

might just as well be asked whether I dream about the scent of a perfume I never wear.

This doesn't mean that I don't care about food, and about eating well, only that my tastes—which are, if anything, more refined now than they were five years ago—lean to things other than meat.

So I bake mushroom pies and cheese soufflés and knishes. I am not a vegetarian of the soybean-burger school. I do not try to imitate the taste of meat in what I cook, because the truth is, when it comes to meaty tastes, they are best come by in meat.

There are inconveniences in this vegetarian life, of course, most often arising when one goes out to eat. People tend to invest all aspects of food with enormous significance—the buying and the cooking and the serving and the sharing, and so when you reject a person's food—especially a food he has cooked himself—you may appear to be making much larger statements about the person himself.

Once, a few years back, in the days when I didn't eat fish, I was taken to a very fine restaurant in New York, and there was nothing on the menu I could have. My friend ordered some terrifically complex veal dish and I asked—rather shyly, I now realize—for an apple. After much questioning, the waiter accepted my order, a little sadly, and retreated to the kitchen.

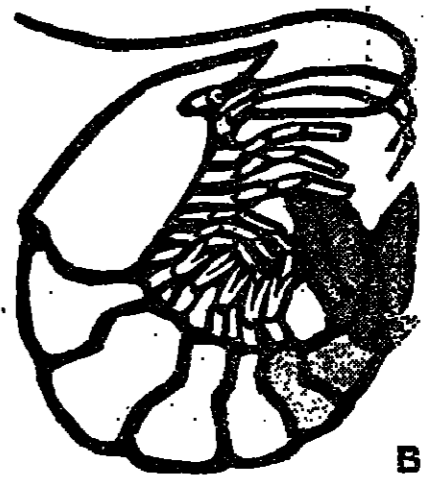

A moment later, though, the chef himself appeared for personal interrogation. One by one he went down the list of dishes, gesturing in the air to indicate textures and shapes of things, and each time I shook my head. Finally he swept the saltshaker and flowers off the table and began drawing wildly on the white linen cloth—fish and birds and various unidentifiable mammals.

I felt sorry to hurt this man's feelings—as I had clearly done. I'm sure the dishes he proposed were delicious. Some day, perhaps, if the way I've chosen to eat begins to seem too narrow and limiting, it is conceivable that I'd go back to eating meat. Right now, though, I feel no more unhappy about the knowledge that there are perfectly splendid dishes I have never tasted than I am unhappy at the thought that there are perfectly splendid people I will never meet.

60-Minute Gourmet

Pierre Franey

COOK a gourmet meal in the time often required to cope with one dish? With inventiveness and a little planning, there is no reason why a working wife, a bachelor or a husband who likes to cook cannot prepare an elegant meal in under an hour.

Barbara Bescoe

Regardless of time, an inventive and qualified chef has two distinct avenues to follow: the classical and traditional or the improvisational. If he's adventurous, he'll indulge in both.

The age-old question is, of course, whether or not an established chef follows recipes when he or she cooks. The answer is no, but in a qualified sense. In strictly traditional matters, most chefs still refer to Escoffier, who has been called the Moses of classic French cookery.

One of the things essential for "compact" cookery, so to speak, is coordination. Plainly cooked rice—and not minute rice, which takes as much time as regular rice and doesn't taste as good—can be cooked according to package directions while the shrimp is cooking. Guava shells are available in cans. Cooking in less than an hour, which most of the people I know do on a Monday-through-Friday basis—takes only a little foresight.

MENU

Shrimp margarita
Heart of palm and tomato salad, with vinaigrette sauce with herbs
Guava shells with cream cheese
Mexican or other beer

SHRIMP MARGARITA

- 3/4 pound (about 20) raw shrimp
1/2 cup lime juice
Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste
1 small, ripe, unblemished avocado
2 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon finely chopped shallots
1/2 cup tequila
1/2 cup heavy cream
1 tablespoon finely chopped cilantro or Chinese parsley (see note), optional.
1. Shell and devein the shrimp and "butterfly" them; that is, split them partly down the back and flatten lightly. Place the shrimp in a bowl and add the lime juice, salt and pepper. Let stand briefly until ready to cook.
2. Peel the avocado and cut it into half-inch thick slices. Discard the pit. Use as soon as possible or the flesh will discolor.
3. Heat the butter in a skillet and when it is quite hot but not smoking, add the shrimp, stirring rapidly and cook about two minutes. Sprinkle with the shallots and cook, stirring, about 10 seconds. Add the tequila. Take care, for the tequila may flare up. Add the cream and cook over high heat about one minute. Add salt and pepper to taste. Add the avocado and cook just until the slices are piping hot, no longer. Using a slotted spoon, transfer the shrimp and avocado pieces to hot serving dishes. Bring the sauce to a full rolling boil for about 30 seconds and add the chopped cilantro. Spoon the sauce over the shrimp and avocado. Serve with rice.

Yield: Four servings.

Note: Cilantro or Chinese parsley is available in markets that specialize in Chinese, Spanish or Mexican greens.

VINAIGRETTE SAUCE WITH HERBS

- 1 tablespoon imported mustard such as Dijon or Düsseldorf
Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste
1/2 teaspoon finely chopped garlic
1 1/2 tablespoons red wine vinegar
1/2 teaspoon crushed oregano
1/2 teaspoon ground cumin
1/2 tablespoon olive oil
1. Place the mustard in a bowl and add the salt, pepper, garlic, vinegar, oregano and cumin. Stir well with a wire whisk.
2. Gradually add the oil, stirring rapidly with the whisk. Serve over chilled salad greens.

Yield: About one-third cup.

Waldbaum's fresh produce advertisement. Includes prices for bananas (2 for 17¢), oranges (12 for 1), apples (3 for 89¢), and lettuce (49¢). Also features a bakery section with muffins and donuts.

Waldbaum's meat advertisement. Features a large image of a bottom round roast priced at 1.19/lb. Includes testimonials from customers like Helen Berger and Edna Gelston. Lists various cuts of meat and their prices, such as eye round roast (1.58/lb) and sirloin roast (1.38/lb).

Come on Over to A&P ... You Get Everyday Savings

YOU PARTICIPATED YET? National Days At A&P

A&P Gift Certificates

Solve Your Gift-Giving Problems THE IDEAL GIFT for everyone on your gift list. Available in $5 and $10 denominations, or for Turkeys, Hams, Jane Parker Fruit Cakes, Fruit baskets or other items of your choice. Call Toll Free in New York and Southern Conn. phone 800-631-0100; in New Jersey 800-562-2725 - Monday thru Friday 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

ADVERTISED ITEM POLICY Each of these advertised items is required to be readily available for sale at or below the advertised price in each A&P Store, except as specifically noted in this ad.

BROILING & FRYING

Whole Fresh Chickens

2 to 3 Pound Avg.

39¢

lb.

BY THE PIECE

Pork Loins

Full 7 Rib Portions

79¢

lb.

Loin Portion 89¢ lb.

ITALIAN STYLE

Sausage

Pork Hot or Sweet

99¢

lb.

Pork Chops Combo Pack 1 19 lb.

Fresh Picnics Pork Shoulder 69¢ lb.

Whiting Fresh Pan Ready 89¢ lb.

Red Snapper Frozen Fillet 1.09 lb.

Pork Loins 12 to 16 Lbs. Trimmed STOM CUT 99¢ lb.

Perdue Chickens Whole-Fresh Fryers 2 1/2 to 3 Lb. Avg. 49¢ lb.

Veal for Scallopini Thin Sliced From The Leg 2.49 lb.

Florida Citrus Sale!

Florida Grapefruit 5 lb. bag 79¢

Florida Oranges 5 lb. bag 79¢

Florida Sweet Tangelos Large Size 12 1⁰⁰ for Florida Sweet Tangerines Large Size 12 1⁰⁰ for

Pink Grapefruit LARGE - 32 SIZE 4 for 89¢

Carettes Honey Sweet 12-oz. pkg. 39¢

Yellow Turnips 12¢ lb.

Apples U.S. No. 1 3 lb. 99¢

Kiwi Fruit 3 for 1.00

Cranberries Ocean Spray 15-oz. pkg. 39¢

Onions U.S. No. 1 5 lb. 79¢

Walnuts In Shell 1-lb. bag 79¢

Potatoes U.S. NO. 1 EASTERN 5 lb. bag 69¢

Bufferin Tablets 109

Panty Hose A&P-OUR BEST QUALITY-REG. 89¢

one pair 69¢

Roast Beef half pound 1.29

Skinless Franks pound 1.09

Romano Cheese pound 2.59

Sable Chunks half pound 89¢

German Bologna half pound 69¢

Potato Salad Reg. pound 45¢

Imported Swiss Cheese & Boiled Ham Domestic - Combo Sale 1 99 lb.

Sultana-Frozen Meat Dinners 2 11-oz. pkg. 89¢

Chicken, Turkey, Beef or Salisbury

Margarine Corn Oil 2 1-lb. pkgs. 89¢

Orange Juice FROZEN TROPICANA 4 6-oz. cans 99¢

New Country Yogurt 8 oz. Cup 3 for 1⁰⁰

White Bread 20-oz. Loaf 4 for 99¢

Apple Pie JANE PARKER Reg. 8" Size 22-oz. pkg. 59¢

Hellmann's Mayonnaise Quart Jar 89¢

Big Roll Scot Towels 140 Sheet Roll 49¢

But Green Beans 5 16-oz. cans 1.00

Super Cola 28-oz. Bottle 4 for 1⁰⁰

Apple Sauce 2 for 89¢

Waffle Syrup 79¢

Tea Bags 100 in. pkg. 89¢

Butter 18-oz. jar 79¢

Fruit Drinks 3 qt. 1.00

Hellmann's Mayonnaise 89¢

Arm & Hammer Laundry Detergent 15¢ OFF

Rain Barrel Fabric Softener 20¢ OFF

Breyers Ice Cream Half Gallon 1 59

A&P Half & Half For Cream or Coffee - Pint Cont. 39¢

Prices effective thru Sat., Nov. 13th in A&P Stores in Brooklyn, Queens, Nassau, Suffolk County. Detergents not sold in Suffolk County. Not responsible for typographical errors. In order to assure a sufficient quantity of sale items for all our customers, we reserve the right to limit sales to 3 packages of any item unless otherwise noted.

Bumble Bee Light Tuna

45¢

Heinz Ketchup

39¢

WE GLADLY REDEEM FEDERAL FOOD COUPONS. 20¢ OFF Sta-Puf Concentrated Fabric Softener. 36¢ OFF Lipton's Cup-A-Soup. 20¢ OFF Dish All Dishwasher Detergent. 10¢ OFF Spic n' Span. 15¢ OFF Kimbies Extra Absorbent Diapers. 5¢ OFF Kretschmer Wheat Gem. 15¢ OFF Hecker's Flour. 20¢ OFF Hefty Bags Tall Kitchen. 40¢ OFF Hebrew National Knockwurst.

FRUIT & PRODUCE. POTATOES U.S. No. 1... Eastern Shore 10.79¢. Sweet Corn 3 ears 39¢. Avocados ea. 49¢. Oranges 12 for $1.00. BANANAS Golden...Ripe 19¢. Bosc Pears lb. 49¢. Anjou Pears 3 lbs. $1.00. Delicious Apples lb. 39¢. GRAPEFRUIT Indian River Seedless 8 for $1.00.

DAIRY FOOD. TROPICANA ORANGE JUICE 35¢. Cottage Cheese 65¢. Swiss Gruyere 69¢. Yogurt 3 oz. $1.00. Endeco Muenster 65¢. Soft Chiffon 59¢.

FROZEN FOOD. KEY FROZEN ORANGE JUICE 5.39¢. Key Waffles 5 for $1.00. Golden Blintzes 79¢. Cod Fillets $1.19. Hawaiian Punch 59¢. Fish Sticks 89¢. Key Potatoes 59¢. Sara Lee Cakes 89¢.

DELI SPECIALS. Boiled Ham $1.09. Salad Sale $1.49. Roast Beef $1.19. Genoa Salami $1.29. Jansberg Swiss $1.29. Domestic Romano $1.29. Pickled Herring 2 for 79¢.

Chicken Parts lb. 55¢. Chicken Legs lb. 69¢. Chicken Breasts lb. 89¢. Chicken Outlets lb. $1.69. Spare Ribs lb. $1.09. Pork Loins lb. $1.09. Shoulder lb. $1.69. Lamb Chops lb. $1.69.

Chuck Steaks 59¢. U.S.D.A. Choice Beef First Cuts, Bone In.

Chickens Broilers & Fryers Fresh Grade 'A' Whole 2 1/2 lb. Avg. 39¢.

U.S.D.A. Choice Beef Chuck Chopped 89¢. U.S.D.A. Choice Beef Fillet Steaks $1.29. U.S.D.A. Choice Beef Roast Beef $1.39. U.S.D.A. Choice Beef Shoulder Steaks $1.49.

KEY Quality Self Basting Turkeys 59¢. U.S.D.A. Grade 'A'...Frozen.

It's a Pleasure Shopping at KEY FOOD

Tetley Tea Bags 99¢. Dish Detergent 49¢. Hot Cocoa $1.69. Knee-Hi Hosiery 4 for $1.

Sacramento Tomato Juice 4.89¢. Apple Sauce 29¢. Green Beans 4 for $1. Kraft Dinner 29¢.

KEY Quality Sliced...Large...White Bread 3 for $1.

KEY Quality Vegetable Oil $1.29.

For 2, for 3,000— Her Life Is Parties

Whitney Warren takes a dim view of aspice for the parties she throws

By JOHN CORRY. The largest party she ever gave was for 3,000 people; the smallest was for two. At the party for 3,000, there was pheasant under glass, but she dined alone on an omelette. She didn't attend the party for two, tact keeping her away, although artfully she had hung peonies and lilies in the living room where it took place. Whitney Warren has a sense of style, propriety, too. Miss Warren throws parties, or, as she would say, does, or arranges, them. She throws parties for a living, and among her clients are the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the New York Public Library, Lenox Hill Neighborhood House, the Knickerbocker Club, Institute of International Education and International House. Among her other clients are people whose names you know, but whose identities she will never tell you. Miss Warren is very discreet. "No names, please. I mean I couldn't possibly say who my clients are," Miss Warren said. She was in a penthouse on Park Avenue that was not her own, but was the kind of place she can frequently be found in when she is arranging a party. When she does this she worries about things like aspice, candles, and even the envelopes with the invitations in them. The things to worry about multiply endlessly. There is the aspice, for example. Miss Warren does not like aspice. "If it turns warm, aspice melts and drools all over the table," she said. Miss Warren discourages aspice at parties. Then there are the candles. "Candles burn faster than you think. They can burn down before the first course, plunging everyone into darkness," she said. Candles were the first thing she learned about when she started giving parties. This was when she worked for the Metropolitan Museum of Art, and would prowling corridors, testing candles in the air ducts. Sometimes she made the guards very nervous. And then, of course, there are the envelopes. If Miss Warren is sending you an invitation to a fund-raising party, which is what most of her big parties are, she does not want your name and address scrawled with a ballpoint pen. She wants style. She may send the envelopes to a company that employs people with nice handwriting. The envelopes will be addressed for 10 cents apiece. If Miss Warren wants really high style, however, she will send the envelopes to a calligrapher. Some calligraphers get $3 an envelope. Miss Warren thinks she could make a tidy living doing that herself. "I started my party-giving career when an old friend who worked at the Metropolitan Museum of Art said, 'Whitney, what are you going to do now?'" Miss Warren said. Actually, she had grown up in Philadelphia, where her father was a banker, and then, shunning college, she had gone to secretarial school. She had hated it. Then, she said, she had gone to Boston, worked in a bank, and fallen in with the Cambridge-Wellesley. Two years later, her Main Line now touched with a brood hat she descended on New York. She said, she had liked New York as much as she had liked se school. Then old friends and connections started to appear things got better. It was how to the Metropolitan Museum of Art. "I remember my first party said, 'It was for the Italian f. and right away I was surrounded lists of names of Italian people I couldn't even pronounce. I insisted I wear a Fortuny dress had millions of pleats to the dress was divine and I took a picture of me that night, the only party where anyone took my picture." Miss Warren sounded wistful. signed. As a party arranger, she discovered that she worked very she worked almost invisibly. I 80 parties at the museum, she to stand near the door, m names and faces, and then on shy guests, to make graceful ir tions. Eventually, however, Miss left the museum to work for. She now arranges three or four parties each year for organizations along with perhaps a dozen for individuals. She says her fees vary, but she charges for her time on an or daily rate. Actually, she is orret about her fees as she is the names of the people who pay about the parties themselves, more forthcoming. "The cocktail time before d she said, "should never be mor 45 minutes—never. You can em that across the sky. I hate at around with a drink. I die. I h "Timing is everything at a party everything will always take mor than you think it will. Dinner is P.M., and you're planning a se Don't plan on it. The guest of may be late. It's the same with soup for a first course. You don't a cold soup hanging around, and party is late the soup will around." Better, Miss Warren said, the serve celery with paté. It holds doesn't wilt. Miss Warren said sh also been to parties where the h sprinkled the paté with bits of olive. People thought they were fles. "Now, I prefer chicken to Chicken holds the heat better, a good sauce it doesn't dry up," Warren said. "Vegetables—I like vegetables on a platter. I like color and texture. I went to a d party: the other night where every was the same color. Well, when sh Miss Warren said that when sh she almost always did it the same She said she kept a round board t for bed, and that she would pu out and put it over a hassock. would be her dinner table. Then, said, she would send out for Chi food.

LET SYLVIA PORTER'S HINTS HELP YOU GET MORE FOR YOUR MONEY. DIAL-A-MONEY SAVING TIP 999-3535. Dial-A-Money Saving Tip is a brand new service from New York Telephone featuring hints on how to use your money better from Sylvia Porter, famous author, columnist and financial expert. Each day, hear another way to make every cent work harder for you. Hear tips on budgeting, on saving and on shopping. There are even tips on kids' allowances. All taken from Sylvia Porter's "Money Book". So the next time you're looking for ways to get more for your money, Dial-A-Money Saving Tip, 999-3535.

you can! You can get out of a dead-end job. You can get a promotion. You can get the recognition you deserve. You can ask for and get that raise. You can get a transfer without being fired. You can choose the career you want. You can be more assertive on the job! You Can!... by investing $35 in a one-day success seminar in New York City for the working woman. For information call (212) 765-6825, 26, or 27 Ask for Jennie Charney. Or drop a note to AMR Seminars, Dept. BW1, 1370 Ave. of Americas, New York, N.Y. 10019. WORKING WOMAN Magazine and ADVANCED MANAGEMENT RESEARCH

Ban G Pickles turn up in the darnedest places. I've got a full house! Ban G Kosher Dills, Kosher Spears, Gherkins, Chips and Relishes! Pickles turn up in the darnedest places. BLOCH & CO. CUCUMBERS, LONG ISLAND CITY, N.Y. 11101

oad: Lon Status How Your Drive Mountain

Pates

In Case You Don't Know Beans About Chili...

By MARTIN WALDRON

It's getting to be virtually impossible to get a decent bowl of chili anymore. In some places, such as New Orleans, which prides itself on having the finest food in the Western Hemisphere, the Cajun cooks spurn chili as being Texan and offer as an unsatisfactory substitute red beans with an insipid thin sauce on it.

In Trenton, where I now work, chili is served on rice, the ultimate calamity to a noble dish.

So it was with a good bit of nostalgia and a lot of homesickness that I read in the papers the other day about the chili cooks getting together at Terlingua, Tex., for their annual tequila and chili feast.

Unless things have changed for the worse since the deaths of H. Allen Smith, the writer, and Wick Fowler, a gregarious oldtime newspaperman who, as a foreign correspondent during the Korean and Vietnam wars was used to cook chili on the front lines for homesick fellow Texans, the Terlingua chili, as usual, is extremely hot and creates a warm feeling of love in the stomach.

One feels sorry for all the people in the world who are born, live and die without their lives having been enriched with chili.

Never Again in New York

Columbus Day in 1965 was the last time I dared try chili in New York City. I went by Kochi's and ordered a beer and a bowl, and while waiting for the chili, idly dipped a corn chip into a bowl of black sauce.

Wow! It was so hot it blistered my lips and tongue and throat and created in me a great expectation for the chili. But, alas, compared with the regal hotness of that mysterious black sauce, which could have been liquid lye for all its power, the chili was at best a pale imitation.

One December a while ago, I arrived at Shreveport, La., at about midnight, and, in a discussion with a cab driver on the way from the airport, I was told that the Ramsada Inn had the best chili in town.

I checked into the Ramsada and, because the restaurant there stayed open all night, wandered in about 2 A.M. to offer my stomach a present of a bowl of chili. A group of loafers and four or five policemen were sitting around drinking coffee.

I suppose that what I saw had happened before somewhere, but it's the only time I ever faced it. The chili was the proper shade of red and had good consistency, and steam drifted up from the bowl. As I was about to taste it, I noticed one of the waitresses approaching the chili pot with a big platter of spaghetti on her arm. She splashed a couple of ladies of the chili on the pasta.

Meat, but No Potatoes

Regional food tastes vary. In McAlester, Okla., for example, steakhouses serve spaghetti instead of potatoes with steak.

Maybe people in Shreveport eat spaghetti with their chili, I thought. Then I tasted the chili. It wasn't very good, but it had a chili taste. I asked the waitress what was going on.

"Oh," she said, "we serve it plain as spaghetti sauce. To make it chili, I sprinkle some chili powder in it."

That, is, I am sad to relate, apparently the prevailing attitude toward chili in much of the world. It is evidently well on the way to becoming a meat sauce with a little chili powder sprinkled on it.

Almost everywhere I go now, the chili is laced with boiled pinto beans. This practice is not only loathsome but also turns chili into some other dish.

It is a flat rule of thumb: chili does not have beans in it. Beans go with

Illustration by Charles rice in New Orleans but not with chili anywhere.

Idea about chili have become so confused that many people think of chili as a meat sauce and chili con carne as a meat sauce with beans in it.

I have nothing against beans. They are fine, especially those big red pintos that the Mexicans call frijoles. But frijoles don't belong in chili.

A Chant With 2 Meanings

Three or four years ago, Dolph Briscoe, the Governor of Texas, was making a speech at the University of Houston, where several hundred students were demonstrating for a pardon for a black activist, Lee Otis Johnson, who had been sent to prison for giving a marijuana cigarette to an undercover policeman.

"Free Lee Otis, free Lee Otis," the students chanted, slurring the words together somewhat.

Puzzled, Governor Briscoe turned to an assistant. "Why are those students yelling about beans?" he asked.

"Free chili from frijoles," I say. That's the way I feel about some things.

Some Texas cooks, who do prepare chili better than anybody else in the world, have been known to use such exotic meats as armadillo, buffalo, venison and even moose in their chili. They are showoffs. But even they would not put beans in their chili.

Probably the best chili ever concocted was put together in the early days of the Terlingua chili cook-off, before it degenerated into a drink fest. The chili contest was developed by H. Allen Smith, the writer, who deserted Connecticut and moved to western Texas about 10 years ago.

Although it was started as a promotion gimmick for that part of the state, the contest grew into a full-fledged chili festival. Once there was a possibility that it would produce some genuine refinement in the making of chili, but recently it has been a big party. Fun-loving Texans have been flying into the area every October and sticking up tents. When it was time to cook the chili, most everybody was deep into tequila.

At testing time, the judges, or at least those who could still walk would stumble from pot to pot until they found one with so much pepper and chili in it that it burned the mouth. This they would declare the winner.

Some Masters of the Past

Many of the great chili judges and cooks seem to die before their time. In addition to H. Allen Smith, others who died in recent years include Honado Crouch and Wick Fowler of Dallas and Austin and other Texas points.

Wick had to be one of the greatest of chili makers. And after cooking chili for U.L.'s at the front, Wick would send reassuring stories back to his newspapers that Texas soldiers, no matter where they were, still liked their chili like their women—fiery, spicy and not full of beans.

Since Wick's chili was viewed by some as being a distillation of hell's hottest fires, it was no surprise when he was a winner at the Terlingua cook-off.

Wick rated his chili by how hot it was—three-alarm, two-alarm, one-alarm and false alarm.

The scale worked something like the Richter scale does on earthquakes.

Each gradation was 10 times that of the one just below it. The alarm chili is roughly 1,000 hot as one-alarm chili.

Most chili recipes do not call for pepper. For example, the late Johnson did not put red pepper. Ferdenales chili although he in beans.

Red pepper adds to the flavor as to the fieriness, and chili at least a pinch of it.

Three-Alarm Chili

Good chili is very easy to cook. A basic recipe calls for two pounds of chopped beef. If the beef is a little fat, so much the better.

Brown the beef in an iron pot, adding some beef fat to aid the browning if the meat is lean. Put about a cup of chopped onions and a couple of cloves of chopped garlic in the pot and stir around a little.

Then add as much oregano as can be lifted between the thumb and the finger, a tablespoon or so of ground cumin seed, a tablespoon of salt, an eight-ounce can of tomatoes or tomato sauce and a quart, or so of water.

Simmer together for about an hour, skimming off the fat now and then, and add a couple of tablespoons of flour that has been stirred into an equal amount of water. Cook another 20 minutes or so until slightly thick.

Some cooks claim to use camino seeds instead of cumin. There may be no difference in these spices. I give the chili a faint aroma.

For extremely hot chili, the burning kind, which can cut even a margarita, add a tea-ground red pepper—not the red pepper used for flavoring Italian and rice or four heaping tat of chili powder.

For a more balanced taste which the true chili eater craves whether it is moose meat or the dish, cut the chili powder maybe even in half, and mix pepper can be cut in half, too.

Before he died, Wick Fowler to market premeasured spice used in making "two-alarm" chili though it is normally available some select parts of Texas, it bought by mail from Calien: Inc., P.O. Drawer 5340, Austin 78763.

Best Buys

By LAWRENCE VAN GELDER

With the impact of a Presidential election still lingering, this week's bargain-hunting shoppers might do well to take their cue from the lexicon of politics and explore the possibilities of the pork barrel or a chicken in every pot.

After a period when pork was in short supply and prices were in the upper atmosphere, the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets reports the advent of increased supplies, which will probably continue through the fall and winter.

As a result, stores that have been featuring sales of beef in past months have been switching over to pork. Among the notable pork sale items are center-cut loin chops, ranging in price from $1.29 to $1.69 a pound; and pork loin roasts, at 69 cents a pound for the rib end, and 79 cents for the loin end.

Chicken is still featured widely as a good buy, with prices for whole broilers and fryers at 39 to 49 cents a pound; roasting chickens averaging three and a half to four pounds at 45 to 55 cents a pound; and bargains on the assortment, with the price depending on the assortment.

Some thought might be given to chicken livers too. At least one market has them on sale at 43 cents a pound. They tend to be in plentiful supply thanks to buyers of chicken parts and to all those fried chicken stores, which don't use them.

With vegetable prices edging up because local produce has vanished with the coming of cold weather, the bargain items are all-purpose potatoes, as low as 79 cents for a 10-pound bag; yellow onions at 19 to 23 cents a pound; low turnips at 17 to 19 cents; and yams, at 19 or 20 cents.

Fruit lovers will find a lot coming in from Florida. Deeper sizes, some tangerines can be found for as low as 5 cents each; grape fans are advised to look for Anjou pears are the best buy; the pears, with some on sale at a pound. Other bargains include nans.

Apples are also a good buy though the prices are not as last year. The McIntosh crop some erratic spring weather caused trees to blossom pre- but some three-pound bags of toshes can be found at 69 to a bag.

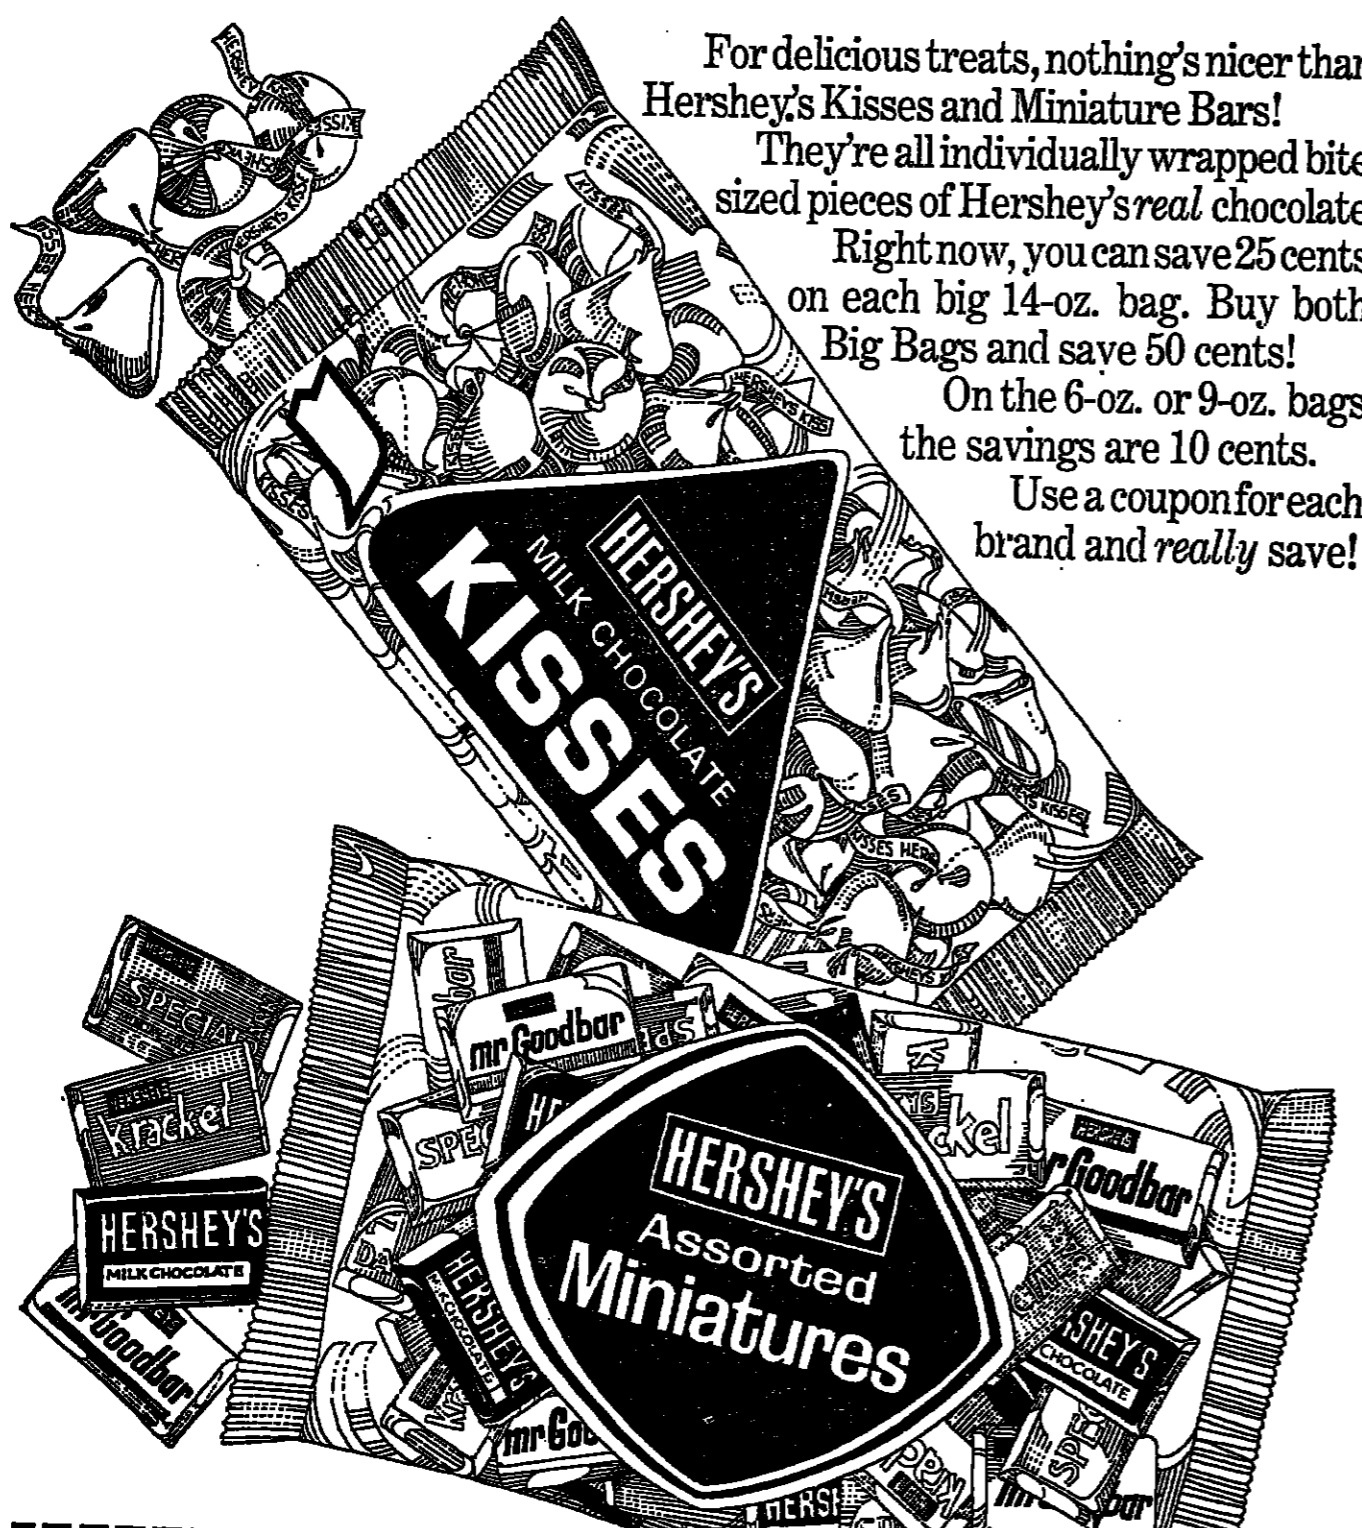

HERBED PORK CHOPS

- 1 teaspoon rosemary
- 1/2 teaspoon sage
- 1/2 clove garlic, chopped
- Salt and freshly ground pepper
- 4 large pork chops, about thick
- 1 cup water
- 1/2 cup dry white wine

- Mix the rosemary, sage salt and pepper. Rub the mixture on the chops.
- Place the chops in a large skillet, add the water and cover until all the water has evaporated about forty-five minutes. Remove cover and brown the chops on a fat.
- Add the wine and cook a minute, turning the chops once. The wine should be almost ev before service.

Yield: 4 servings.

Hershey's Big Bag Sale!

For delicious treats, nothing's nicer than Hershey's Kisses and Miniature Bars! They're all individually wrapped bite-sized pieces of Hershey's real chocolate. Right now, you can save 25 cents on each big 14-oz. bag. Buy both Big Bags and save 50 cents! On the 6-oz. or 9-oz. bags, the savings are 10 cents. Use a coupon for each brand and really save!

10¢ Off when you buy a 6 oz. or 9 oz. bag.

STORE COUPON

MINIATURES

25¢ Off when you buy the 14 oz. bag.

10¢ Off when you buy a 6 oz. or 9 oz. bag.

STORE COUPON

KISSES

25¢ Off when you buy the 14 oz. bag.

Bring it home cold... Serve it up hot!

When you get chicken to go, it's usually warm when you buy it, cold and soggy when you get home.

New Ralston Purina Fried Chicken is different. It comes frozen. You just pop it in the oven, and in less than an hour you're serving up a hot, crispy batch of delicious fried chicken. If you like, cook a few pieces at a time and store the rest in our exclusive reusable freezer bag.

It's economical, too! A 2-lb. box of bread thighs, drums, and wings costs a lot less than chicken to go.

New Ralston Purina Fried Chicken is best coated with a tasty batter and breading, and is cooked before packing.

We're so sure you'll like our new heat-n-see chicken, we're offering you a 25¢ savings on your first purchase.

25¢ Save 25¢ on your first box of new Ralston Purina Fried Chicken 25¢

Introductory Offer

- delicious
- convenient
- economical

25¢ 25¢

Coupon Expires April 1, 1977

Handwritten signature or mark at the bottom center.

New Bright Day low calorie mayonnaise. A chance to spread yourself thin.

People who diet are probably offered more promises than any other group around. Unfortunately, most of them are empty promises. Because the sad facts are that when you decide to lose a few pounds you usually lose taste, too. Bright Day imitation mayonnaise dressing is different. Because it's lower in fat and calories than regular mayonnaise without being lower in taste. So you still get the taste you love without the calories you hate. Bright Day is also completely cholesterol free for people who are watching their health. So if you choose mayonnaise because of your weight, health, or both, try new Bright Day.

And if you're one of those lucky people for whom taste is the only consideration, we offer the same advice.

Try new Bright Day.

25¢

Save 25¢ on a quart of Bright Day.

Mr. Grocer: United Food Industries, Inc. will redeem this coupon for 25¢ plus 5¢ for handling if you receive it on the sale of one quart of Bright Day no cholesterol imitation mayonnaise dressing. For redemption of properly received and handled coupons, mail this coupon to United Food Industries, Inc., P.O. Box 3104, Chester, Pennsylvania 19016. Coupons will not be honored if presented through third parties not specifically authorized by us. This coupon may not be assigned, transferred or reproduced. This offer void in any state or locality prohibiting, licensing, or regulating these coupons. The consumer must pay any sales tax. Good only in U.S.A. Offer limited to one coupon per purchase. Cash value 1/20¢. FRAUD CLAUSE: Any attempt to redeem this coupon otherwise than as provided herein shall constitute fraud. Invoices proving purchase of sufficient stock to cover coupons presented for redemption must be made available upon request. Offer expires February 28, 1977.

Private Lives | John Leonard

You are 37 years old, which, according to Aristotle, is the ideal age for a man to marry. And so you have decided to marry, for the second time. It is odd how much morbid interest such a decision excites in a city otherwise prepared to tolerate almost any bizarre relationship among animals, vegetables and minerals. Marty? Again? How quaint? What for? Friends walk around your behavior, poke at it with a stick; take snapshots, as though they were anthropologists happening upon a Druid or the Ik.

If those friends are full of literary vapors, they will quote Dr. Johnson on second marriages: "The triumph of hope over experience." Or Sheridan: "Zounds! madam, you had no taste when you married me!" Or Ambrose Bierce:

They stood before the altar and supplied the fire themselves in which their fate was tried.

To which you may want to reply with a Dutch proverb: In marrying and taking pills it is best not to think about it too much.

But of course you have thought of little else as you've gone about your rounds of finding a ring, and finding a doctor who will bleed you and sign a bill of adequate health; and finding a clerk at City Hall who will sell you permission; and finding a judge who will come to your home and who will agree not to quote Kahlil Gibran in the service.

There are reasons of state for marrying a second time, instead of persisting in relationships (which are to marriage what gun is to nutrition): income tax returns, life insurance, health insurance, passports, joint checking accounts, custody of Bloomingdale's, all those slips of paper, cards of identity, by whose arithmetic one adds up to a personality in the modern world. Let's keep it simple for the computers.

There are, moreover, two sets of children to consider. It would be better for them at school if, on explaining their domestic arrangements, they didn't sound like innocent bystanders in a particularly messy covert operation of the Cold War. Perhaps you think they would prefer to be elsewhere on the appointed Saturday. Don't let them be anywhere else. A son shouldn't go to the movies while his father is being married. If they stand around variously impersonating bookends, alarm clocks, ghosts, sentries, tourists or refugees, give them a poem to read or some flowers to hold. They are important witnesses, it isn't necessary that they altogether understand you; it is necessary that they take you seriously.

Remarriage? Some Reasons

Whereas bubonic plague wouldn't keep the two sets of parents, yours and hers, away from this occasion. They couldn't care less whether you are going through a midlife "crisis" or a midlife "passage"—so long as you're married. They will fly in from Bangkok or Reykjavik, to dust the furniture and hope for the best. They have been through these revolving doors before; you might even have attended one or two of their weddings. Let's keep doing it until we get it right. Along with the wheels of cheese and potted plants, wads of tissue and baby pictures, they will bring you a blank check on their loyalty.

As for your friends—those strangers, like your second wife, that you have taken into your house without the advice and consent of your parents—they will as usual finish off your Scotch, steal your books, burn holes in your patience, and make you laugh, they tip toe up and down the stairs because on the next landing or just coming out of a closet, there might be an ex-husband or an ex-wife or, for that matter, the Sullivanian analyst on the West Side to whom half of them had gone when they were sad. How unlike the first time, when we were all promising confident, stupid, graduate students ourselves, unblotched copybooks. You friends now are halfway through the novels of their lives, and worried about the next couple of chapters. And yet after all the jokes, they are genuine happy for you, for the surprise twist in your plot. Weddings are nice: mayb it's part of the nostalgia craze.

That first time everything was supposed to be grand. Someone had wanted to roast an ox on a spit in a pit of coals, and for there to be bagpipe in the apple trees and fox-trotting under the great elms and an acre o sunlight like a shield reflecting off th wine-glass and the brass buttons of th blue blazers, as though we were advising Mars by semaphore of our golde youth.

Not so on a November Saturday i the city of New York in 1976. No bag pipes. Maybe a harpsichord or a guitar. Casual clothes. Scraps of Donne an Yeats: But let a gentle silence wrough with music flow! Whether her footstep go. Is this a caution? Having domest cated the beasts of pride, does on these days walk one's luck warl around the block on a leash, instea of bragging about it? Is it safer to set tie for what W. S. Gilbert called "modified rapture"?

No. Having earned your modesty, thi time be careful. You marry, not fr reasons of state or children or parent or friends, but for yourself and the on you love, in gratitude. You resist th up a sanctuary, and know that it i fragile. You hope that you are find a serious character in your own life that everyone will believe this time yo are and will behave like an adult, ic stead of one of those toys on th streets with the keys sticking out o their pineal glands, doing mindles damage. To quote Yeats again, How else but in custom and ceremony? Innocence and beauty born? You marr to be worthy of a gift, and want i say so out loud, but without shouting One doesn't shout a prayer. Marriage is one of the few ceremonies left t us about which it is impossible—or a last self-demeaning—to be cynical Then, in secret, be joyful.

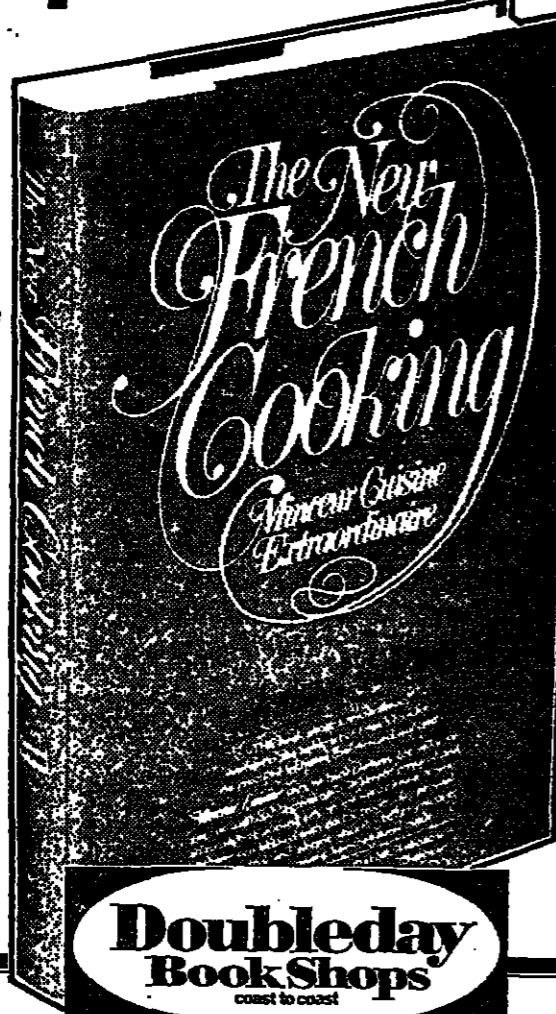

Featured this week at Doubleday Book Shops

Eat your way thin with superb french cuisine.

The secret is minceur cuisine, or slimming cooking. It's the revolutionary low-calorie, low-cholesterol French cooking that's taking the continent by storm.

Imagine Chicken with Champagne Sauce, Mousse, Cliche Noisise... even Bahamian Banana Soup with absolutely no butter, cream, egg yolks, sugar or artificial ingredients.

And now in 'The New French Cooking,' noted chef Armand Aucifno shows you how to prepare over 200 minceur dishes that let you enjoy the natural flavor of food.

Start this weekend. You'll savor four complete minceur menus, from appetizer to dessert, while you master every method.

Even learn to adapt gourmet recipes and your own family favorites.

'The hottest item since Julia Child's first opus. —Publishers Weekly

A GROSSET & DUNLAP book Specially priced at $14.95 until February 1, 1977 $17.95 thereafter.

Doubleday Book Shops coast to coast

724 Fifth Avenue at 57th Street • 673 Fifth Avenue at 53rd Street • 777 Third Avenue at 49th Street • 14 Wall Street • Scarsdale, 744 White Plains Road • Paramus: The Fashion Center • Garden City: 528 Franklin Avenue • Both Fifth Avenue shops are open until midnight.

SAVE ON SWISS MISS COCOA!

NOW IN ECONOMICAL, RESEALABLE CANISTERS OR HANDY ENVELOPES.

Swiss Miss Hot Cocoa Mix is made with lots of chocolatey-rich cocoa and nonfat milk. So all you do is add hot water and give a little yodel!

SAVE 15¢ ON ANY SIZE CANISTER OF SWISS MISS HOT COCOA MIX.

STORE COUPON

Grocer: We redeem this non-transferable coupon for face value of coupon plus 5¢ handling on size of Swiss Miss Cocoa package specified on this coupon provided you and consumer have complied with the terms of this offer. Any other application constitutes fraud. Failure on request to submit proof you bought stock to cover coupons submitted may void them all. Void if prohibited, taxed or recalled. Cash value 1/20¢. Redeemable only by retailer. Mail coupons to: Swiss Dairies Coupon Redemption Program, P.O. Box 1569, Elm City, N.C. 27626. This offer expires Nov. 31, 1977.

SAVE 10¢ ON ANY 12-ENVELOPE BOX OF SWISS MISS HOT COCOA MIX.

STORE COUPON

Rock sensations?

Find out where the good sounds are and what's new in recorded rock, too, every Friday in John Rockwell's Pop Life column. It's just part of the fun you find every Friday in the Weekend Section.

The New York Times

AH, YOU HAVE THE GOOD LIFE!

GOOD FOOD, GOOD WINE, GOOD TALK.

(AND HOME DELIVERY OF THE NEW YORK TIMES.)

It all adds up. Good talk starts any morning the breakfast table where you have The New York Times to help.

On Wednesdays and Sundays, The Times turns the talk to food.

Also on Wednesday Frank Prial's "Wine Talk" column tells you interesting things that you hold your own in a conversation about wine.

Ah, the good life is The New York Times! I only thing that could be better is to have The Times delivered.

So why not make your good life better by mail this coupon:

The New York Times
Home Delivery Department
229 West 43rd Street
New York, N.Y. 10036

For goodness sake, please ask to have The New York Times delivered to my home as checked:

Every morning
 Weekdays
 Sundays

Name _____
City _____
St. _____
Address _____
State and Zip _____
Phone _____

New deliveries to new home deliverers for all local delivery territories only. Delivery to a new home only if you have moved to a new home within the past 12 months. Delivery to a new home only if you have moved to a new home within the past 12 months. Delivery to a new home only if you have moved to a new home within the past 12 months. Delivery to a new home only if you have moved to a new home within the past 12 months.

الشرق الأوسط

Personal Health | Jane E. Brody

Jogging Is Like a Drug: Watch Dosage, Beware the Problems

RECENTLY, A MAN I know in his late 40's suffered a severe heart attack and, within a week, the number of joggers in his neighborhood doubled. Spurred by their close brush with cardiac disaster, several men with varying degrees of gray in their hair and fat around their middles joined the ever-growing contingent of both sexes who in the morning leap out of bed and jog around the park. One man, don old, bleached and chins high and cheeks breathlessly around the park, asked what drives them to this passion a daily ritual that is as little more than a so-called form of masochism, things such as: "I feel like a man," "I sleep better," "I eat better," "I feel sexier," "I'm more energetic," "I don't get so upset any more." Such immediate rewards, however, are the leading killer of American men.

Eventually reveal whether physical conditioning prolongs their lives.) But enough is currently known about the effects of various forms of exercise on the heart to suggest that activities like jogging offer potentially lifesaving benefits—if they are practiced sensibly according to a personally tailored exercise "prescription" and heeding certain precautions against their hazards.

According to Dr. Lenore R. Zohman, an exercise specialist at Montefiore Hospital and Medical Center in New York, the main cardiovascular benefit of exercise training is that it improves the efficiency of the heart. The heart can pump more blood with less effort.

A person who is "cardiovascularly fit" has a lower heart rate at a given level of exercise (and therefore his heart muscle has more time to rest between beats) than someone whose heart is not "fit." He can exercise vigorously for a long time without feeling tired and can respond to sudden physical or emotional demands without his heart racing or his blood pressure rising precipitously.

Dr. Zohman reports that exercise training also lowers the blood pressure and the level of triglycerides in the blood, but it apparently does not produce a sustained lowering of cholesterol. Exercise also reduces the tendency of the blood to form clots that could provoke a heart attack.

Certain other purported benefits of exercise have not yet been proven. These include the development of supplemental blood vessels to the heart, so that if a main vessel is blocked by a clot, the heart muscle would still receive oxygen.

Another unproven possible benefit is the expansion of existing coronary arteries, which would permit oxygen-carrying blood to reach the heart even if the artery were narrowed by a clot or atherosclerosis.

On the basis of established benefits of exercise, the American Heart Association says that exercise is "prudent." But what kind of exercise, how much and who should do it?

Jogging or any other strenuous physical activity can be dangerous to people who are not in good physical condition, especially people with already damaged hearts and fat-clogged arteries. Many American men over age 35 have "hidden" coronary artery disease, and a sudden exercise spurt could throw their heart's rhythm out of whack, precipitating a heart attack.

Others for whom strenuous exercise could be dangerous include people with untreated high blood pressure, congestive heart failure, uncontrolled diabetes, skeletal muscular diseases and obesity.

As a general rule, if you are over 30 and not accustomed to regular strenuous exercise, you should get a doctor's advice and a thorough checkup before beginning an exercise program. The checkup should include an exercise stress test—a measure of your heart's electrical activity, your blood pressure and your respiration while you are "exercising" in the doctor's office on a treadmill or stationary bicycle.

If your heart is unable to withstand the stress of increased exercise, the stress test may produce chest pain, a change in the electrocardiogram, abnormal heart rhythms or blood pressure responses, or breathlessness.

An impaired heart or other abnormality does not rule out—and in fact may be improved by—an exercise program, but it does mean that any such activity should be done only with a doctor's supervision.

Those who are given the go-ahead to exercise should start slowly and over a period of weeks or months gradually increase the strenuousness of their exercise until they reach a level that "conditions" their hearts. This level falls between 70 and 85 percent of your maximal heart rate, or pulse, rate. Your doctor can tell you your maximal heart rate on the basis of an exercise stress test, or you can calculate it roughly by subtracting your age in years from the number 220.

Thus, if you are 45 years old, your maximal heart rate would theoretically be 175, and the pulse rate to aim for—your "target zone"—in your exercise program would be between 122 and 148 beats per minute. There is little cardiac conditioning to be gained from exercise that falls much below or that exceeds this level. To determine whether you've reached your target zone, take your pulse immediately upon stopping exercise, by counting the beats for 10 seconds and multiplying by six.

The kinds of exercises that help the heart are those that involve sustained, rhythmic, repetitive motion such as jogging, bicycle riding and swimming, as long as you reach your target zone. For elderly people and those in poor physical condition, brisk walking could provide effective conditioning.

Weight-lifting and isometric exercises may improve your build, but not your heart. Similarly, sports such as football, golf and doubles tennis are unlikely to involve enough sustained activity to condition your heart.

Ideally, the exercise should be done daily or a minimum of three times a week with no more than two days between workouts. If you stop exercising for a time, the benefits are not maintained, and in restarting your program you should again start slowly and build up gradually (not start at the level where you left off months earlier).

To avoid undue stress on your heart and muscles, each exercise period should begin with a 5- to 10-minute warm-up, followed by 20 to 30 minutes of exercise in your target zone, and ending with a 5- to 10-minute cool-down period, during which you slowly reduce your exercise level.

Dr. Herman K. Hellerstein, professor of medicine at Case Western Reserve University in Cleveland, points out that "exercise is like a drug—it has a dosage, frequency, complications, indications and contraindications." And like any drug, exercise can be abused as well as used in health-saving ways.

You have a right to know!

Food product labels can answer your nutrition questions.

- Q. How do I know whether one margarine is more polyunsaturated than another?
- A. For some margarines, Mazola® Margarine, for example, the grams of polyunsaturated fat per serving is given in the nutrition information panel. All margarines carry a list of ingredients. If the first ingredient is a liquid vegetable oil, the margarine is high in polyunsaturates. If the only fat listed is hydrogenated (or hardened) vegetable oil, then the polyunsaturated level is low.
- Q. My son is a "picky" eater, and he eats very little meat. What other food is a good source of protein?
- A. One is Skippy® Peanut Butter. Skippy's label shows that two tablespoons contain 9 grams of protein. That is 15% of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance. A peanut butter sandwich with milk and an orange add up to a balanced meal.

- Q. What are the guidelines for a cholesterol-lowering diet?
- A. A major university recently described a diet to reduce serum cholesterol. This diet included skim milk, lean meats, poultry and fish, few egg yolks, lots of fruits and vegetables, whole grains and Mazola pure corn oil. Mazola was included because, as is apparent from the label, it is high in polyunsaturates, low in saturates and contains no cholesterol.
- Q. I'm watching my fat intake, and wonder about Hellmann's® Real Mayonnaise?
- A. The nutrition information panel on a Hellmann's Real Mayonnaise label tells you that a tablespoon provides 100 calories and 11 grams of fat—which is high in polyunsaturates and low in saturates and cholesterol. This means that Hellmann's Real Mayonnaise also fits into a cholesterol-lowering diet.

J. M. Rathmann
DOROTHY M. RATHMANN, PH.D.
DIRECTOR OF NUTRITION

All these Best Foods® products carry a list of ingredients, as well as a nutrition information panel.

MAZOLA MARGARINE
MAZOLA CORN OIL

MAZOLA NO STICK
HELLMANN'S REAL MAYONNAISE
SKIPPY PEANUT BUTTER

KARO® CORN SYRUP
GOLDEN GRIDDLE® SYRUP

Best Foods EPC®
a Division of CPC International Inc. International International Plaza
Englewood Cliffs, N.J. 07632

Personal Finance: Using Plastic Money When You Hold the Cards

By RICHARD PHALON

THE so-called "big five" credit card companies are creating a cashless society that sometimes leaves customers wondering how to cope with the computerized realities of it all.

A threshold question, as an editor of the Foreign Policy Association discovered with some pain recently, is how to choose.

Of cash one night last summer, she was counting on her Master Charge card when she had on many similar cards before—to pay the freight on a half-ton of "Bubbling Brown Sugar."

The fun suddenly went out when the editor found that neither the Anta Theater nor Bill Hong's restaurant down the block accepted Master Charge.

The editor tried hard not to scowl as her guest, something of a check grabber anyway, triumphantly took care of first the theater tickets and then the dinner—with an American Express card.

Why American Express and not Master Charge? The reason is buried in trade relationships. Some restaurants prefer one card over another because of variations in the discounts they charge member establishments or differences in how quickly they make reimbursements on customer charges.

The question of which card or cards to have is not a new one.

Several years ago, the Metropolitan

Life Insurance Company did a comparative study of credit cards and wound up ordering a so-called travel and entertainment card, American Express, for 1,500 employees. It ruled out entirely bank-sponsored cards, like Master Charge, for business use, but many executives think they have a definite place in the pecking order of accountancy.

James Conway, president of the Ayco Corporation, a financial counseling concern, urges his clients to carry at least two cards—a travel and entertainment card for business and a bank card for personal spending.

"If you keep all of your office spending on the T. & E. cards and have your wife keep buying the kids' shoes and things like that on the bank card," Mr.

Conway says, "you'll never have any trouble convincing the Internal Revenue Service that personal expenses aren't creeping into the business."

The editor whose guest wound up paying for dinner and the theater had once carried both the Master Charge and American Express cards. But she let the American Express card lapse after deciding that the $20 annual subscription charge was too high.

The $20 service charge is a kind of Chinese Wall. It separates the "travel and entertainment" cards (American Express, Carte Blanche and Diners Club) from the cards sponsored by two different groups of banks (BankAmericard and Master Charge). The bank cards, from the very beginning, have made promotional capital out of the fact that they do not charge an annual subscription fee.

The travel and entertainment cards go after the carriage trade. Diners Club, for example, maintains that the median income of its holders is $27,000 a year.

The primary market is the expense account aristocracy—business people, in good measure—interested in the convenience of charging their bills at hotels, restaurants and the theater, and able to meet the travel and entertainment requirement of paying cash on the barrelhead 30 days later.

The $20 annual fee is, in effect, the price travel and entertainment card holders pay in exchange for getting a 30-day free ride on American Express or Diners Club money.

a convenient way to handle installment credit.

"It's good for the banks, and it's good for the customer," says Lea Ann Van Houten, director of member information services for BankAmericard.

"If your refrigerator breaks down and you want to buy a new one in a hurry, you can do it all on your card. You don't have to fill out a lot of papers and wait for approval, as you would with regular installment credit."

Despite their installment-credit orientation, bank card deals clamor competitively for attention against the travel-and-entertainment opposition on restaurant windows or in hotel lobbies. Mainly, however, the bank cards' appeal is to the shoppers in department stores and retail shops rather than to business travelers. That is one reason why the bank cards can offer holders so many more outlets than the travel and entertainment cards (see box).

Progressively, though, the bank cards have succeeded in elbowing their way into many restaurants and hotels that used to be the exclusive pleasure domes of the travel and entertainment cards.

"They are aggressively trying to get into the better places," says Arthur L. Grimes, a Diners Club vice president.

About 50 percent of the telephone orders taken at the Metropolitan Opera's box offices, for example, are charged to American Express. Between them, however, BankAmericard and Master Charge account for 40 percent of the total. The rest goes to Diners Club and Carte Blanche, according to Patrick Veitch, director of marketing for the Met.

Credit Cards at a Glance

	Card Holders	Outlets*	Participating Banks
American Express	7,600,000	350,000	—
BankAmericard	32,535,000	1,264,000	7,250
Carte Blanche	700,000	250,000	—
Diners Club	2,300,000	350,000	—
Master Charge	38,565,153	1,285,778	7,962

FRESH REASONS TO TRY US.

1. New Minute Maid is easy to use... just open the carton and pour.

2. New Minute Maid is dated for freshness, just like milk, so you know it's fresh.

Minute Maid has the fresh taste of fresh

4. With Minute Maid, you know you're getting a perfect taste, consistently delicious.

5. New Minute Maid is 100% pure with no preservatives or sugar added.

Minute Maid comes in cartons that are stronger than glass breakable, too.

Save 10¢ on 2 32-oz. or 1 64-oz. carton of Minute Maid 100% pure orange juice FROM CONCENTRATE.

Look for it in your store's dairy case.

Expires June 30, 1977

WE'RE PARTICULAR about the clothes we wear ...

the food we eat ...

the house we live in ...

Let's be particular about the most important thing of all—the water we drink!

Mountain Valley is the only water to merit nationwide acclaim, a water which has been popular every day for over 100 years.

Every drop of Mountain Valley Water comes from one protected spring in Hot Springs, Arkansas.

You'll say it's the best water you ever tasted—and you could be right!

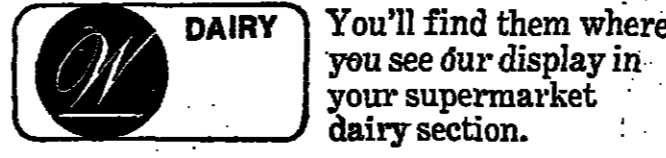

FOR FREE BOOKLET,
Phone: (212) 391-1112 (201) 748-6868
Drop in or write:
1440 Broadway New York 10018

Mountain Valley Water
FROM HOT SPRINGS, ARK.

Why settle for just plain cheese?

Now you can enjoy a taste tour of Denmark, France, Germany, Austria and the United States with great gourmet cheeses—at their "prime time" best—and at supermarket prices!

We're making it easy for you to buy the world's finest gourmet cheeses at their peaks of flavor. Luscious cheeses for new taste experiences. To serve as snacks and canapés, in sandwiches, or for dessert. Delicious with fruit, perfect with wine. It's easy. Just look for cheeses marked with this symbol:

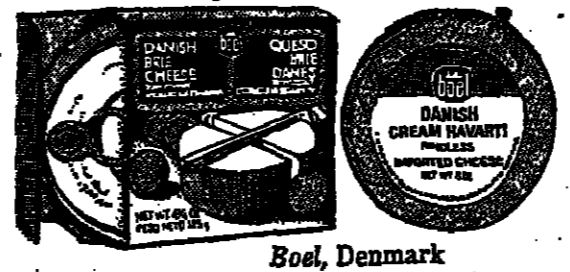

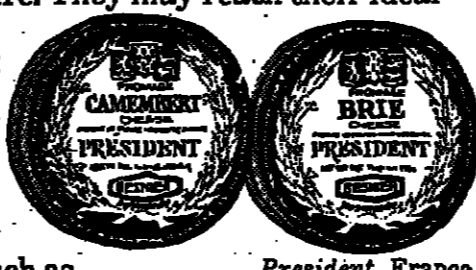

Why it's important to look for the Walker "Prime Time" Cheese Boutique in your supermarket.

Different varieties of cheese require very different conditions and periods of time to ripen, or mature. They may reach their ideal flavor and texture—what connoisseurs call "prime time"—after aging for as little as four weeks to as much as eight months. And under very specific conditions of temperature and humidity.

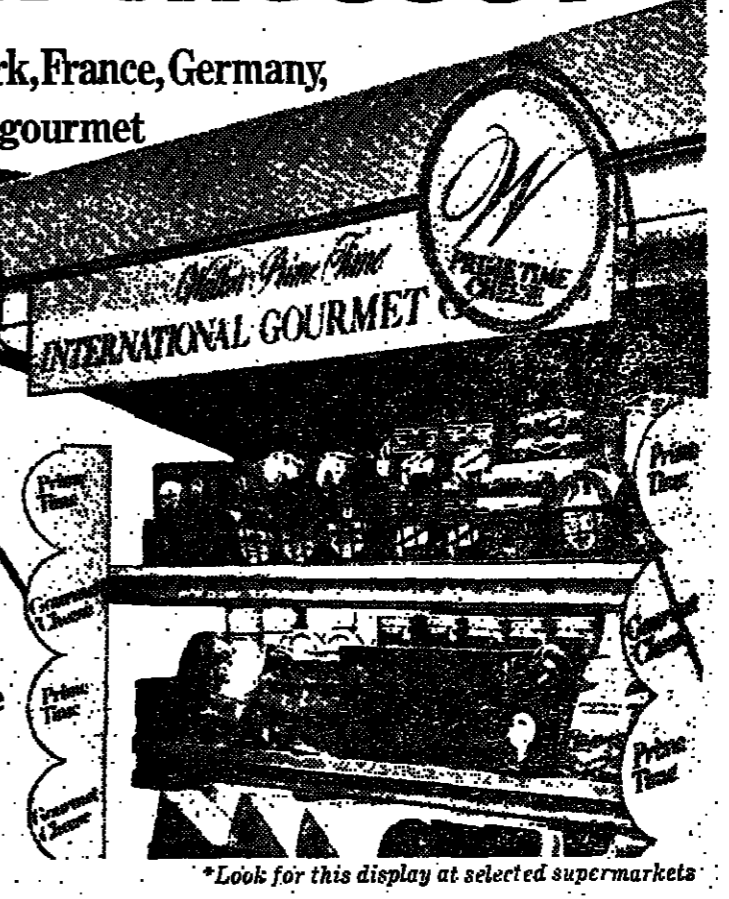

Until we established our network of gourmet cheese boutiques in the dairy departments of selected supermarkets, you could not be absolutely sure of always getting delectable gourmet cheeses at their ideal peaks of flavor and texture.

Now you can be sure.

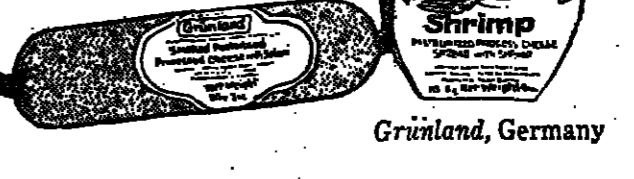

The conveniently packaged brands you select at the unique Walker "Prime Time" International Gourmet Cheese section

Rondelé, United States

are guaranteed to be at their ideal, perfect peak of condition.

Walker's secret: "Prime Time" Control.

1. We ourselves import the cheeses on schedules that carefully match their different maturity times.
2. The precise range of temperature and humidity required during shipment from abroad is maintained automatically in special climate-controlled sealed containers.
3. We ourselves deliver the cheese directly to the selected supermarkets without interim warehousing.
4. We ourselves stock and maintain the boutique sections in the dairy departments, continuously checking them for prime time quality of each and every package.

And we are unique. No one else provides Walker "Prime Time" control.

Walker Foods, Inc.
20 Harrison Street, New York, N.Y. 10013
Treat yourself to more than just plain cheese.

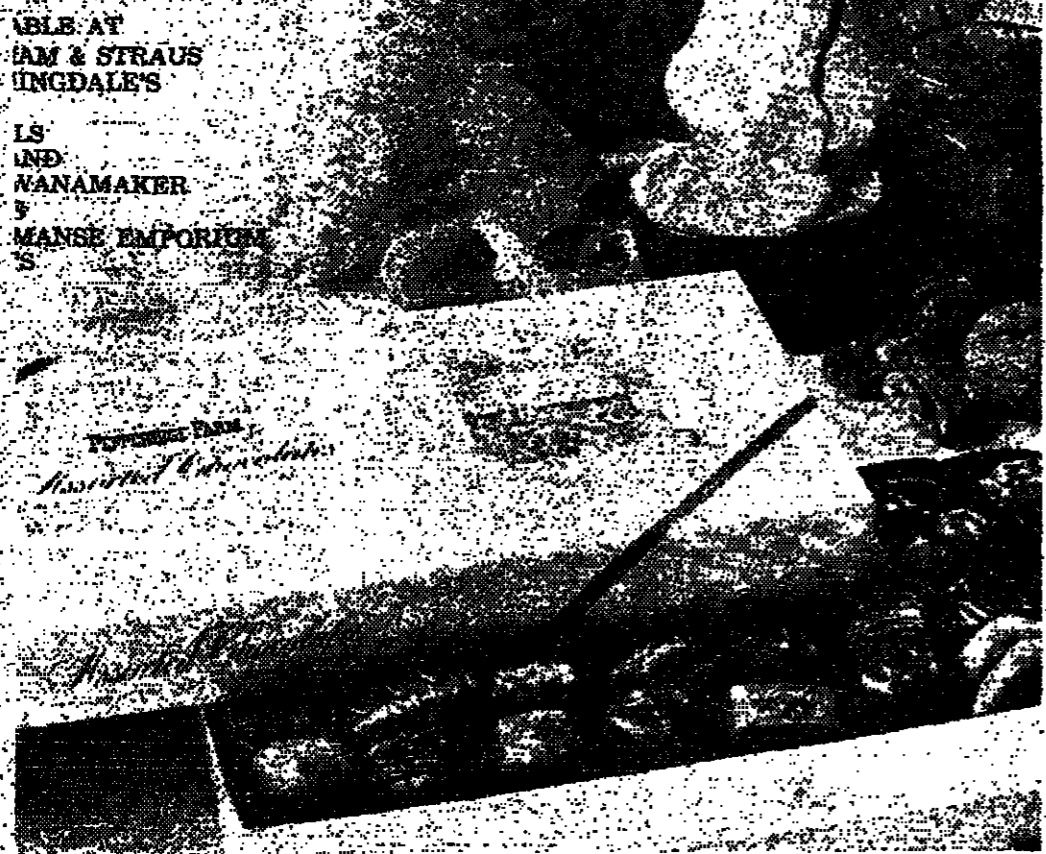

*For supermarkets in your neighborhood featuring Walker "Prime Time" cheese, write, or call: 212-966-1802

Upperidge Farm Chocolates

NO ARTIFICIAL COLORS, FLAVORS OR PRESERVATIVES

Upperidge Farm brings you candy made with pure sweet dark and milk chocolate. All your fillings—caramels, creams, nuts and mints.

Available in eight sizes and varieties at fine department and specialty stores. Look for the boxes with an old-fashioned scene on top.

AVAILABLE AT:
HAM & STRAUS
LINGDALE'S
L.S. LIND
WANAMAKER
MANSE EMPORIUM

Handwritten note: 11/10/76

INQUIRE ABOUT DELIVERY FREE PARKING NEXT DOOR

212-724-6767 Diagonally Across From Lincoln Center 179 Columbus Ave. at 68th St., New York, N.Y. 10023 ESTABLISHED 1941 LIC. L-1368

67 wine & spirits merchants CLASSIC WINE & FOOD AFFINITIES

In this wonderful holiday season celebrating abundance, we at "67" are a natural part of your wine and food plan. We sell more quality wine than anyone else, and know that before we can please you we must please ourselves. We enjoy knowing how secure you are through our recommendations and want you to be the envy of your circle. Our staff is prepared to discuss all wine and food affinities.

A special addition to this year's Thanksgiving advertisement are the menus of one of New York's leading chefs. If you would like to prepare any of these menus come in to our shop and we will happily share the recipe with you.

BURGUNDY SELECTIONS

Table with columns: BURGUNDY RED, LOTUS LATOUR, BURGUNDY WHITE. Lists various wine types and prices.

SPARKLING SELECTIONS

Table with columns: JEAN DU PLESSIS, HAUTE-SAVOIE-blanc de blancs 1973, RESERVE DE LA COMTESSE DE LALANDE 1974. Lists sparkling wine options and prices.

BORDEAUX SELECTIONS

Table with columns: ST. ESTEPHE CHATEAUX, ST. JULIEN CHATEAUX, GRAVES-RED CHATEAUX. Lists Bordeaux wine selections and prices.

DRAMATIC BUYERS REDUCTION SALE

Table listing various wine types under the 'DRAMATIC BUYERS REDUCTION SALE' heading, including Chateau de Camensac 1973.

MARGAUX CHATEAUX

Table listing MARGAUX CHATEAUX and ST. EMILION CHATEAUX wine selections and prices.

INTERNATIONAL WINE SELECTIONS

Table listing international wine selections including bernet Sauvignon, ZINFANDEL, SAUVIGNON BLANC, and others.

THANKSGIVING DINNER

Table listing menu items for a Thanksgiving dinner, such as Mushroom-Tarts, Turkey with Oyster Sauce, etc.

CALIFORNIA WINE SELECTIONS

Table listing California wine selections including CHARDONNAY, PETITE SYRAH, CHENIN BLANC, and MERLOT.

WINE

Table listing various wine types and prices under the 'WINE' section.

BIG BOTTLES

Table listing 'BIG BOTTLES' of wine, including REDS IN MAGNUM and WHITES IN MAGNUM.

BIG BOTTLES

Table listing 'BIG BOTTLES' of wine, including CUT OUT AND MAIL section.

Table listing various wine types and prices, including Cotes-Du-Rhone and CHIANTI CLASSICO.

Table listing various wine types and prices, including ALVEAR'S MONTILLA'S and AULDE HADDINGTON CREAM SHERRY.

CUT OUT AND MAIL form with fields for NAME, ADDRESS, CITY, PHONE, and a table for QTY, ITEM, COST.

LARCHMONT, N.Y.

HAROLD FEIT and The WINETASTERS offer you A GREAT PRE-THANKSGIVING WINE SALE

STARTS TODAY—ENDS SAT., NOV. 27 This is the largest and most exciting wine sale we've ever run. Each wine was carefully picked. Prices have been sharply cut—from 10% to 40% below current market—to give you fantastic holiday and gift-giving values. So come in. COME IN.

BORDEAUX

Table of Bordeaux wine prices with columns for wine name, bottle count, and case price. Includes items like '73 Ch. Lynch Bages' and '73 Ch. Pape Clement'.

BURGUNDIES

Table of Burgundy wine prices with columns for wine name, bottle count, and case price. Includes items like 'R71 Gevry Chambertin Perrieres' and '72 Chambertin Clos De Beze'.

THE SPLENDID BURGUNDIES OF MOILLARD

The House of MOILLARD is one of the few great negotiators of Burgundy and Rhone wines. With so many tiny, unknown vineyard parcels in the Cote d'Or, astute negotiators are needed to seek out, bottle and ship top quality reds and whites. MOILLARD shines as their wines are superb. Try a case or two at WINETASTERS' sharply reduced prices.

Table of Moillard wine prices with columns for wine name, bottle count, and case price. Includes items like '71 Gevry Chambertin' and '72 Romanee'.

WINETASTERS' SPECIAL SELECTIONS

From Spain, Vina Condalia 1954 BOSCONIA RESERVE. A big, big, mellow and mouth-filling Burgundy-type wine. Aged 10 yrs. in wood, then in bottle, this rich Rioja from Lopez de Heredia is simply super. Also includes 1970 COTE ROTIE, Dom. Gerin and 1971 CABERNET SAUVIGNON.

SUPER AMERICAN WINES

Table of American wine prices with columns for wine name, bottle count, and case price. Includes items like '1974 Chateau de St. Jean Cabernet Sauvignon' and '1973 Ridge Zinfandel Occidental'.

GREAT CHRISTMAS GIFT IDEA NIEPOORT VINTAGE PORTS

ORDER NOW FOR LATE NOVEMBER—LIMITED SUPPLY Here's a superb selection of true-aged Ports, plus a few very fine non-vintage values. NIEPOORT'S VINTAGE PORTS are bottled after two years in wood. Their COLHEITA (meaning "HARVEST") PORTS are true-aged Ports from stated vintage years but are matured in wood for many years and recently bottled. They make fine holiday gifts.

Table of Niepoort wine prices with columns for wine name, bottle count, and case price. Includes items like '1963 Vintage Port' and '1963 Vintage Port'.

SEE OUR VAST SELECTION OF FINE GERMAN WINES ON SALE—ASK FOR LIST

HAROLD FEIT'S Winetasters 100 Chatsworth Ave. • Larchmont, N.Y. 10538 (914) TE 4-0800, TE 4-0092 • WE DELIVER OPEN 9 to 8 P.M., Mon.-Sat. • ONLY 5% SALES TAX

The Thinning of Pavarotti

Wine Talk | Frank R.

Continued from Page C1

he does, will it harm his voice? Don't panic, aficionados: There is no health problem. Mr. Pavarotti's heart is as strong as it is warm, and he says he doesn't have to worry about cholesterol. As for his voice, he says he will be singing better than ever—already his breathing is easier.

The reason he decided to take off weight, he said on a recent evening in his close-to-Lincoln-Center hotel suite, was that he simply thought the time had come. He had been talking about it for the last few years. And recently friends in Italy had begun to work on him, saying, "We love you, Luciano, we don't care whether you sing or not; what we want is for you to be with us for a long, long time."

And so, in early September, he went to a diet institute in his home town of Modena. "Eighteen hundred calories a day," he said, "One-third of what I would normally eat." Then, with a mischievous twinkle, "And one-sixth of what I'd been eating. But I can have everything. Except sweets. It's just that everything now must be little." Even the 60 grams of pasta he is allowed.

Is he still cooking? He is, indeed, and partly for the same reason that he always did—it's a good rest for the vocal cords. "To protect the voice, should not talk too much," he said. "I like to spend time without talk, and one way is to cook." He was planning to rest the cords some more later in the evening, by playing poker.

But the pasta parties are no more. Maybe some day he will figure out a way to have them. Right now, though, he is busy figuring out how he wants to use his daily allotment of four table-spoons of oil and is studying calorie charts—almost as intently as he does operatic scores. He throws out bits of information such as, "Did you know a half pear is 70 calories?" or "Mushrooms very low; I can eat much, much mushrooms."

Mr. Pavarotti does his own marketing, when he can't find time, his secretary, Antemarie Verde, a biologist before she worked for him—she describes herself as an opera nut—helps out. He approaches a market the way he does a new role—as an adventure. And he wondered recently how he would make out with some frozen artichoke hearts. The verdict, after they'd been treated to a little oil, parsley and garlic, was highly favorable.

a little French scale. To watch him go through the procedure of consulting calorie charts, then putting a tiny portion of something or other on the scales, then figuring out how many calories will be left in reserve for the next meal is only a little less engrossing than watching one of his performances. Indeed, it is a performance, carefully prepared. What kind of pasta does Luciano Pavarotti like best? "All kinds," he said, and there was a trace of whimsy in his voice although he said later that what he misses most is wine: he is allowed 250 cubic centimeters (about nine ounces) a day and he usually stretches it with soda. "But lambrusco, the wine from my region, is light and sparkling, and I could always enjoy it with soda and ice."

When the big, white mushrooms were brought, Mr. Pavarotti gently pulled out a stem and plopped it into his mouth. While munching, he twisted a slice of the well-oiled beef into the mushroom's cap. Then he slid the cap across the plate so it could pick up a bit of the oil and pepper and lemon juice. The result was worthy to be the first course of a gourmet meal. For Mr. Pavarotti, it was the meal.

Will he stick with the diet? Those who are close to him are confident that he will. For he usually accomplishes what he sets out to do. He is well into shedding his second 25 pounds, and one meal that causes no problem is breakfast. Like most people in his region of Italy, he never wastes time on it anyway. And so the two glasses of skimmed milk (100 calories) that he is allowed now are quite sufficient.

What he misses most—more than all the wine, more than all the pasta—is the convivial cooking he used to do for friends. What he is getting tired of is having people wonder about the diet's possible ill effects on his voice.

The fact is, he is less exhausted now after performing such a taxing role as manager in "Il Trovatore." And the high Cs, including that whole parade of them in "La Fille du Regiment," can be managed with more ease. Mr. Pavarotti is planning to take off about 100 pounds and is confident that, when he weighs around 200, he will be singing better than ever.

After calorie charts and the scales were put away and the singer was getting ready for his poker game, it seemed a good time to ask about the next day's piece de resistance. "Tomorrow," said Mr. Pavarotti, "I have beautiful pigeon. The day after maybe some mushroom with foie gras on them, and into the oven. Also some bread and half a pear. Then he said, "Antemarie, bring pigeon."

What Miss Verde brought from the refrigerator was a frozen squab that looked like any frozen squab. But when Mr. Pavarotti took it and held it against his bulk it seemed no bigger than a plucked and trussed hummingbird. He gazed at it lovingly and said, "With it some green beans, I think."

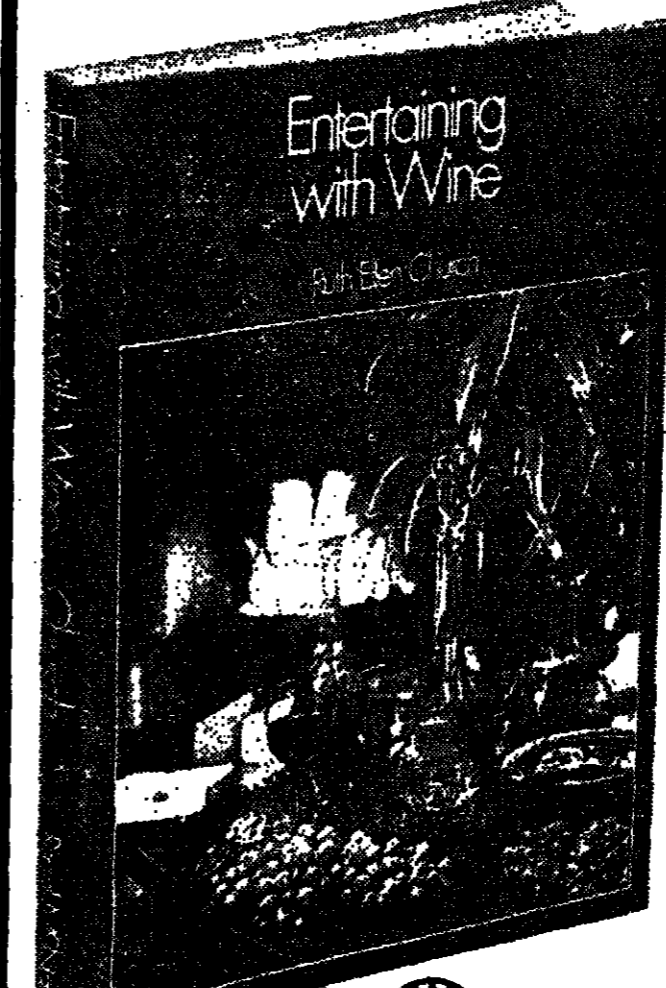

From the great châteaux districts of Bordeaux, three remarkable wines from Cartier.

The Bordeaux region of France has been turning out some of the finest wines in the world ever since the Romans. Most Bordeaux wines are made in small, individually owned vineyards, or châteaux. Of these châteaux officially cited as outstanding over the years, 85 percent are located in just three districts—Médoc, Graves and St.-Emilion. All three are unique in soil and climate conditions. Conditions that result in consistently superior wines. The wines from all three are distinctive, all three are superb.

MORE WINE ADVERTISING APPEARS ON THE PRECEDING AND FOLLOWING PAGES

The Best Wine Book EVERY ITEM for just about A WINNER everybod

ENTERTAIN WITH Wine By Ruth Ellen Church America's first wine columnist shares her knowledge to make wine a grand part of any event from a picnic to a black-tie affair. The real facts about foreign and domestic wines—which are better. • How to store and serve wine. • Which wine to serve with what and does it make any difference? • Wine for brunches, lunches, cook-outs, picnics, parties—any occasion. • Using wine for formal occasions. • Great cooking with wine—recipes.

Rand McNally P.O. Box 7600 • Chicago, Illinois 60680

The most decorated French wine in history.

Château de La Chaize. Produced and bottled at the famed 300-year-old Chateau de La Chaize, this Beaujolais Brouilly has captured more gold medals in a single vintage than any wine in French history. One taste explains all.

A breathtaking novel of tempestuous love and passion that sweeps across two continents. The beautiful Caroline... unjustly accused... the daring, flamboyant Justin—together they escape to the Ne. In their own "Savage Eden," they let their fierce and tender love for each other...

WHERE ARE WE? Just off N.E. Thruway—15 min. from Throgs Neck or White Br., 20 min. from G.W. Br. or Greenwich, 40 min. from N.Y., 10 min. from Scarsdale.

Handwritten signature or note at the bottom of the page.

Talk

champagne is the stuff of...
ations and coming-out...
astic cups at tedious...
the winning picture...
to be enjoyed. High...
Champagne communit...
coming a notion rather...
Champagne is meant to be...
day. Champagne will...
Benedictine monk who...
ted it, is said to have...
a "7" are drinking the...
ave. Nothing in the...
y, the freshness, the...
of a three-meter...
alms, entirely by hand...
rtle of wine.

Champagne Is For Drinking and Not Just on Special Days

Continued from Preceding Page
...
tra dry, sec, demi-sec and, occasionally, doux.
...
the favorite in the United States, is the driest. Extra dry is a...
...
Chardonnay, the second...
...
is high as $26 a bottle...
...
available for around $10...
...
ies.

...
can vary from firm to firm, depending on when each one thinks...
...
achieved something extraordinary. But there have been some...
...
when conditions were so good that many champagne houses...
...
wine of that individual harvest. Some memorable vintages in...
...
wine have been: 1955, 1959, 1964, 1966, and 1969.

The other trend is pink champagne, a big hit 70 years ago especially in England. The best pink champagnes are made by leaving the skins of the pinot noir grapes in contact with the juice just long enough for a little pigment to seep in. Lesser pink champagnes are made by blending in a little red wine made from black champagne grapes.

American-made champagne, like American-made table wines, languished as bottled mediocrity for years. No longer. Labels such as Schramsberg, Hans Kornell, Sonoma Vineyards, Beaulieu and even Almaden and Gold Seal have come to stand for sparkling wines of great style and finesse.

Schramsberg may well be the best sparkling wine produced in this country. It is served at the White House and it accompanied former President Nixon to China. Schramsberg's best-known wine is Blanc de Blancs.

Hans Kornell's Sehr Trocken is made mostly from riesling grapes, as its teutonic name suggests. It is a fuller, less subtle wine than the Schramsberg.

Some of America's biggest champagne producers are not in California but in New York State. Americans have probably drunk more New York State champagne than any other kind. Gold Seal, Great Western and Taylor are among the best-known labels.

A final word about serving and drinking champagne. Those traditional saucer-shaped glasses you drag out every now and then? Forget them. Or better yet use them for ice cream. Serve champagne in a tall thin "tulip" or "flute" style glass. If you cannot find any or don't want to use traditional wine glasses, the flat glasses dispense all the bouquet of the wine, one of its finest qualities.

And don't pop the corks. It is dangerous — there is 90 pounds of pressure in that bottle, making for a very high muzzle velocity — and, if the wine foams out, it is very wasteful. You pay just as much for the wine you lose as the wine you drink.

Table with 2 columns: Brand/Type and Price. Includes items like Moët & Chandon Dom Perignon 1969 ($25.95), Laurent Perrier Grand Siècle 1969 ($25.95), Veuve Clicquot La Grande Dame ($21.35), Bollinger R.D. 1966 ($17.30), Charles Heidsieck Rose 1969 ($15.25), Schramsberg Blanc de Noir 1972 ($12.98), Mumm's Cordon Rouge ($11.95), Schramsberg Blanc de Blancs 1973 ($9.69), Hans Kornell Sehr Trocken ($7.95), Marcel Dujardin 1969 Brut ($6.29).

The First of the Fine Varietal Red Wines of ROMANIA Arrive in America!

NEWS!

Romania sends us its best red wines— Cabernet Sauvignon and Pinot Noir. Choose between them at the dramatically low price of $1.99 the bottle, $21.75 the case.

EUNICE FRIED, author of "What Every Woman Should Know About Wine," has just returned from visiting the vineyards of Romania and reports, "In Romania I discovered what dedication to wine-perfection can achieve—the most remarkable wines I've found anywhere at this low cost. These Romanian wines can hold their heads high, even among wines that sell at higher price levels."

HAPPY NEWS FOR THE COST-CONSCIOUS Both of the wines are made from the noble red varietal grapes—Cabernet Sauvignon and Pinot Noir. They are the kind of wines that would be good value at $3 the bottle. At $1.99, here is a unique opportunity to drink fine red wines at a wonderfully low cost.

A NOBLE TRADITION

Wine-making is a noble tradition in Romania. It dates back to the time when the country was a province of the Roman Empire. We now proudly offer you the best wines of their country to bring the fruits of their tradition to your table. These two well-known red varietals capture the same bouquet and flavor as their French counterparts—red Bordeaux and red Burgundy—you will be happy to serve them. It is of interest to note that in America a wine must contain at least 51% of the Cabernet Sauvignon grape to be called 'Cabernet Sauvignon.' In Romania, however, a wine must contain at least 90% Cabernet Sauvignon to be called 'Cabernet Sauvignon.' In effect, we are dealing with a true varietal.

Cabernet Sauvignon The classic red wine grape of Bordeaux. Pinot Noir The noble red wine grape of Burgundy.

Circle containing text: Your choice $1.99 bottle $21.75 case

EUNICE FRIED, a highly recognized wine authority, and our associate, MICHAEL AARON, happily imbibing the delicious Cabernet Sauvignon that has just reached us.

LAST MINUTE SALE VALUES

Table with 3 columns: Wine Name, Bottle Price, Case Price. Includes items like PINOT CHARDONNAY MACON 1974, CHATEAU HAUT GUIRAUD 1970, SAINT ROMAIN BLANC 1973, CHATEAU MOULIS 1970, REMY PANNIER BRUT BLANC DE BLANCS, BOYER BRUT BLANC DE BLANCS 1973, CHATEAU HAUT BRION 1969.

CONVENIENT ORDER FORM. Includes fields for Name, Address, City, Qty, Item, Cost, and checkboxes for C.O.D. and Check Enclosed.

SHERRY-LEHMANN, INC. WINE & SPIRITS MERCHANTS 679 Madison Ave. At 61 St., New York, N. Y. 10021 • TEmpleton 8-7500

BUYER RITE LIQUOR

EACH STORE IS INDEPENDENTLY OWNED & OPERATED

EVERY ITEM IS A WINNER...

Advertisement for Buyerrite Liquor featuring various bottles of liquor with price tags. Includes items like Ever House Whisky (6.98), Nikolai Vodka (7.97), Calvert Whisky (16.48), Gold Medal Whisky (10.48), Seagram's V.O. (7.46), L. Masson Brandy (4.98), Cartoca Brandy (5.28), Ties Espadas Cream Sangria (99c), and Green Label Deinhard Brandy (3.95).

Table listing various liquor products and their prices across different categories like Manhattan, Staten Island, Rega, Queens, Brooklyn, Nassau, Suffolk, and Suffolk.

CONSUMER PLEASE NOTE! THIS ADVERTISEMENT SPONSORED AND PAID FOR BY THE LISTED RETAILERS AND DOES NOT CONSTITUTE A CHAIN ENTERPRISE JOINT OPERATION OR COMMON INTEREST OWNERSHIP.

take a drive to scarsdale

the zach strikes back

WED.-THURS.-FRI.-SAT.-MON.-TUES.-WED.

PRICE WAR... THE GREATEST WINE SALE EVER... A CONTINUING SAGA... OUR GREATEST WINE SALE EVER IS THE TALK OF THE TOWN... IF YOU HAVEN'T RECEIVED A COPY OF OUR WINE LIST... CALL... RUN... BUT DON'T TAKE THE BUS... CAUSE THE BUS DON'T RUN.

All sizes fifths unless otherwise noted.

Table listing various wine bottles with columns for bottle price, case price, and limits. Includes entries like '1972 Chateau Gloria', '1972 Chateau Mouton Rothschild', etc.

HALF BOTTLE MADNESS

Table listing half bottle wine offers. Includes entries like '1970 Haut Brion', '1969 Chateau Pavie', etc.

TO MAKE THE TRIP WORTHWHILE

Table listing wine bottles suitable for travel. Includes entries like '1961 Chateau Haut Brion', '1964 Chateau Carruades', etc.

zachys WINE AND LIQUOR INC.

20 East Parkway Scarsdale, New York. MON TUES WED 8 A.M. to 8 P.M. THURS FRI SAT 8 A.M. to 9 P.M.

ONLY 5% SALES TAX

New Yorkers, etc. Charlotte Curtis

For weeks now, while supposedly big-time partygoers danced attendance on a social season consisting mostly of public benefits and openings, Frank and Barbara Sinatra have been out on the town restoring New York's reputation for real glamour.

If they weren't at the Joshua Logans' for dinner or the Robert Wagners', they were in the country with the Morton Downeys or Mike and Jan Cowles. Or at the "21" Club, being celebrated by such other regulars as Bing Crosby, Kitty Hart, Jacqueline Onassis and the Peter Dinklage.

As always, while Mr. Sinatra was singing at the Westchester Premier Theater, he hired a bus and rode such pals as Claudette Colbert, Mollie Parris, Martin and Arlene Gabel and Mayor and Mrs. Beame up and back for a concert.

Barbara Sinatra says she's "the happiest," and Frank Sinatra says, "What's this about happy? I'm the happiest," and it doesn't matter who's right.

"It knocks me out," she said, fingering a new gold choker set with antique Roman coins. "Maybe I appreciate it more because I didn't always have all this."

Well, maybe. But the utterly soignée Barbara Sinatra is a sentimental lady to whom material things are not what it's all about. What matters is the sense of caring and, as virtually everybody in the Western world knows by now, Frank Sinatra cares.

He reads that a stranger's house has burned down and he writes a check. A friend mentions a new kind of shaver or perfume and it arrives gift-wrapped within 72 hours. He walks into a store and when the bills are totaled up, the salesperson rings up a week's profits.

For Barbara Sinatra, Every Day Has Become Christmas

United Press International

The contract he ordered that the tickets be priced so ordinary people could afford them. Aside from a $100,000 benefit for battered children, those concerts are to do no more than break even.

But that's months from now. In the meantime, the Sinatras have abandoned New York, leaving it in considerably better financial shape than they found it, and are back in Palm Springs, creating yet another party season in and around the refurbished Sinatra Compound.

Since the Compound was a bachelor's quon for years, what it needed was a little rearrange. A new master bedroom. New dressing room. closets. A bathroom for Mrs. Sinatra. A combi breakfast-sitting room where the old bedroom used to be.

When the Sinatras are in residence, what New York, Palm Springs, Los Angeles or the high in the San Jacinto Mountains, their sons then plays grand opera and the classics. Not Mr. Sinatra because he doesn't like to listen to self. But the living legend does hum now and mostly in the shower.

In the kitchen, Mr. Sinatra is his own best chef, dishing up marinara and two kinds of sauce, and chicken with little potatoes and The recipes are from his late father, a Sicily mother, who has her own house in the Comi from northern Italy where the cooking, the tras explain, is more nearly French.

At night, she likes caftans and clouds of She was married in a Hilton. In New York wore lots of Mollie Parris, including the re guard silk with pinsts. Her jewelry, including a pear-shaped engagement ring, is spectacular she rarely goes anywhere without a handsome ring on the little finger of her right hand.

Being in the Swim in Your Own Home

By NORMA SKURKA

After a Rolls-Royce complete with a liveried chauffeur and a low license plate number, what else could be the ultimate status symbol? A private swimming pool in your own city residence?

The most talked about pool in town despite the attempt at iron-clad secrecy about all aspects of it—is the private swimming pool currently being installed for Adnan Khashoggi in the Olympic Tower.

The pool will measure only about 15 by 20 feet and is described as a "big, big bathtub," by someone who has worked on it but refuses to be named.

"It is installed in an extraordinary room," he added. "Two sides of the room are mirrored down to the water line so that it looks like you're swimming in an ocean. There is also a waterfall effect that appears as if the water were cascading right out of the building."

There is a balcony overlooking the pool and windows that give the room a spectacular view. From up there, you can see all of Manhattan.

By most estimates, including that of the city's building department, there are perhaps as many as 20 private swimming pools in Manhattan. A couple of them may date from the twenties. The old Gimbel mansion on West 68th Street still has its original pool. And though the building has since passed out of the Gimbel family, Sophie Gimbel, widow of the founder of Saks Fifth Avenue, has a pool of her own in her residence in the east Sixties.

Small—and Still Unused The most publicized pool in town is the one at the top of the Galleria in the quadruplex apartment that was designed for Stewart R. Mott by David Kenneth Specter. Mr. Mott may never get to swim in the 8-by-27-foot pool. He declined to buy the apartment with its adjacent rooftop garden after the price shot up from an estimated $1.3 million to $3.5 million. While the price was recently reduced, Mr. Mott, the real estate arm of the Morgan Guaranty Trust that now manages the Galleria, contends that negotiations with Mr. Mott have been terminated.

Other private pools around town include Harry Helmsley's in his apartment at the top of the Park Lane Hotel on Central Park South, and the one built recently for the artist, Lowell Nesbitt, on the ground floor of a stable once used by the Police Department.

While rooftop pools cost a small fortune to install, because the buildings themselves must be reinforced to sup-

Alan Ma

They're Down in the Depths On the 46th Floor

"You can spend $10,000, $20,000, $30,000 on up into the stratosphere," said Ronald Brandenburg of Lane Distributing Corp., a pool servicing concern in Brooklyn.

Mr. Grossberg, a stockbroker, decided to put a pool in the ground level of his Greenwich Village brownstone in 1970 because he wanted a lot of action following his divorce.

Although Mr. Grossberg wouldn't say how much the installation cost, he did say that the entire renovation of the building, including the pool, was double the original estimate.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hudgins had other reasons for wanting a city pool. They had been living on Long Island when they bought a brownstone on the Upper West Side to renovate for their family in 1970. They decided to put in a pool for their four teen-aged children and also for any grandchildren they might have some day.

Once installed, maintenance is relatively simple, he said. "With proper filtration and chlorination it stays clean because most city are enclosed."

Heating a pool can run high. Kampton recommends using conversion and buying steam ft Edison rather than installing electric or oil-fired pool heater.

It is also possible to hook it up to the building's existing boiler system.

All told, those who buy a residential pool already in place are of the game. Mr. and Mrs. H. Edson looked for a long time buying a townhouse on the Upp Side with a 12-by-20-foot pool.

Entertained in the Pool "We swam every day and it used it constantly. I even installed a miniature Paley Park waterfall in the garden that y see through the window," she "We did a lot of entertaining the pool—but mostly for the of None of the ladies wanted to get hair wet." The Taves, who live i ida, now rent out their city tow

Richard Dworkin, the owner of Mr. Richards, a men's clothing factor, also bought rather th stalled. He recently moved fr apartment near Sutton Place wid by-25-foot pool on the roof top l

WHAT DOES METZ SAY ABOUT IT?

He's First a Music Lover, Then a Philanthropist

By JOHN ROCKWELL

Avery Fisher was standing in the middle of his living room a few days ago, surveying the familiar scene with obvious affection. "It's not a decorator's dream," he said. "But it's a music-lover's dream."

Mr. Fisher is indeed the archetypal music lover. He is best-known today as the savior of the Lincoln Center concert hall that bears his name. He is next-best-known as a high-fidelity pioneer. And although he is now 70 years old and theoretically retired, his activity shows no signs of letting up. It's just more focused than before, concentrating on music, book design and charitable activities.

Perhaps, but Avery Fisher remains as dominant a force in the musical life of New York City as anyone you could mention. Although by deliberate plan he concentrates his giving to music, his charitable contributions are wide-ranging. And now that the long struggle to rehabilitate Fisher Hall seems over, he may well burst out in new directions.

Mr. Fisher sits on the Philharmonic's board of directors now, as well as those of Lincoln Center, the Marlboro Festival and the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center—as well as on various policy-making subcommittees of those boards. And he makes annual bequests to both Marlboro and the Chamber Music Society.

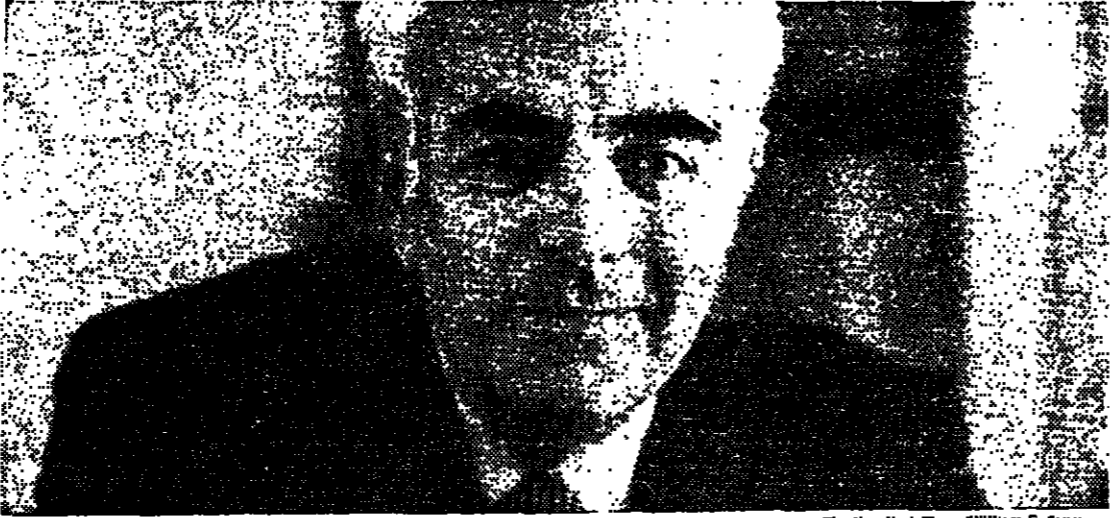

But his abiding love these days, now that Fisher Hall seems finally to be finished, is young musical artists. Twenty per cent of his original endowment to Lincoln Center has been set aside for the Avery Fisher Artist Program. Each year young artists are awarded prizes, which guarantee them prestigious engagements to provide them career momentum.

These musicals rarely involve more than 25 people—five or six musicians, their spouses. Mr. Fisher, his wife and a few friends. Some of the best-known musicians in town, young and not so young, have participated in these affairs; if anything aside from Fisher Hall itself qualifies Mr. Fisher for the role of "patron" or even "philanthropist," the musicals would be it.

Mr. Fisher has in fact a very well-defined philosophy of giving, and it has enabled him to make as significant an impact on the life of New York City as other men with far more money.

He said, "No day's mail goes by without some sort of request coming from good people whom I'd like to help. But it's gotten beyond my capabilities. The assault is unbelievable."

The walls are lined with the scores of what Mr. Fisher says proudly is the nearly complete standard repertoire for chamber music of the dimensions suitable to this particular chamber—trios, quartets, quintets and on up to the odd octet. "The contemporary to pay them back—to give them a place to hear live music properly. "I gave Lincoln Center a lot more than money (over $10 million). They were floundering with that hall. I'm not blaming them. They were financiers, not musicologists or acousticians, both of which I consider myself to be. I happened to have the combination of things needed to help straighten them out."

Avery Fisher has become one of the dominant forces in the musical life of New York City.

Mr. Fisher is not alone in his love for music. He likes to let on "Some day I hope somebody calls it the best in the world, but I'm not the one to say."

Mr. Fisher sits on the Philharmonic's board of directors now, as well as those of Lincoln Center, the Marlboro Festival and the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center—as well as on various policy-making subcommittees of those boards. And he makes annual bequests to both Marlboro and the Chamber Music Society.

But his abiding love these days, now that Fisher Hall seems finally to be finished, is young musical artists. Twenty per cent of his original endowment to Lincoln Center has been set aside for the Avery Fisher Artist Program. Each year young artists are awarded prizes, which guarantee them prestigious engagements to provide them career momentum.

These musicals rarely involve more than 25 people—five or six musicians, their spouses. Mr. Fisher, his wife and a few friends. Some of the best-known musicians in town, young and not so young, have participated in these affairs; if anything aside from Fisher Hall itself qualifies Mr. Fisher for the role of "patron" or even "philanthropist," the musicals would be it.

Mr. Fisher has in fact a very well-defined philosophy of giving, and it has enabled him to make as significant an impact on the life of New York City as other men with far more money.

stuff doesn't interest me so much," he says simply. The Fishers have lived in their present apartment for 23 years, and it's only about three blocks from where he was born, on March 4, 1906. But however modest he may think his current lifestyle, it is in fact far removed from the circumstances of his birth.

Mr. Fisher says proudly is the nearly complete standard repertoire for chamber music of the dimensions suitable to this particular chamber—trios, quartets, quintets and on up to the odd octet. "The contemporary

Mr. Fisher sits on the Philharmonic's board of directors now, as well as those of Lincoln Center, the Marlboro Festival and the Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center—as well as on various policy-making subcommittees of those boards. And he makes annual bequests to both Marlboro and the Chamber Music Society.

But his abiding love these days, now that Fisher Hall seems finally to be finished, is young musical artists. Twenty per cent of his original endowment to Lincoln Center has been set aside for the Avery Fisher Artist Program. Each year young artists are awarded prizes, which guarantee them prestigious engagements to provide them career momentum.

These musicals rarely involve more than 25 people—five or six musicians, their spouses. Mr. Fisher, his wife and a few friends. Some of the best-known musicians in town, young and not so young, have participated in these affairs; if anything aside from Fisher Hall itself qualifies Mr. Fisher for the role of "patron" or even "philanthropist," the musicals would be it.

Mr. Fisher has in fact a very well-defined philosophy of giving, and it has enabled him to make as significant an impact on the life of New York City as other men with far more money.

Crossroads

Our Biggest Sale Ever Discover "The Village's" Finest Shop for Wine & Liquor Values

BURGUNDIES

Table with wine names and prices. Includes items like 1971 Gevrey-Chambertin, 1971 Vosne-Romanee, 1971 Chablis, etc.

MOSEL AND RHEIN The 1975 Vintage

The Vintage of 1975 will go down in history as a magnificent year for two quality wines and what better way of verifying this statement than having an ample supply of such wines in your cellar.

Table with wine names and prices. Includes items like 1975 Piesporter Goldtropfchen, 1975 Riesling, 1975 Chateau-Lafite, etc.

BORDEAUX

Table with wine names and prices. Includes items like Batallieu 1969, LaLague 1967, Pichon-Longueville-Baron 1971, etc.

MOVE OVER NEW YORK New Jersey has the Sports Complex . . . And the International Wine Store . . .

FINE SPIRITS

ILLAGE VOICE SAYS . . . "Infructuously the finest wine shop in the metropolitan area is not in New York, but in New Jersey."

GERMAN WINES!!!

An excellent opportunity for wine lovers to enjoy the finest two vintages of the century . . . 1971, long lived, mellow now at its peak . . . 1975, fresh, bright and zesty—ready to be drunk.

1971 MOSEL

Table with wine names and prices. Includes items like 04 Windecker Weis Riesling Kabinett, 01 Urfinger Schwarzlay Kabinett-Zentralkeller, etc.

1971 RHINE

Table with wine names and prices. Includes items like 17 Rudesheimer Klosterlay Riesling Spatlese, 12 Johannisberg Klaus Riesling Spatlese, etc.

75 MOSEL

Table with wine names and prices. Includes items like 1 Piesporter Goldtropfchen Auslese-Lohmert, 1 Piesporter Michaelsberg Riesling QBA-Faust, etc.

75 RHINE

Table with wine names and prices. Includes items like 04 Johannisberger Klaus Riesling Spatlese, 14 Schloss Johannisberger Rotlack Kabinett, etc.

THE SPIRITS Government Center for Wines, Spirits, Cakes & Specialty Foods. 100 minutes No. of GW Bridge. 10% discount if purchased by the case.

WHAT DOES METZ SAY ABOUT IT? Robert Metz, Of The New York Times. What he writes about Wall Street, Wall Streeters want to read. And they do . . . Monday through Friday in Market Place, in the Business/Finance Pages. The New York Times More news of business/finance than any other newspaper.

HOLIDAY WINE SALE One Week Only CHATEAU GRISCOURS 76 Lowest price in the state for this outstanding Margaux $69.00 per case. Lichine CLOS VOURETOT '71 Fine shippable excellent vintage $55.00 per case. Thanking Special LE MONTRACHET GRIVELET 1970 $9.99 24 oz. bottle. MISCADOT '75 DeSève et Maine This crisp dry wine is the largest selling white wine in France $19.95 per case. Louis Sipp SYLVANER Fruity & surprising bouquet $16.50 per case. LIQUORS 50 East 96th St. New York City 289-1818 Open Mon-Sat 5am-10pm

NEW BESTSELLER! ERMA Bombeck The Grass is Always Greener Over The Septic Tank Over 300,000 copies in print A Book-of-the-Month Club Alternate Now in 6th Big Printing We book the best! McGraw-Hill Book Company

Crossroads

GOING OUT Guide

Marilyn Walton

to leave. Blame Marilyn Walton the Second Time Around, around corner in the front lounge of Pier, at 144 West 52d Street.

SILVER SCREENINGS Today Die in Madrid and 'The Battle of Britain' (both 1965) at the Carnegie Cinema (757-2131). 'The Bicycle' (1949) and 'The Bandit of Orgo' (1961) at the Bleecker Street Cinema (674-2560). 'Potemkin' (1925), at 8 P.M. in the South Street Series at 165 John Street ($2 for $1 for children), behind the Seismium.

Also today: 'Picnic' (1955) at P.M. at Christ and St. Stephen's Church 68th Street between Broadway and Columbus Avenue (51). 'Stage I' (1937) and 'Desk Set' (1957) at Theater 80 St. A (254-7400).

THE CALL OF JAZZ One can not want to miss a note on singer began, settled for Cokes each) in this compact sanctum, v the ample Miss Walton (from Di and her Second Time trio are raised platform behind the bar she went from 'All of Me' to 'Baby' and 'Feelings,' a passing a stopped in his tracks and uttered a dict that seemed reasonable: 'W P.M. to 2 A.M., except Sunday, been held over at the lounge until end of the year. No reservations

For Events today, see page C2 For Sports Today, see page C3

Joseph Papp presents THREE PENNY OPERA BEST MUSICAL NEW YORK DRAMA CRITICS AWARD 1975 ANTOINETTE PERRY 'TONY' AWARD 1976 PULITZER PRIZE FOR DRAMA 1976 A Fantastic and Sensational Theatrical Production

Colored Girls who have Considered Suicide When The Rainbow is Enuff 'Absolutely a knockout!' -Barnes, N.Y. Times

Today at 2 & 8 'A dazzling play. One of the highlights of our season' -Clive Barnes, N.Y. Times 'Superb performances from one of the finest cast you'll ever see on an American stage.' -Martin Gottfried, N.Y. Post

Today at 2 & 8 EQUUS GALLOPS INTO ITS THIRD YEAR! Anthony Perkins EQUUS The world's most acclaimed play!

Chelsea Theater Center 'ONE OF THE GREAT EVENTS OF THE THEATER SEASON!' -Martin Gottfried, New York Post

Chicago Symphony Orchestra Sir Georg Solti Carnegie Hall Tonight at 8:00 Shostakovich, Tchaikovsky

SEATS NOW AT BOX OFFICE! OPENS TUES. EVE., NOV. 23 Previews-Eves.: Nov. 19, 20; Mats.: Nov. 20, 21 BETSY PALMER DAVID SELBY

Classified Business Opportunities Advertisers Did you know that you can get national distribution for your advertising on any weekday, Monday through Friday, for only 70 cents a line additional?

MATINEE TODAY at 2 Limited Engagement thru Dec. 4 Only! JOHN GIELGUD RALPH RICHARDSON NO MAN'S LAND HAROLD PINTER

Nassau County 747-0500 Suffolk County 669-1800 Westchester County WH 9-5300 New Jersey 623-3900 Connecticut 348-7767

LAST 2 PERFS. THE GAVELLA THEATRE OF ZAGREB, CROATIA, YUGOSLAVIA FOR THE FIRST TIME IN NORTH AMERICA 'A MAJOR PLAY. CAST IS ENDARINGLY AND SP. ENJOYABLE HUMAN!' -Toronto Star

SEATS NOW AT BOX OFFICE 'If you want it, it is no dream.' THEODORE HELZL, 1953 Herk will open Nov. 23rd with The Brownsville Raid For Subscription and Group Discounts call: WA 4-8782 Mon.-Fri. Noon to 6:00PM

GOOD SEATS AVAILABLE! $6.50 & $4.75 'EXPECT NO PERVERSITY OR PORNOGRAPHY... ONE OF THE FUNNIEST SHOWS IN NEW YORK!' -New York Times

BRAVO! Le Nozze de Figaro Tonight: 8 to 11:55. Conductor: Hager, Ca

THEATER DIRECTORY

BROADWAY EQUUS PALACE THEATRE 111 W. 47th St. EQUUS GALLOPS INTO ITS THIRD YEAR! EQUUS THEATRE 111 W. 47th St. EQUUS GALLOPS INTO ITS THIRD YEAR!

OFF-BROADWAY THE MUSIC MAN THE MUSIC MAN THE MUSIC MAN THE MUSIC MAN THE MUSIC MAN

Some About

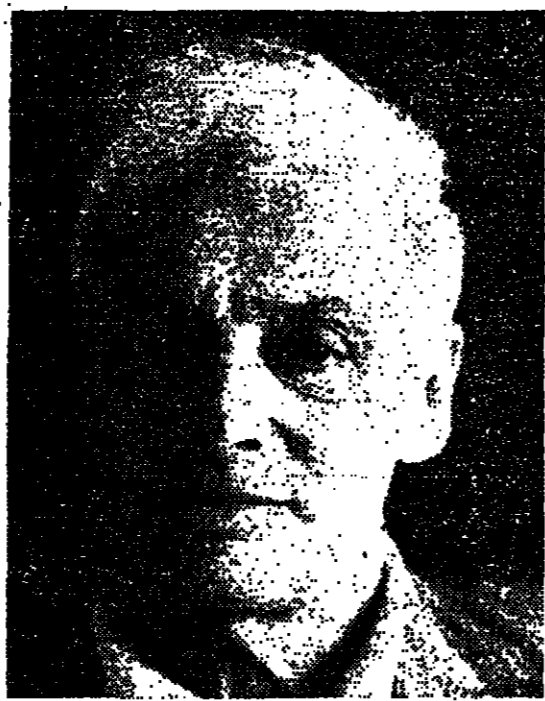

NY Times

GOING OUT Guide

America

Chicago Has Something Bellow About

By DONAL HENAHAN

Saul Bellow, while born a Canadian, has lived in Chicago so long he qualifies as a Chicagoan.

ARTS. This city is like the athlete who used to lift automobiles with his teeth...

he big muscles are named Sir George Chicago Symphony, who in several...

The roll-call of those present was impressive, including such wits as Barbara Harris, Severn Darden...

Chicago never seems to change. Two familiar tunes with variations...

course, some Chicagoans, like some regard clichés about Big Apples and as the small conversational change...

Stage: Illuminating Croatia

By RICHARD EDER JAVELLA. THEATER of Zagreb, Yugoslavia, puts such strength and delicacy into performance of Miroslav Krleža's 'Keressa'...

The art news of the coming months—it might be safer to say the art gossip—is likely to revolve around Claes Oldenburg and his 'Batcolumn'...

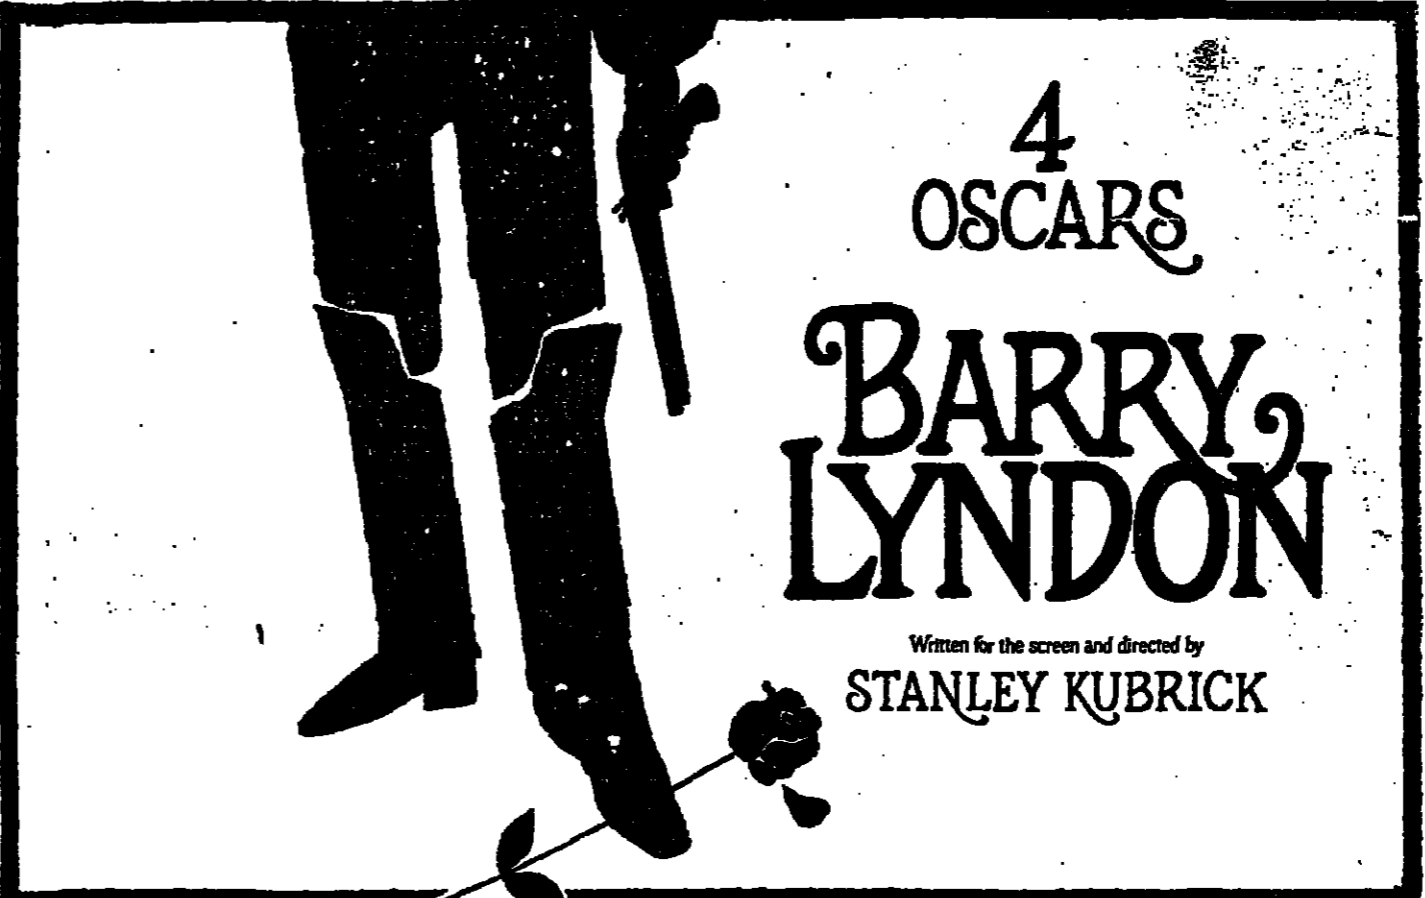

Chicago is suspicious of art, and journalism therefore is the Chicago literary form. In the past, the names to reckon with here were not belles-lettres...

Every piece about Chicago must end with a cliché, or it is not about Chicago. So. Shortly after Saul Bellow's Nobel Prize was announced...

by his mistress, Anka, but he has come back to have another try at her. 'Here the living and the dead dance together,' says a clown who acts as a master of ceremonies...

The use of softly chorused Croatian songs and some comic, lovely dances to counterpoint the dialogue is extremely effective.

Of the leading performers, the most effective is Pero Kvirčić as Janez. Pale, ginger-bearded, dressed in an ornate black coat and looking like a commissionaire at a funeral parlor...

4 OSCARS BARRY LYNDON

Written for the screen and directed by STANLEY KUBRICK

starring RYAN O'NEAL and MARISA BERENSON with PATRICK MAGEE, HARDY KRUGER, DIANA KOERNER, GAY HAMILTON

'Barry Lyndon is a phenomenal success in Europe. The business and the acclaim from audiences and critics is simply staggering'

-Myron D. Karlin, Vice President - Warner Bros. International Operations

International press reviews for Barry Lyndon from France, Germany, Italy, Holland, Switzerland, Denmark, Finland, Austria, and Belgium.

STARTS TODAY AT A SPECIALLY SELECTED THEATRE NEAR YOU! MANHATTAN, BROOKLYN, NASSAU, NEW JERSEY, QUEENS, WESTCHESTER, SUFFOLK

"PREMIUM STUFF FROM BEGINNING TO END. Glenda Jackson is truly moving."

—John Crittenden, Bergen Record

"Jackson makes a marvelous flesh-and-blood-and-passion woman of the legend."

—Judith Crist, Playgirl Magazine

"Spellbinding. A lavish movie... Glenda Jackson is inspired."

—Mademoiselle Magazine

"Irresistible, divine, incredible described Bernhardt, and they apply to Jackson as well. Very entertaining!"

—Judith Ripp, Parents Magazine

She was the illegitimate daughter of a prostitute. She became the greatest actress of her century. The fire that made her a legend also burned in her private life. She demanded to be paid in gold. She often slept in a coffin. She had a child by a prince but refused to marry him. Her leading man was her lover for that season. She brought tears to the eyes of audiences, even those who could not understand the language she spoke.

Her last name was Bernhardt, but to the world she was Sarah.

"The Incredible Sarah' is a delight."

—Lynn Minton, McCall's Magazine

"Glenda Jackson shines as the legendary actress Sarah Bernhardt."

—William Wolf, Cue Magazine

"The Incredible Sarah' is funny, outrageous and at all times absorbing. A triumphant performance by Glenda Jackson."

—Norma McLain Stoop, After Dark Magazine

Reader's Digest presents A Helen M. Strauss Production Glenda Jackson "The Incredible SARAH"

also starring Daniel Massey Douglas Wilmer David Langton Simon Williams

Music Composed & Conducted by Elmer Bernstein Directed by Richard Fleischer Written by Ruth Wolf
Produced by Helen M. Strauss Paavision® Technicolor® By Reader's Digest

THE festival A WINTER SEASIDE THEATRE
57th St. at 5th Ave. - LT 1-2323
12, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10

THE MOST CONTROVERSIAL FILM OF THE YEAR ABOUT THE MAN BEHIND ENTEBBE!

"A WORK OF ART. THE FILM IS BRILLIANT, VALUABLE, AMUSING... IT GOES BEYOND BRILLIANCE AND BECOMES IMPORTANT."

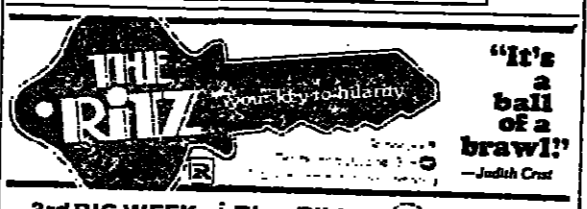

IDI AMIN DADA
Self-portrait
A film by Barbet SCHROEDER

EXCLUSIVE ENGAGEMENT IN THESE AREAS
ROCKAWAY RKO NY 100
ROCKAWAY RKO NY 100
ROCKAWAY RKO NY 100
ROCKAWAY RKO NY 100

"THE MOST EXHILARATING ENTERTAINMENT OF THE FILM YEAR TO DATE."

THE SEVEN-PERCENT SOLUTION
A UNIVERSAL RELEASE TECHNICOLOR®
NOW PLAYING
58th St East of Madison Ave
PLAZA
12.00, 2.00, 4.00, 6.00, 8.00, 10.00
FOR SPECIAL GROUP ARRANGEMENTS CALL: (212) 561-1264

3rd BIG WEEK at Blue Ribbon Theatres
MADISON: RKO NY 100
MADISON: RKO NY 100
MADISON: RKO NY 100
MADISON: RKO NY 100
MADISON: RKO NY 100
MADISON: RKO NY 100
MADISON: RKO NY 100
MADISON: RKO NY 100

STARTS TODAY AT UNIVERSAL SHOWCASE THEATRES

"A TERRIFICALLY SHREWD PIECE OF MOVIE-MAKING."

—Vincent Canby, New York Times

"SPARKLES WITH HUMOR...THE PICTURE JUMPS!"

—Archer Winsten, New York Post

"A PICTURE TO SEE ...JUST FOR THE FUN OF IT!"

—Aaron Schindler, Family Circle

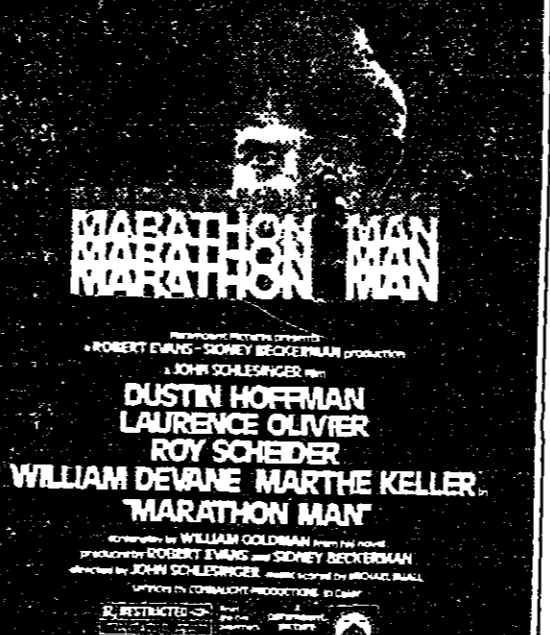

"CAR WASH" Guest Stars Franklin Ajaye - George Carlin - Professor Irwin Corey, Ivan Dixon - Antonio Fargas - Lorraine Gary - Jack Keboe - Clarence Muse, The Pointer Sisters - Richard Pryor
Written by JOEL SCHUMACHER
Directed by MICHAEL SCHULZ - Produced by ART LINSON and GARY STROMBERG - AN ART LINSON PRODUCTION
A UNIVERSAL PICTURE - TECHNICOLOR®
Original sound track available exclusively on MCA Records & Tapes

MADISON RKO NY 100 RKO NY 100	BROOKLYN RKO NY 100 RKO NY 100	QUEENS RKO NY 100 RKO NY 100	MADISON RKO NY 100 RKO NY 100	SUFFOLK RKO NY 100 RKO NY 100	WESTCHESTER RKO NY 100 RKO NY 100	UPSTATE RKO NY 100 RKO NY 100
NEW JERSEY RKO NY 100 RKO NY 100	NEW JERSEY RKO NY 100 RKO NY 100	NEW JERSEY RKO NY 100 RKO NY 100	NEW JERSEY RKO NY 100 RKO NY 100	NEW JERSEY RKO NY 100 RKO NY 100	NEW JERSEY RKO NY 100 RKO NY 100	NEW JERSEY RKO NY 100 RKO NY 100

"MARATHON MAN IS A BEAUTIFULLY ACTED AND DIRECTED THRILLER. A FILM YOU WON'T WANT TO MISS. IT JUST WANTS TO SCARE THE HELL OUT OF YOU - AND IT DOES."

—Vincent Canby, New York Times

ON THE WEST SIDE: LOEWS STATE I
ON THE EAST SIDE: LOEWS TOWER EAST
11, 1.20, 3.40, 6.15, 10.30
11, 1.15, 3.30, 5.45, 8, 10.15

"CHILLING AND FUNNY...OFTEN SHOCKING..."
MATRESSE
She will open your eyes.
Starts Tomorrow
DOLBY DIGITAL
Dolby Digital

"DUSTY DUSTY RUSHING"
A erotic mirror of bizarre desire
ALWAYS SEE THE BEST MALE EROTIC FILMS
BIG TOP
1804 BWAY at 48th ST. SA1-5655
OPEN 24 HOURS CONTINUOUS PERFORMANCES OPEN 24 HOURS

Watch a child and you will see what all men are like.
"A CHILD IS A WILD YOUNG THING"
Child Under 12 admitted free weekdays before 5 PM with accompanying adult. Parental discretion advised.
Starts Tomorrow
DOLBY DIGITAL
Dolby Digital

"A BUNDLE OF JOY. It is a comedy-resplendent with sunlight and bright spring colors."
—Frank Rich, New York Post
DOUGLAS GORDON presents a film by francois truffaut small change
PG
CINEMA II
12.30, 2.30, 4.15, 6.10, 8, 10
Tuesday Morning Workout
DAVID
TOUCH OF HIS MASTER KINGS

Cousin Cousin
Cousin Cousin
Exit Gate
Snipers
MINI CINEMA

SEVEN PER SOLUTI
PLAZA
THE SONG OF THE SARD
SMALL CH
CINEMA II
CINEMA I
CINEMA II
CINEMA I
CINEMA II
CINEMA I
CINEMA II
CINEMA I
CINEMA II

SERPI
SUTTON
DAY FOR I PARAMOUNT FACE TO AMACO
CAR W
SUNDAY B
SUNDA
MIDNIGHT C
BRANERY

U
NOW...some "Snipers" for the
CINEMA II
CINEMA I
CINEMA II
CINEMA I
CINEMA II
CINEMA I
CINEMA II
CINEMA I
CINEMA II

Handwritten signature or scribble.

91,000 People.
33 Exit Gates.
One Sniper...
TWO-MINUTE WARNING

STARTS FRIDAY AT UNIVERSAL BLUE RIBBON THEATRES

"WITTY, JOYOUS AND BEAUTIFUL"
—Vincent Canby/N.Y. Times
WONDERFULLY ENTERTAINING...
ENORMOUS ORIGINALITY, CHARM, AND HUMOR."
—David Dugas/U.P.I.

Eric Rohmer's new film
"THE MARQUISE OF O..."
Directed by ERIC ROHMER, based on the novel by P. van den Hoff
In color 100 New Line Cinema PG, 100 minutes

68th St. Playhouse
3rd Ave. at 68th St. RE-4-0302
12, 2, 4, 6, 8, 10

"PLENTY OF ACTION, ROMANCE
AND THE PLEASURABLE FEELING OF TOTAL ESCAPE... WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN PIRATE GOLD!"
—KATHLEEN CARROLL, N.Y. DAILY NEWS

SWASHBUCKLER

Enjoy the biggest,
grandest,
action filled pirate movie ever!

ROBERT SHAW - JAMES EARL JONES - PETER BOYLE
GENEVIEVE BUJOLD - BEAU BRIDGES
GEOFFREY HOLDER - "SWASHBUCKLER"
Music by JOHN ANKER - Screenplay by JEFFREY BURMAN - Story by PAUL WINKLER
Directed by JAMES GOLDSTONE - Produced by JENNINGS LANG
Executive Producer CLYDE RASTNER - A JENNINGS LANG-CLYDE RASTNER Production
A Universal Picture

Starts TODAY
AT UNIVERSAL SHOWCASE THEATRES

Table listing various theatres and their showtimes for 'The Hindenburg'.

Emanuel L. Wolf presents
A Martin Bregman Production

Sean Connery Comelia Sharpe
"The Next Man"

also starring Albert Paulsen Adolfo Celi Marco St. John Ted Beniades with Charles Cioffi as Fouad story by Alan Trustman and David M. Wolf screenplay by Mof Fine Alan Trustman David M. Wolf and Richard Sarafian music by Michael Kamen directed by Richard Sarafian produced by Martin Bregman
An Artists Entertainment Complex Film Technicolor

RESTRICTED Read the exciting novel—now available from Warner Books. An Allied Artists Release AD

WORLD PREMIERE TODAY

Table listing showtimes for UA Rivoli, Loews Cine, and Rede's 34th St. East.

Also at Flagship Theatres Throughout the Greater New York Area.

Large grid listing various theatres and their showtimes across different boroughs.

Do I jump for joy
in an explicit sex film, through The Looking Glass
is an incredibly fantastic story told in such native visual images that I might
up and take notice?
Dan Snierson/Society Mag

Advertisement for 'ROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS' featuring a woman's face.

Advertisement for 'TWO BY WERTMULLER' featuring 'Ten Beauties'.

Advertisement for 'THE INCREDIBLE SARAH' at Walter Reade Theatres.

Advertisement for 'Kate' featuring 'The Best of Elizabeth Taylor'.

Advertisement for 'Lois Nympho Teens' featuring a woman's face.

Advertisement for 'Dirty Words' featuring a man's face.

Advertisement for 'Blow Dry' featuring a woman with a hair dryer.

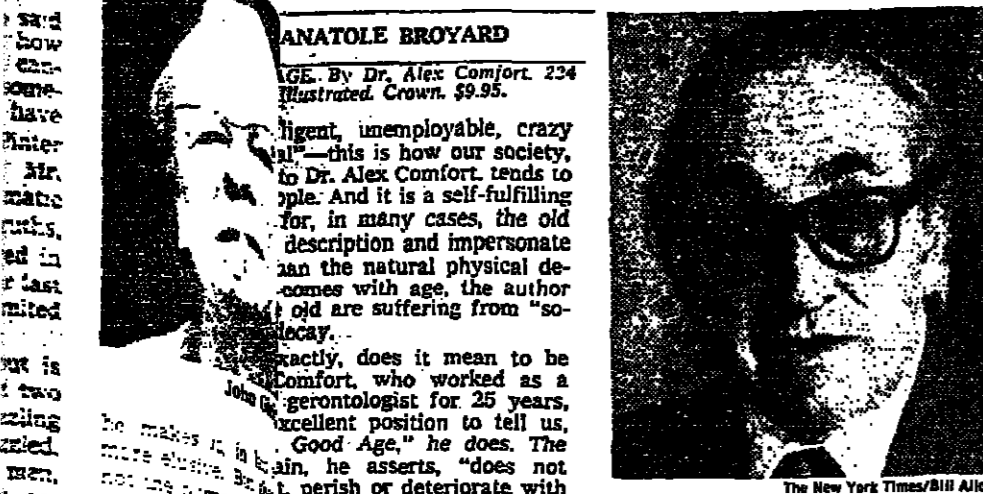

Advertisement for 'REDD FOX PEARL BAILEY' featuring 'NORMAN... IS THAT YOU?'.

Advertisement for 'NETWORK' featuring Faye Dunaway, William Holden, Peter Onorati, and Robert Duvall.

Advertisement for 'People of the Wind' and '4th Smash Year'.

USE THE NEW YORK TIMES for all your want ad needs

Pinter's Discont... Books of The Times

ANATOLE BRODY... intelligent, unemployable, crazy...

...ing, Just Slower... Dr. Comfort tells us, does old age...

...Prejudiced for the Positive... A man who writes two books about joy...

...Events Today... Theater... Music...

...-Rock: Al Stewart... t is one of a select number folk-rockers...

...CROSSWORD PUZZLE... Edited by WILL WENG

...MORRIS WEST The Navigator... This is a splendid work that demonstrates...

...Bestseller! "It hits home with every woman..."

...Walk In My Shoes An Odyssey Into Womanlife by Judianne Densen-Gerber...

...Joyce Haber knows the most celebrated hostess on the West Coast is one of THE USERS...

...The exciting sequel to KNOTS never saw it, never heard it, never smelled it, never tasted it...

...R. D. LANG'S Do You Love Me? An Entertainment in Conversation and Verse...

...NATIONAL BESTSELLER Wednesday The Rabbi Got Wet...

Chess: Dutch Hold Olympiad Lead But U.S. Has Chance to Gain

By ROBERT BYRNE... Special to The New York Times... HAIFA, Israel, Nov. 7—After 11 rounds of the World Chess Olympiad...

...U.S. Defeats Israelis... In the 10th round, the United States defeated Israel 3 1/2-1 1/2...

...Events Today... Theater... Music...

...-Rock: Al Stewart... t is one of a select number folk-rockers...

...CROSSWORD PUZZLE... Edited by WILL WENG

...MORRIS WEST The Navigator... This is a splendid work that demonstrates...

...Bestseller! "It hits home with every woman..."

...Walk In My Shoes An Odyssey Into Womanlife by Judianne Densen-Gerber...

...Joyce Haber knows the most celebrated hostess on the West Coast is one of THE USERS...

...The exciting sequel to KNOTS never saw it, never heard it, never smelled it, never tasted it...

...R. D. LANG'S Do You Love Me? An Entertainment in Conversation and Verse...

...NATIONAL BESTSELLER Wednesday The Rabbi Got Wet...

Bridge: New Publication Presents Problems to Improve Skills

By ALAN TRUSCOTT... Readers of this column who enjoy testing their own skill in cardplay should cover the South and East hands...

...A Way to Sharpen Skills... This is one of 72 excellent problems presented by a young and brilliant Australian expert...

...Events Today... Theater... Music...

...-Rock: Al Stewart... t is one of a select number folk-rockers...

...CROSSWORD PUZZLE... Edited by WILL WENG

...MORRIS WEST The Navigator... This is a splendid work that demonstrates...

...Bestseller! "It hits home with every woman..."

...Walk In My Shoes An Odyssey Into Womanlife by Judianne Densen-Gerber...

...Joyce Haber knows the most celebrated hostess on the West Coast is one of THE USERS...

...The exciting sequel to KNOTS never saw it, never heard it, never smelled it, never tasted it...

...R. D. LANG'S Do You Love Me? An Entertainment in Conversation and Verse...

...NATIONAL BESTSELLER Wednesday The Rabbi Got Wet...

Position after 11... B-R6... The United States faltered and had to settle for a 2-2 tie.

Grandmaster Jan Timman, playing board 1 for the Dutch team, has been the leading user of opening innovations in the Olympiad...

It has long been thought that White's development with 8... Q-B3 can be squelched by 8... P-K4: 9 N-KN, P-K4, chiefly because 10 P-B5 was considered vulnerable against a black counterattack...

Since Timman had not moved his KN2, his queen remained protected, thus permitting the combination...

Liberzon could not get a decent ending by 15... QxQ: 16 P-Q R-R1, 17 B-B5, N-KP, 18 KR-N1, but he had to try anyway...

Yet Timman, unruffled, recaptured 18 BxP and consolidated with 19 K-B1, 21 B-N3 and 22 K-N2...

White: Timman 1 P-K4, 2 N-KB3, 3 P-Q4, 4 NXP, 5 N-QB3, 6 P-B4, 7 B-K3, 8 Q-B3, 9 N-N, 10 P-B5, 11 B-QB4, 12 Q-D0, 13 P-P, 14 PxB

Black: Timman 1 Q-N7ch, 2 N-QB3, 3 P-Q4, 4 P-K3, 5 P-Q3, 6 P-B4, 7 B-K3, 8 P-K4, 9 N-N, 10 P-B5, 11 B-QB4, 12 Q-D0, 13 P-P, 14 QxN

WEST: Q432, K109, K762, 4. EAST: 855, A82, Q43, 10632. SOUTH: K, Q, J, 985, AKQ9875. East and West were vulnerable. The bidding: North Pass, East Pass, South 3 N.T., West Pass. West led the heart jack.

partner has 10 x x x of clubs, in which case the declarer will need a side entry to his clubs after he has unblocked the club jack.

The only possible side entry for South is the spade king, and if that card is a singleton it must be removed without delay...

The author could have made the problem harder by giving West the diamond queen instead of the king. The spade shift would still be the right move for West...

Let Clancy show you how to use your oven creatively! John Clancy—mainslayer for years as Chief Test Chef of the famous Time-Life kitchen...

ART BUCHWALD writes "some of the best wit and humor leading out of Washington." WASHINGTON IS LEAKING $8.95 at all bookstores. PUTNAM

White: Timman 1 P-K4, 2 N-KB3, 3 P-Q4, 4 NXP, 5 N-QB3, 6 P-B4, 7 B-K3, 8 Q-B3, 9 N-N, 10 P-B5, 11 B-QB4, 12 Q-D0, 13 P-P, 14 PxB

Black: Timman 1 Q-N7ch, 2 N-QB3, 3 P-Q4, 4 P-K3, 5 P-Q3, 6 P-B4, 7 B-K3, 8 P-K4, 9 N-N, 10 P-B5, 11 B-QB4, 12 Q-D0, 13 P-P, 14 QxN

"A bountiful, outspoken, sometimes ribald celebration of femaleness." —Laurie Johnston, New York Times.

"A principled, often moving view of women as they are," should be and can be. Her perceptions transcend current militancies...

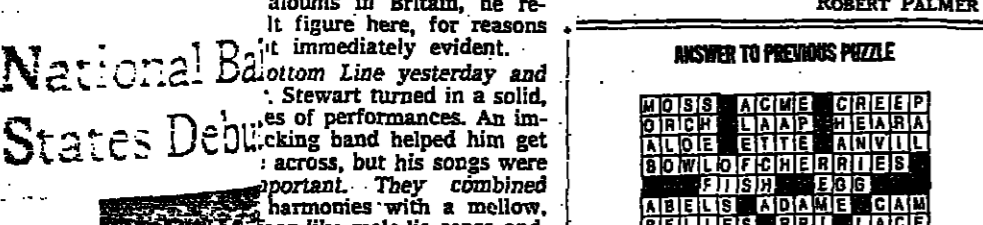

Walk In My Shoes An Odyssey Into Womanlife by Judianne Densen-Gerber. Lawyer, psychiatrist, professor, founder and director of Odyssey House, wife and mother of four children...

Joyce Haber knows the most celebrated hostess on the West Coast is one of THE USERS.

The exciting sequel to KNOTS never saw it, never heard it, never smelled it, never tasted it...

R. D. LANG'S Do You Love Me? An Entertainment in Conversation and Verse.

NATIONAL BESTSELLER Wednesday The Rabbi Got Wet.

...National Best States Debut... Stewart turned in a solid, energetic performance...

...CROSSWORD PUZZLE... Edited by WILL WENG

...MORRIS WEST The Navigator... This is a splendid work that demonstrates...

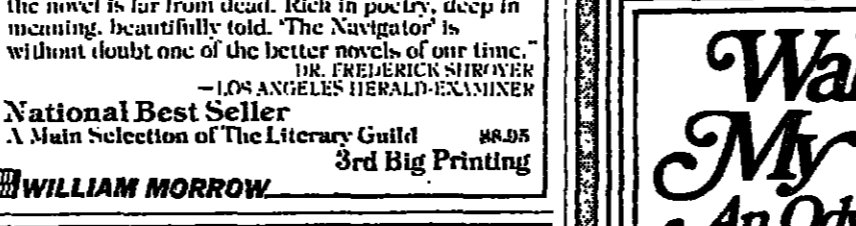

...Bestseller! "It hits home with every woman..."

...Walk In My Shoes An Odyssey Into Womanlife by Judianne Densen-Gerber...

...Joyce Haber knows the most celebrated hostess on the West Coast is one of THE USERS...

...The exciting sequel to KNOTS never saw it, never heard it, never smelled it, never tasted it...

...R. D. LANG'S Do You Love Me? An Entertainment in Conversation and Verse...

MORRIS WEST The Navigator... This is a splendid work that demonstrates...

...Bestseller! "It hits home with every woman..."

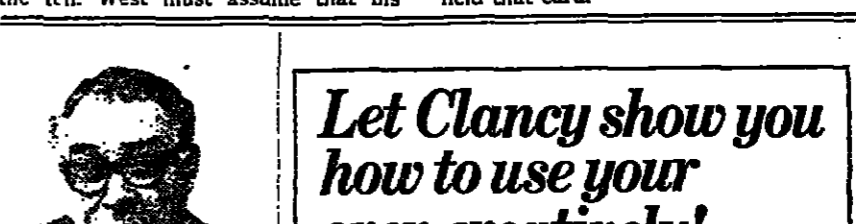

...Walk In My Shoes An Odyssey Into Womanlife by Judianne Densen-Gerber...

...Joyce Haber knows the most celebrated hostess on the West Coast is one of THE USERS...

...The exciting sequel to KNOTS never saw it, never heard it, never smelled it, never tasted it...

...R. D. LANG'S Do You Love Me? An Entertainment in Conversation and Verse...

...NATIONAL BESTSELLER Wednesday The Rabbi Got Wet...

ART BUCHWALD writes "some of the best wit and humor leading out of Washington." WASHINGTON IS LEAKING $8.95 at all bookstores. PUTNAM

White: Timman 1 P-K4, 2 N-KB3, 3 P-Q4, 4 NXP, 5 N-QB3, 6 P-B4, 7 B-K3, 8 Q-B3, 9 N-N, 10 P-B5, 11 B-QB4, 12 Q-D0, 13 P-P, 14 PxB

Black: Timman 1 Q-N7ch, 2 N-QB3, 3 P-Q4, 4 P-K3, 5 P-Q3, 6 P-B4, 7 B-K3, 8 P-K4, 9 N-N, 10 P-B5, 11 B-QB4, 12 Q-D0, 13 P-P, 14 QxN

"A bountiful, outspoken, sometimes ribald celebration of femaleness." —Laurie Johnston, New York Times.

"A principled, often moving view of women as they are," should be and can be. Her perceptions transcend current militancies...

Walk In My Shoes An Odyssey Into Womanlife by Judianne Densen-Gerber. Lawyer, psychiatrist, professor, founder and director of Odyssey House, wife and mother of four children...

Joyce Haber knows the most celebrated hostess on the West Coast is one of THE USERS.

The exciting sequel to KNOTS never saw it, never heard it, never smelled it, never tasted it...

R. D. LANG'S Do You Love Me? An Entertainment in Conversation and Verse.

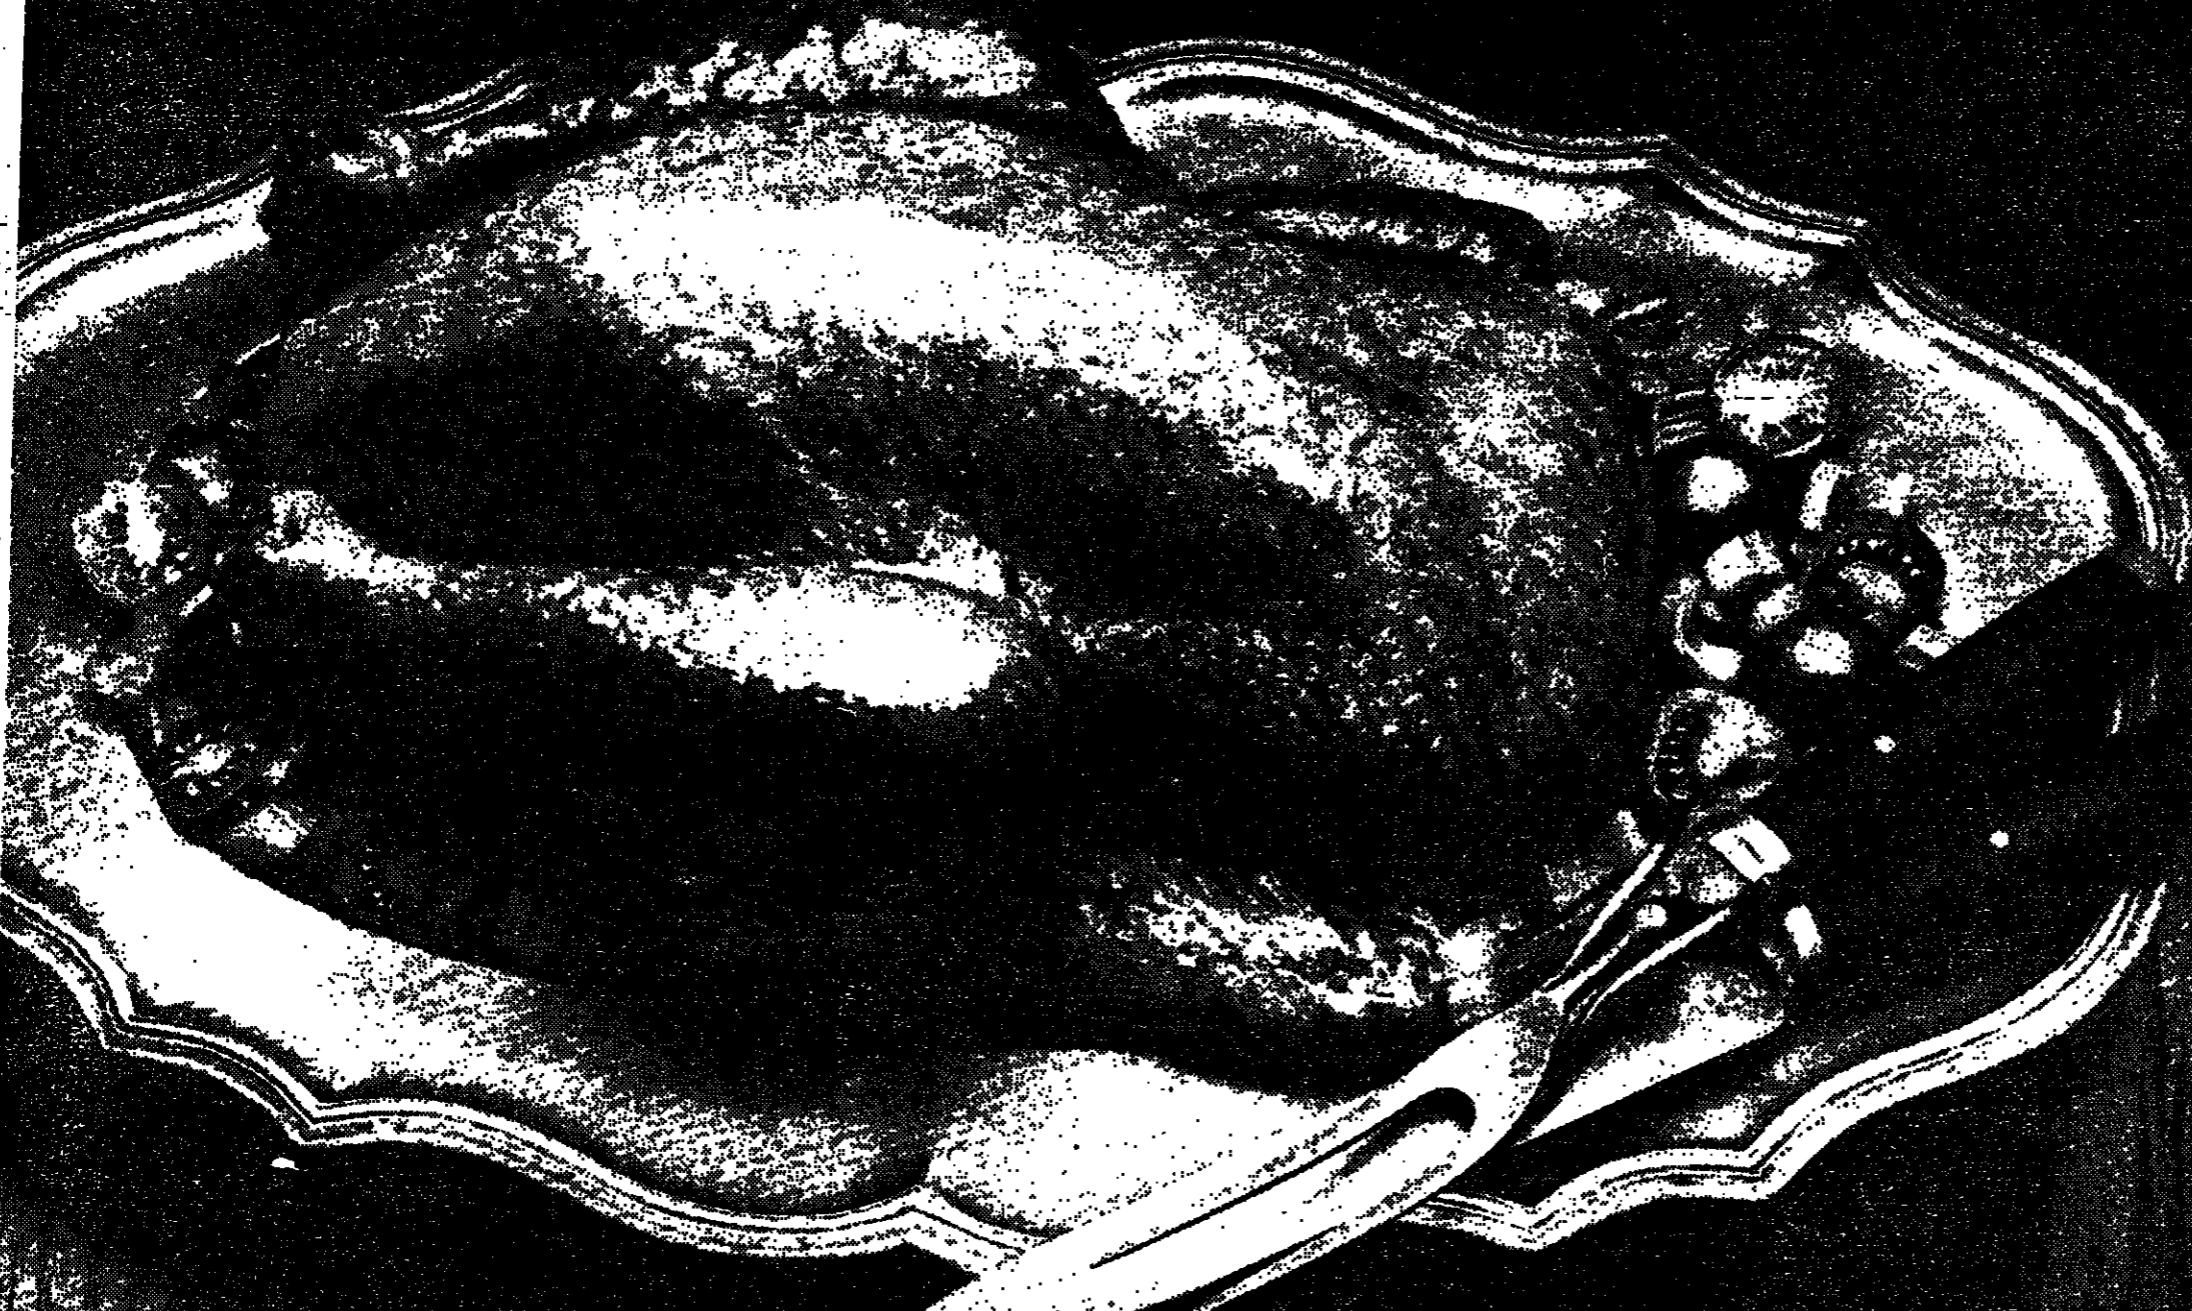

NATIONAL BESTSELLER Wednesday The Rabbi Got Wet.

...The exciting sequel to KNOTS never saw it, never heard it, never smelled it, never tasted it...

...R. D. LANG'S Do You Love Me? An Entertainment in Conversation and Verse...

...NATIONAL BESTSELLER Wednesday The Rabbi Got Wet...

IF YOU CAN'T FIND A WHOLE ONE,

TRY A HALF.

People who've tried the Perdue 'Oven Stuffer' Roaster tell us it's simply the tenderest, juiciest, most succulent tasting bird they've ever tasted.

Unfortunately, a lot of people haven't been able to taste it. Because ever since we introduced these 5 to 7 lb. beauties, the demand has been exceeding the supply.

Now we're cutting some 'Oven Stuffer' Roasters in half. So there'll be a lot more to go around.

The half is every bit as delicious as the whole 'Oven Stuffer.' And it's 100% better than none.

DILL STUFFING

1 1/2 cup butter or margarine	5 cups day-old white bread cubes	1/2 teaspoon salt, dash pepper, water
1 1/2 cup chopped celery	1 1/2 teaspoon dill weed crushed	2 teaspoons chicken seasoned stockbase
1/2 cup chopped onion

To make dill stuffing: In large saucepan, melt 1/2 cup butter. Add celery and onion; saute over medium heat, stirring occasionally until tender, about 5 minutes. Remove from heat; stir in bread cubes, dill weed, salt and pepper. In a small saucepan, heat 1/2 cup water to boiling point. Stir in chicken seasoned stockbase until dissolved. Pour over bread mixture and toss until well mixed.

*If you're cooking half an 'Oven Stuffer' roaster, use half the ingredients.

دجاج اوفن الاستوفر

AGENCY AIMS DEPENDENCE REPORTS OF OIL

NATIONS CONCERNED

Group Will Quantify against Likely Supply Determine Balance

DE B. EARNSWORTH

Western industrial nations... Agency aims to quantify dependence on oil...

are at $3 billion as country's future under President Carter shadows convention...

second objective... to avoid the type of situation...

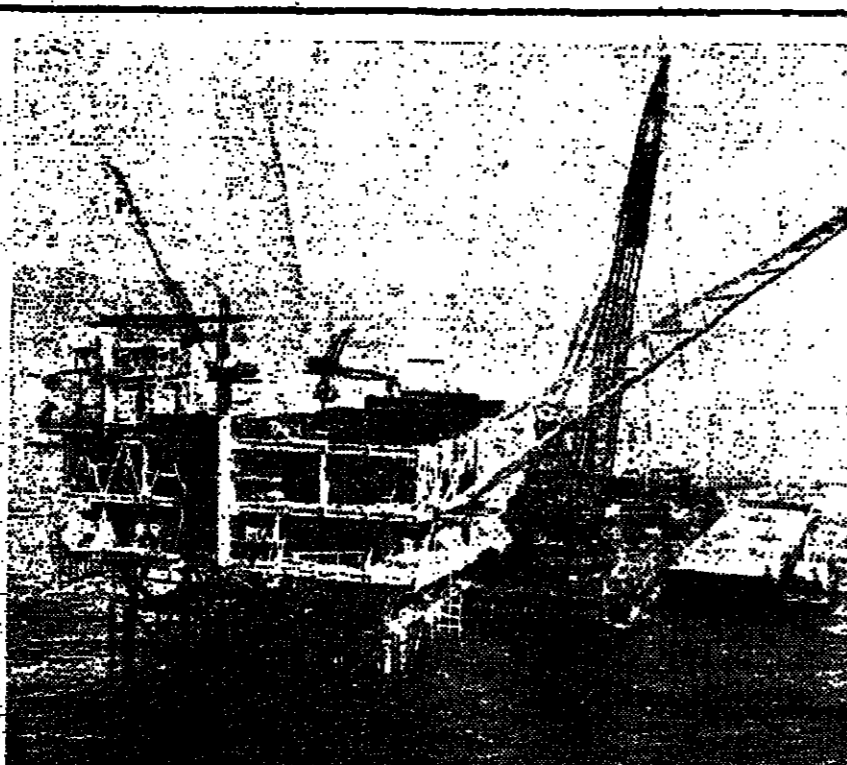

has found much at fault... industrialized democracies...

EXEMPT

OFFER... American Bank... 10005

LITIES AND DUSTRIES RPORATION

25 Park Avenue... York, N.Y. 10022

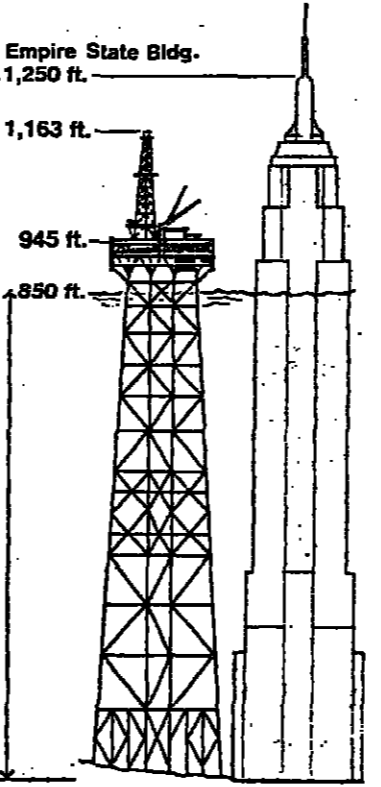

Drilling rig stands in 850 feet of water near Santa Barbara, Calif.

Exxon Nears Completion Of Deepest Offshore Rig

By ROBERT LINDSEY

SANTA BARBARA, Calif.—More than five miles off the gently scalloped California coast here, construction teams have nearly completed their work on the world's deepest oil-drilling platform...

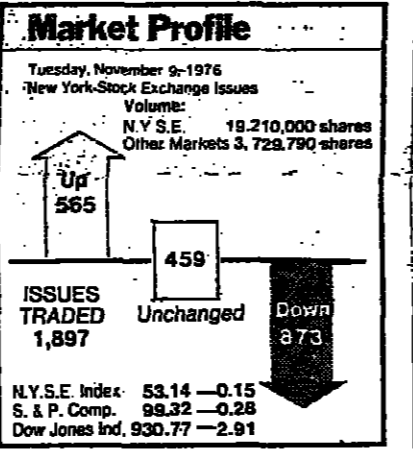

last two years, observed as he looked out at the $70 million structure from a barge that had serviced the platform during construction...

Dow Industrials Drop 2.91 More As Fears About Carter Persist

By ALEXANDER R. HAMMER

The Dow Jones industrial average fell yesterday to its lowest level in almost 10 months as the stock market registered its third loss in a row...

than a point. One of the bigger gainers was Evans Products, which rose 1 1/4 points to 12 3/4...

A.M.C. Sets Rebate To Retired Persons; Chrysler in Cutback

DETROIT, Nov. 9 (UPI)—The financially troubled American Motors Corporation which has cut prices on its Gremlins, said today that it would offer rebates on all its models to 10 million retired persons...

A.M.C., which has closed its Wisconsin auto-building facilities for this week said its efforts to stimulate its sagging sales would include refunds of $25 to $225 for those retired if they buy a 1977-model A.M.C. car or Jeep vehicle...

Action Industries Is Forced by S.E.C. To Name Rebaters

By ROBERT D. HERSHEY JR.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—The Securities and Exchange Commission has for the first time forced a company involved in questionable or illegal payments to disclose the names of those on the other end of the transactions...

The Grumman Gulfstream III is expected to be in production in 1980. Learstar 600 is at right.

Grumman Jet Intensifies Battle for Corporate Market

By RICHARD WITKIN The scramble for tomorrow's market in corporate jets intensified yesterday when the design was announced for the Grumman Gulfstream III, a plane with improvements in fuel consumption and a 4,600-mile range...

Loans to Developing Lands By U.S. Banks on Increase

Concern Voiced Over Capability to Repay Mounting Debts

By ANN CRITTENDEN

Despite widespread concern in the banking community and in Congress about the ability of many developing nations to meet mounting foreign debt payments, American bank lending to these countries has continued to climb in the last year, according to figures accumulated by the Federal Reserve Board...

Bus Production Seems Assured By U.S. Accord

By RALPH BLUMENTHAL

A threatened shutdown of all bus manufacturing in the nation next year appears to have been averted by a tentative agreement between the transit industry and the Federal Government...

Job-Hoppers' Wanted

'Job-hoppers' apparently typify the kind of person performance-oriented managements prefer today, personnel experts say in discussing careers. Page D15.

Loans to Developing Lands By U.S. Banks on Increase

Concern Voiced Over Capability to Repay Mounting Debts

By ANN CRITTENDEN Despite widespread concern in the banking community and in Congress about the ability of many developing nations to meet mounting foreign debt payments, American bank lending to these countries has continued to climb in the last year...

Bus Production Seems Assured By U.S. Accord

By RALPH BLUMENTHAL A threatened shutdown of all bus manufacturing in the nation next year appears to have been averted by a tentative agreement between the transit industry and the Federal Government...

Job-Hoppers' Wanted

'Job-hoppers' apparently typify the kind of person performance-oriented managements prefer today, personnel experts say in discussing careers. Page D15.

Table titled 'Bank Lending Abroad' showing loans by banks in the U.S. and their major foreign branches to governments, banks and corporations in designated countries as of June 30, 1976, in millions of dollars.

Bus Production Seems Assured By U.S. Accord

By RALPH BLUMENTHAL A threatened shutdown of all bus manufacturing in the nation next year appears to have been averted by a tentative agreement between the transit industry and the Federal Government...

Job-Hoppers' Wanted

'Job-hoppers' apparently typify the kind of person performance-oriented managements prefer today, personnel experts say in discussing careers. Page D15.

Advertisement for CALVIN BULLOCK, LTD. featuring 'Job-Hoppers' Wanted and 'DIVIDEND SHARES'.

Advertisement for CALVIN BULLOCK, LTD. featuring 'Job-Hoppers' Wanted and 'DIVIDEND SHARES'.

Advertisement for Multi-Vest Securities, Inc. featuring '8.50% Tax Free Yield' and 'AA RATED'.

GOLD PRICE
DOLLAR PLACED
ELD OF 8.30%
Pound Also Switzerland Tied to of $100 Million Bonds
Lackluster Market

JOHN H. ALLAN million issue of triple-A bonds was priced yesterday at a return of 8.30 percent
— a little higher than marketed earlier this fall—proved attractive enough to move the entire issue. The performance of this key bond offering gave something of a lift to the credit markets, which otherwise had looked much of a sense of as an active day for new interest rates generally changed from their recent level. One new Bell issue's yield was 10 points from the 8.25
the preceding telephone issue, which was sold Oct.
market for fixed-income
no overall trend. In ket, the Federal Reserve

Bond Issues

Category	Maturity	Rate	Yield
UTILITY BONDS	Aa	9 1/8	8.21
	A	9 1/8	8.21
	Aa	9 1/8	8.21
	A	9 1/8	8.21
	Aa	9 1/8	8.21
OTHER BONDS	Aa	9 1/8	8.21
	A	9 1/8	8.21
	Aa	9 1/8	8.21
	A	9 1/8	8.21
	Aa	9 1/8	8.21
NOTES	Aa	9 1/8	8.21
	A	9 1/8	8.21
	Aa	9 1/8	8.21
	A	9 1/8	8.21
	Aa	9 1/8	8.21
INTERNATIONAL ISSUES	Aa	9 1/8	8.21
	A	9 1/8	8.21
	Aa	9 1/8	8.21
	A	9 1/8	8.21
	Aa	9 1/8	8.21

reserves temporarily from stem when interest rates ians between banks were r 4 15/16 percent.
background, the Wisconsin
any sold its $100 million major offerings were also by the Federal Home Loan artment of Housing and nent, the European Coal nunity and the State of eral Motors Acceptance
ounced plans to sell $344 ear notes directly to inphone awarded its $100
n underwriting syndicate Brothers, which made a a cost to the company
It was the ninth Bell
e for 1976, and the costs
a high of 8.93 percent of 8.08 percent in Sep-

its associates marketed as 8 1/2's at a price of their face value to yield naturity in 2016, and the in the afternoon report-old.
For tax-exempt securities, million of mental health
e bonds, rated Aa by by Standard & Poor's, to group headed by Bache
he state incurred a 6.02
cost after close bidding.
ere then priced to yield nt on those maturing in m 1999 to 2001. All but them were reported sold rders were tabulated
while successful enough,
much about interest-rate
rection of the tax-exempt wever. A more accurate
e likely will be possible shington sells $84 million ation bonds.
ent of Housing and Urban ported that it had sold of tax-exempt notes to newal projects. The aver-ale came to 2.788 percent, uch a financing since May verage rate, however, reom the heavy portion of s in the total. Since last rn tax-exempt rates have rchasers of the notes, the Company bought $79.78

Bank of America group
1.16 million. Three-month ered publicly at a 2.50 nd one-year notes were rent originally and then agency sector, the Home
t a 6.70 percent rate on on of bonds maturing in that will be sold today
ke also put a 7 3/4 percent lion of bonds due in No-
so to be priced at 100.
hich serve as a reservoir savings and loan industhe bonds to partly ren of securities maturing he $800 million sale, the marketed $2.8 billion of ear, up from $2.6 billion tional field the European Community and an un-led by Kuhn, Loeb &
ative terms on $150 mil-
s to be sold today.
ll include $75 million of
984 offered at 3 1/4's at 8.20 percent, and $75
s due in 1996, marketed
to yield slightly more than Both issues are rated

Bills at 5.201%
ed by Treasury
The New York Times
ON, Nov. 9—The Treas-
one-year bills today at
eld of 5.201 percent.
Wind in dollar hours)
94.727
5.201%
5.201%
94.718
5.201%
5.201%
94.728
5.201%
5.201%
5.201%
5.201%
5.201%
5.201%
5.201%
5.201%
5.201%
5.201%
5.201%

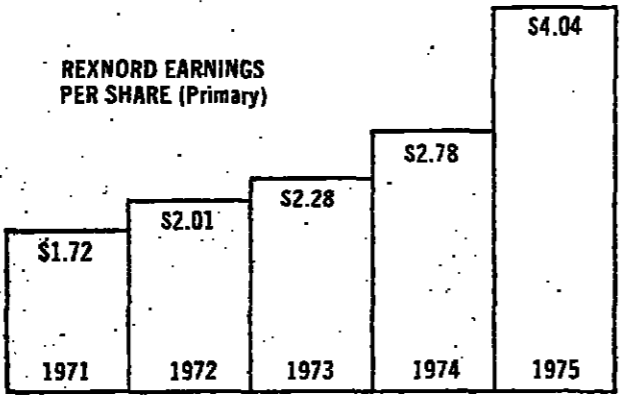

Uncovering Milwaukee's best kept secret.

Rexnord—a different kind of capital goods company

Rexnord's 1975 sales were more than $550,000,000 and 1976 sales are up substantially, yet we're not exactly a household word on Wall Street. When we are known in the investment community, Rexnord is often categorized as a "machinery company" or a "capital goods company." We may fit either or both of these descriptions, but our strategies are paying off on the bottom line.

Rexnord Strategies Are Paying Off
Sales-1975 was the 14th consecutive year in which Rexnord achieved record sales. Over the five-year period from 1971 through 1975, sales have increased at an average annual rate of 13%. Sales through the third quarter of 1976 are $425,000,000, a new high for the period.

Earnings—Over the five years from 1971 through 1975, earnings per common share have increased from $1.72 to $4.04 per share or at an annualized rate of 17%. And through the third quarter of 1976 primary earnings per common share are $3.88, up 23% from $3.15 in 1975.

Dividends—Rexnord has an unbroken record of cash dividends to shareholders that goes back 83 years, one of the longest records among industrial companies. The common dividend has been increased three times during the past two years to a current rate of $1.32 per share—a 22% increase.

Industry's consumable components and proprietary replacement parts make up more than half of Rexnord's total sales. These are the kinds of products that must be replaced and renewed on a continuing basis. Unlike a major capital goods investment, the purchase of these essentials can't be deferred for long. A worn chain, sprocket, bearing or coupling must be replaced and Rexnord makes them all and more.

This emphasis on components helps broaden the base of our markets too. These consumables for industry go to a wide variety of markets, including agricultural production, food processing, coal mining, quarrying and rock crushing, other raw material processing markets, materials handling and many more. And this broad market base tends to reduce the cyclical nature of our business. That's a different approach for a capital goods company...and we have others.

Capitalizing on Offsetting Business Cycles. In the U.S. our broadening market and product mix helps minimize the usual cyclical sales pattern of a capital goods company. In fact, in 1975 no single industry accounted for as much as 15% of our total sales. What's more, many of the markets we serve have offsetting cyclical patterns.

The business cycle of our Process Machinery operations differs from the cycle of Construction Machinery, which also differs from our Environmental Control Equipment line. Temporary softness in one business is usually offset by strength in the others.

The multinational aspect of Rexnord manufacturing and marketing facilities helps us serve world markets from the most strategic world source. And it lets us capitalize on the counter cyclical nature of world markets.

Growth Markets and the Examination of Our Product Portfolio. A key part of our corporate strategy is to have the right products for the right markets for today and for the long haul. This requires continuing market evaluation in terms of current profitability and future potential from existing products. And we're constantly probing for new products and markets with solid future profit potential.

As a result of this strategy, we have made significant acquisitions in the U.S.A. and world-wide, and have disposed of product lines and facilities that didn't measure up to our long range goals.

It is this strategy which has permitted Rexnord to build a company well situated to serve markets with above average growth prospects for the future.

Expanding Our World-Wide Market Base. In 1975 sales of Rexnord products outside the U.S.A. amounted to over $200,000,000, an increase of 31% over 1974, and produced 40% of our pre-tax profits.

Rexnord operates 62 plants world-wide. Our world-wide marketing organization and manufacturing facilities allow us to serve world markets from the most advantageous source.

Rexnord and Tomorrow. Rexnord is a world-wide manufacturer and marketer of components and finished products essential to the basic needs of the world: The need for a sustained food supply, for raw material production, for preserving and improving the environment and for industrial expansion.

We have developed and implemented a number of basic strategies for the conduct of our business. They have proven right over the past several years and we believe that when applied with a flexible hand they will provide a prosperous future course for our shareholders and employees.

Write for more information. These are a few reasons why Rexnord is a different kind of capital goods company. If you would like to know more, we would be happy to send you our new Annual Report and Corporate Brochure which will be published soon. For copies, write W.C. Messenger, Chairman, Rexnord Inc., P.O. Box 2022, Milwaukee, WI 53201.

New York Stock Exchange Issues

CONSOLIDATED TRADING

Table of stock prices for various companies, including columns for High, Low, Last, and Change.

Table of stock prices for various companies, including columns for High, Low, Last, and Change.

Table of stock prices for various companies, including columns for High, Low, Last, and Change.

Table of stock prices for various companies, including columns for High, Low, Last, and Change.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1976

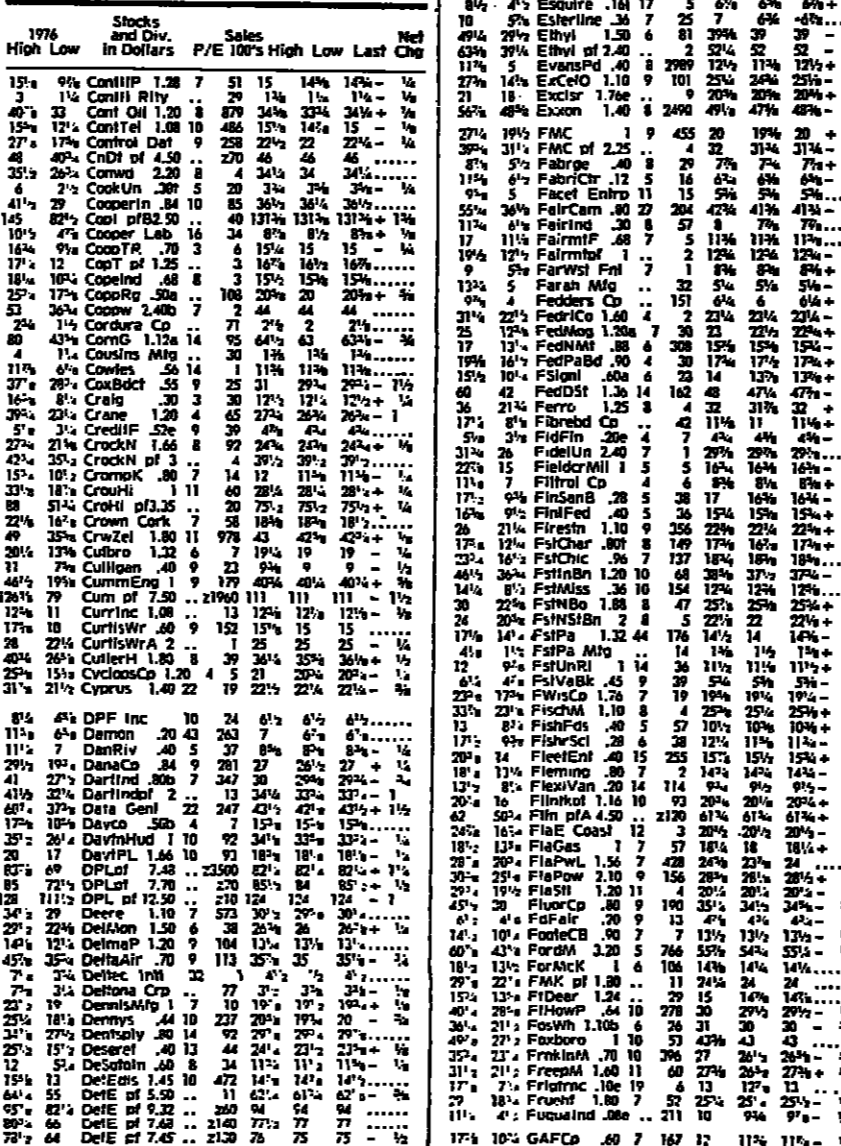

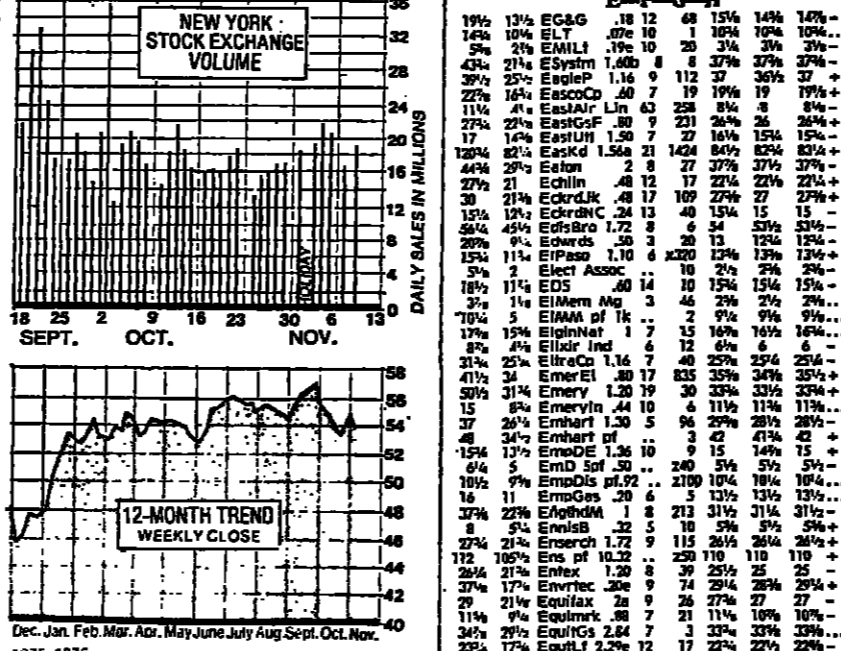

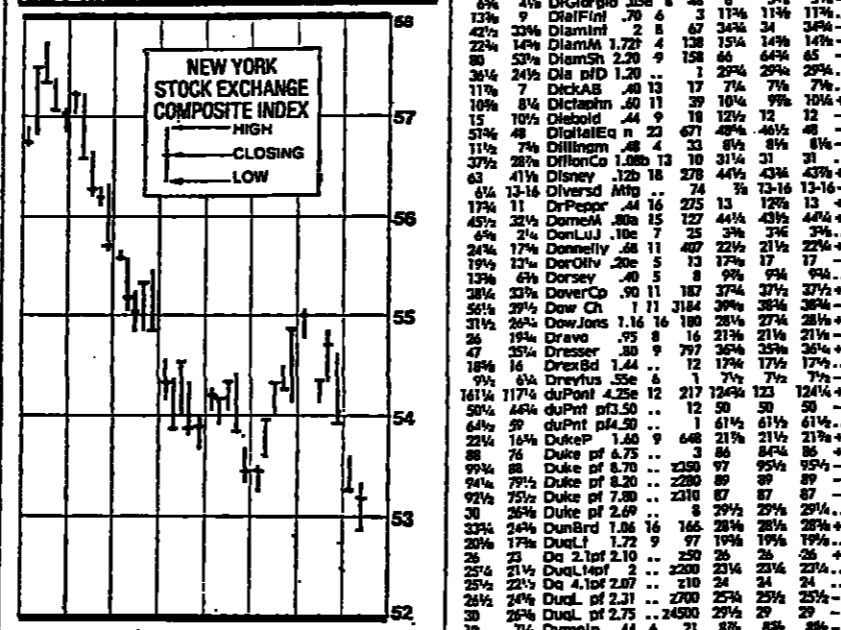

Table of stock prices for various companies, including columns for High, Low, Last, and Change.

Large table of stock prices for various companies, including columns for High, Low, Last, and Change.

Stock Market Indicators

Table of stock market indicators including N.Y.S.E. Index, S. & P. Index, and Dow Jones Stock Averages.

Table of stock market indicators including Most Active, Changes - Up, Changes - Down, Market Diary, and Dollar Leaders.

Handwritten signature or mark at the bottom center of the page.

GULFSTREAM III ANSIFIES JET WAR

Continued From Page D1

various sizes in the growing competition are the Lockheed D-30, the Dassault-Breguet Falcon, the Sabreliner, and the Cessna Citation. The Gulfstream III, a three-engine version of the near Bordeaux, France, over 100.

Larger planes than these in corporate fleets are converted versions of well known airliners such as the Boeing 737, the McDonnell-Douglas DC-9 and the British BAC-111.

The Grumman announcement said first deliveries of the Gulfstream III would be made, if production goes ahead, in 1980. This would be a year later than the date set for the Canadian Learstar craft.

Emphasis on Fuel Consumption

Because of the continuing prospects of scarcer fuel and higher fuel prices, the new Grumman plane, like most new planes being designed these days, will put great emphasis on economical fuel consumption.

The Grumman plane would accomplish this in several ways. First, its two Rolls-Royce Spey engines, the same engines used on the existing Grumman II, would be operated so they produced considerably less thrust. That would mean not only less fuel burned but also less noise.

Second, the plane, like many other new craft, would have a so-called "supercritical" wing. This aerodynamic advance makes it possible both to increase speed and reduce aerodynamic drag. It is the lower drag that permits use of lower engine output and makes for greater fuel range.

Teleprompter Posts Net Of $910,000 in Quarter, Its First Profit Since '72

By CLARE M. RECKERT

The Teleprompter Corporation, the nation's largest operator of cable television, reported yesterday net income of $910,000, or 5 cents a share, for the quarter ended Sept. 30, its first profit since the December quarter of 1972.

In the third quarter last year, the company lost $665,000. Russel Karp, president, attributed the third-quarter turnaround largely to improvement of cable television operations and to the profit generated by the Filmation subsidiary's sale of its syndication rights on its "Archie" and "Sabrina" series. He noted that revenues for the quarter increased 27.1 percent.

Teleprompter also noted that it was holding discussions with the Hughes Aircraft Company on the formation of a joint venture to operate their northern Manhattan and Los Angeles (Theta) cable systems, now jointly owned by the two companies.

The joint venture would give more flexibility to the companies, Mr. Karp said. Teleprompter's obligations to provide funds to support the continuing operations of these systems would be substantially reduced without any dilution of its equity interest, he added. Mr. Karp also noted that the company's future earnings would be significantly improved because Teleprompter would no longer be required to reflect as large a portion of Manhattan and Theta's losses as is now the case. Under the plan, Teleprompter and Hughes Aircraft would each own 50 percent of the venture. The proposal is subject to approval by the boards of both companies.

announcement is neither an offer to buy nor a solicitation of an offer to sell any of these securities. The offer is solely by the Exchange Offer Circular and is not being made, nor will tenders for exchange be accepted from holders of Owens-Illinois Common Shares in any state in which the making or acceptance thereof would not be in compliance with the securities or blue sky laws of such state. In those states where the offer must be made through dealers, the offer shall be deemed to be made by such dealers as agents for Owens-Illinois, Inc.

Notice of Exchange Offer by Owens-Illinois, Inc.

To Holders of Its Common Shares

1,226,016 Shares

Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation

Common Stock
($1.00 par value)

Owens-Illinois, Inc. ("Owens-Illinois") hereby invites tenders of 1,362,240 shares of its Common Shares, $3.125 par value ("Common Shares"), subject to the terms and conditions contained in Exchange Offer Circular, in exchange for 1,226,016 shares of the Common Stock, $1.00 par value ("Common Stock"), of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corporation ("Fiberglas") on the following basis:

1 Common Share of Owens-Illinois
for
.9 of 1 Share of Fiberglas Common Stock

The Exchange Offer Will Expire at 5:00 P.M.,
New York Time, on December 9, 1976,
Unless Extended by Owens-Illinois.

Owens-Illinois will accept any and all properly tendered Common Shares up to 1,362,240. In no event will Owens-Illinois accept more than 1,362,240 of its Common Shares.

Holders of Owens-Illinois Common Shares who wish to accept the Exchange Offer, after reviewing Exchange Offer Circular in which the terms of the Exchange Offer are set forth, should send certificates for the Common Shares they wish to exchange and any other required documents, together with properly completed Letter of Transmittal in the form accompanying the Exchange Offer Circular, in order to reach the Exchange Agent no later than 5:00 P.M., New York Time, on December 9, 1976.

Owens-Illinois will not pay any fee or commission to any broker, dealer or other person (other than the Managers) in connection with the solicitation of exchanges pursuant to the Exchange Offer. Copies of the Exchange Offer Circular and the Letter of Transmittal may be obtained from the agent:

The Exchange Agent:

By Mail:

Chemical Bank
Corporate Agency
P.O. Box 25999
Church Street Station
New York, New York 10249

In Person:

Chemical Bank
Corporate Trust Window
55 Water Street
North Building (2nd Floor)
New York, New York 10041

Managers:

Lazard Frères & Co.

Goldman, Sachs & Co.

Attn: Syndicate Department
One Rockefeller Plaza, 31st Floor
New York, New York 10020
(212) 489-6600 Ext. 345-352 (Call Collect)

Attn: Syndicate Department
55 Broad Street
New York, New York 10004
(212) 676-8302 (Call Collect)

November 10, 1976

This announcement is neither an offer to sell nor a solicitation of an offer to buy any of these Securities. The offer is made only by the Prospectus.

3,000,000 Shares Consumers Power Company

Common Stock
($10 par value)

Price $21 3/4 a Share

Copies of the Prospectus may be obtained in any State from only such of the undersigned as may legally offer these Securities in compliance with the securities laws of such State.

MORGAN STANLEY & CO.
Incorporated

- THE FIRST BOSTON CORPORATION
- BACHE HALSEY STUART INC.
- DREXEL BURNHAM & CO.
- HORNBLOWER & WEEKS-HEMPHILL, NOYES
- KIDDER, PEABODY & CO.
- LEHMAN BROTHERS
- REYNOLDS SECURITIES INC.
- SMITH BARNEY, HARRIS UPHAM & CO.
- DEAN WITTER & CO.
- BEAR, STEARNS & CO.
- BASLE SECURITIES CORPORATION
- MOSELEY, HALLGARTEN & ESTABROOK INC.
- SOGEN-SWISS INTERNATIONAL CORPORATION
- TUCKER, ANTHONY & R. L. DAY, INC.
- ADVEST CO.
- FAULENER, DAWKINS & SULLIVAN, INC.
- MERRILL LYNCH, PIERCE, FENNER & SMITH
- BLYTH EASTMAN DILLON & CO.
- GOLDMAN, SACHS & CO.
- E. R. HUTTON & COMPANY INC.
- KUHN, LOEB & CO.
- LOEB, RHOADES & CO.
- PAINE, WEBBER, JACKSON & CURTIS
- REYNOLDS SECURITIES INC.
- WERTHEIM & CO., INC.
- WHITE, WELD & CO.
- SHEARSON HAYDEN STONE INC.
- L. F. ROTHSCHILD & CO.
- SHIELDS MODEL ROLAND SECURITIES
- ROBERT FLEMING
- KLEINWORT, BENSON
- R. W. PRESSPRICH & CO.
- SPENCER TRASK & CO.
- WEEDEN & CO.
- WOOD, STRUTHERS & WINTHROP INC.
- J. C. BRADFORD & CO.
- FAHNESTOCK & CO.
- MITCHELL, HUTCHINS INC.
- W. H. REAVES & CO., INC.

November 10, 1976.

STATEMENT OF RESOURCES
AS RECEIVED BY THE
FEDERAL HOME LOAN BANKS
240 Broadway, in Room
2107, as follows:
Money quoted and used as stated specifically.

NOVEMBER 11, 1976
I have and caused to be examined the accounts and statements of the Federal Home Loan Bank of New York, and I am satisfied that the same are correct and conform to the requirements of the Federal Home Loan Bank
Act, and I have caused this statement to be prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Act.

What's going at lazes?
Times moving
the time, place
v. The Times more moving than any other newspaper.
Says a week in

The
New York Times

This is not an offer of these securities for sale. The offer is made only by the Prospectus.

November 9, 1976

300,000 Shares
Data Resources, Inc.
Common Stock

Price $11.50 Per Share.

Copies of the Prospectus may be obtained within any State from any undersigned who may lawfully offer these securities within such State.

William Blair & Company

- Bache Halsey Stuart Inc.
- Kidder, Peabody & Co.
- Reynolds Securities Inc.
- Alex. Brown & Sons
- New Court Securities Corporation
- Tucker, Anthony & R. L. Day, Inc.
- C. E. Unterberg, Towbin Co.
- Furman Sel: Mager Dietz & Birney
- Donaldson, Lufkin & Jenrette
- Loeb, Rhoades & Co.
- Shearson Hayden Stone Inc.
- Moseley, Hallgarten & Estabrook Inc.
- SoGen-Swiss International Corporation
- UBS-DB Corporation
- Wood, Struthers & Winthrop Inc.
- Brean Murray & Co., Inc.
- Goldman, Sachs & Co.
- Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis
- Shearson Hayden Stone Inc.

Federal Home Loan Banks

Bonds
$500,000,000

6.70% Series F-1980 Consolidated Bonds
Dated November 26, 1976 Non-Callable Due November 25, 1980
Interest payable on May 25 and November 25.
Price 100%
CUSIP #313388 FCG

$300,000,000

7.375% Series D-1984 Consolidated Bonds
Dated November 26, 1976 Non-Callable Due November 26, 1984
Interest payable on May 26 and November 26.
Price 100%
CUSIP #313388 FD7
(Minimum Denomination $10,000)

These Consolidated Bonds are the joint and several obligations of the Federal Home Loan Banks and are legal for investment by savings banks, insurance companies, trustees, and other fiduciaries under the laws of many states. The offering of these Bonds is made by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board through the Office of Finance with the assistance of a nationwide selling group of recognized dealers in securities.

Michael Mickett, Acting Director
William B. Cleaver, III, Manager
Office of Finance, Federal Home Loan Banks
320 First St., N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20552

This announcement appears as a matter of record.

New Issues
November 10, 1976

New York Stock Exchange

CONSOLIDATED TRADING

N.Y.S.E. Bond Trading

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 1976

Stocks and Div.	High	Low	High	Low	High	Low	High	Low
High Low in Dollars	P/E	100's	High	Low	High	Low	High	Low
Continued From Page D4
147 1/4 NYNEX	12.5	22	125 1/2	22	125 1/2	22	125 1/2	22
148 1/4 NYNEX	12.5	22	125 1/2	22	125 1/2	22	125 1/2	22
149 1/4 NYNEX	12.5	22	125 1/2	22	125 1/2	22	125 1/2	22
150 1/4 NYNEX	12.5	22	125 1/2	22	125 1/2	22	125 1/2	22
151 1/4 NYNEX	12.5	22	125 1/2	22	125 1/2	22	125 1/2	22

Under various noted, rates of dividends in the first quarter or semi-annual declaration. Special or stock dividends are not included in the above.

INTER-AMERICAN DEVELOPMENT BANK

Sales	Net
Current $1,200,000,000	1,100,000,000
Year to Date $1,200,000,000	1,100,000,000
Year to Date $1,200,000,000	1,100,000,000

WORLD BANK

Sales	Net
Current $1,200,000,000	1,100,000,000
Year to Date $1,200,000,000	1,100,000,000
Year to Date $1,200,000,000	1,100,000,000

CORPORATION BONDS

Sales	Net
Current $1,200,000,000	1,100,000,000
AAA	1,000,000,000
AA	800,000,000
A	600,000,000
B	400,000,000
C	200,000,000

BOND ISSUES TRADED

Sales	Net
Current $1,200,000,000	1,100,000,000
Year to Date $1,200,000,000	1,100,000,000
Year to Date $1,200,000,000	1,100,000,000

Total All

Sales	Net
Current $1,200,000,000	1,100,000,000
Year to Date $1,200,000,000	1,100,000,000
Year to Date $1,200,000,000	1,100,000,000

Foreign Bonds

Times Large

120 month

American Exchange Bond Trading

Sales	Net
Current $1,200,000,000	1,100,000,000
AAA	1,000,000,000
AA	800,000,000
A	600,000,000
B	400,000,000
C	200,000,000

RAISING LOANS DEVELOPING LANDS

Inued From Page D1

ree of concentration of these ds in a handful of banks e public. mmittee had sought the in- sentially because it feared k of the billions in surplus of Petroleum Exporting nds were and are deposited or four American banks, at ort terms. would imply the vulnerability tutions, of the American m, and ultimately American y to a sudden decision by shift their funds, according mmittee. mmittee also saw the issue of loans to certain financially unstable countries as a foreign policy question, in that Congress has been asked to provide billions of dollars in foreign assistance to poorer nations without knowing the amount of private credit that had also gone to those countries. To what extent, asked Senator Frank Church, Democrat of Idaho, chairman of the subcommittee, might these public funds in effect constitute a "ball-out" of the overextended private banks?

Data Released Last Spring The subcommittee's efforts in the end resulted in data released last spring on the short and long-term deposits and loans of the 21 largest American banks, lumped into groups of six banks, by country, except for oil producers, which were reported jointly.

Shortly thereafter—although spokesmen deny there was any connection with the Senate inquiry—the Federal Reserve began to publish its estimates of branch activities abroad, on all countries except the Middle East oil producers.

Last week the Senate Banking Committee met with representatives of the Federal Reserve Board to discuss a question-naire that it is now considering. This would show all American bank loans and deposits by country, and indicate which loans are guaranteed by governments or multinational corporations.

Kenneth McLean, the staff director of the committee, said that his committee's main concern was "with the safety and soundness" of the banks. "We want to know whether the regulators have a clear handle on what's going on," he added.

S.E.C. FORCES COMPANY TO NAME ITS REBATERS

Continued From Page D1

dealing with rebates did not rule out forcing such additional disclosures in the future.

"It might be done on a case-by-case basis," he said, noting that, in this case, the S.E.C.'s request for additional data became necessary because the amount received by Action Industries was very Action had a profit of $1.15 million on sales of $43.8 million in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1974, according to Moody's Industrial manual.

The company makes and sells a wide variety of hardware, housewares, electrical, garden, paint and toy items distributed through franchised retail outlets and 21 company-owned Associated Hardware Stores.

The largest amount of rebates $287,160, came from Sea-Land, a subsidiary of R.J. Reynolds Industries Inc. Reynolds earlier disclosed that Sea-Land has paid some $19 million in rebates to unidentified recipients.

Both paying and receiving rebates is illegal under the Shipping Act of 1916 which is administered by the Federal Maritime Commission. The S.E.C. is charged with insuring full disclosure of material information by publicly owned companies.

AN INTELLIGENT APPROACH TO TAX-FREE INCOME.

Managed Municipal our new no-load fund provide income from a high-quality of municipal bonds. e Income is credited daily monthly, either in cash or auto-reinvested for compounding of interest.

Minimum Investment with purchases in any amount any ence and Liquidity means r sell at net asset value when- hoose.

means you never pay commis- n you purchase or sell shares. cation reduces risk by the investments among many issues.

Management means that Scudder's 40 years of experi- nd investing to help preserve al and increase your Shouldn't you invest with Scudder?

Mail this coupon to: Scudder Fund Distributors, Scudder Managed Municipal Bonds, Dept. #10, 10 Post Office Square, Boston, MA 02109. A prospectus containing more complete information about Scudder Managed Municipal Bonds, including all charges and expenses, will be sent upon receipt of this coupon. Read the prospectus carefully before you invest or send money.

Name, Address, Occupation, Telephone

Call Toll-Free for more information 800-225-2470. Mass. residents call collect: (617) 482-4945.

DER MANAGED MUNICIPAL BONDS

This announcement is under no circumstances to be construed as an offer to sell or as a solicitation of an offer to buy any of these securities. The offering is made only by the Prospectus.

NEW ISSUE

November 10, 1976

3,000,000 Shares

Tucson Gas & Electric Company

Common Stock ($2.50 Par Value)

Price $14.625 Per Share

Copies of the Prospectus may be obtained in any State in which this announcement is circulated from only such of the undersigned or other dealers or brokers as may lawfully offer these securities in such State.

Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith

Blyth Eastman Dillon & Co.

- Bache Halsey Stuart Inc., The First Boston Corporation, Drexel Burnham & Co., Goldman, Sachs & Co., Hornblower & Weeks-Hemphill, Noyes, E. F. Hutton & Company Inc., Kidder, Peabody & Co., Lehman Brothers, Loeb, Rhoades & Co., Paine, Webber, Jackson & Curtis, Reynolds Securities Inc., Salomon Brothers, Smith Barney, Harris Upham & Co., White, Weld & Co., Dean Witter & Co., Bear, Stearns & Co., L. F. Rothschild & Co., Shearson Hayden Stone Inc., Warburg Paribas Becker Inc., Alex. Brown & Sons, Shields Model Roland Securities, Thomson & McKinnon Auchincloss Kohlmeier Inc., Weeden & Co., Young, Smith & Peacock, Inc., Advest Co., A. E. Ames & Co., Robert W. Baird & Co., Bateman Eichler, Hill Richards, William Blair & Company, Dain, Kalman & Quail, Dominion Securities Harris & Partners Inc., A. G. Edwards & Sons, Inc., Eppler, Guerin & Turner, Inc., Faulkner, Dawkins & Sullivan, Inc., McDonald & Company, Moseley, Hallgarten & Estabrook Inc., Piper, Jaffray & Hopwood, Prescott, Ball & Turben, Rauscher Pierce Securities Corporation, The Robinson-Humphrey Company, Inc., Spencer Trask & Co., Tucker, Anthony & R. L. Day, Inc., Wood Gundy

cial acquainted r. Save 20% i three-month scription. ly $8.80

New York Times Large Type Weekly

with the greatest curiosity d have difficulty reading ily newspaper.

in the headlines. Or they y newspapers altogether. re people like this in among your friends who chance to read and s in depth as they did in

New York Times large Type Weekly, a per with words more size of regular news- s big as some headlines.

test f what a remarkable e print makes. Hold this s length and read the ow.

r size print used in most news publications, a strain for people who have poor vision.

s the size print used in the Type Weekly. See how much it is to read.

Covers news and features from the regular New York Times

The Large Type Weekly contains a review of the week's major news events from the Sunday Times. Analyses by respected New York Times columnists. News of business and finance... the arts and entertainment... sports... family-style features. There's even a full-page crossword puzzle and a listing of TV highlights.

A thoughtful gift

When you help those with limited vision to experience again the satisfaction of reading about the world around them, you perform an act of kindness that can't be measured in ordinary terms.

And now you can give a trial subscrip- tion to someone at a 20 percent saving.

Instead of $11 for the first three months, you pay only $8.80. (After that each three-month period costs $11.)

Just fill out and mail the coupon below. Or call this toll-free number to order: 800-325-6400. Do it today. The sooner you make it possible for someone you care about to actually read about the news (instead of just watching it on TV) the better. This special offer is for new subscribers only.

Eye New York Times Large Type Weekly

P.O. Box 2570, Boulder, Colo. 80302

Please enter a three-month subscription to the Large Type Weekly at the 20 percent discount rate. Check for $8.80 is enclosed.

Mail copies to:

Name (please print), Address, City, State & Zip

My name, Address, City, State & Zip

Check here if you want a gift announce- ment sent in your name.

Note: Allow five weeks for start of service. Offer good in U.S. and possessions only. Foreign rates on request.

Title XIII Tax Reform Act-1976

Get your investments in order. If you have highly appreciated securities you can still exchange them to gain the benefits of a diversified portfolio and professional management. And pay no capital gains tax. Time is running out. We must have your securities in hand by November 29. Act now. The offering is limited to $100 million.

For more information including charges and expenses, obtain a Prospectus. Read it carefully before you deposit securities.

Call Toll-Free (800) 225-6190

Contact your investment dealer or call us toll-free for a prospectus and prompt response on the acceptability of your securities (minimum deposit - $25,000).

American Stock Exchange Transactions: Consolidated Summary of Yesterday's Trading

Main table of stock transactions with columns for stock name, price, volume, and change. Includes sub-sections for '1976 Stocks and Div. Sales' and '1976 Stocks and Div. Sales'.

Results of Trading in Stock Options

Table of stock options trading results, organized by exchange: American Stock Exchange, Chicago Board, Philadelphia Options, and New York Options.

Advertisement for Salomon Brothers, featuring the text 'Commonwealth of Pennsylvania' and 'Salomon Brothers'.

Handwritten signature or mark at the bottom center of the page.

How Price of Gas is Going to Rise

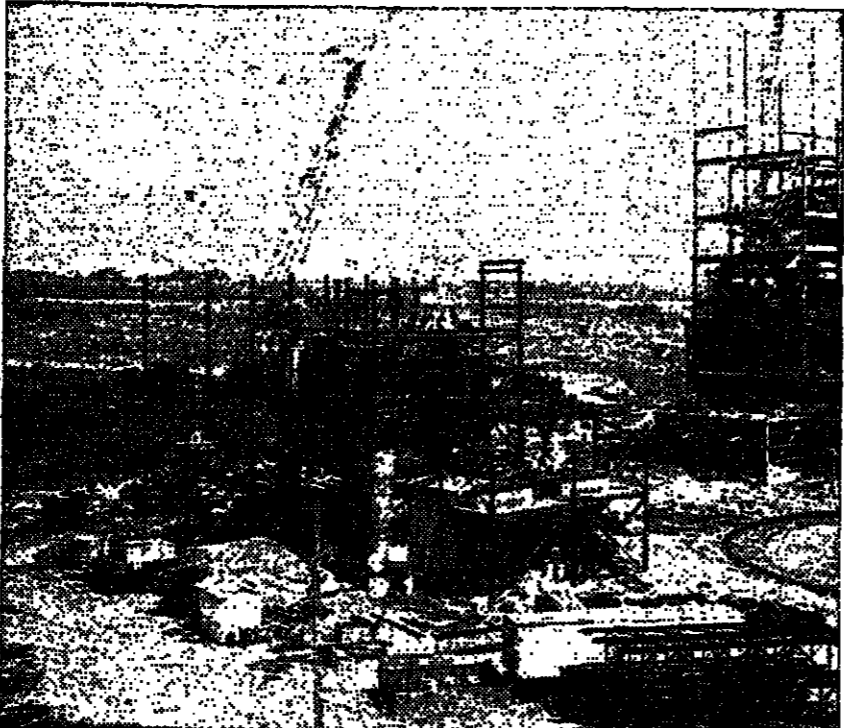

How Price of Gas is Going to Rise

Technology

Government-Industry Cooperative Effort for Clean Fuel

EDWARD COWAN... how Price of Gas is Going to Rise...

TOR E. McLEHANY... host-related delays in com-... the conversion of coal into...

Construction at coal-cleaning plant to be run by Pennsylvania Electric Company and New York State Electric and Gas Corp. in Homer City, Pa.

to operate from September... May 1980, the plant is... by adding hydrogen direct...

Unusual Rocket Engines

Tested for Space Shuttle... In Mississippi, engineers are... intensively testing the unusual...

Unusual Rocket Engines

Tested for Space Shuttle... The engines are being built by...

Companies List Sales and Earnings

Table listing sales and earnings for various companies in 1975 and 1976. Includes columns for sales, net income, and earnings per share.

OIL CONVENTION REPORTS

$3 BILLION PROFIT RISE... But Concern for Industry's Future Under Carter Tops Discussions

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9 (UPI)—The oil industry today reported profits for its top 25 companies totaled $3 billion for the third quarter, up 9 percent from the like period last year.

City of Austin, Texas $44,000,000 Electric Light and Power, Waterworks and Sewer System Revenue Bonds, Series 38. Includes interest rates and maturity dates.

Notice of Offer to Purchase Any and All Outstanding Shares of Common Stock of Sea World, Inc. For Cash at $28.75 Per Share Net by Trident Park Corporation.

Over-the-Counter Quotations

Quotations supplied through NASDAQ as of 4:00 P.M. Quotes do not include retail markup, markdown or commission. Volume represents shares that changed ownership during the day. Figures include only transactions effected by NASDAQ market-makers but may include some duplication where market-makers traded with each other.

Table of stock quotations including columns for ticker symbols, bid/ask prices, and volume. Includes sections for Authority Bonds and Mutual Funds.

Table of U.S. Government and Agency Bonds, including columns for maturity dates, rates, and yields.

Table of Supplementary O-T-C (Over-the-Counter) stock quotations, listing various companies and their market prices.

Table of Mutual Funds, listing fund names, share prices, and performance metrics.

Table of other financial data and market indicators, including interest rates and market indices.

Large advertisement for 'Efficiency' featuring a stylized figure and the slogan 'Efficiency is the new game plan'. Includes text like 'Business Review' and 'Hilton Kramer'.

Corporation Affairs

Avis Says Audit Study Discloses $425,000 in Improper Payments

Directors of Avis Inc., said yesterday that a study of an audit committee of outside directors had shown that Avis had made "improper, facilitating or otherwise questionable payments" to consultants, local government officials and others totaling about $425,000.

The figure, it said, included the value of complimentary vehicle rentals. The study covered the period since Jan. 1, 1972.

Avis said that although some senior officers had knowledge of some of these payments, at no time during the study were any outside directors aware of the payments before they were informed of them through the audit study.

The company added that none of the payments created any material exposure for tax liabilities or had any material effect on the business or earnings of the company.

Mitsubishi Drops Plan For Deal With Chrysler

The Mitsubishi Motor Corporation announced yesterday an indefinite postponement of a plan to produce cars jointly with the Chrysler Corporation in Britain, France and Spain.

A company spokesman said that the decision was made because of strong protectionist feelings toward the Japanese company in the European countries.

The Mitsubishi spokesman said that public opposition to the plan, originally proposed by Chrysler, apparently was caused by the fear that the auto parts to be supplied by Mitsubishi would be Europeans out of work. He noted that opposition to the plan was especially noticeable in Britain because Chrysler UK Ltd. has been receiving financial aid from the Government.

Army Contract for RCA

The RCA Corporation said it had received a $29.5 million contract from the United States Army for the initial production of transportable ground stations that will provide military forces with satellite communication on a worldwide basis. The ground stations, which can be transported by trucks, will be for use by all military services.

Zellerbach Unit Plans Brazilian Kraft Venture

The Crown Zellerbach Corporation of San Francisco announced that its subsidiary, Crown Zellerbach International Inc., has agreed in principle with Brazilian interests on construction of a kraft mill with estimated total capacity of $230 million.

The mill, having a daily capacity of 730 metric tons of bleached kraft pulp, would be built in the Triangulo region of Minas Gerais state in central Brazil with startup scheduled in 1980.

The company noted that the plant included certain pine timberlands and timber interests and that of the total, $173.5 million would be provided by long-term bank loan.

New Bullion Company

Merrill Lynch & Co. Inc. and Samuel Montagu & Co. Ltd. of London, announced the formation of a new bullion trading company, Merrill Montagu Inc., which will begin operations in the United States Nov. 15. The company will deal in all aspects of bullion trading, including gold, silver and platinum. It has been formed by buying out the Handy & Harmon interest in a predecessor company, Merrill, Montagu, Handy & Harmon.

Control Data Reports New Credit Agreement

The Data Control Corporation of Minneapolis said it had arranged a new $100 million domestic revolving credit agreement to replace a $185 million credit line that was to expire Jan. 1, 1978. The new line is through a group of 25 banks led by the Chase Manhattan Bank. It was effective Nov. 9, 1976, and ends Jan. 1, 1979. The new interest rate was not disclosed.

The company said that in ending the old credit agreement, the pledge of all stock of its Commercial Credit Company unit was canceled, the associated security agreement was ended and all collateral was returned to Control Data.

RCA Sees Replacements Increasing TV Set Sales

The replacement of older television sets will create the strongest area of television receiver sales in the fourth quarter of this year, according to a market appraisal by an executive of the RCA Corporation.

Of 130 million black-and-white and color sets in this country, said Jack K. Peacor, division vice president of marketing of the company's consumer electronics division, some 52 million, or 40 percent, are at least five years old. Another 10 to 13 percent are at least 10 years old, he added.

BankAmerica Plans Unit For Refurbishing Homes

The BankAmerica Corporation of San Francisco said it planned to establish a new subsidiary that would buy and restore abandoned and substandard properties to provide urban housing.

A. W. Clausen, president of the bank holding company, said the unit—the BA City Improvement and Restoration Program Corporation—would concentrate its efforts initially in East Oakland, Calif. The unit's immediate goal, he said, would be to purchase and rehabilitate about 30 homes and place them on the market at a modest price.

Mr. Clausen said that the subsidiary would operate "essentially as a break-even level," adding that "no profits will accrue to BankAmerica Corporation."

Reduced Peso Trims Burlington Expectations

The lower value of the Mexican peso has reduced estimated earnings for Burlington Industries by 7 cents a share. William A. Klopman, chairman, told a security analysts meeting yesterday.

Burlington earlier had predicted a 75-cent share figure for the December quarter. Mr. Klopman disclosed that the company, the nation's largest textile producer, would spend $200 million to $225 million in 1977 for capital improvements compared with $160 million in 1976.

EX-TAX OFFICIAL CHARGES UNDERPAYING BY A.T.&T.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—A former high-ranking official in the New York office of the Internal Revenue Service has charged that the agency allowed the American Telephone and Telegraph Company to underpay its taxes by $2.84 billion over the last 10 years.

does not allege any deliberate wrongdoing by the I.R.S., but rather that the agency simply does not have the resources to audit the company property. A spokesman for A.T.&T. said Mr. Sloan was "completely wrong."

Mr. Sloan, who was the principal valuation engineer in the agency's Manhattan district office and its acting chief engineer for two years, is now a consulting engineer in Orlando, Fla. He made his charges in an article to be published next Monday in Tax Notes, a newsletter published by Tax Analysts and Advocates, a public interest organization in the tax field.

Aviation Reporter Is Ho

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9—Haugland, former aviation reporter for the Associated Press, was honored by the Aviation-Space Writers Association for his 30 years of covering aviation activities. Mr. Haugland, 57, was presented with a plaque at a luncheon here. He is the father of the award, which is given for excellence in aviation writing.

UNITED STATES

MIDWEST

Table with columns: Stock, High, Low, Close, Chg. Includes entries for 400 Alkermid, 400 Alkermid, 400 Alkermid, etc.

PACIFIC

Table with columns: Stock, High, Low, Close, Chg. Includes entries for 2000 Alaska, 2000 Alaska, 2000 Alaska, etc.

PHILADELPHIA

Table with columns: Stock, High, Low, Close, Chg. Includes entries for 100 Bell, 100 Bell, 100 Bell, etc.

ST. LOUIS

Table with columns: Stock, High, Low, Close, Chg. Includes entries for 2000 Coca-Cola, 2000 Coca-Cola, 2000 Coca-Cola, etc.

FOREIGN

TORONTO

Table with columns: Stock, High, Low, Close, Chg. Includes entries for 1000 Alcan, 1000 Alcan, 1000 Alcan, etc.

Other U.S. and Foreign Stock Exchanges

Tuesday, November 9, 1976

Table of stock exchange data for Toronto, London, Montreal, Frankfurt, and other international markets.

Foreign Exchange

Table of foreign exchange rates for various currencies including New York, London, and others.

Money

Table of money market data including interest rates and other financial indicators.

Foreign Stock

Table of foreign stock market data for various international exchanges.

CAREER MARKETPLACE

Job Hunting advertisement for Haldane, offering positions with salaries from $18,000 to $65,000.

Manufacturing Career Opportunity advertisement for N.L. Industries, offering a position in Personnel Department.

Consumer Products Division Field Sales Manager advertisement for Marriott Corporation, offering a position in Fairfield Farm Kitchens.

HEALTH CARE/HOSPITAL/MEDICAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

Memorial Medical Center advertisement for RN's, offering a career in nursing with excellent benefits.

Psychiatric Social Worker advertisement for Memorial Medical Center, offering a position in a psychiatric hospital.

Senior Project Engineer advertisement for B.F. Goodrich Chemical Company, offering a position in Mechanical or Chemical Engineering.

Pulp & Paper Processor advertisement for J.E. SIRRINE COMPANY, offering a position in consulting engineering and architecture.

Health Care/Hospital/Medical Employment Opportunities advertisement for Childrens Hospital, offering a position in Director Nursing Service.

Attention: RN's, LPN's advertisement for Shands Teaching Hospital and Clinics, offering two representative positions.

Executive Secretary advertisement for a busy hospital administrator, offering a position in a hospital setting.

Vertical text on the far left edge of the page, partially cut off.

ING-HOME HEAD... DICTED IN FRAUD of $374,000 Is Charged... r of 2 Facilities Allegedly... ed His Summer House

RICHARD J. MEISLIV... nursing-home owner has been charged that he defrauded the State Medicaid program...

SOON SLAND... PLAZA

My Advised Client to Lie... assik indictment involved the attorney had advised client to lie before a grand jury...

to $114,000 allegedly... berly through so-called doupter expenses, the indict... of $100 for improvements...

HN M. RICKER

ticker, a metal fabricating... tive, died of cancer Mon... onside Hospital, Glen Ridge...

OLLYWOOD: Calif., Nov. 9

awman, a sports writer in... Southern California... died today following...

's Dueling Pistols Are Stolen in Bronx Museum by Woman... with an automatic pistol... at the Van Corlandt... museum in the Bronx...

Mr. Porter said the woman, who was wearing a three-quarters black suede jacket, might have been the one who visited the museum once before, showing great interest and enthusiasm for its display.

Von Cramm, German Tennis Star

Of 1930's, Dies in Car Crash at 66

CAIRO, Nov. 8 (AP)—Baron Gottfried von Cramm, German tennis star of the 1930's, died in an automobile accident today on a desert road on a return trip from Alexandria on business. He was 66 years old.

The West German Embassy said his car and a truck had collided about 20 miles outside Cairo. The driver of his car also was killed. There were no other immediate details.

Rival of Budge and Perry

By DEANE MCGOWEN... Baron Gottfried von Cramm's position in the world of international tennis is secure. The German star came to be known in the twilight of Bill Tilden's career, and played against such greats as Fred Perry of Britain and Don Budge of the United States.

He was a socialite, a member of a prominent family who vowed that he would never turn professional. He would not catch me, no matter what they propose, a World War II veteran, the sixth husband of Barbara Hutton, the five-and-a-half-time heiress from whom he was later divorced, and an alleged victim of Nazi intrigue.

His tennis career stretched from 1930 to 1953, during which he won 82 of 102 Davis Cup matches. He won the French singles title in 1934 and 1936 and held the German championship from 1932 to 1935. After the war he captured the West German singles title in 1948 and 1949.

It was not until years later, after the war, that he disclosed the nature of the call. It was from Hitler, who reportedly

Viewers Can Dial News Articles

Onto TV Screen, Editors Are Told

By DEIRDRE CARMODY... Some systems make use of an electronic keyboard, which is hooked up to the television set and which the viewer uses somewhat like a pocket calculator. So far, Mr. Ahlhauser said, the use of photographs has not been fully developed, although the systems can use simple graphics.

The ViewData system, run by the British Post Office, is two-way. That is, the viewer can call up travel and entertainment information and immediately make reservations.

At the opening session of the conference yesterday, Keith Fuller, president and general manager of The Associated Press, said the country was going through many changes and that it might be the end of "that undefinable something called the American way of life."

He said that newspapers were seen as "the chroniclers of this negative news" and that "if we have a fault" he would describe "our failure in terms of a lack of perspective."

"Perhaps in the bursting events which we call spot news, we failed to recognize their collective meaning, failed to grasp their meaning and that it might be the end of that undefinable something called the American way of life."

Mr. Ahlhauser spoke mostly about Ceefax, the British Broadcasting Corporation's teletext system, and Oracle, which is being developed by the Independent Television Authority in England. There are other experiments, however, including Viewdata, the British Post Office's I.D.R., which the Reuters news agency is using to cablecast news on demand to financial customers in New York, and a teletext system being developed in Tampa New Town in Japan.

"I'm not predicting that this is going to happen suddenly," Mr. Ahlhauser said, "but we should be ready for that eventuality. And if we run into problems with oil or paper, we're going to have to do something to get out of that newspaper to people."

The New York Times, 1947. Baron Gottfried von Cramm

HARRY FLORY DIES AT 77, FORMER OFFICIAL OF U.P.I.

Harry R. Flory, former general manager for communications for United Press International, died yesterday in a Bridgeport, Conn., hospital. He was 77 years old and lived in New York City and in Newcastle, Me.

Mr. Flory, a graduate of the College of Wooster and the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism, worked from 1922 to 1931 for the former International News Service and was its bureau manager in Paris and London.

He joined United Press in London in 1931, was named assistant European news manager three years later and was appointed European news manager in 1938. He was transferred to New York in 1940 and became foreign news manager and director of international communications in 1943. In 1952 he was appointed general manager of communications, a post from which he retired in 1963.

After his retirement, he served as a communications consultant to the American Newspaper Publishers Association and as a consultant on emergency information with the Office of Emergency Planning in Washington.

He leaves his wife, Florence, a son, Stewart G., and a daughter, Marjorie Ann.

BOUDINOT B. ATTERBURY

Boudinot Bakewell Atterbury, a retired vice president of the Guaranty Trust Company, died last Thursday in the Los Alamos (N. M.) Medical Center. He was 84 years old.

He lived in La Madera, N. M., where he retired after 1960. Born in China of Presbyterian medical missionary parents, Mr. Atterbury attended Princeton University, graduating in the class of 1915. Before joining Guaranty Trust, he was an assistant vice president of the National City Bank of New York.

He is survived by a son, Boudinot P. of Chevy Chase, Md., and two daughters, Mrs. Joan Lowery of La Madera and Mrs. Jean Jemmy of New Canaan, Conn.

JOHN A. L. WADDELL

John A. L. Waddell, a retired New York City Health Department senior public health sanitarian, died Sunday at Memorial Hospital for Cancer and Allied Diseases. He was 64 years old and lived at 230 West 107th Street.

Mr. Waddell, a graduate of New York University, was associated with the health department of the New York World's Fair from 1939 to 1940. After serving in the Army Medical Corps in World War II, he joined the City Health Department in 1946 and retired at the end of 1975.

He leaves his mother, May L. Reynolds, and a sister, Ada W. Rolph.

PEARL C. WILSON, 93, DIES; CHARLOTTE W. SPEER, 80, A FORMER HEADMISTRESS

Pearl Cleveland Wilson, professor emerita of classics at Hunter College, died Friday at Lenox Hill Hospital. She was 93 years old and lived at 600 West 116th Street.

Professor Wilson, a graduate of Vassar and Columbia University, where she earned a master's degree and a doctorate, started her educational career as a teacher in Miss Chaudor's School in New York City.

In 1925 she became associated with Hunter College as an instructor in classics. She served as assistant professor from 1929 to 1936, as associate professor from 1936 to 1952 and as professor from 1952 to 1953, when she retired.

She was chairman of the committee that helped establish a humanities major in literary masterpieces at Hunter in 1945. She was a member of the American Philological Society, the Classical Association of the Atlantic States and the New York Classical Club.

She also wrote the libretto for Anders Emile's opera "King Harald," which was produced in 1948. There are no immediate survivors.

Beaths

KADISH—Stanton, beloved husband of Estelle, devoted father to Simon, David, Rebecca and Susan, died at St. Luke's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. He was 78 years old.

KAPLAN—Samuel, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. He was 78 years old.

KAR—George, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. He was 78 years old.

KOHLERMAN—James M., suddenly on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. He was 78 years old.

KUPFERBERG—Harriet (nee Mathews), on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

LAURIA—Gry T. The New York Times announces with deep sorrow the passing of Gry T. Lauria, nee Hershfield, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

LEHRER—Samuel, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. He was 78 years old.

LYON—Marjorie R. (Van Wick), nee St. John, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

MANICOFF—Dr. Rose, nee Rosenthal, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

MANICOFF—Dr. Rose, nee Rosenthal, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

Beaths

Kueterberg, Harriet, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

Kueterberg, Harriet, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

Kueterberg, Harriet, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

Kueterberg, Harriet, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

Kueterberg, Harriet, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

Kueterberg, Harriet, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

Kueterberg, Harriet, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

Kueterberg, Harriet, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

Kueterberg, Harriet, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

Kueterberg, Harriet, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

Kueterberg, Harriet, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

Kueterberg, Harriet, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

Kueterberg, Harriet, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

Kueterberg, Harriet, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

Kueterberg, Harriet, on Nov. 9, 1976, died at St. Vincent's Hospital, New York City, on Nov. 9, 1976. She was 78 years old.

The

Wish Squad

Man

Hotel

Man

Center

The consumer who never complains

(The silence is not golden)

We've been talking with you on this page for quite a while about consumer skepticism. And how today even the most painstakingly truthful of ads is being lambasted a little by this generalized disbelief.

But as difficult as that may make our lives, we can't help but observe that the most deadly of all is the consumer who never complains. The consumer who, once burned in any way, turns off and grows silent. Never to communicate with you or purchase from your company again. It's like your wife when she says "I don't want to talk about it." The silence is not golden. We think realistic businessmen would agree—a little communication, even an argument, is better.

Best of all, of course, is a dialogue. That is why Good Housekeeping has always and still continues to encourage the inquiries, and yes, even the gripes, of the informed consumer. It is through this candid and continuous dialogue with the consumer that Good Housekeeping has achieved its unique bond of belief with its readers. And it is one reason why survey after survey shows an ad in the editorial environment of Good Housekeeping stimulates more consumer confidence than it does in any other woman's magazine. That consumer confidence is what's golden. For us. And for you.

She's a tougher customer than ever. You never needed Good Housekeeping more.

Handwritten signature or mark at the bottom center.